Welcome

With a track record built over 30 years of learner success, BTEC Nationals are widely recognised by industry and higher education as the signature vocational qualification at Level 3. They provide progression to the workplace either directly or via study at a higher level. Proof comes from YouGov research, which shows that 62% of large companies have recruited employees with BTEC qualifications. What's more, well over 100,000 BTEC students apply to UK universities every year and their BTEC Nationals are accepted by over 150 UK universities and higher education institutes for relevant degree programmes either on their own or in combination with A Levels.

Why are BTECs so successful?

BTECs embody a fundamentally learner-centred approach to the curriculum, with a flexible, unit-based structure and knowledge applied in project-based assessments. They focus on the holistic development of the practical, interpersonal and thinking skills required to be able to succeed in employment and higher education.

When creating the BTEC Nationals in this suite, we worked with many employers, higher education providers, colleges and schools to ensure that their needs are met. Employers are looking for recruits with a thorough grounding in the latest industry requirements and work-ready skills such as teamwork. Higher education needs students who have experience of research, extended writing and meeting deadlines.

We have addressed these requirements with:

- a range of BTEC sizes, each with a clear purpose, so there is something to suit each learner's choice of study programme and progression plans
- refreshed content that is closely aligned with employers' and higher education needs for a skilled future workforce
- assessments and projects chosen to help learners progress to the next stage. This means some are set by you to meet local needs, while others are set and marked by Pearson so that there is a core of skills and understanding that is common to all learners. For example, a written test can be used to check that learners are confident in using technical knowledge to carry out a certain job.

We are providing a wealth of support, both resources and people, to ensure that learners and their teachers have the best possible experience during their course. See Section 10 for details of the support we offer.

A word to learners

Today's BTEC Nationals are demanding, as you would expect of the most respected applied learning qualification in the UK. You will have to choose and complete a range of units, be organised, take some assessments that we will set and mark, and keep a portfolio of your assignments. But you can feel proud to achieve a BTEC because, whatever your plans in life – whether you decide to study further, go on to work or an apprenticeship, or set up your own business – your BTEC National will be your passport to success in the next stage of your life.

Good luck, and we hope you enjoy your course.
Collaborative development

Students completing their BTEC Nationals in performing arts will be aiming to go on to employment, often via the stepping stone of higher education. It was, therefore, essential that we developed these qualifications in close collaboration with experts from professional bodies, businesses and universities, and with the providers who will be delivering the qualifications.

To ensure that the content meets providers’ needs and provides high-quality preparation for progression, we engaged experts. We are very grateful to all the university and further education lecturers, teachers, employers, professional body representatives and other individuals who have generously shared their time and expertise to help us develop these new qualifications.

In addition, universities, professional bodies and businesses have provided letters of support confirming that these qualifications meet their entry requirements. These letters can be viewed on our website.

Introduction to BTEC National qualifications for the performing arts sector

This specification contains the information you need to deliver the Pearson BTEC Level 3 National Extended Diploma in Performing Arts. The specification signposts you to additional handbooks and policies. It includes all the units for this qualification.

This qualification is part of the suite of performing arts qualifications offered by Pearson. In the suite there are qualifications that focus on different progression routes, allowing learners to choose the one best suited to their aspirations.

All qualifications in the suite share some common units and assessments, allowing learners some flexibility in moving between sizes. The qualification titles are given below.

Some BTEC National qualifications provide a broad introduction that gives learners transferable knowledge and skills. These qualifications are for post-16 learners who want to continue their education through applied learning. The qualifications prepare learners for a range of higher education courses and job roles related to a particular sector. They provide progression either by meeting entry requirements in their own right or by being accepted alongside other qualifications at the same level and adding value to them.

In the performing arts sector these qualifications are:
Pearson BTEC Level 3 National Certificate in Performing Arts (180 GLH) 601/7231/9
Pearson BTEC Level 3 National Extended Certificate in Performing Arts (360 GLH) 601/7233/2
Pearson BTEC Level 3 National Foundation Diploma in Performing Arts (510 GLH) 601/7235/6
Pearson BTEC Level 3 National Diploma in Performing Arts (720 GLH) 601/7232/0
Pearson BTEC Level 3 National Extended Diploma in Performing Arts (1080 GLH) 601/7234/4.

Some BTEC National qualifications are for post-16 learners who want to specialise in a specific industry, occupation or occupational group. The qualifications give learners specialist knowledge and skills, enabling entry to an Apprenticeship or other employment, or progression to related higher education courses. Learners taking these qualifications must have a significant level of employer involvement in their programmes.

In the performing arts sector this is:
Pearson BTEC Level 3 National Extended Certificate in Performance (603/2993/2).
Pathways:
• Dance
• Acting
• Musical Theatre.

This specification signposts all the other essential documents and support that you need as a centre in order to deliver, assess and administer the qualification, including the staff development required. A summary of all essential documents is given in Section 7. Information on how we can support you with this qualification is given in Section 10.

The information in this specification is correct at the time of publication.
Total Qualification Time

For all regulated qualifications, Pearson specifies a total number of hours that it is estimated learners will require to complete and show achievement for the qualification: this is the Total Qualification Time (TQT). Within TQT, Pearson identifies the number of Guided Learning Hours (GLH) that we estimate a centre delivering the qualification might provide. Guided learning means activities, such as lessons, tutorials, online instruction, supervised study and giving feedback on performance, that directly involve teachers and assessors in teaching, supervising and invigilating learners. Guided learning includes the time required for learners to complete external assessment under examination or supervised conditions.

In addition to guided learning, other required learning directed by teachers or assessors will include private study, preparation for assessment and undertaking assessment when not under supervision, such as preparatory reading, revision and independent research.

BTEC Nationals have been designed around the number of hours of guided learning expected. Each unit in the qualification has a GLH value of 60, 90 or 120. There is then a total GLH value for the qualification.

Each qualification has a TQT value. This may vary within sectors and across the suite depending on the nature of the units in each qualification and the expected time for other required learning.

The following table shows all the qualifications in this sector and their GLH and TQT values.

| Pearson BTEC Level 3 National Certificate in Performing Arts | 180 GLH (240 TQT)
Equivalent in size to 0.5 of an A Level.
2 units, both mandatory, of which 1 is external.
Mandatory content (100%).
External assessment (50%). | The Certificate offers an introduction to the performing arts vocational sector through applied learning.
For learners for whom an element of performing arts would be complementary, the qualification supports progression to higher education when taken as part of a programme of study that includes other vocational or general qualifications. |
| Pearson BTEC Level 3 National Extended Certificate in Performing Arts | 360 GLH (480 TQT)
Equivalent in size to one A Level.
4 units, of which 3 are mandatory and 2 are external.
Mandatory content (83%).
External assessment (58%). | The Extended Certificate is for learners who are interested in learning about the performing arts sector alongside other fields of study, with a view to progressing to a wide range of higher education courses, not necessarily in performing arts.
It is designed to be taken as part of a programme of study that includes other appropriate BTEC Nationals or A Levels. |
| Pearson BTEC Level 3 National Foundation Diploma in Performing Arts | 510 GLH (675 TQT)
Equivalent in size to 1.5 A Levels.
6 units of which 4 are mandatory and 2 are external.
Mandatory content (76%).
External assessment (41%). | The Foundation Diploma is for learners looking to study performing arts as a one-year, full-time course, or for those wishing to take it alongside another area of contrasting or complementary study, as part of a two-year, full-time study programme.
If taken as part of a programme of study that includes other BTEC Nationals or A Levels it supports progression to higher education.
It also supports progression to an Apprenticeship in the performing arts sector or to a further year of study at Level 3. |
| Pearson BTEC Level 3 National Diploma in Performing Arts | 720 GLH (945 TQT)
Equivalent in size to two A Levels.
8 units of which 6 are mandatory and 3 are external.
Mandatory content (83%).
External assessment (46%). | The Diploma is designed to be the substantive part of a 16–19 study programme for learners who want a strong core of sector study.
This programme may include other BTEC Nationals or A Levels to support progression to higher education courses in performing arts areas before entering employment.
The additional qualification(s) studied allow learners either to give breadth to their study programme by choosing a contrasting subject, or to give it more focus by choosing a complementary subject. |

Qualification and unit content

Pearson has developed the content of the new BTEC Nationals in collaboration with employers and representatives from higher education and relevant professional bodies. In this way, we have ensured that content is up to date and that it includes the knowledge, understanding, skills and attributes required in the sector.

Each qualification in the suite has its own purpose. The mandatory and optional content provides a balance of breadth and depth, while retaining a degree of choice for individual learners to study content relevant to their own interests and progression choices. Also, the content may be applied during delivery in a way that is relevant to local employment needs.

The proportion of mandatory content ensures that all learners are following a coherent programme of study and acquiring the knowledge, understanding and skills that will be recognised and valued. Learners are expected to show achievement across mandatory units as detailed in Section 2.

BTEC Nationals have always required applied learning that brings together knowledge and understanding (the cognitive domain) with practical and technical skills (the psychomotor domain). This is achieved through learners performing vocational tasks that encourage the development of appropriate vocational behaviours (the affective domain) and transferable skills. Transferable skills are those such as communication, teamwork, research and analysis, which are valued in both higher education and the workplace.

Our approach provides rigour and balance, and promotes the ability to apply learning immediately in new contexts. Further details can be found in Section 2.

Centres should ensure that delivery of content is kept up to date. Some of the units within the specification may contain references to legislation, policies, regulations and organisations, which may not be applicable in the country you deliver this qualification in (if teaching outside of England), or which may have gone out-of-date during the lifespan of the specification. In these instances, it is possible to substitute such references with ones that are current and applicable in the country you deliver subject to confirmation by your Standards Verifier.

Assessment

Assessment is specifically designed to fit the purpose and objective of the qualification. It includes a range of assessment types and styles suited to vocational qualifications in the sector. There are three main forms of assessment that you need to be aware of: external, internal and synoptic.

Externally-assessed units

Each external assessment for a BTEC National is linked to a specific unit. All of the units developed for external assessment are of 90 or 120 GLH to allow learners to demonstrate breadth and depth of achievement. Each assessment is taken under specified conditions, then marked by Pearson and a grade awarded. Learners are permitted to resit external assessments during their programme. You should refer to our website for current policy information on permitted retakes.

The styles of external assessment used for qualifications in the performing arts suite are:

- set tasks – learners take the assessment during a defined window and demonstrate understanding through completion of a vocational task
- performance – learners prepare for assessment over an extended window and demonstrate skills that generate some non-written evidence.

Some external assessments include a period of preparation using set information. External assessments are available once or twice a year. For detailed information on the external assessments please see the table in Section 2. For further information on preparing for external assessment see Section 5.
Internally-assessed units
Most units in the sector are internally assessed and subject to external standards verification. This means that you set and assess the assignments that provide the final summative assessment of each unit, using the examples and support that Pearson provides. Before you assess you will need to become an approved centre, if you are not one already. You will need to prepare to assess using the guidance in Section 6.

In line with the requirements and guidance for internal assessment, you select the most appropriate assessment styles according to the learning set out in the unit. This ensures that learners are assessed using a variety of styles to help them develop a broad range of transferable skills. Learners could be given opportunities to:

- write up the findings of their own research
- use case studies to explore complex or unfamiliar situations
- carry out projects for which they have choice over the direction and outcomes
- demonstrate practical and technical skills using appropriate techniques and processes.

You will make grading decisions based on the requirements and supporting guidance given in the units. Learners may not make repeated submissions of assignment evidence. For further information see Section 6.

Synoptic assessment
Synoptic assessment requires learners to demonstrate that they can identify and use effectively, in an integrated way, an appropriate selection of skills, techniques, concepts, theories and knowledge from across the whole sector as relevant to a key task. BTEC learning has always encouraged learners to apply their learning in realistic contexts using scenarios and realistic activities that will permit learners to draw on and apply their learning. For these qualifications we have formally identified units which contain a synoptic assessment task. Synoptic assessment must take place after the teaching and learning of other mandatory units in order for learners to be able to draw from the full range of content. The synoptic assessment gives learners an opportunity to independently select and apply learning from across their programmes in the completion of a vocational task. Synoptic tasks may be in internally or externally assessed units. The particular unit that contains the synoptic tasks for this qualification is shown in the structure in Section 2.

Language of assessment
Assessment of the internal and external units for these qualifications will be available in English. All learner work must be in English. A learner taking the qualifications may be assessed in British or Irish Sign Language where it is permitted for the purpose of reasonable adjustment. For information on reasonable adjustments see Section 7.
Grading for units and qualifications

Achievement in the qualification requires a demonstration of depth of study in each unit, assured acquisition of a range of practical skills required for employment or progression to higher education, and successful development of transferable skills. Learners achieving a qualification will have achieved across mandatory units, including external and synoptic assessment.

Units are assessed using a grading scale of Distinction (D), Merit (M), Pass (P), Near Pass (N) and Unclassified (U). The grade of Near Pass is used for externally-assessed units only. All mandatory and optional units contribute proportionately to the overall qualification grade, for example a unit of 120 GLH will contribute double that of a 60 GLH unit.

Qualifications in the suite are graded using a scale of P to D*, or PP to D*D*, or PPP to D*D*D*. Please see Section 9 for more details. The relationship between qualification grading scales and unit grades will be subject to regular review as part of Pearson’s standards monitoring processes on the basis of learner performance and in consultation with key users of the qualification.

UCAS Tariff points

The BTEC Nationals attract UCAS points. Please go to the UCAS website for full details of the points allocated.
1 Qualification purpose

Pearson BTEC Level 3 National Extended Diploma in Performing Arts

In this section you will find information on the purpose of this qualification and how its design meets that purpose through the qualification objective and structure. We publish a full 'Statement of Purpose' for each qualification on our website. These statements are designed to guide you and potential learners to make the most appropriate choice about the size of qualification suitable at recruitment.

Who is this qualification for?

The Pearson BTEC Level 3 National Extended Diploma in Performing Arts is intended as an Applied General qualification for post-16 learners who want to continue their education through applied learning. The aim of the qualification is to prepare learners for entry to higher education, probably to a sector-related degree which could in turn lead to employment in the performing arts

- The qualification is equivalent in size to three A levels, and it has been designed as a full two-year programme. Learners wishing to take this BTEC will have successfully completed a Level 2 programme of learning with GCSEs and potentially some vocational qualifications.
- The qualification gives learners the opportunity to focus on a particular aspect of the performing arts sector through the extensive common core followed by a selection of optional units.

What does this qualification cover?

- The content of this qualification has been developed in consultation with academics to ensure that it supports progression to higher education. In addition, employers and professional bodies have been involved and consulted in order to confirm that the content is also appropriate and consistent with current practice.

This qualification includes seven mandatory units, covering the following areas:

- performance – practical exploration and application of skills and techniques, individual and group performance
- research and analysis - research methodology, independent learning, extended writing, sourcing, idea generation, evaluating information and drawing conclusions from it
- knowledge and skills for employment in performing arts – including self-promotion and marketing.

