This report comments on the marking to date. This report will comment on the assessment evidence requirements, the accuracy of the marking and the administration. There are also some general comments and details of support materials available from Edexcel.

Assessment evidence

The tasks for the unit are set within the specification. There are three tasks for this unit. Task a) can be completed within a team, however tasks b) and c) should be completed individually.

Assessment evidence can be in many different forms to allow for learning preferences and strengths to be accommodated.

Most tasks could be evidenced through written reports, but there could also be witness testimonies of oral presentations with supporting notes.

The tasks are:

- (a) Evidence of your participation in a team, working towards completion of a significant travel and tourism-related task. This could be as a result of work completed on another unit in the qualification or a specific task designed for this unit
- (b) An analysis of the range of employment opportunities and the skills and qualities required for a successful career in the travel and tourism industry.
- (c) A detailed career development plan based upon a personal skills audit produced using information from a range of sources

AO1

Task a) addresses AO1 – demonstrate knowledge and understanding of the specified content and of related skills in vocationally related contexts and AO2 apply the knowledge, skills and understanding specified in the subject content.

Task b) addresses AO1 – demonstrate knowledge and understanding of the specified content and of related skills in vocationally related contexts and AO3 use appropriate research techniques to obtain information to analyse vocationally-related issues and problems.

Task c) addresses AO1 demonstrate knowledge and understanding of the specified content and of related skills in vocationally related contexts and AO4 –evaluate information to make reasoned judgements, draw conclusions and make recommendations about vocationally related issues and problems.

Task A

This task requires students to show knowledge of team work and apply the skills through their participation in a team working towards completion of a significant travel and tourism-related task.

This could be as a result of work completed on another unit in the qualification or a specific task designed for this unit.

The first part of this task requires students produce evidence of their individual participation in a team.

Most teams still choose to organise a day trip or run an open evening in the college to inform prospective students about the GCE Travel and Tourism course/careers. All events organised have been Travel & Tourism events.

The evidence produced to show a role taken within the team varied; however most consisted of a description of their job role and responsibilities, minutes/logs of meetings, letters to organisations, risk assessment forms, witness testimonies from both peers and assessors.

Most students completed their evidence as they went along and not after the event took place which has occurred in previous series.

Evidence needs to be drawn from a wide range of sources including the student's own account for example in the form of a log book/diary which they use from the beginning to end of their event and is regularly updated and can include a wide range of relevant information for example, costing of the trip, evidence of researching accommodation, for examples letters, names of hotels that were researched, criteria used to make decisions on, table/spreadsheet to show how and when the money is being collected; whatever is applicable to the particular event. All minutes of meetings and agendas should be included for every meeting of the group. Some students are giving lots of theory on teamwork for example, Belbin, which is not a requirement of this task.

Students need to make sure they have a significant role within their team; however this is very difficult if there is a large team of students organising a day trip. It often means that students are doing straightforward tasks, for example, designing a poster to promote their trip or ringing a transport company to book buses which are not deemed as significant roles.

There is no need to produce huge amounts of evidence for this task, this can be achieved in less number of pages; students should focus on the quality of their evidence and not the quantity of it. Students should ensure the evidence is individual and not just photocopied minutes of meetings.

In order to achieve mark band 2 students should be working in groups of no more than five people or lead a larger team as stated in the specification on page 114.

The second part of this task required students to produce evidence to show if their participation was effective and what contribution they made to completing the task and also recognise the contribution of others within the team.

Students predominantly used witness testimonies completed by assessors, an evaluation of their own performance and that of their peers and also a questionnaire completed by their peers.

Students are encouraged to draw their evidence from a wide range of sources. Students largely do not show evidence of dealing with conflict.

They often say conflict has occurred within the group and they had a meeting to sort it out, but not how they sorted it out. Students are required to explain how they dealt with the conflict so the assessor can decide if it has been dealt with effectively. Potential difficulties must be identified prior to the event.

Task B

Addresses AO1 – demonstrate knowledge and understanding of the specified content and of related skills in vocationally related contexts and AO3 use appropriate research techniques to obtain information to analyse vocationally-related issues and problems.

The second task required the students to analyse the range of employment opportunities and the skills and qualities required for a successful career in travel and tourism. Research should be referenced throughout the text as well as in a bibliography.

Many students conducted good research and provided a bibliography but not all had used referencing throughout. Websites were not the only source used which has been an improvement from previous series.

