

Statement of Purpose

601/0231/7 - Pearson BTEC Level 1/Level 2 First Extended Certificate in Hospitality

Who is the qualification for?

This qualification is a Technical Certificate at Level 2 (360 GLH) designed for post-16 students working at that level.

It is aimed at students who have chosen to focus their learning and career development within the hospitality industry and who are looking for an engaging and stimulating qualification.

It provides them with the opportunity to select appropriate and specific learning that focuses on some of the wide range of roles within the world of hospitality. It will prepare students with the appropriate skills and knowledge to enter employment within some areas of the hospitality industry.

What does this qualification cover?

This qualification consists of five mandatory units that provide the key knowledge, skills and understanding required for the hospitality sector. Up to six additional units are then chosen from a choice of 12 optional units. Optional units are grouped to ensure that students choose from a range of specialisms. Students can build upon these specialisms within the larger qualification (BTEC Level 1/Level 2 First Diploma in Hospitality)

Mandatory units

- Unit 1: Introducing the Hospitality Industry – provides an overview of the industry; the range of products and services offered, and the processes involved in operating a hospitality business.
- Unit 2: Working in the Hospitality Industry – introduces students to effective working skills in the hospitality industry and provides them with opportunities to use these skills in context
- Unit 3: Food Safety and Health and Safety in Hospitality – enables students to discover aspects of health and safety, and food safety law.
- Unit 9: How the Hospitality Industry Contributes to Healthy Lifestyles - students will explore healthy living by looking at balanced diets, the effects of alcohol consumption and the importance of regular exercise and how the industry adapts to meet changing customer expectations.
- Unit 14: Teamwork in Hospitality - students will acquire, apply and evaluate their teamworking skills within practical activities.

Optional specialist units

The optional specialist units offered within this qualification build on the mandatory units and provide students with an opportunity to pursue some specialist interests related to entry level work in the sector and apply their knowledge and practical application of skills in a synoptic way, for example by planning and running a hospitality event or through planning an appropriate menu for a hospitality business.

Students will take a minimum of two optional units covering cost control; food preparation; food and beverage service; front office; accommodation and a minimum of two units covering enterprise marketing; event planning; world cooking skills; menu planning; managing finance and alcohol awareness.

What could this qualification lead to?

The BTEC Level 1/Level 2 First Extended Certificate in Hospitality provides students with the opportunity to prepare for work in one of the largest, most diverse and most important sectors of the UK economy. Students will develop a broad understanding of the industry and develop specialist practical and technical skills in hospitality-related contexts.

They will also develop a valuable range of study and employability skills including self-management, team working, business and customer awareness, problem solving, communication (through serving customers and working as part of a team), and enhancing their skills in literacy (through drafting reports), numeracy (through studying finance) and applying their skills in naturally occurring, relevant, work-related contexts.

Achievement of this qualification at level 2 will enable students to progress directly into employment (primarily to entry level roles in general hospitality positions), into an apprenticeship in the hospitality industry or to further study at Level 3.

Employment opportunities include food preparation assistant, porter within hotel concierge services, food service assistant, bar attendant, and those working generally with minimum supervision within concession catering outlets or fast food operations and in other junior customer-facing and support roles within the hospitality sector.

Apprenticeships include the Hospitality Supervision and Leadership Advanced Apprenticeship at level 3, or Intermediate Apprenticeships at level 2 in Hospitality Services, Kitchen Services, Food and Drink Service or Customer Service.

Further study could include a Tech Level qualification such as the BTEC Level 3 Extended Diploma in Hospitality, or smaller more specialist qualifications in cookery or food and beverage service.

This qualification is part of a larger suite of BTEC Hospitality qualifications

The BTEC Level 1/Level 2 First Extended Certificate has 360 GLH. The BTEC Level 1/Level 2 First Diploma, at 480 GLH, is also available.

(The suite also contains an Award (120 GLH) and Certificate (240 GLH) but they are designed for use pre-16).

The Level 1/Level 2 BTEC Level 2 Extended Certificate in Hospitality is a qualification which would be most often chosen to study alongside other Level 2 subjects. It forms a strong basis for students to build transferable skills, which can be used within other vocational areas of study, and develops underpinning knowledge of the hospitality industry. The units cover a range of roles across the hospitality sector and will be appropriate for the student who is looking to prepare for a more general entry level role in employment in hospitality or an apprenticeship. The size of the qualification also allows for time in the curriculum for those who need to include additional qualifications to prepare them for progression, such as GCSE English, GCSE mathematics or any other subject that would complement their main course of study.

The BTEC Level 1/Level 2 Diploma in Hospitality is a more comprehensive vocational qualification which covers a whole range of skills and understanding of the hospitality industry, and allows students to specialise or to deepen their understanding through the provision of a broad range of optional specialist units. The Diploma provides a comprehensive and challenging programme of study related to hospitality for post-16 students who have the relevant interest and aptitude to progress in the industry and who may want to take specific work experience or community volunteering units. This will be appropriate for the student who is looking to prepare for a variety of specific roles in hospitality, or progress to a Level 3 qualification or apprenticeship.

Both the Extended Certificate and Diploma support progression to Level 3 study programmes, apprenticeships and/or other employment in hospitality.