The mandatory content for the qualification is equivalent in size to two A levels, so higher education representatives have confirmed that learners can choose their six optional units from a wide range of units. This will enable learners to explore their own choice of disciplines for further study. Certain combinations of optional units may lead to an endorsement in the title of the qualification gained, to reflect the discipline chosen.

The disciplines covered are:

- BTEC Level 3 National Extended Diploma in Performing Arts (Dance) – optional units cover different types of dance, including ballet, tap, and street dance as well as looking at health factors specific to dancers.
- BTEC Level 3 National Extended Diploma in Performing Arts (Acting) – optional units cover directing, acting styles, improvisation and audio performance.
- BTEC Level 3 National Extended Diploma in Performing Arts (Musical Theatre) – optional units cover singing techniques, dance, acting styles, and musical theatre techniques.

Learners can also choose options across the disciplines, rather than focus on a particular one, and achieve the BTEC Level 3 National Extended Diploma in Performing Arts.

Whichever route is chosen, the same range of progression routes remains open to learners; the title gives an indication of the nature of the option units studied.

The large core of mandatory content in this qualification gives a strong basis for progression to higher education, and means that learners can choose a combination of optional units that best reflects their strengths and interests, without closing down any route.
What could this qualification lead to?

In addition to the performing arts sector-specific content, this qualification provides learners with the opportunity to develop all-round performance skills and transferable skills such as self-confidence, self-presentation, personal discipline, time management and organisational skills which are highly regarded by higher education and employers.

The pathways allow students to focus a proportion of their course on particular disciplines in performing arts, and their aim is to indicate to end users what that focus has been; but the choice does not restrict future progression.

This BTEC Level 3 National Extended Diploma in Performing Arts is intended to carry UCAS points and is recognised by higher education providers as meeting admission requirements for many relevant courses, for example:

Degrees in:
- Performance
- Theatre Studies
- Dance
- Drama
- Dance Culture and Choreography
- Acting.

HNC/HNDs in:
- Performing Arts
- Acting
- Dance.

Further specialised vocational qualifications at conservatoires and drama schools:
- LAMDA
- RADA
- Guildhall School of Music and Drama
- Italia Conti Academy of Theatre Arts
- Conservatoires and ballet schools in Professional Dance

Learners should always check the entry requirements for degree programmes with specific higher education providers. After this qualification, learners can also progress directly into employment, however it is likely that many will do so via higher study. Areas of employment include roles, such as performing, directing, choreography, devising, Theatre in Education (TIE) and project leadership.

As part of their higher study choices, learners may also choose to progress to a BTEC Higher National (HN) qualification. HNs are widely supported by higher education and industry as the principal vocational qualifications at Levels 4 and 5 and are designed to reflect the increasing need for high quality professional and technical education at Levels 4 and 5. They provide learners with a clear line of sight to employment and to a degree at Level 6 if they choose. The Pearson BTEC Level 3 National Extended Diploma in Performing Arts meets the admission requirements for:
- Pearson BTEC Level 4 Higher National Certificate in Performing Arts (Acting)
- Pearson BTEC Level 4 Higher National Certificate in Performing Arts (Musical Theatre)
- Pearson BTEC Level 4 Higher National Certificate in Performing Arts (Dance)
- Pearson BTEC Level 4 Higher National Certificate in Performing Arts (Technical Arts)
- Pearson BTEC Level 4 Higher National Certificate in Performing Arts (General).
How does the qualification provide employability skills?

In the BTEC National units there are opportunities during the teaching and learning phase to give learners practice in developing employability skills. Where employability skills are referred to in this specification, we are generally referring to skills in the following three main categories:

- cognitive and problem-solving skills: use critical thinking, approach non-routine problems applying expert and creative solutions, use systems and technology
- intrapersonal skills: communicating, working collaboratively, negotiating and influencing, self-presentation
- interpersonal skills: self-management, adaptability and resilience, self-monitoring and development.

There are also specific requirements in some units for assessment of these skills where relevant, for example, where learners are required to undertake real or simulated activities.

How does the qualification provide transferable knowledge and skills for higher education?

All BTEC Nationals provide transferable knowledge and skills that prepare learners for progression to university. The transferable skills that universities value include:

- the ability to learn independently
- the ability to research actively and methodically
- being able to give presentations and being active group members.

BTEC learners can also benefit from opportunities for deep learning where they are able to make connections among units and select areas of interest for detailed study. BTEC Nationals provide a vocational context in which learners can develop the knowledge and skills required for particular degree courses, including:

- reading texts
- extended writing
- analytical skills
- creative development
- communication skills
- collaborative skills
- independence
- preparation for assessment methods used in degrees.

Synoptic assessment

The mandatory synoptic assessment requires learners to apply learning from across the qualification to the completion of a defined vocational task. Within the assessment for Unit 7: Employment Opportunities in the Performing Arts, learners will present their knowledge and understanding of performing arts organisations and the employment opportunities they provide. They will present their response to a potential employment opportunity; and produce a promotional portfolio that will include selected examples of practical work; and a supporting written response linked to a chosen individual progression route.

Learners will complete the promotional portfolio and written response using knowledge and understanding from their studies of the sector and apply both transferable and specialist knowledge and skills.

In delivering the unit you need to encourage learners to draw on their broader learning so they will be prepared for the assessment.

Employer involvement in assessment and delivery

You are encouraged to give learners opportunities to be involved with employers. See Section 4 for more information.
Units

Understanding your units

The units in this specification set out our expectations of assessment in a way that helps you to prepare your learners for assessment. The units help you to undertake assessment and quality assurance effectively.

Each unit in the specification is set out in a similar way. There are two types of unit format:

- internal units
- external units.

This section explains how the units work. It is important that all teachers, assessors, internal verifiers and other staff responsible for the programme review this section.

Internal units

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Section</th>
<th>Explanation</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Unit number</td>
<td>The number is in a sequence in the sector. Numbers may not be sequential for an individual qualification.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Unit title</td>
<td>This is the formal title that we always use and it appears on certificates.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Level</td>
<td>All units are at Level 3 on the national framework.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Unit type</td>
<td>This shows if the unit is internal or external only. See structure information in Section 2 for full details.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GLH</td>
<td>Units may have a GLH value of 120, 90 or 60 GLH. This indicates the numbers of hours of teaching, directed activity and assessment expected. It also shows the weighting of the unit in the final qualification grade.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Unit in brief</td>
<td>A brief formal statement on the content of the unit that is helpful in understanding its role in the qualification. You can use this in summary documents, brochures etc.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Unit introduction</td>
<td>This is designed with learners in mind. It indicates why the unit is important, how learning is structured, and how learning might be applied when progressing to employment or higher education.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Learning aims</td>
<td>These help to define the scope, style and depth of learning of the unit. You can see where learners should be learning standard requirements (‘understand’) or where they should be actively researching (‘investigate’). You can find out more about the verbs we use in learning aims in Appendix 2.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Summary of unit</td>
<td>This new section helps teachers to see at a glance the main content areas against the learning aims and the structure of the assessment. The content areas and structure of assessment are required. The forms of evidence given are suitable to fulfil the requirements.</td>

Unit 1: Investigating Practitioners’ Work

Level: 3
Unit type: External
Guided learning hours: 90

Unit in brief

Learners investigate the work of performing arts practitioners and develop critical analysis skills and contextual understanding of how practitioners communicate themes in their work.

Unit introduction

Understanding the contextual factors that have influenced and informed the work of performing arts practitioners has an important role in developing your own professional practice and understanding of features, such as response to a theme, performance styles, genre and purpose. A personal evaluation of the work is important; judgements need to be based on effective research and secure critical analysis.

In this unit, you will develop skills that allow you to investigate the work of influential performing arts practitioners. You will identify the contextual factors that influence their work and critically analyse key information, such as creative intentions, performance, production and repertoire in order to develop and communicate independent judgements. To complete the assessment tasks within this unit, you will need to draw on your learning from across your programme.

This unit will give you skills in research, critical analysis and extended writing that will support your progress to higher education. As a performing arts practitioner you will need to have a good understanding of the work of influential practitioners to inform your own work and professional practice.

Summary of assessment

This mandatory unit will be assessed through a task and completed under supervised conditions. The task is formed of two parts, Part A and Part B.

Part A will be issued to learners four weeks before the timetabled session for Part B. Part B is taken under supervised conditions in a single session of 3 hours timetabled by Pearson.

Please see Issue 3 of the Sample Assessment Materials to help prepare learners for assessment.

The number of marks for both versions of the task in 60.

The assessment availability is December/January and May/June each year.
Assessment outcomes

AO1 Demonstrate knowledge and understanding of contextual factors that influence work of performing arts practitioners

AO2 Apply knowledge and understanding of how contextual factors influence the creative intentions and themes of performing arts practitioners

AO3 Apply critical analysis skills to develop and demonstrate understanding of performance, production and repertoire

AO4 Be able to apply an effective investigation process to inform the understanding of the work of performing arts practitioners, communicating independent judgements
Essential content

The essential content is set out under content areas. Learners must cover all specified content before the assessment.

A Investigating contextual factors

List of practitioners (when responding to the externally set task at least one of the following must be selected):
- Alvin Ailey
- Steven Berkoff
- Matthew Bourne
- Bertolt Brecht*
- Christopher Bruce
- Cirque du Soleil
- Complicite
- DV8
- Bob Fosse
- Frantic Assembly
- Martha Graham
- Shobana Jeyasingh
- Akram Khan
- Andrew Lloyd Webber
- Lin-Manuel Miranda
- Katie Mitchell
- Paper Birds
- Emma Rice
- Rodgers and Hammerstein
- Stephen Sondheim
- Stanislavski*
- Zoonation
* Investigation of contextual factors for the work of these practitioners, as with all practitioners, should include actual productions of their work and not just focus on the practitioners’ theory and techniques in isolation.

For the purposes of this unit, a practitioner is defined as an individual or a company with international recognition and an established reputation and presence.

A1 Investigation process

- Setting clear aims and objectives for contextual investigation.
- Selecting relevant sources to access information.
- Selecting primary sources:
  - live performance
  - interviews
  - surveys.
- Selecting secondary sources:
  - digital
  - recorded
  - web based
  - print
  - archives
  - case studies
  - key theories.
- Collating information, such as selecting and organising the pieces most relevant to the tasks and purpose.
• Employing different formats for recording information:
  o journals
  o notebooks
  o photographs
  o videos
  o blogs.
• Documenting research sources:
  o referencing
  o citation
  o bibliography.

B The relationships between contextual factors, creative intentions and themes

B1 Contextual factors and practitioners’ work

Learners should consider all of the contextual factors and focus on to what extent and how they may have influenced, impacted on or been portrayed within the work.

• The influence of historical factors, to include:
  o key events, epoch or major shifts and changes in society
  o practitioner’s personal history and experience.
• The influence of cultural factors, to include:
  o traditions and practices within the arts, community or religion
  o other art forms, cultural trends and styles.
• The influence of economic factors, to include:
  o reactions to or statements about the impact of economic factors on people
  o funding conditions for performing arts or the financial status of the practitioner.
• The influence of political factors, to include:
  o relationship to establishment, supporting or undermining o laws, propaganda, legal rights, censorship, equality and diversity.
• The influence of technological factors, to include:
  o latest developments in technology and opportunities for the use of technology in productions o any type of impact of technology on people, behaviour or society.
• The influence of social factors, to include:
  o values, morals, social conventions and audience expectations
  o changes in social attitudes, media influences and external pressures, issues of equality, diversity and representation.
• The influence of geographical and physical factors, to include:
  o relationship to the environment, geography or location
  o conventions and innovation in the use of space, venues and physical characteristics of spaces.
• The influence from others, to include:
  o the influence of their education from teachers, mentors or peers o collaboration with others or whether practitioners were part of a movement.
o B2 Creative intentions and themes
- Exploration of themes in the work and how they are communicated, such as war, morality, romance.
- Use of creative ideas and intentions.
- Genre of the work(s).
- Target audiences and intended effect.
- Contextual influences on the work.
- How practitioners’ work has influenced others.
- Collaboration with other practitioners in the performing arts and/or other areas.
- Public and critical responses to their work.

C Critical analysis of the work of performing arts practitioners

C1 The application of critical analysis skills
- Analysing contextual factors that have influenced the work.
- Exploration and understanding of alternative viewpoints.
- Interpreting the information collected.
- Prioritising the information collected.
- Evaluating the information collected.
- Making independent judgements.
- Drawing conclusions.
- Establishing links and comparisons to the work of other performing arts practitioners.
- Exploring opportunities for further investigation.

C2 How performance styles and methods that characterise practitioner work are used to create and communicate meaning and style
- Performance and relationships:
  o pace
  o dynamics
  o timing
  o musicality
  o voice
  o movement
  o gesture
  o character
  o spatial awareness
  o performer to performer o contact work
  o performer to space
  o performer to audience
  o performer to accompaniment
  o placement and role of audience.
Production and repertoire:
  o text
  o choreography/direction
  o score/music
  o content o genre
  o style
  o set, staging and special effects o costume, hair and makeup o mask
  o lighting and multimedia
  o sound
  o puppetry.

D Be able to present conclusions and independent judgements through effective investigation

D1 Summarise key information to support independent judgements
  • Consider validity of material collected.
  • Analyse selected material.
  • Consider alternative viewpoint.
  • Refer to contextual influences in the material selected.
  • Make connections and links between theme(s), creative intentions, influences in the materials selected.
  • Consider genre and style.

D2 Presentation of findings
  • Use of appropriate format, structure and tone.
  • Use of language and subject-specific terminology.
  • Use of referencing information, citation and bibliography.

D3 Presentation of independent judgements
  • Use of critical analysis.
  • Explaining views and interpretations.
  • Presenting structured arguments, conclusions and judgements.
  • Use of relevant examples to support arguments, conclusions and judgements.
Grade descriptors

To achieve a grade a learner is expected to demonstrate these attributes across the essential content of the unit. The principle of best fit will apply in awarding grades.

Level 3 Pass

Learners are able to apply research skills to support and inform their investigation. They will demonstrate their knowledge and understanding of contextual factors that influence performing arts practitioners’ work and will be able to source and organise appropriate material to supplement this understanding. They will demonstrate an ability to apply critical analysis skills leading to the development of considered judgements and conclusions.

Level 3 Distinction

Learners will be able to apply a comprehensive set of research skills to support and inform their investigation. They will demonstrate in-depth knowledge and understanding of how contextual factors have influenced performing arts practitioners’ work. Learners will present fully-justified connections between well-chosen examples of work, creative intentions and the theme. They will select and organise a wide range of source material relevant to the practitioners and the theme to supplement their understanding.

Learners will apply thorough critical analysis skills leading to the development of fully informed and independent judgements, supported by examples of performance, production and repertoire.