Students generally are covering a range of employment across the sector and are beginning to look at different levels of jobs within each. They should be encouraged to look at a range across the sectors and within each sector they should cover a range of positions at different levels in order to gain higher marks. However students who provided good details of the jobs tended to produce minimal analysis of the opportunities and focussed on descriptions of jobs/duties and limited details of the skills required. There is an improvement in the coverage of the nature of the jobs within the industry and students are now considering the contractual requirements of the jobs in terms of temporary or permanent, self-employed or employed status, rates of pay, the different working hours, seasonality, location of employment, age and other entry requirements specific for certain types of jobs.

Some students researched a range of jobs which did not take into account career progression and did not refer to higher positions that can be achieved in the industry or the routes that can be taken to progress within a given sector.

Eight different websites is not considered to be a range of sources, students should also refer to journals, up to date textbooks, industry specialists, career advisors, employment agencies etc.

Students need to show evidence that the research has been obtained independently. By referencing their work throughout students have the opportunity to show independence. Many students evidenced this through the assessor stating that sources were acquired independently or students signed the bibliography.

Task C

Addresses AO1 demonstrate knowledge and understanding of the specified content and of related skills in vocationally related contexts and AO4 evaluate information to make reasoned judgements, draw conclusions and make recommendations about vocationally related issues and problems.

The final task requires students to produce a detailed career development plan based upon a personal skills audit using information from a wide range of sources.

A wide range of career plans were produced, however some lacked detail and were not clear and often they were disjointed with no clear progression from one stage to the next.

Some student's CDP were focussed in the medium term, steps were not well explained and statements were generalised. Often well thought out and detailed CDP's were not supported by evidence from the PSA. There needs to be some evidence of career progression and the plan should include long term goals for the next five to ten years. For the higher mark bands there should also be evidence of a link between the personal skills audit and the career development plan as the skills are used to formulate the career plans.

The student should suggest a way to achieve the goals that they have set themselves, which should be realistic and long term. Most students had a firm idea about their chosen career but justification and links were vague.

Some students still discuss what their chosen job was but often did not systematically explain how they would achieve this, referring to dates, costs etc however this is improving. Again some students did not discuss aspirations to a higher level or promotion to management as an option in their career.

The second part of the task required the student to produce a personal skills audit. The construction of a personal skills audit was carried out with a degree of success.

Some however were basic and tended to be subjective as students included minimal supporting evidence. Students should be encouraged to support their PSA using evidence from a range of independent sources, for example part-time job references, work experience reports, progress reports from school/college etc.

The personal skills audit should then be used to produce the career development plan where a clear link should be evident.

Additional Evidence

Students do not need to show coverage of the 'what you need to learn' section, but to use these as guidance in answering the questions posed in the tasks.

Marking

On this moderation sample, marking was mainly accurate. Assessors are reminded to focus on the descriptors given in the assessment grid when making judgements on students' performance. The starting point should be to determine the 'best fit' Mark Band. Assessors are advised to use the full range of marks available within the Mark Band. To facilitate this, assessors are advised to start at the mid point in the range of marks available within a Mark Band and move up or down based on the strengths or weaknesses of students work. Assessors should note for example if they are awarding top marks within mark band two then there should be a lot of traits from mark band three evident within the work. Assessors comments justifying their choice of mark band and mark awarded assist the moderation process.

Moderators do find it useful where assessors annotate student work and indicate where the criteria has been covered. Annotation should focus on the Mark Band descriptors. For example, in task a) annotation could highlight clearly the potential difficulties in meeting the objectives or the potential conflicts which may arise and solutions proposed and implemented.

In task b) annotation could show where the student has provided some analysis of the nature and range of employment opportunities and the skills and qualities required for a successful in the industry.

In task c) annotation could highlight where the student has used the personal skills audit when completing the career development plan.

If annotation was against the relevant statements, the moderator need only look at this to be able to draw a conclusion regarding the accuracy of the marking.

Centres are encouraged to annotate throughout the students work, and should note that Ticks are not annotation. Page numbering of students work cross referenced to the tasks would be beneficial to the moderation process.

Administration

The deadline for submission of portfolios for moderation was met. OPTEM forms were correctly completed in most cases.

Centres are required to sign the Optem forms to confirm the authenticity of students work. Assessors should ensure, therefore, that where additional support has been provided to a student, or where a student has made overuse of printed material from internet sites or large sections from text books, these are not credited. A statement to that effect for the moderator would assist the process.

Authenticity sheets was always included with the work, in order to confirm it was the students own work.

Centres are encouraged to not put students work in plastic pockets as this slows down the moderation process.

Mark record sheets were included.

Centres should also ensure that the students name and number are also on other parts of the assignment as well as the record mark sheet.

On some occasions assessor feedback sheets lacked detail and did not always relate to the mark band statements.
