

Extract from John Mullan's How Novels Work

Contents

1. Beginning	9
The title 16 • The prologue 28 • The framing device 31 • The opening 36
2. Narrating	40
First-person narration 45 • Recollection 47 • The inadequate narrator 50 • A man writing as a woman 52 • Multiple narrators 55 • Skaz 57 • The self-conscious novel 60 • Addressing the reader 62 • The omniscient narrator 64 • Point of view 67 • Tense 71 • Tense shift 74 • Free indirect style 76
3. People	79
Characterization 84 • Motivation 86 • The anti-hero 90 • The villain 93 • Real people 97 • The alter ego 101
4. Genre	105
The thriller 108 • Romance 112 • Satire 115 • Magical realism 117 • The novel of circulation 119 • The confessional 122 • The historical mystery 124
5. Voices	127
Dialect 130 • Dialogue 133 • Languages 137 • Translation 140 • Phone conversation 142 • Clichés 147 • Swearing 149
6. Structure	155
Chapter headings 157 • Chronology 160 • Inset narratives 164 • Parallel narratives 167 • Plot 169 • Revelations 172 • Split narratives 175 • Metanarrative 178 • Montage 180 • Prolepsis 183

CONTENTS
7. Detail	189
Facts 193 • Location 195 • Setting 197 • Weather 200 • Meals 203 • Brands 206 • Research 208
8. Style	213
Plain prose 216 • Antique prose 218 • Parataxis 220 • Paragraphs 224 • Diction 228 • Amplification 233 • Parentheses 236 • Hyperbole 239 • Pastiche 241 • Heteroglossia 244 • Streams of consciousness 247
9. Devices	251
Letters 255 • Email 257 • Newspaper articles 260 • Ekphrasis 263 • Lists 266 • Natural description 269 • Similes 272 • Names 275 • Coincidences 278
10. Literariness	284
Intertextuality 286 • Epigrams 290 • Quotation 292 • Symbolism 295 • Novels within novels 297
11. Ending	303
The denouement 308 • The false ending 311 • Epilogue 314 • The postscript 317
Select Bibliography	327
Novels 327 • Other works 333	