Key terms typically used in the unit

The following table shows the key terms that will be used consistently by Pearson in our assessments to ensure students are rewarded for demonstrating the necessary skills.

Links to other units

The assessment for this unit should draw on knowledge, understanding and skills developed from:
- Unit 2: Developing Skills and Techniques for Live Performance.

This unit should relate to the teaching of:
- Unit 3: Group Performance Workshop
- Unit 8: Classical Ballet Technique
- Unit 9: Tap Dance Technique
- Unit 10: Jazz Dance Technique
- Unit 11: Street Dance Technique
- Unit 12: Contemporary Dance Technique.

Employer involvement

Centres may involve employers in the delivery of this unit if there are local opportunities. There is no specific guidance related to this unit.
Unit 2: Developing Skills and Techniques for Live Performance

Level: 3
Unit type: Internal
Guided learning hours: 90

Unit in brief

Learners explore technical performance skills with a focus on developing skills and techniques in at least two performance styles.

Unit introduction

The work of the professional performer requires time and dedication to training, developing and improving the tools of the trade. For actors, dancers and singers, the ‘tools’ are the body, the voice and the creative and intellectual skills needed to interpret the performance material to communicate with and entertain an audience. Employment opportunities in performing arts often require the performer to demonstrate skills in more than one style, for example the ability to perform in classical texts or repertoire as well as contemporary works. Training, development and practice of skills are lifelong commitments, enabling the performer to respond to the demands of rehearsals and performances with commitment, imagination and accuracy.

This unit serves as an induction into the performing arts where you will develop the appropriate skills and techniques in one or more of the performance disciplines of acting, dance, musical theatre, physical theatre and variety/popular entertainment. You will participate in regular workshops, classes and exercises where you will acquire, practise and develop the necessary technical, practical and interpretative performance skills to help you succeed when performing live to an audience. You will consider the nature, skills and attributes of the performer’s role in your chosen discipline. You will work with existing performance works, analysing and interpreting the material in order to understand and apply the relevant skills and techniques appropriate to the style. In practical classes you will demonstrate the discipline, focus and commitment the role of the performer requires. Ongoing review and evaluation will allow you to monitor your progress and set targets for the development of your performance skills.

The skills you gain in this unit will prepare you for progression to further study, training or higher education by equipping you with practical and technical skills key to your development as a performer. The training and experience provided by this unit will also help prepare you for employment in the performing arts industry as the development of performance skills and techniques is fundamental to all live performance roles.

Learning aims

In this unit you will:

A Understand the role and skills of a performer
B Develop performance skills and techniques for live performance
C Apply performance skills and techniques in selected styles
D Review and reflect on development of skills and techniques for live performance.

Content

Learning aim A: Understand the role and skills of a performer

A1 Explore the roles and skills of a performer
Study of the performance, roles and skills must be carried out, allowing for effective analysis, evaluation and understanding.

- Performance roles, such as:
  - actor
  - dancer
  - musical theatre performer
  - variety entertainer
  - performance artist
  - circus performer.

- Interrelationship with other roles in performance practice, e.g. other performers, directors, choreographers.

- Formal training qualifications and progression routes.

- Employment opportunities and trends.

- Working conditions.

- Lifestyle factors.

- Performance skills, such as:
  - technical
  - physical
  - vocal
  - interpretative.

- Training, such as:
  - strategies for professional development
  - exercises and techniques to develop and improve performance skills
  - methods of monitoring progress.

- Practical skills, such as:
  - planning
  - responding to direction/choreography
  - collaboration
  - team working.

Learning aim B: Develop performance skills and techniques for live performance

B1 Explore and develop physical skills, performance disciplines and styles

- Physical skills, as appropriate to the medium and role, such as:
  - characterisation
  - facial expression
  - gesture
  - mannerism
  - posture
  - rhythm and tempo
  - weight placement
  - timing and pace
  - audience
  - proxemics
  - use of space
  - use and manipulation of props and equipment.
  - strength
stamina
flexibility transitions
relationship to equipment
physical skills appropriate to the dance style physical characterisation and expression timing and rhythmic accuracy
emphasis musicality phrasing projection breathing impetus bodily expression
reaction and interaction with other performers stylistic quality of movement
spatial awareness.

B2 Explore and develop vocal skills, performance disciplines and styles

- Vocal skills, as appropriate to the medium and role, such as:
  - articulation
  - inflection
  - modulation
  - projection
  - register
  - pitch
  - timing
  - breath control
  - use of pause
  - use of pace
  - dialect and accent
  - tuning
  - rhythm
  - tempo
  - intonation
  - musicality
  - dynamics
  - phrasing
  - expression
  - awareness of accompaniment.

B3 Develop interpretative skills, performance disciplines and styles

- Interpretive skills, as appropriate to the medium and role, such as:
  - analysis of the script to build an understanding of character and relationships to other roles/characters
  - deconstructing the script, e.g. units of action/objectives, subtext
  - social and historical background of the performance material
  - key practitioner influences
  - original creative intention, style and genre.
  - stylistic qualities
  - analysis of structures and devices
  - choreographer’s intention
  - analysis of physical skills required
UNIT 2: DEVELOPING SKILLS AND TECHNIQUES FOR LIVE PERFORMANCE

- relationship to music.
- analysis of score, dialogue, lyrics and choreography to build an understanding of character and relationships to other roles/characters
- author’s/composer’s/choreographer’s intention.

B4 Personal management and discipline skills for performance

- During classes, workshops and exercises, such as:
  - attendance and punctuality
  - being ready to work, warming up and cooling down
  - wearing correct attire and presentation, e.g. footwear, dance wear, loose clothing, hair tied back, no jewellery
  - concentration and focus
  - learning dialogue and actions
  - listening and responding positively to direction, instruction and feedback
  - willingness to experiment and try things out
  - sensitivity and empathy towards others.

Learning aim C: Apply performance skills and techniques in selected styles

Learners will apply the relevant performance skills presentations/performances or demonstrations based upon existing material in one performance style.

Assessed performance work in this unit cannot be a solo performance

C1 Application of physical and vocal skills to performance material, disciplines and styles

- Physical skills, as appropriate to the medium and role, such as:
  - characterisation
  - facial expression
  - gesture
  - mannerism
  - posture
  - rhythm and tempo
  - weight placement
  - timing and pace
  - audience
  - proxemics
  - use of space
  - use and manipulation of props and equipment.
  - physical characterisation and expression
  - timing and rhythmic accuracy
  - emphasis
  - strength
  - stamina
  - flexibility
  - transitions
  - relationship to equipment
  - musicality
  - phrasing
  - projection
  - breathing
  - impetus
  - bodily expression
  - reaction and interaction with other performers
  - stylistic quality of movement
  - spatial awareness.
• Vocal skills, as appropriate to the medium and role, such as:
  o articulation
  o inflection
  o modulation
  o projection
  o register
  o pitch
  o timing
  o breath control
  o use of pause
  o use of pace
  o dialect and accent.
  o tuning
  o rhythm
  o tempo
  o intonation
  o musicality
  o dynamics
  o phrasing
  o expression
  o awareness of accompaniment.

C2 Application of interpretative skills to performance material, disciplines and styles • Physical interpretative skills, such as:
  o physical skills appropriate to the dance/movement style
  o physical characterisation and expression o timing and rhythmic accuracy o emphasis
  o musicality
  o phrasing
  o projection
  o breathing
  o impetus
  o facial expression
  o bodily expression
  o relationship
  o reaction and interaction with other characters/roles
  o stylistic quality of movement o use of space
  o spatial awareness
  o use and manipulation of props and equipment.
• Vocal interpretative skills, such as:
  o vocal characterisation and expression
  o emotional range
  o reaction and interaction with other characters/roles
  o musical theatre singing skills appropriate to style and score o rhythmic accuracy
  o musicality
  o phrasing.
• Response to direction:
  o learning blocking
  o learning stage directions.
• Response to choreography:
  o responding to correction
  o learning and absorbing taught material.

Learning aim D: Review and reflect on development of skills and techniques for live performance

D1 Review and evaluate development of skills and techniques for live performance

Learners must track their progress during this unit, reflecting on and evaluating the application and development of performance skills and techniques during workshops, rehearsal and final performance, presenting the information in a performance log that includes a combination of recorded evidence and supporting annotations.

• Physical skills.
• Vocal skills.
• Interpretative skills.
• Personal management and discipline.
• Skills audit – baseline skills audit and regular monitoring of progress.
• Identification of strengths and areas for development.
• Long-term and short-term goals.
• Actions and targets.
• Use of feedback from others, e.g. teachers, instructors, peers.
• Evaluation of progress.
• Use of terminology appropriate to the discipline/style of performance.

Essential information for assignments

The recommended structure of assessment is shown in the unit summary along with suitable forms of evidence. Section 6 gives information on setting assignments and there is further information on our website.

There is a maximum number of three summative assignments for this unit. The relationship of the learning aims and criteria is:

Learning aim: A (A.P1, A.M1, A.D1)

Learning aims: B and C (B.P2, B.P3, C.P4, C.P5, B.M2, C.M3, BC.D2)

Learning aim: D (D.P6, D.M4, D.D3)
Further information for teachers and assessors

Resource requirements

For this unit, learners must have access to:

• a dance studio with barre, sprung floor, mirrors, sound system for technique classes and rehearsals
• a drama studio to allow learners to undertake practical development and training exercises and rehearsals
• a music rehearsal studio with appropriate acoustic properties, accompaniment, recording and playback facilities to support learner development
• a range of existing performance materials as appropriate to the discipline and in relation to at least two styles within the discipline, e.g. play scripts, DVDs/recordings of existing performances/repertoire, music scores and libretti, choreographic/musical notation, etc.
• a library and/or internet resources for learners to carry out underpinning research
• video recording and playback facilities to support learners’ development throughout the unit and for recording of informal presentations
• internet connection and digital resources
• blogging programs and basic video-editing equipment to enable learners to keep digital performers’ logs if appropriate.

Essential information for assessment decisions

Learning aim A

For distinction standard, learners must present a detailed and comprehensive account, showing a thorough and informed understanding of the role of the professional performer. They should evaluate the various technical, practical, employability and personal skills required, and how the performer may secure employment and achieve longevity through effective skills and professional development. Learners will evaluate training and qualification routes in terms of their appropriateness and viability and their work will draw conclusions about the impact of working patterns and lifestyle factors on the performer’s career. Learners’ conclusions will be well argued and supported by well-chosen examples. Their work will be presented to a high standard, with effective use of subject-specific terminology, relevant presentation techniques, for example practical demonstrations, and good use of grammar.

For merit standard, learners must present a detailed account, showing understanding of the professional performer’s role. They will analyse the performer’s role, showing how the various technical, practical, employability and personal skills may contribute to the performer’s career development. Learners’ presentation will examine appropriate training and qualification routes, consider alternatives and explain typical working patterns and lifestyle. Their work will be detailed, using relevant presentation techniques, for example practical demonstrations, and accurate subject-specific terminology.

For pass standard, learners must present their understanding of the role of the professional performer and performance discipline with reference to the technical, practical, employability and personal skills the performer requires to succeed. Learners’ information will explain progression routes, including formal training and qualifications, as well as what characterises the performer’s role in terms of working patterns and lifestyle. Learners’ work may lack detail but will be presented to a satisfactory standard, with use of subject-specific terminology.
Learning aims B and C

For distinction standard, learners will work at a high standard throughout workshops, technique classes, exercises, practice and performance. They will demonstrate professionalism and dedication in their willingness to acquire skills, explore, experiment and improve their performance practice. They will use feedback from teachers and peers actively and proactively, leading to independent development. Learners’ approach to interpreting and exploring existing performance material/texts/repertoire will be methodical, highly detailed and comprehensive, leading to effective results in the development of roles and the imaginative application and refinement of relevant skills. Learners’ informal presentations of material developed through exercises and workshops will be confident and assured, communicating the stylistic features and qualities of the selected performance style effectively, expressively and with imagination.

For merit standard, learners will carry out tasks in workshops, technique classes and exercises and practise independently and effectively. They will demonstrate focus, commitment and an ability to acquire, explore and develop performance skills. They will use feedback from teachers and peers to support development. Learners’ interpretation and exploration of existing performance material/texts/repertoire will be thoughtful and organised, and they will select appropriate research findings to inform their development of character/role, with effective results during the considered application of relevant performance skills. Learners’ informal performances of material developed will show attention to detail and a secure demonstration of performance skills, clearly communicating the stylistic features and qualities of the selected performance style.

For pass standard, learners will actively and positively participate in technique classes, exercises and practice supporting the development of skills for a live performance. They will respond to feedback from teachers and peers and attempt to improve their skills as a result. Learners’ interpretation and exploration of existing performance material/texts/repertoire will show the ability to derive meaningful conclusions to support their development of character/role and be able to reach logical decisions on the application of relevant performance skills. Learners’ informal presentations of material developed will show appropriate application of performance skills and an attempt to convey the stylistic features and qualities of the selected performance style.

Learning aim D

For distinction standard, learners must produce a performance log with clear reference to exercises and techniques in classes and workshops where they have acquired, developed and applied performance and interpretative skills. Learners will reflect in detail on personal management, discipline and safe working practices. Learners will evaluate their strengths and the development of performance skills and techniques, with clear reference to and an understanding of areas for improvement. Learners’ performance log will include setting of long- and short-term goals linked to professional practice. Learners will regularly monitor and review their targets through self-reflection and feedback from teachers and peers. Their work will be communicated in a well-structured and meaningful manner, showing accurate use of subject-specific vocabulary and grammar.

For merit standard, learners must produce a performance log with reference to the development and application of performance and interpretative skills during classes and workshops. Learners will also reflect on their personal management, discipline and safe working practices. They will analyse their strengths and areas for improvement, referring to skills and techniques developed. They will set considered targets to support personal development and professional practice. Learners will use self-assessment, as well as feedback from teachers and peers, when reflecting on performance and target setting. Their target setting will be clear and will be used to develop performance skills. Learners will present information coherently, with good use of grammar.
For pass standard, learners must produce a performance log with reference to the development and application of performance and interpretative skills, personal management, discipline and safe working practices. Learners will make reference to strengths and areas for improvement and include how personal development and professional practice can be achieved and maintained. They will refer to self-assessment, as well as feedback from teachers and peers, when explaining development needs and action planning. Learners’ journal may lack detail and there may be inconsistent use of grammar.

This mandatory unit allows learners to develop knowledge, skills and techniques that underpin their development in the qualification.

It is suggested that this unit is delivered at the beginning of the qualification and is taught and assessed before any optional units.

Employer involvement

Centres may involve employers in the delivery of this unit if there are local opportunities. There is no specific guidance related to this unit.
Unit 3: Group Performance Workshop

Level: 3
Unit type: External
Guided learning hours: 120

Unit in brief

Learners explore and integrate creative, physical and vocal skills and techniques, working collaboratively to create a performance in response to a given stimulus.

