

---

GCE AS/A level English Language 2015

---

AS and A level co-teachability

The AS and A level Language courses have been designed to be entirely co-teachable, with the same teaching topics at both AS and A level. Please note that AS and A level content will be assessed to a different standard, appropriate to the level of study.

Students who sit the AS examination and then continue to the full A level will be assessed on their AS content again, at the end of their course of study, at the A level standard.

Please see the Sample Assessment Materials for examples of the different question structures.

Teachers who will not be entering students for the AS examination are welcome to approach the course content in any order.

Example of content for the delivery of a co-taught AS and A level cohort

Year 1	Year 2
Language in Context Language and Identity Child Language Acquisition	Historical Variation Research and investigation skills Crafting Language coursework
Teachers may wish to begin preparation for the coursework with A level 2-year students towards the end of year 1, whilst the AS students prepare for their AS examinations.	