GCSE

Teacher Insights

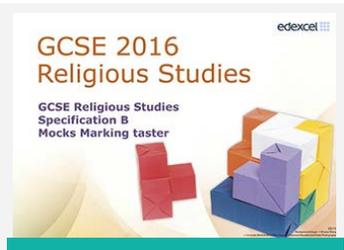

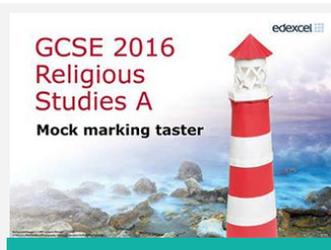

We have spoken to over 100 of you, and you have told us what options you are teaching, what you dislike about the new specification, and what additional resources you need. With your insights, we are now designing some new resources to assist you in your classrooms.

Exemplars for the website

Within this research, you asked for more exemplars for part D questions. We are now working with a range of schools to gather these exemplars, and will be working with our senior examiners to get these marked and published on our website very soon.

Mock Marking Events

Many of you had questions about applying the new levels based mark scheme, so we have uploaded the training materials from our recent Mock Marking events onto our website. We are also looking to produce more support about levels based mark schemes shortly.

NATRE Conference

We are excited to announce that we will be joining you at the National Association of Teachers of Religious Education Strictly RE conference in January.

We will be answering your queries regarding "What do you expect a candidate exam response to look like?" If you would like to book yourself onto this conference, you can do so here.

For more support

If you have any queries, you can contact our senior examiners through Ask The Expert (ate@pearson.com). If you did not receive this message via email, you can add your name to the mailing list by contacting us, teachingreligiousstudies@pearson.com.

A Level

New Exemplar Addition

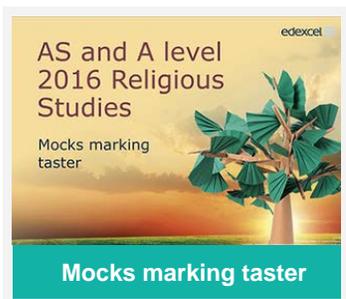

We know many of you would like to see more exemplars on the website, so we are currently working on this. At the end of last year, we added a new pack of exemplars onto the website for Paper 3 - New Testament Studies. You can find these exemplars here. This year, we are going to continue adding more.

Projects for the new year

We want to know your thoughts on our new A Level RS specification, so that we can create new resources to suit your needs. Please let us know your opinion by clicking the link here.

Mock Marking Events

To answer any questions you have about the new mark schemes, we have uploaded the training materials from our recent Mock Marking events onto our website. You can find the materials here. On this link, you will also find some feedback about the recent AS exams.