Unit introduction

Creation of new performance can be the result of a group process, where the development and shaping of the material and artistic and creative decisions are the result of collaboration. While this differs from the creative process of the sole playwright or choreographer, the outcome will often be rich and rewarding work reflecting a shared vision, as well as demonstrating the unique individual input, skills and creativity of each member of the ensemble. Many professional practitioners work as devising companies to develop new, and often innovative, performance material. This may be in response to a specific commission, to meet the needs of a target audience, or to explore an artistic theme or idea.

In this unit, you will learn how to respond to a given stimulus as part of a group, using research, discussion and practical exploration to develop performance material and later present an informal presentation of the work to an invited audience. As a member of a team, you will contribute to the creative development and rehearsal process, shaping and refining the work and applying performance and teamwork skills. You will share responsibility for creative decisions regarding the nature and direction of the intended performance, and your individual contribution will reflect your own skills through the group’s interests and ideas. The workshop performance will be an opportunity to try out the work before an audience to invite discussion and evaluation of its potential. The work may be in a single discipline or combine elements of dance, acting, musical theatre and variety. You will reflect on the development process, considering the success and potential of the work for further development, as well as evaluating your own contribution to the process and the product. To complete the assessment tasks within this unit, you will need to draw on your learning from across your programme.

This unit will prepare you for progression to higher education as well as careers in the performing arts industry. The experience, skills and knowledge gained through this unit are applicable to a range of job roles, including performing, directing, choreography, devising, Theatre in Education (TIE) and project leadership.

This mandatory unit will be assessed through a task worth 60 marks and completed under supervised conditions. The supervised assessment period will be completed in five hours and should be arranged by the centre over a number of sessions in the week timetabled by Pearson.

Before the assessment period, learners will have the opportunity to prepare for the development and completion of the group performance and their digital process log.

For assessment, learners will be given a stimulus to create performance material. In groups that consist of a minimum of three and a maximum of seven members, learners will respond to the stimulus and develop the performance workshop for an invited audience.

Learners will submit a digital process log completed at four milestone stages during the development process, responding to prompts provided by Pearson, and a video recording of the group workshop performance, between 10 and 20 minutes in duration.

The assessment availability is May/June only. The first assessment is May/June 2017.

Sample assessment materials will be available to help centres prepare learners for assessment.
Assessment outcomes

AO1 Understand how to interpret and respond to stimulus for a group performance

AO2 Develop and realise creative ideas for a group performance in response to stimulus

AO3 Apply personal management and collaborative skills to a group performance workshop process

AO4 Apply performance skills to communicate creative intentions during performance workshop

AO5 Review and reflect on the effectiveness of the working process and the workshop performance
Essential content

The essential content is set out under content areas. Learners must cover all specified content before the assessment.

A Generating and exploring ideas from stimulus

A1 Types of stimulus

• Themes: o social o cultural o historical o ethical.

• Visual: o photograph
  o painting
  o sculpture o graphic o found object.

• Text: o poem
  o short story o quotation
  o lyric.

• Aural: o music
  o sound.

• Media: o newspaper
  o magazine o documentary
  o video.

A2 Understand how to use stimulus for developing performance

• Analysis of stimulus material:
  o discussion
  o brainstorm
  o improvisation and practical responsive techniques.

• Artistic intention.

• Target audience.

• Form and style of the performance.

• Creative and staging possibilities.

• Developing performance roles (casting).

A3 Primary and secondary research

• Primary research:
  o existing performance works
  o practitioners
  o existing performance texts o interviews.

• Secondary research:
  o internet
  o printed publications
  o digital archives.
B Develop and realise creative ideas for a group performance in response to stimulus

B1 Practical exploration and shaping of creative ideas

- Discussion:
  - mind mapping
  - brainstorming
  - debate.
- Improvisation.
- Physical experimentation.
- Aural experimentation.
- Experiment with techniques and methods of known practitioners.
- Visual/graphic notation, scriptwriting/storyboarding, style/genre.
- Staging techniques.
- Performance techniques.
- Structural elements.
- Compositional structures and devices.

B2 Use of appropriate performance skills

- Physical performance skills.
- Vocal performance skills.
- Musical performance skills.
- Communication skills (with other performers, with audience).

B3 Development and realisation of creative ideas

- Selection and rejection of ideas and material.
- Responding to feedback.
- Shaping and refining material to resolve problems.
- Refining performance skills through rehearsal.
- Explaining and justifying interpretation of the stimulus and creative decisions.

C Personal management and collaborative skills

C1 Personal management

- Attendance.
- Punctuality.
- Meeting group and individual deadlines.
- Learning and absorbing material.
- Applying, developing and refining performance skills.

C2 Teamwork and collaboration

- Giving and taking instruction and direction.
- Trust and cooperation.
- Contributing ideas.
- Receptiveness and responsiveness to the ideas of others.

D Communicate creative intentions through group workshop performance

D1 Communication

- Purpose, intention and meaning of the work.
- Target audience.
- Relationship with other performers.
- Clarity and pace of the group performance.
D2 Application of individual performance skills
- Physical skills.
- Vocal skills.
- Musical skills.
- Communicate meaning.
- Creative intention.
- Genre/style.
- Use of costume and props as appropriate.
- Use of space.
- Clarity and pace.

E Review and reflect on the effectiveness of the working process and the workshop performance

E1 Working process
- Interpretation of stimulus and ideas.
- Use of exploratory techniques.
- Own development and contribution of ideas.
- Effectiveness of the development of own performance skills to develop and shape performance material.
- Strengths.
- Areas for development/improvement.

E2 Workshop performance
- Effectiveness of the performance in realising the creative intention.
- Effectiveness of own performance skills in realising the creative intention.
- Development of the material in terms of staging and production elements if this were to be realised as a fully resourced production.
- Development of own performance skills if this were to be realised as a fully resourced production.
- Strengths.
- Areas for improvement.
Grade descriptors

To achieve a grade a learner is expected to demonstrate these attributes across the essential content of the unit. The principle of best fit will apply in awarding grades.

Level 3 Pass

Learners will demonstrate a basic ability to interpret stimulus material through appropriate practical exploration and research. They will contribute obvious and practical ideas that are relevant to the group’s creative intention and work in development. Learners will be able to use relevant performance skills when developing the work.

Learners will make a sound contribution to the development process through appropriate application of personal management and collaborative skills.

In performance to an audience, learners can demonstrate clear communication of the group’s creative intention and the style and meaning of the work. They will make a valid contribution to the performance through secure application of relevant performance skills, demonstrating clear and appropriate interaction and relationship to other performers.

Learners will reflect on their work and provide basic judgements on their own, and others’ contribution of creative, performance, personal management and collaborative skills and how these impact on process and performance. Learners will provide rudimentary and practical ideas for how the performance might be further developed for future audiences.

Learners will demonstrate an accomplished ability to interpret stimulus material through skilful, comprehensive and imaginative practical experimentation and effective research. They will contribute perceptive and insightful creative ideas and will be instrumental in developing and shaping the performance material. Skilled selection and use of performance skills will make a strong impact on the direction and development of the work.

Learners will show consistent engagement, applying personal management and collaborative skills demonstrating responsiveness, adaptability and sensitivity towards the work and the group process.

In performance to an audience, learners will make an accomplished contribution to the ensemble performance through fluent and sustained communication of creative intentions, style and meaning. Application of performance skills will be focused and show strong command of relevant performance skills, being responsive to other performers at all times.

Learners will reflect on their work and provide perceptive judgements on their own, and others’ contribution of creative, performance, personal management and collaborative skills with justified judgements on how these impacted on the process and performance. Learners will provide highly creative and insightful ideas for how the performance might be further developed for future audiences.
Key terms typically used in the unit

The following table shows the key terms that will be used consistently by Pearson in our assessments to ensure students are rewarded for demonstrating the necessary skills. Please note: the list below will not necessarily be used in every paper/session and is provided for guidance only.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Command or term</th>
<th>Definition</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Collaborative skills</td>
<td>The ability to work effectively with others to produce effective performance outcomes.</td>

Links to other units

The assessment for this unit should draw on knowledge, understanding and skills developed from:
- Unit 1: Investigating Practitioners’ Work
- Unit 2: Developing Skills and Techniques for Live Performance
- Unit 4: Performing Arts in the Community.

This unit should relate to the teaching of:
- Unit 14: Choreography for Live Performance
- Unit 15: Theatre Directing
- Unit 16: Writing for Performance.

Employer involvement

Centres may involve employers in the delivery of this unit if there are local opportunities. There is no specific guidance related to this unit.
Unit 4: Performing Arts in the Community

Level: 3
Unit type: Internal
Guided learning hours: 90

Unit in brief

Learners develop their knowledge and understanding of performing in the community, applying specialist skills and techniques to a community performance project.

Unit introduction

Performing arts in the community gives you challenging and exciting ways to apply your specialist performance skills. You will perform in a range of venues, for example schools, community centres, care homes, theatres and in the street; allowing you to educate and inform as well as entertain groups from different communities.

In this unit, you will develop skills and techniques that allow you to apply your performance skills, such as dance and drama, to a community project. You will learn how to respond to and meet the needs of the community by listening and sharing ideas with beneficiaries, and modelling these into a performance. You will reflect on your progress as you develop and apply skills and techniques, setting targets and reviewing your progress.

The skills you develop in this unit will give you progression opportunities and transferable skills that can be applied to a range of performance types. Skills such as working with others, creative thinking and problem solving will support your progression to further study or employment.

Learning aims

In this unit you will:
A Understand community performance and practice
B Develop ideas for a community performance
C Apply skills to a community performance
D Review own development and final community performance.

Content

Learning aim A: Understand community performance and practice

Types of community performance, venues, purpose, practitioners and practices must be studied, allowing for effective analysis, evaluation and understanding.

A1 Understand community performance and practice

- Purpose and focus, such as:
  - raise awareness, e.g. mental health, bullying
  - community cohesion
  - improve community
  - inform and celebrate diversity
  - educate
  - entertain
  - celebrate
  - develop participation in the arts.

- Themes, such as:
  - issues, e.g. political, social, community
  - arts development.

- Venues, such as:
  - schools
  - village halls
  - local theatre
  - art centres.

- Range, such as:
  - community plays
  - street performance
  - open-air productions
  - festivals
  - small-scale theatre
  - concert.

- Clients, such as:
  - community
  - young people
  - elderly
  - unemployed
  - special interest groups.

A2 Practitioners and performance

- Practitioners, such as:
  - Augusto Boal
  - Joan Littlewood
  - John McGrath
  - Elizabeth MacLennan
  - Ann Jellicoe
  - Jon Oram.

- Performance, such as:
  - dance
  - drama
  - music
  - workshops
  - site specific.
Learning aim B: Develop ideas for a community performance

B1 Responding to community needs
When responding to the needs of an identified community project, learners will need to apply skills from the following content to support the development and realisation of the performance piece.

- Skills, such as:
  - teamwork
  - communication
  - performance
  - meetings, e.g. planning, scheduling
  - organisational
  - awareness of health and safety
  - budget.

- Community needs, such as:
  - purpose, e.g. educate, entertain, communicate
  - theme, e.g. cultural
  - audience
  - age
  - gender
  - culture
  - race
  - disability.

B2 Developing performance material
- Allocate roles, e.g. areas of responsibility.
- Planning, e.g. meetings, rehearsal, final performance.
- Budget.
- Promotion.
- Legal constraints, e.g. health and safety, safeguarding.
- Venue, e.g. type, indoors, outdoors.
- Resources.
- Liaising, e.g. organisers and participants of community.
- Running time.
- Genre or style.
- Repertoire or devised content:
  - production
  - costumes
  - props
  - lighting
  - sound.
- Staging opportunities and constraints.

B3 Developing performance
The development process will be informed by the community needs, available resources, venue and the performance type.

- Dance.
- Drama.
- Musical theatre.
- Physical theatre.
- Popular entertainment.
Learning aim C: Apply skills to a community performance

C1 Application of performance skills through rehearsal

- Application of performance work, relevant to the specific role being undertaken, such as:
  - improvising
  - writing
  - devising
  - choreographing
  - composing
  - directing
  - facilitating workshops
  - musicality
  - voice
  - movement
  - use of props.

- Rehearsal:
  - awareness of safe practice
  - appropriate preparation for rehearsal, understanding of the structure of a rehearsal and how this is used in preparation for a performance
  - commitment to the task or activity
  - rehearsal attendance
  - rehearsal discipline
  - responding to peer and teacher instructions/corrections
  - receiving and giving positive and constructive feedback
  - working independently
  - working cooperatively with others
  - contributing and accepting ideas
  - selecting and rejecting ideas
  - repeating and revisiting material
  - reviewing and adjusting material.

C2 Application of performance work

- Communicating creative ideas and intentions to the identified target audience.
- Realising work that has community relevance.
- Realising intended outcomes through effective performance.
- Application of relevant techniques.
- Communication:
  - performers
  - production team
  - audience.
Learning aim D: Review own development and final community performance
D1 Review and evaluate development and application of performance skills
Learners must track their progress during this unit, reflecting and evaluating on the application and development of performance skills and techniques during rehearsals and final community performance, presenting the information in a performance log that includes a combination of recorded evidence and supporting annotations.
- Technical skills.
- Performance skills.
- Communication skills.
- Development and application of performance with reference to community needs.
- Target audience.
- Purpose.
- Community reaction.
- Feedback.
- Target setting.
- Strengths.
- Areas for improvement.

Essential information for assignments

The recommended structure of assessment is shown in the unit summary with suitable forms of evidence. Section 6 gives information on setting assignments and there is further information on our website.

There is a maximum number of three summative assignments for this unit. The relationship of the learning aims and criteria is:

Learning aim: A (A.P1, A.M1, A.D1)
Learning aims: B and C (B.P2, B.P3, C.P4, C.P5, B.M2, C.M3, BC.D2)
Learning aim: D (D.P6, D.M4, D.D3)
Further information for teachers and assessors

Resource requirements

For this unit, learners must have access to:

- online resources for research
- research sources as appropriate for your local area to inform the report into local community arts provision
- studio space to support the development and rehearsal of practical performance material
- video recording and playback facilities to support learners’ development throughout the unit and for recording of final performance
- a community performance space (in-house or external)
- community group(s), e.g. local primary school, meeting place for elderly residents
- internet connection and digital resources
- blogging programs and basic video-editing equipment to enable learners to keep digital reflective performers’ logs if appropriate.

Essential information for assessment decisions

Learning aim A

For distinction standard, learners must present a detailed and comprehensive account of the practices of community performance. A thorough understanding of key features such as purpose, themes, venues and clients will be presented in the work, with reference to how the needs of the community have been met. They will explain social, cultural and economic value, comparing and contrasting examples of practitioners and performance work to support this. The work will be clearly presented to a high standard and communicated using relevant presentation techniques, subject-specific terminology and good grammar.

For merit standard, learners must present an analysis of the practices of community performance. An understanding of key features such as purpose, themes, venues and clients will be presented with reference to how community needs have been met. Social, cultural and economic value will be included with the use of examples to support this. The work will be detailed, clearly presented and communicated using relevant presentation techniques and accurate use of subject-specific terminology and grammar.

For pass standard, learners must present information on the practices of community performance. An understanding of key features, performance types, and how community needs have been met with reference to social, cultural and economic value will be presented in the work with reference to examples. The work may lack detail but will include subject-specific terminology.

For distinction standard, learners will demonstrate through their individual contribution to the group performance, the ability to develop creative and imaginative work that fully meets the intended outcomes of the performance. The needs of the community will be fully considered through the application of skills such as organisational, communication and teamwork, applied during planning and development. Performance skills and techniques will be selected, developed and applied with reference to purpose, genre, venue, client and understanding of health and safety requirements. Learners will work at a consistently high level throughout the development, rehearsal and performance of the work, making a significant contribution to the success of the piece.
For merit standard, learners will demonstrate through their individual contribution to the group performance, the ability to develop creative work that clearly meets the intended outcomes of the performance. Understanding of the needs of the community will be developed through the application of skills such as planning, teamwork and understanding of health and safety requirements. Performance skills and techniques will be applied with reference to purpose, genre, venue and health and safety requirements. Learners will work effectively during the development, rehearsal and performance of the work as an individual and as part of the group.

For pass standard, learners will demonstrate through their individual contribution to the group performance, the ability to develop creative work that meets the intended outcomes of the performance. Performance skills and techniques will be applied appropriately to the purpose and needs of the identified community group. There will be effective individual contributions to the development, performance and interaction with other members of the group.

Learning aim D

For distinction standard, learners must produce a performance log, presented with clear and accurate reference to the development process, using examples to communicate how creative decisions were made to fulfil purpose with reference to the application of skills, techniques and knowledge developed from learning aim A. The performance log will include an evaluation of their strengths, and an understanding of improvements that need to be made. Response to feedback, audience reaction, personal development and target setting will be documented and linked to professional practice. Work will be communicated in a well-structured and meaningful manner. Learners will use subject-specific terminology and good grammar.

For merit standard, learners must produce a performance log that demonstrates an understanding of the development process, and how creative decisions were made to fulfil the purpose of performance work and skills and techniques that were selected and applied to support this. The analysis of their strengths, areas for improvement and audience reaction will have been used to set targets and support personal development and professional practice. Information will be presented coherently and with good use of grammar.

For pass standard, learners must produce a performance log that will include an outline of the development process, giving examples of creative decisions made for the purpose of meeting community needs. They will make reference to their strengths, areas for improvement, audience reaction and personal development to inform contents. The performance log may lack detail and there will be an inconsistent use of subject-specific terminology.

This unit links to:
- Unit 14: Choreography for Live Performance
- Unit 15: Theatre Directing
- Unit 16: Writing for Performance
- Unit 21: Improvisation
- Unit 24: Children’s Theatre Performance
- Unit 33: Performing with Masks.

Employer involvement

This unit will benefit from employer involvement in the form of:
- guest speakers
- contribution to the setting of the assignment briefs e.g. ‘Live Projects’/Commissions
- participation in review of performances
- work experience.
Unit 5: Individual Performance Commission

Level: 3
Unit type: External
Guided learning hours: 120

Unit in brief

Learners understand the nature and purpose of commission work, responding individually to a specific commission brief by applying their performance skills.

Unit introduction

Practitioners working in the performing arts often create work to order. This process, known as working to a commission, involves creating performance work to suit a specific purpose and target audience. Organisations that commission work include businesses, local authorities and charities and work can range from one-off events to longer projects. This unit will give you an exciting opportunity to experience the work professional practitioners undertake when responding to a commission.

In this unit, you will develop an understanding of how and why work is commissioned and the different purposes of work that is created using this process. You will learn how to respond to a commission, using research and practical exploration to create a proposal that explains how your ideas meet the objectives of the brief. Once you have made your initial decisions, you will develop and shape your ideas into an individual performance. You will apply the performance skills developed in your BTEC qualification to create your response. You can work in a single discipline or combine acting, dance and/or musical skills in your performance. The work you create in this unit will also be evaluated in a vocational context. You will need to reflect on the success of the final performance in meeting the commission brief as well as the process undertaken when creating the work. To complete the assessment tasks within this unit, you will need to draw on your learning from across your programme.

The skills and techniques you will develop in this unit, together with an understanding of the generation of work for a specific purpose, will provide you with a valuable foundation for progression to higher education and/or careers in the performing arts industry.

Summary of assessment

This mandatory unit will be assessed through a task worth 60 marks and completed under supervised conditions. The supervised assessment period is a maximum of two hours and should be arranged by the centre in the week timetabled by Pearson.

Before the supervised assessment period, learners will have a five-week period in order to carry out research, planning, development and rehearsal for submission.

For assessment, learners will be provided with a commission brief that will include a context and purpose for the work to be produced, details of the target audience for the performance work and time constraints, such as length of performance, number of pieces and available resources. Learners will respond to the commission and stimulus, developing an individual performance for an invited audience.

Learners will submit a proposal explaining the performance piece(s) chosen and how it relates to the brief, a video recording of their individual performance and an evaluation relating to the commission and the performance work completed.

The assessment availability is May/June only. The first assessment is May/June 2018.

Sample assessment materials will be available to help centres prepare learners for assessment.
Assessment outcomes

AO1 Formulate ideas that demonstrate understanding of a commission brief

AO2 Apply an understanding of developing performance content in response to a commission brief

AO3 Apply performance skills to communicate creative intentions in relation to a commission brief

AO4 Evaluate the effectiveness of own performance
Essential content

The essential content is set out under content areas. Learners must cover all specified content before the assessment.

A Understanding commission bodies and commission brief

A1 Commissioning bodies

The range and types of organisations that may commission performing arts work and their reasons for commissioning work.

- Charities:
  - to benefit a specific community group
  - to raise awareness of a specific issue
  - to raise money for a cause or campaign.

- The Arts Council England:
  - to bring arts and culture to everyone
  - to promote specific types of performance work.

- Local authorities:
  - to support local projects/events
  - to celebrate the diversity of communities
  - to commemorate local historical events.

- Commercial companies:
  - to attract audiences
  - to sell tickets to events.

- Museums and art galleries:
  - to promote/launch events and exhibitions
  - to celebrate the work of specific practitioners/artists.

- Tourist boards:
  - to promote local areas of interest and attractions.

A2 The purpose(s) of a commission

- To entertain.
- To educate.
- To inform.
- To celebrate.
- To commemorate.
- To raise awareness of an issue or topic.

A3 Target audiences for commissioned work

- Factors that define different types of target audience:
  - type – general public, families, local community, specialist group
  - age – under 5’s, children, young adults, older adults, the elderly
  - gender – male, female, mixed.

- How work is matched to the needs of the target audience:
  - ensuring work is age appropriate
  - being aware of potential social and cultural issues.

A4 Understanding Commission briefs

- The context of the brief:
  - the objectives of the commission
  - the type commissioning body
  - links to previous or planned future projects.
• Requirements and constraints:
  o working to given theme, subject and/or purpose of the commission
  o working to timescales and deadlines
  o working with available resources.
• Response to the brief:
  o use of creativity and imagination to formulate ideas
  o application and execution of relevant individual performance skills o consideration of production values, as appropriate.

A5 Working from a given stimulus
• Different types of stimulus:
  o thematic – social, cultural, ethical, spiritual o visual – image, photograph, painting, sculpture, artefact o textual – literary, poem, short story, biographical, historical o media – newspapers, magazines, video, film
  o aural – music, sound.
• Researching and exploring materials/ideas in relation to the commission brief:
  o secondary research – the internet and other digital resources, libraries and archives
  o primary research – reviewing existing work, interviews with teachers and other practitioners, discussions, production and/or textual analysis.
• Practical exploration of stimulus: practical exercises, improvisation, try-outs, responding to feedback from peers.
• Establishing links between chosen material/ideas and the commission brief.
• Selection and rejection of material/ideas for performance work.

A6 Creating a proposal
• Presenting a written proposal to a commissioning organisation.
• Explaining and justifying ideas and intentions in relation to the commission brief, the given theme and a chosen stimulus.

B Responding to a commission brief
B1 Developing and shaping materials and ideas
• The development and shaping of ideas:
  o exploring meaning within chosen material
  o applying the chosen material in different ways
  o applying different forms, structures, elements, and/or techniques to the work.

B2: Rehearsal, practice and review
• Following a practice regime.
• Selection and use of performance skills.
• Analysing progress, identifying problems and solutions to inform progression.
• Sharing performance work with peers and responding to feedback.
• Memorising, learning and perfecting material.
• Managing available time to meet deadlines.
• Choosing and making best use of available physical resources.

C Present individual performance work in response to a commission brief
C1 Structure and presentation style
• Ordering of performance pieces, use of transitions.
• Use of performance space.
• Use of props, set and costume.
• Use of technical elements.
• Communication of style and meaning through use of performance skills.
C2 Application of individual performance skills to the commission brief
- Use of individual performance skills to meet the requirements of the given brief.
- Communication of creative intentions to audience through performance.

D Evaluate the effectiveness of performance work

D1 Artistic and professional effectiveness
- Reflecting on the effectiveness of the performance work in relation to:
  - execution of solo performance skills
  - clarity of interpretation
  - creativity and imagination
  - production values
  - management of time, tasks and available resources.

D2 Ability to meet the needs of the commission brief
- Reflection on the extent to which the performance work addresses the requirements of the commission brief in relation to:
  - fulfillment of the objectives of the commission brief
  - interpretation and use of the stimulus material
  - audience response to the performance work
  - potential for further development.
Grade descriptors

To achieve a grade a learner is expected to demonstrate these attributes across the essential content of the unit. The principle of best fit will apply in awarding grades.

Level 3 Pass

Learners are able to respond to the commission brief in an appropriate manner, showing an understanding of the nature of commissioned work in the performing arts. Ideas are interpreted appropriately using knowledge to make suitable decisions. Individual performance work is developed through practical activities with skills and techniques being deployed in an appropriate manner and it is presented in an appropriate manner to broadly meet the requirements of the commission brief. Learners reflect on the success of the performance work and its ability to meet the commission brief, drawing simple conclusions.

Level 3 Distinction

Learners are able to respond to the commission brief in an imaginative manner, showing a complete understanding of the nature of commissioned work in the performing arts. Ideas are imaginatively interpreted, drawing on a synthesis of knowledge and understanding to make well-reasoned and relevant decisions. Individual performance work is developed through practical activities with advanced skills and techniques being deployed in an imaginative manner. Techniques and process are creatively modified to deal with contingencies. Individual performance work is presented in an imaginative and highly proficient manner. The work fully meets the requirements of the commission brief in an imaginative manner. Learners reflect on the success of the performance work and its ability to meet the commission brief, drawing fully justified conclusions.

Key terms typically used in the unit

The following table shows the key terms that will be used consistently by Pearson in our assessments to ensure students are rewarded for demonstrating the necessary skills.

Links to other units

The assessment for this unit should draw on knowledge, understanding and skills developed from:

- Unit 1: Investigating Practitioners’ Work
- Unit 2: Developing Skills and Techniques for Live Performance
- Unit 3: Group Performance Workshop
- Unit 4: Performing Arts in the Community.

This unit should relate to the teaching of:

- Unit 13: Healthy Dancer
- Unit 14: Choreography for Live Performance
- Unit 15: Theatre Directing
- Unit 16: Writing for Performance.

Employer involvement

This unit will benefit from employer involvement in the form of:

- guest speakers
- specialist guidance and support
- participation in review of development, rehearsal, development.
Unit 6: Final Live Performance to an Audience

Level: 3
Unit type: Internal
Guided learning hours: 90

Unit in brief

This unit covers the practical exploration and application of specialist skills and techniques through the development and rehearsal of a final live performance to an audience.

Unit introduction

Preparing for a live performance holds challenges and opportunities for a performer, from initial planning stages to the first performance for an audience. Rehearsals allow for creative aims and intentions to be explored and for performers to interpret the work and develop their role in it. The creative development process is demanding and rewarding for a performer and requires a range of skills and techniques to be applied.

In this unit, you will gain understanding and experience of rehearsal methods and techniques. Through research and practical exploration, you will develop the necessary skills to interpret performance material and develop a character or role for a live performance. You will demonstrate essential personal management and collaborative skills necessary when working in a performing arts ensemble. The unit culminates in the realisation of your rehearsed work to a live audience, where you will demonstrate practical performance skills to communicate interpretation and meaning. Throughout the rehearsal and performance process you will reflect on your individual contribution, allowing you to set targets and to monitor and support your development.

The experience, skills and knowledge you gain in this unit will prepare you for progression to the performing arts industry, further study in higher education or training courses at drama, dance or musical theatre schools. Through completing this unit, you will gain essential skills and understanding applicable to a range of performance job roles and future opportunities.

Learning aims

In this unit you will:

A Understand performance material (text/stimulus) when developing a live performance

B Apply specialist skills and techniques during rehearsal for a live performance

C Apply specialist skills and techniques to a live performance

D Review personal development and own performance.

Content

Learning aim A: Understand performance material (text/stimulus) when developing a live performance

A1 Performance material/stimulus
The type of material may be a text for the production of existing work, or stimulus used as the starting point for a devising or choreographic process.

- Published play text.
- Published musical theatre score, lyrics and dialogue.
- Existing choreography/reertoire.
- Stimulus material for a devising or choreographic process, e.g. music, published literature, art works.

A2 Interpreting performance material/stimulus through exploration
Research and analysis of text/existing repertoire and/or stimulus material.

- Primary research:
  - live performances
  - recordings
  - scripts
  - notation
  - interviews.
- Secondary research:
  - biographies
  - reviews
  - performance theory and practice publications.
- Author’s intention.
- Style and genre.
- Social and historical background and context.
- Stylistic qualities.
- Creative intentions.
- Physical skills.

A3 Developing role(s) in response to exploration of performance material/stimulus

- Existing performance material:
  - creative decisions based on text/reertoire, e.g. character’s through-line, choreographer’s intention, theme
  - performance requirements of the style/genre, e.g. stylistic qualities, conventions, aesthetic elements
  - historical, social and cultural factors, e.g. social etiquette, status, politics
  - key practitioners, e.g. applying the techniques of performance theorists, principles of arts movements.

- Stimulus material:
  - exploration and development using selected techniques and strategies of professional practitioners and theorists as appropriate
  - improvisations to explore role/character, solve staging problems, generate action and content
  - group discussion, brainstorming
  - scripting/notation of content generated through devising/improvisation/choreography
  - testing and modifying material and content
  - target audience.
Learning aim B: Apply specialist skills and techniques during rehearsal for a live performance

B1 Processes and practices during rehearsal

- Schedule.
- Meetings.
- Workshops.
- Direction and instruction as appropriate to the material: director, choreographer, musical director, stage management/production team, other performers in the ensemble.
- Rehearsing through practice, repetition and development as required by the material, e.g. lines, actions, movement, blocking, choreography, songs.
- Exploration and experimentation with ideas, rehearsal techniques and performance techniques.
- Developing, shaping and refining performance material.
- Ongoing review of work in progress.
- Setting individual goals and targets for development of role.
- Advance work with material/stimulus in preparation for auditions and casting.
- Responding to schedules.
- Organising and prioritising tasks and deadlines:
  - ‘off book’ (lines learned)
  - choreography learned
  - songs learned
  - memorising blocking, exits, entrances.
- Wider research and wider exploratory activities.
- Responding to instructions, e.g. from directors, choreographer, stage management.
- Recording rehearsals:
  - director’s notes
  - choreographer’s notes
  - notes from musical directors
  - notating blocking, choreography, actions
  - annotating scripts, scores, libretto, plans.
- Preparation outside rehearsal:
  - learning dialogue/lyrics
  - practising songs
  - practising and refining complex actions and routines
  - vocal and physical exercises.
- Personal management, e.g. attendance, punctuality, meeting deadlines.
- Self-discipline, e.g. concentration, focus.
- Team working and collaboration, e.g. listening, contributing, giving and receiving feedback, sensitivity and empathy towards others.
- Safe working practices, e.g. warming up, correct attire, safe handling of props.

B2 Application of specialist skills and techniques during rehearsal for a live performance

- Physical skills, such as:
  - characterisation
  - expression
  - gesture
  - mannerism
  - posture
  - rhythm and tempo
  - weight placement
  - timing and pace
Learning aim C: Apply specialist skills and techniques to a live performance

C1 Application of specialist performance skills

- Physical skills (as appropriate to the medium and role), such as:
  - posture
  - alignment
  - co-ordination
  - balance
  - control
  - flexibility
  - strength
  - stamina
  - extension
  - contraction
  - projection
  - dynamic range
  - ability to reproduce action/dynamic/rhythmic/spatial content with accuracy
  - movement memory
  - spatial awareness
  - awareness of and relation to other performers
  - trust
  - weight placement
  - expression
  - gesture
  - manner
  - pace
  - energy
  - stillness
  - relaxation.

- Vocal skills (as appropriate to the medium and role), such as:
  - tone
  - control
  - articulation
  - inflection
  - modulation
  - projection
  - register.
o specific style of text/interpretation
o vocal characterisation
o timing
o breath control
o use of pause
o use of pace
o pitch
o dialect and accent.

- Musical skills, such as:
  o musicality
  o tuning
  o rhythm
  o timing
  o style
  o intonation
  o dynamics
  o tempo
  o awareness and appreciation of accompaniment.

C2 Application of interpretative skills
- Focus.
- Emphasis.
- Facial expression.
- Characterisation.
- Response to performance material.
- Subtext.
- Character journey.
- Style of the performance material, e.g. naturalism, urban, jazz, golden age musical, vaudeville.
- Skills appropriate to staging/venue, e.g. proscenium, arena, cabaret, site specific.

C3 Application of communication skills
- Physical expression.
- Vocal expression.
- Use of space.
- Relationship with other performers.
- Relationship with audience.
- Relationship with visual and/or aural elements.
- Use of properties, costumes, masks.
- Use of multimedia.

Learning aim D: Review personal development and own performance.

Learners must track their progress during this unit, reflecting on and evaluating the application and development of specialist skills and techniques during workshops, rehearsal and final live performance to an audience, presenting the information in a performance log that includes a combination of recorded evidence and supporting annotations.

D1 Review and evaluate ongoing rehearsal process
- Skills and techniques used to interpret the performance material/stimulus.
- Responses to the material/stimulus.
- Use and outcomes of research.
- Use and outcomes of practical explorations in rehearsal.
- Development of performance skills.
• Response to direction/choreography.
• Personal planning, self-management and self-discipline.
• Own contribution to ensemble working and company dynamic.
• Safe working practices.
• Use of feedback, e.g. director, choreographer, musical director, self, peers.
• Identification of strengths and areas for development.
• Target setting.
• Evaluation of progress.
• Use of appropriate terminology.

D2 Review and evaluate application of skills and techniques during final performance to a live audience

• Own performance skills.
• Communication of creative intention, meaning.
• Stylistic/aesthetic qualities of the style/genre.
• Engaging the audience.
• Self-management and discipline.
• Use of feedback, e.g. director, choreographer, musical director, audience, peers, video of performances.
• Identification of strengths and areas for development.
• Use of appropriate terminology.
• What might have been done differently in order to achieve an improved performance.

Essential information for assignments

The recommended structure of assessment is shown in the unit summary along with suitable forms of evidence. Section 6 gives information on setting assignments and there is further information on our website.

There is a maximum number of three summative assignment for this unit. The relationship of the learning aims and criteria is:

Learning aim: A (A.P1, A.M1, A.D1)
Learning aims: B and C (B.P2, B.P3, C.P4, C.P5, B.M2, C.M3, BC.D2)
Learning aim: D (D.P6, D.M4, D.D3)
Further information for teachers and assessors

Resource requirements

For this unit, learners must have access to:

- a dance studio with barre, sprung floor, mirrors, sound system for rehearsals
- a drama studio to allow learners to undertake rehearsals
- a music rehearsal studio with appropriate accompaniment, recording and playback facilities to support musical theatre rehearsals
- a library and/or internet resources for learners to carry out underpinning research
- a suitable performance venue for the performance undertaken: in order to provide a realistic vocational experience the performance space should ideally be equipped appropriately in terms of staging, technical and production resources
- video recording and playback facilities to support learners’ reflections and review of progress during rehearsal and post-performance reflection
- internet connection and digital resources
- blogging programs and basic video-editing equipment to enable learners to keep digital performers’ logs.

Essential information for assessment decisions

Learning aim A

For distinction standard, learners must produce a performer’s journal/log, giving informed, detailed and comprehensive responses to the performance material (texts/reertoire for performances of existing material or stimulus/source materials for devised performances/new choreography). For existing material, learners will show a thorough understanding of the material in terms of its social and historical background and context, structure, style and genre. For new and devised work, they will demonstrate a thorough understanding of the nature of the stimulus and potential for development and of the collaborative approaches and planning required to realise artistic intentions for a target audience. Learners will select and appropriately reference a range of primary and secondary research sources to inform creative decisions and development of character/role. Learners’ journal/log will be organised methodically, presented effectively and will include well-argued evaluation and justification of creative decisions with reference to intended impact on the performance and effect on the spectator. Learners’ creative decisions will be supported by well-chosen examples from the text/stimulus. They will use accurate and effective subject-specific terminology.

For merit standard, learners must produce a performer’s journal/log analysing the performance material texts/reertoire for performances of existing material or stimulus/source materials for devised performances/new choreography. For existing material, learners will produce a detailed and methodical examination of the material in terms of its social and historical background and context, structure, style and genre. For new and devised work, they will show an understanding of the stimulus and the potential for development and of the collaborative approaches and planning required to communicate aims and intention to the audience. Learners will use primary and secondary research sources and make creative decisions on development of character/roles, which will be clearly related to research findings. Learners’ journal/log will be clearly presented and contain a detailed examination of the performance material linked to decisions on interpretation and development of character/role. They will use subject-specific terminology accurately.

For pass standard, learners must produce a journal/log that includes information on the key features of the performance material texts/reertoire for performances of existing material or stimulus/source materials for devised performances/new choreography. For existing material, learners will show clear detail and understanding of the social and historical background and context, structure, style and genre. For new and devised work they will show clear detail and understanding of the stimulus, how it might be developed, and planning requirements to develop the work for an audience. Learners will use research sources and their journal/log will link these to creative decisions on development of character/roles. Learners’ journal/log may lack detail but it will be presented to a satisfactory standard, using some subject-specific terminology.

For distinction standard, learners will work at a consistently high level throughout preparation, rehearsals and performance, displaying professionalism, discipline and engagement. They will use research and exploratory activities, as well as direction/choreography, actively and proactively, building on rehearsal activities and feedback in order to develop their performance role with insight, confidence and independence. Self-management of approach during rehearsal and performance processes will be highly effective, as evident in the resourcefulness and autonomy learners show in the planning and prioritising of tasks, organisation, recording and documentation of activities carried out both in and outside of rehearsals. Learners will make a significant and highly creative contribution to the work in development. Learners’ live performance to an audience will be confident and assured, effectively communicating style, artistic intention and meaning expressively and imaginatively, with investment and strong technical command of performance skills.

For merit standard, learners will carry out tasks in preparation, rehearsal and performance consistently and confidently, displaying independence, discipline and commitment. They will make effective use of research and exploration activities, as well as direction/choreography, developing their performance role through rehearsals and feedback in a focused manner. Self-management during rehearsal and performance processes will be evident in clear and effective planning, organisation and documenting of activities. Learners will make an effective contribution to the work in development. Learners’ live performance to an audience will be confident, with secure application of performance skills. They will successfully communicate style, artistic intention and meaning to an audience with engagement, focus and attention to detail.

For pass standard, learners will actively and responsively participate in preparation, rehearsal and performance. They will use research and exploration activities and respond to direction/ choreography, developing their performance role and contributing to the development of the performance material. During rehearsals and performance processes, learners will undertake rehearsal tasks in a generally organised and competent manner, documenting key information and tasks and contributing positively to the work in development. Learners’ live performance to an audience will demonstrate application of relevant performance skills in a secure manner, conveying intention and meaning in a coherent and mainly successful manner. Any errors or inaccuracies will not detract from the overall performance.

Learning aim D

For distinction standard, learners must produce an ongoing performance log and review of the performance, presented with clear, accurate reference to exploration and rehearsal activities and how these supported the interpretation, development and application of performance skills and techniques. Learners will reflect in detail on personal management, planning, discipline and safe working practices. They will evaluate their strengths and areas for improvement, with clear reference to skills demonstrated, and set targets to support improvement of skills. During the rehearsal process, they will monitor and review targets and evaluate progress. Following the performance, learners will evaluate their application of performance skills and success in communicating intention and meaning to the audience. They will set considered and justified targets for professional development. Learners’ evaluation and target setting will be considered and informed by self-assessment and feedback from teachers, peers and audiences. Their work will be well structured and clear, making good use of subject-specific terminology and grammar.

For merit standard, learners must produce an ongoing performance log and review of the performance, showing understanding of how exploration and rehearsal activities supported the development and application of performance skills and techniques. Learners will reflect on personal management, planning, discipline and safe working practices. Their analysis of strengths and areas for improvement will make reference to performance and personal management skills demonstrated during rehearsal and in performance. During the rehearsal process, learners will regularly monitor and review targets and progress. Following performance they will analyse their application of performance skills and how these were used to communicate intention and meaning to the audience. They will set considered targets for future professional development.

Analysis and target setting will be based on self-assessment as well as feedback from teachers, peers and audiences. Learners’ work will be presented coherently and will use subject-specific terminology and good grammar.

For pass standard, learners must produce an ongoing performance log. Their review of the performance will provide information on the development and application of performance skills and techniques through rehearsal, exploration and performance. Learners will give information on their personal management, discipline and safe working practices. Explanation of strengths and areas for improvement will be linked to performance and personal management skills developed and applied during rehearsal and in performance. During the rehearsal process, learners will have set targets and reflected regularly on their progress. Following performance they will reflect on their use of performance skills to communicate intention and meaning to the audience. Review and target setting will be based on self-assessment and feedback from teachers, peers and audience. Learners’ work will lack detail and use of subject-specific terminology and grammar may be inconsistent.

Unit 7: Employment Opportunities in the Performing Arts

Level: 3
Unit type: External
Guided learning hours: 120

Unit in brief

Learners investigate organisations and their work, develop and understand potential progression opportunities in the performing arts industry, and how to promote themselves and respond to potential employers.

Unit introduction

Performing arts organisations come in many shapes and sizes. They are set up with a range of aims and objectives and exist through different structures to serve a variety of purposes, and therefore provide a breadth of progression opportunities.

In this unit, you will gain an understanding of professional business practice in the performing arts industries. You will look at how self-promotion is used to gain employment and how professionals present ideas to support their progression. You will apply your knowledge and understanding to vocationally relevant scenarios and tasks. To complete the assessment tasks within this unit, you will need to draw on your learning from across your programme.

As performing arts practitioners, you will need a good understanding of how organisations function, how to develop the skills to promote yourself, and know how to identify and present potential ideas.

Summary of assessment

This mandatory unit will be assessed through a task worth 60 marks and completed under supervised conditions. The supervised assessment period is a maximum of 10 hours and should be arranged by the centre over a number of sessions within a two-week period timetabled by Pearson.

Before the supervised assessment period, learners will have a four-week period in order to complete their own research and preparatory work.

Learners will present their contextualised knowledge and understanding of performing arts organisations and the employment opportunities they provide, and will present a response to the potential employment opportunity. They will produce a promotional portfolio that will include critically selected examples of practical work with appropriate written support materials and clear promotional intent, linked to a chosen individual progression route.

The assessment availability is December/January and May/June only. The first assessment is May/June 2018.

Sample assessment materials will be available to help centres prepare learners for assessment.
Assessment outcomes

AO1 Demonstrate knowledge and understanding of the purpose, structure and work of performing arts organisations

AO2 Demonstrate knowledge and understanding of professional practice in relation to employment opportunities in the performing arts

AO3 Apply knowledge and understanding of professional practice to meet the needs of performing arts organisations

AO4 Be able to respond to an employment opportunity in a performing arts context with appropriate justification
Essential content

The essential content is set out under content areas. Learners must cover all specified content before the assessment.

A Purpose, structure and work of performing arts organisations

A1 Performing arts organisations

A1.1 Understand organisational purpose
- Aims – what an organisation aims for overall.
- Objectives – what an organisation will achieve.
- Mission – the way an organisation will behave to achieve its aims and objectives.
- Vision:
  - the work to be produced or service offered
  - the importance of having a clear vision.
- Values – the ethos of the organisation.
- Restrictions and opportunities of types of legal constitutions.
- Structures associated with types of legal constitutions.

A1.2 Understand how organisational purpose is determined
- The intended audience for the work.
- Stakeholders – the potential partners, beneficiaries or participants.
- Scope of organisational activity - local, regional, national or international.
- Funding restrictions and opportunities:
  - public sector organisations
  - private sector organisations
  - not for profit or third sector organisations.

A1.3 Types of organisational structures
- Understand the advantages and disadvantages of different types of organisational structures:
  - unincorporated association
  - sole trader
  - social enterprise
  - community interest company
  - charity
  - limited company.

A2 Sources of funding

A2.1 Understand organisational purpose
- Public sector funding:
  - local authorities
  - lottery programmes
  - Arts Council England.
- Private sector funding:
  - sponsorship
  - investment
  - benefactors.
- Third sector funding from trusts or charities:
  - grants.
A2.2 Access to funding donations
- Applying for grant.
- Tendering for a contract.
- Fundraising.
- Direct selling to:
  - the public
  - another organisation
  - another business or enterprise.

A3 Understanding organisational operations
Different types of organisational duties and obligations linked to different types of structures.
- Operational roles and key functions:
  - financial, such as fund raising, grant applications, budget, accounting
  - marketing, such as promotion and publicity
  - human resources, such as contractors, staff, volunteers
  - training, such as first aid, risk assessment
  - policies and procedures, such as health and safety, safeguarding
  - education, such as workshops, teacher packs and programmes for schools
  - technical, such as lighting, sound, cameras
  - creative, such as artistic direction, dance, drama, music
  - outreach, such as community liaison, integration, opening access, widening participation.

B Understand professional practice for employment opportunities

B1 Organisational requirements
- Aims and structure of the organisation.
- Requirements and objectives of the funder.
- Needs and expectations of the audience, participants or beneficiaries.
- Creative intentions of the work or service.

B1.1 Relevant skills, techniques and experience for professional practice
- Skills and techniques:
  - performance
  - communication
  - employability.
- Experience:
  - performance
  - work
  - volunteering.
- Areas for development.

B2 Skills, techniques and experience for employment opportunities
- Effective communication:
  - understanding professional practice
  - communicating clear ideas and intentions
  - format, structure and tone
  - vocational language and terminology
  - quality of written communication
  - referencing.
• Apply professional practice when presenting ideas:
  o engage the audience
  o communicate clear ideas and intentions
  o apply communication skills and techniques
  o consideration of costing, funding, resources, personnel, talent when proposing new work to a business.

C Understanding professional practice
Understand what promotional portfolio content and format is in relation to requirements and expectations of others.

C1 Promotional portfolio content and realising promotional intent • Discipline and skills:
  o dance
  o acting o musical theatre
  o variety.
• Understanding relevant practical work:
  o rehearsal extracts
  o performance extracts
  o participation in technique classes
  o participation in workshops.

C2 Promotional portfolio format and realising promotional intent
• The selection and refinement of content.
• Relevance to employment opportunities.
• Awareness of safe practices, such as safe online presence, age-appropriate material, access to personal information.
• Understanding alternative structures for an individual profile.

D Producing a promotional portfolio
Understanding organisation and project requirements.

D1 Selecting material for promotional portfolio
• Performing arts discipline.
• Skills and techniques.
• Experience.
• Relevant extracts of practical work.
• Supporting written information appropriate for portfolio format.

D2 Present a portfolio to meet promotional intent
• For your performing arts discipline.
• For your performing arts specific skills and techniques.
• For the specific employment opportunity.
• For the specific organisation and project.
Grade descriptors

To achieve a grade a learner is expected to demonstrate these attributes across the essential content of the unit. The principle of best fit will apply in awarding grades.

Level 3 Pass

Learners will be able to demonstrate an understanding of the organisational profile, project outline and workshop requirements, supporting their development and presentation of a promotional portfolio and report in response to the brief.

They will consider ideas for the development of the portfolio with reference to their promotional intent.

Development of ideas for the portfolio will link to the organisation and project, with the use of materials demonstrating understanding of promotional intent, selection and refinement.

Learners will communicate how skills and experiences presented are relevant to their promotional intent and likely to engage a perspective employer.

The report will be clearly communicated with use of relevant technical language.

Level 3 Distinction

Learners will be able to demonstrate an in-depth understanding of the organisational profile, project outline and workshop requirements, supporting their development and presentation of a promotional portfolio and report in response to the brief.

They will fully consider appropriate ideas for the development of their profile, with clear and effective promotional intent and how best to realise and communicate their intentions.

Development of ideas will be clearly linked to the organisation and project with the selection and use of relevant and imaginative examples, demonstrating skills and experience, sophisticatedly presented in the promotional portfolio.

Learners will effectively communicate how their skills and experiences are relevant to the ideas being presented, fully engaging the perspective employer.

The contents of the report will be clearly communicated with effective and relevant use of technical language.

Key terms typically used in the unit

The following table shows the key terms that will be used consistently by Pearson in our assessments to ensure students are rewarded for demonstrating the necessary skills.

Please note: the list below will not necessarily be used in every paper/session and is provided for guidance only.

Employer involvement

This unit will benefit from employer involvement in the form of:

- guest speakers
- specialist guidance and support
- understanding organisational operations.
Unit 8: Classical Ballet Technique

Level: 3
Unit type: Internal
Guided learning hours: 60

Unit in brief
Learners develop their classical ballet techniques with an emphasis on practical development and application of performance skills.

Unit introduction
Classical ballet is at the heart of many of the dance styles performed today, forming the basis of techniques used in contemporary dance, musical theatre and jazz dance. It can be the starting point for dance training for people wanting to pursue a career in performing arts.

In this unit, you will develop skills and techniques in classical ballet through participation in technique classes, rehearsal and performance. You will learn about the historical development of this dance form, through to modern-day practice, and complex movements at the barre and in the centre. You will develop and refine your ballet skills and music appreciation, reflecting on your progress and practice, which will support your development as a dancer and performer.

The skills you develop in this unit will let you perform in a variety of contexts such as stage shows, circus, film and video; this will be a great advantage for learners wishing to pursue a dance career, as well as for further study of dance. In addition, the skills you develop in this unit will support you in the performance of other dance techniques.

Learning aims
In this unit you will:
A Understand the development of classical ballet
B Develop skills and techniques of classical ballet
C Apply the skills and techniques of classical ballet to a performance
D Review personal development and own performance.

Learning aim A: Understand the development of classical ballet

A1 Explore the origins and development of classical ballet with reference to key features, ballet masters and repertoire

Learners must study a minimum of three ballet masters, with reference to the following, allowing for effective analysis, evaluation and understanding of classical ballet.

- The origins of ballet in the Italian Renaissance courts.
- Court ballet, e.g. Pierre Beauchamp, Jean-Baptiste Lully, King Louis XIV.
- 18th and 19th century developments, e.g. Carlo Blasis, Jean-Georges Noverre, Auguste Vestris, Le Grand Dupré.
- The Imperial Russian Ballet, e.g. Marius Petipa, Lev Ivanov.
- Diaghilev and the Ballets Russes, e.g. Sergei Diaghilev, Léonide Massine, Vaslav Nijinsky, Bronislava Nijinska.
- British ballet, e.g. Ninette de Valois, Marie Rambert, Antony Tudor, Glen Tetley, Frederick Ashton, Kenneth Macmillan.
- American ballet, e.g. Michel Fokine, George Balanchine, Robert Joffrey, Gerald Arpino.
- Current developments in classical ballet, e.g. William Forsythe, Peter Martins, Mats Ek, Wayne McGregor, Liam Scarlett.
- Methods of training, e.g. Auguste Bournonville, Agrippina Vaganova, Nikolai Legat, Enrico Cecchetti.

Learning aim B: Develop skills and techniques of classical ballet

Learners must participate in ballet technique classes and workshops in order to develop their knowledge, understanding and technical skills.

B1 The foundations and movements of classical ballet technique

- The foundations of classical ballet technique:
  - correct posture
  - turnout
  - weight placement
  - aplomb
  - alignment
  - extension
  - placement
  - spotting
  - co-ordination
  - use of the back
  - musicality
  - basic arm positions:
    - bras bas, 1st, 2nd, 3rd, 4th, 5th position, demi bras, demi-seconde, basic port de bras, full port de bras, forward port de bras, reverse port de bras
  - basic foot positions:
    - 1st, 2nd, 3rd, 4th, 5th position, preparatory position/classical pose
  - poses of the body:
    - en face, croisé, écarté, effacé
  - directions of travel and of the working leg:
    - à terre, en l’air, en croix, devant, derrière, à la seconde, sur place, en avant, en arrière, de côté, en dehors, en dedans, en tournant, sur le cou de pied, en fondu.
• Barre work:
  o pliés (demi and grand) o battement tendus
  o battement glissé
  o battement jeté
  o ronds de jambe à terre and en l’air
  o battement fondus à terre and en l’air o battement frappe (single and double) o battement frappe fouetté
  o retiré (devant, derrière, petit, full and passé)
  o petit battement
  o pas soutenu
  o grand battement
  o battement en cloche
  o développé (devant, derrière, a la seconde)
  o demi and grand ronds de jambe en l’air.

• Demi pointe work:
  o rises
  o relevés (2:2, 2:1)
  o échappé relevé
  o courrus
  o coupé fouetté raccourci
  o posé (en avant, de côté).

• Centre work:
  o centre practice (plié, battement tendus, grand battement, temps lié)
  o port de bras (circular, épaulement, à dos) o adage (développé, 1st, 2nd and 3rd arabesque, attitude, fouetté of adage, rotation)
  o pirouettes (single, double en dehors and en dedans, pose pirouettes, chaînés, preparation for fouetté ronds de jambe en tournant)
  o petit allegro (sauté, échappé sauté, soubresaut, petit assemble, coupé, petit jeté)
  o allegro (glissade, assemble, jeté ordinaire, pas de bourrée, pas de chat, temps levé, sissone, balancé pas de basque glissé)
  o grand allegro (grand jeté en avant and en tournant, tours en l’air, pas de basque sauté, coupé fouetté raccourci sauté) o batterie (entrechat, échappé battu, changement battu, brisé).

B2 Musical structures and styles
• Time signatures, e.g. 4/4, 2/4, 3/4, 6/8.
• Musical styles, e.g. march, rag, tango, habanera, waltz, polonaise, mazurka, galop.
• Tempo.
• Use of breath.
Learning aim C: Apply the skills and techniques of classical ballet to a performance

C1 Application of classical ballet techniques through rehearsal

- Awareness of safe practice.
- Appropriate clothing (hair tied back, no jewellery).
- Understanding principles of how to warm up and cool down.
- Understanding the structure of rehearsal and how it is used in preparation for a performance.
- Commitment to the task or activity.
- Responding to peer and teacher instructions/corrections.
- Receiving and giving positive and constructive feedback.
- Working independently.
- Selection and rejection of ideas.
- Working cooperatively with others.
- Contributing and accepting ideas.
- Repeating and revisiting material.
- Reviewing and adjusting material.
- Application of movement skills.
- Selection, refinement and development of appropriate techniques and skills for the selected performance piece.

C2 Application of classical ballet techniques through performance

- Technical skills, such as:
  - alignment
  - placement
  - turnout
  - the control of energy
  - balance
  - timing
  - accurate performance of taught sequences using steps and techniques
  - movement memory
  - spatial awareness.

- Performance skills, such as:
  - embodiment of the features of selected classical ballet style
  - expression through movement and emotion
  - accuracy of choreographic interpretation
  - focus
  - concentration
  - projection
  - mood
  - emotion
  - emphasis of movements through use of breath
  - interpretation
  - musicality
  - movement quality
  - dynamic variation
  - communication with the audience
  - proxemics
  - response to accompaniment
  - entrances and exits.
Learning aim D: Review personal development and own performance

Learners must track their progress during this unit, reflecting and evaluating on the application and development of classical ballet skills and techniques during workshops, rehearsals and final performance, presenting the information in a performance log that includes a combination of recorded evidence and supporting annotations.

D1 Review and evaluate development of classical ballet techniques
- Technical skills.
- Development skills.
- Strengths.
- Feedback.
- Target setting.
- Areas for improvement.

D2 Review and evaluate application of classical ballet techniques
- Technical skills.
- Performance skills.
- Strengths.
- Feedback.
- Target setting.
- Areas for improvement.

Essential information for assignments

The recommended structure of assessment is shown in the unit summary along with suitable forms of evidence. Section 6 gives information on setting assignments and there is further information on our website.

There is a maximum number of three summative assignments for this unit. The relationship of the learning aims and criteria is:

Learning aim: A (A.P1, A.M1, A.D1)
Learning aims: B and C (B.P2, C.P3, C.P4, B.M2, C.M3, BC.D2)
Learning aim: D (D.P5, D.P6, D.M4, D.D3)
Further information for teachers and assessors

Resource requirements

For this unit, learners must have access to:

- a dance studio with barre, sprung floor, mirrors, sound system for technique classes and rehearsals
- a performance space allowing enough space for learners to perform the solo variation and a clear video recording to be made (this could be the dance studio)
- a range of music appropriate for technique classes and for the solo variation performances
- video clips/DVDs and live performances of a range of classical ballet performances, to support their contextual understanding of the classical ballet genre, and chosen classical ballet style for solo variation performance
- video recording and playback facilities to support their development throughout the unit and for recording final performances
- an internet connection and digital resources
- blogging programs and basic video-editing equipment so they can keep a digital performers’ log if appropriate.

Essential information for assessment decisions

Learning aim A

For distinction standard, learners must present a detailed and comprehensive account of the development of classical ballet supported by examples of ballet masters (a minimum of three) and their work, gathered through effective exploration and presented in chronological order. Learners will show evidence of a thorough understanding of repertoire, social and historical background and the development of techniques through practical demonstrations, comparing and contrasting well-chosen examples and communicating how developments have contributed to current practice. The work will be presented to a high standard and will include a well-argued, evaluative commentary with effective use of subject-specific terminology, relevant presentation techniques, for example practical demonstrations, and good use of grammar.

For merit standard, learners must present an understanding of the historical developments of classical ballet with reference to ballet masters (a minimum of three) and their work, gathered through effective exploration. Analysis of how developments, with reference to skills, techniques and movement styles, have influenced current practice will be presented in the work, supported by clear examples of relevant repertoire. References will be made to similarities and differences among the examples provided. The work will be detailed, using relevant presentation techniques, for example photographic evidence and practical demonstrations and with accurate use of subject-specific terminology.

For pass standard, learners must present information on the historical developments of classical ballet with selected examples of ballet masters and their work. Learners will present an understanding of their influence on present-day practice, together with details of a comparison of repertoires. The work may lack detail but will include subject-specific terminology and satisfactory presentation techniques.

Learning aims B and C

For distinction standard, learners will work at a consistently high level throughout technique classes, workshops, rehearsals and performance work, demonstrating professionalism in their application and understanding of safe working practices. They will self-manage their development with the support of their peers and teachers, using feedback to evaluate progress and development. Learners will perform a broad range of classical ballet steps accurately and in a self-assured manner. They will demonstrate that they are able to maintain technical skills throughout their performance, with highly-skilled precision in their footwork, placement, line and a sustained use of poise. Learners’ performances will demonstrate an inherent and highly developed sense of communication, musicality and quality of movement throughout.

For merit standard, learners will carry out tasks in technique classes and rehearsal independently and confidently with a clear understanding of health and safety. They will use feedback from peers and teachers, and self-observation, to support their development of the skills and techniques of classical ballet.

Learners will demonstrate a confident and consistent approach to performing classical ballet techniques. Their performance will be focused, with evidence of the development of musicality, communication and quality of movement. Learners will demonstrate technical skills that show aptitude and proficiency throughout the performance. Movements performed with a sense of line and placements will be made to the best of their physical ability.

For pass standard, learners will actively participate in technique classes, rehearsals and performance work. They will respond to feedback from their peers and teachers and attempt to refine their practice as a result. Learners will demonstrate competence in their application of skills and techniques, although movements will lack control and clarity of line and placements will not be secure. Learners will be able to dance in time to the music with the use of communication, musicality and quality of movement.

Learning aim D

For distinction standard, learners must produce a performance log with clear, accurate reference to performance exercises and the selection and adaption of material used to support their development and application of classical ballet skills and techniques, using knowledge and understanding developed from learning aim A.

In their work, learners will include an evaluation of their strengths, and an understanding of improvements that need to be made, coupled with their responses to feedback, audience reaction, personal development and target setting linked to professional practice.

Work will be communicated in a well-structured and meaningful manner, with good use of subject-specific terminology, presentation techniques and grammar.

For merit standard, learners must produce a performance log that demonstrates an understanding of their development and application of classical ballet techniques. Learners will use analysis of their strengths, areas for improvement, response to feedback, direction and final performance to set targets and support personal development and professional practice.

Information will be presented coherently and with good use of grammar.

For pass standard, learners must produce a performance log with information on their development and application of classical ballet techniques. Learners will refer to their strengths, areas for improvement, audience reaction and personal development to inform the contents of their performance log. The work may lack detail and there will be an inconsistent use of subject-specific terminology.

Unit 9: Tap Dance Technique

Level: 3
Unit type: Internal
Guided learning hours: 60

Unit in brief

Learners develop their tap dance techniques with an emphasis on practical development and application of performance skills.

Unit introduction

Tap dance has been shaped by a range of influences throughout the decades. It is most commonly associated with musical theatre, cabaret and variety performance. The complexity of the style lies in its intricate rhythms and time signatures and it requires technical understanding and musicality in order to communicate the style to an audience.

In this unit, you will develop skills and techniques in tap dance that will enable you to recall combinations of steps to build on movement memory and experiment with different rhythms. You will refine and develop your tap dance skills through workshops and rehearsals, and explore key influences that have shaped the dance style into its current form. You will reflect on your progress as you develop skills and techniques, setting targets and reviewing your progress.

The ability to perform tap dance combinations is an extremely valuable skill in the performing arts industry, especially if you decide to pursue a career in musical theatre. The versatility you will gain from studying this unit will not only complement your dance repertoire, it will also give you confidence when attending auditions and provide a strong foundation to support further study and dance training.

Learning aims

In this unit you will:
A  Understand the development of tap dance
B  Develop skills and technique in tap dance
C  Apply skills and techniques in tap dance to a performance
D  Review personal development and own performance.

Content

Learning aim A: Understand the development of tap dance

A1 Explore the origins, practices and development of tap dance

Learners must study the origins, and development of tap dance and a minimum of three practitioners, allowing for effective analysis, evaluation and understanding.

- Origins and developments:
  - African heritage
  - minstrel shows
  - Vaudeville
  - chorus line
  - musicals
  - films.

- Key features of practitioners and performance styles:
  - Florenz Ziegfeld
  - Bill ‘Bojangles’ Robinson
  - Busby Berkeley
  - Fred Astaire
  - Gene Kelly
  - Ruby Keeler
  - Ann Miller
  - Eleanor Powell
  - Savion Glover.

Learning aim B: Develop skills and techniques in tap dance

Learners must participate in tap technique classes and workshops in order to develop their knowledge, understanding and technical skills.

B1 Principles and key features of tap dance techniques

- Posture.
- Weight placement over the balls of the feet.
- Relaxed ankles and knees.
- Use of arms – co-ordinated, parallel, opposition, curved, contracted, angled, inverted.
- Basic tap steps:
  - one sound: straight tap, toe tap, ball tap, heel tap, toe dig, ball dig, heel dig, toe beat, heel beat, ball beat, forward tap, backward tap, forward brush, backward brush, step, stamp, hop, spring, drop, stomp, jump, scuff, simple pick up
  - two sounds: shuffle, straight, side, back, tap step, tap spring, flap – on whole of the foot, on the ball of the foot, ball change, pick up on one foot, pick up change
  - three sounds: pick up step, pick up spring, three beat shuffle, forward scuffle, tap step heel beat, tap heel ball beat
  - multiple sounds: double shuffle, progressive taps, riffs – 3 beat, 4 beat, 5 beat, 6 beat, 7 beat, 12 beat, 13 beat, cramp rolls – 4 beat, 5 beat, 6 beat with or without change, facing front or turning, ripples – 3 beat and 4 beat, wings – 3 beat and 4 beat wing preparation, shuffle pick up change, pullback – taken from whole foot and ball of the foot, waltz steps – single and double, buffalo steps, travelling heel beats, paddles – 3 beat and 4 beat, Maxi Ford – with step and toe tap, facing front and turning, Suzie Q
  - time steps: single, double, triple shuffle time steps and breaks, single, double, triple pick up time steps and breaks, single and double wing preparation time steps and breaks, triple open time steps and breaks
  - turning steps: on the spot, travelling diagonally and around the room.
B2 The relationship between tap dance technique and music
- Time signatures, e.g. 2/4, 4/4, 3/4, 6/8, 5/4, 7/4.
- Tempo.
- Tonal quality.
- Rhythm and timing: understanding of note values, syncopation, accents, cross phrasing, rhythmic response.
- Musicality: use of lyrics or key sounds within the musical accompaniment.
- Dynamic range: impulse, impact, speed, use of weight.
- Appreciation and understanding of musical accompaniment, e.g. blues, ragtime, boogie, swing.

Learning aim C: Apply skills and techniques in tap dance to a performance

C1 Application of tap dance techniques through rehearsal
- Awareness of safe practice.
- Appropriate clothing (hair tied back, no jewellery).
- Understanding principles of how to warm up and cool down.
- Understanding of the structure of a rehearsal and how this is used in preparation for a performance.
- Commitment to the task or activity.
- Responding to teacher instructions/corrections.
- Receiving and giving positive and constructive feedback.
- Working independently.
- Working cooperatively with others.
- Repeating and revisiting material.
- Reviewing and adjusting material.
- Application of tap dance skills.
- Selection, refinement and development of appropriate skills and techniques for the selected performance piece.

C2 Application of tap dance techniques through performance
- Artistic interpretation.
- Accurate technique/timing/phrasing/rhythm.
- Tonal quality.
- Dynamic variation.
- Co-ordination.
- Sense of line.
- Projection and focus.
- Awareness of the use of space.
- Musicality and interpretation of accompaniment.

Learning aim D: Review personal development and own performance

Learners must track their progress during this unit, reflecting and evaluating on the application and development of tap dance skills and techniques during workshops, rehearsals and final performance, presenting the information in a performance log that includes a combination of recorded evidence and supporting annotations.

D1 Review and evaluate own development of tap dance techniques
- Technical skills.
- Development skills.
- Strengths.
- Feedback.
- Target setting.
- Areas for improvement.
D2 Review and evaluate own application of tap dance techniques

- Technical skills.
- Performance skills.
- Strengths.
- Feedback.
- Target setting.
- Areas for improvement.

Essential information for assignments

The recommended structure of assessment is shown in the unit summary with suitable forms of evidence. Section 6 gives information on setting assignments and there is further information on our website.

There is a maximum number of three summative assignments for this unit. The relationship of the learning aims and criteria is:

Learning aim: A (A.P1, A.M1, A.D1)
Learning aims: B and C (B.P2, C.P3, C.P4, B.M2, C.M3, BC.D2)
Learning aim: D (D.P5, D.P6, D.M4, D.D3)
Further information for teachers and assessors

Resource requirements
For this unit, learners must have access to:

- a dance studio with sprung floor, mirrors, sound system for technique classes and rehearsals
- a performance space allowing enough space for learners to perform the final tap dance piece and a clear video recording to be made (this could be the dance studio)
- a range of music appropriate to the tap dance styles delivered in technique classes and for the final performances
- video clips/DVDs and live performances of a range of tap dance performances to support their contextual understanding of the tap dance genre and chosen tap dance style for final performance
- video recording and playback facilities to support their development throughout the unit and for recording of final performances
- an internet connection and digital resources
- blogging programs and basic video-editing equipment so learners can keep a digital performers’ log if appropriate.

Essential information for assessment decisions

Learning aim A

For distinction standard, learners must present a detailed and comprehensive account of the development of tap dance presented in a chronological order. A thorough understanding of the full range of tap dance styles will be presented in the work. Examples of practitioners (a minimum of three) who have influenced development and current practice will be gathered through effective exploratory research. These examples will be used to compare and contrast key features and performance styles. The work will be presented to a high standard and will include a well-argued, evaluative commentary with effective use of subject-specific terminology, relevant presentation techniques, for example practical demonstrations, and good use of grammar.

For merit standard, learners must present a detailed understanding of the development of tap dance. Examples of named practitioners (a minimum of three) who have influenced development and current practice will be gathered through effective exploratory research and will be used to analyse key features and performance styles. The work will be detailed, using relevant presentation techniques, for example photographic evidence, practical demonstrations, and accurate use of subject-specific terminology.

For pass standard, learners must present their understanding of the development of tap dance. Information on key features and performance styles will be included in the work, with the use of examples gathered through exploratory research. The work may lack detail, but will be presented to a satisfactory standard with good use of subject-specific terminology.

Learning aims B and C

For distinction standard, learners will consistently demonstrate a highly disciplined approach to rehearsal and performance work. Learners will work confidently at a high level throughout. They will self-manage their development, actively seeking, and positively responding to feedback from their peers and teachers. Learners will apply feedback to develop and refine their work. A fully realised performance, showing refined stylistic qualities of the selected tap dance style, flair and a high level of technical ability, will be evident. Clarity of beating will be performed with precision and tonal quality will be used effectively throughout. Learners’ performances will demonstrate an inherent and highly developed sense of musicality, artistry and quality of movement throughout.
For merit standard, learners will demonstrate a disciplined approach to rehearsal and performance work. Learners will consistently make a positive contribution. They will respond to feedback from their peers and teachers to inform the development of their tap dance skills. A well-prepared performance, showing stylistic qualities of the selected tap dance style and a visible level of technical ability and potential, will be evident. Learners will demonstrate proficiency in their clarity of beating and use of tonal quality. A sense of musicality, artistry and quality of movement will be demonstrated.

For pass standard, learners will actively participate in rehearsals and performance work. Learners will make a positive contribution and respond to feedback from their peers and teachers and attempt to refine their practice as a result. A prepared performance will show the key stylistic qualities of the selected tap dance style. Technical ability will be evident through the use of tonal quality and clarity of beating. Learners will be able to perform with the correct use of rhythm and timing.

Learning aim D

For distinction standard, learners must produce a performance log with clear, accurate reference to performance, exercises, and the selection and adaption of material to support the development and application of skills and techniques, using knowledge and understanding developed from learning aim A. The performance log will include an evaluation of their strengths, and an understanding of improvements that need to be made. Learners will document audience reaction, personal development and target setting. Learners will use subject-specific terminology and good use of grammar.

For merit standard, learners must produce a performance log that demonstrates understanding and analysis of the development and application of tap dance techniques. Learners will use analysis of their strengths, areas for improvement and audience reaction to set targets and support personal development and professional practice. Information will be presented coherently and with good use of grammar.

For pass standard, learners must produce a performance log that includes information on their development and application of tap dance technique. Learners will refer to their strengths, areas for improvement, audience reaction and personal development to inform the contents of their log. The work may lack detail and there will be an inconsistent use of grammar.

Unit 10: Jazz Dance Technique

Level: 3
Unit type: Internal
Guided learning hours: 60

Unit in brief

Learners develop jazz dance techniques with an emphasis on practical development, application and performance skills.

Unit introduction

Jazz dance is a popular and diverse dance form that is used in a variety of performances. Often associated with cabaret and musical theatre, its influence has broadened out into areas such as flash mobs, music videos and concerts. The skills that you will develop in this unit can make you a dancer who can work in a broad range of jazz contexts.

In this unit, you will develop skills and techniques that will enable you to understand the key technical and stylistic features of jazz dance through participating in technique classes, rehearsals and performance work. By learning and watching different styles of jazz dance, you will develop an understanding of the diversity of this dance form and the practitioners who have influenced the development of the style. You will reflect on your progress as you develop skills and techniques, setting targets and reviewing your progress.

The skills you develop in this unit will enable you to understand the key stylistic features of jazz dance and prepare you for performing or choreographing a wide range of jazz dance performances. This will help you when auditioning for dance, musical theatre and performing arts higher education courses.

Learning aims

In this unit you will:
A Understand the development of jazz dance
B Develop skills and techniques of jazz dance
C Apply the skills and techniques of jazz dance to a performance
D Review personal development and own performance.

Content

Learning aim A: Understand the development of jazz dance

A1 Explore the origins and development of jazz dance and musical accompaniment

Learners must study the origins, development and musical accompaniment of jazz dance and a minimum of three practitioners, allowing for effective analysis, evaluation and understanding.

- Roots of the style found in African and Caribbean traditional dances.
- Burlesque
- Vaudeville
- Katherine Dunham
- Lester Horton
- Jack Cole
- Matt Mattox
- Bob Fosse
- Jerome Robbins
- Gus Giordano
- Musical accompaniment, such as African/percussion, gospel, swing and big bands, ballads, Latin, Bollywood, musical theatre, popular music, blues.

Learning aim B: Develop the skills and techniques of jazz dance

Learners must participate in jazz technique classes and workshops in order to develop their knowledge, understanding and technical skills.

B1 Development of technical features

Jazz dance techniques.

- Correct posture for jazz dance.
- Positions of the arms:
  - first, second, third, fourth, fifth, side opposition
  - curved, contracted, angled, inverted, opposition, co-ordinated.
- Positions of the feet:
  - first, second, fourth
  - use of turnout, parallel, inversion.
- Basic stretches of the body:
  - upward, forward, side, back.
- Basic bends of the body:
  - forward, side, back, half and full body relaxation, half and full body circle.
- Contractions.
- Use of feet:
  - stretch/extension, flex, neutral, coupé, relevé, tendu, glissé.
- Use of spine:
  - extension, curling, arching, high release, back bend, rotation, body roll, ripple.
- Use of hips and legs:
  - front, side, outward round kicks both straight and développé, second, plié, retiré.
- Isolations and combinations of isolations of body parts:
  - head, shoulders, arms, ribs, hands, hips, legs, feet.
- Travelling movements:
  - walks (drag, triple, extended, circular, développé)
  - runs (forward drag, sideways drag, triple, split).
- Linking steps:
  - step ball change, spring ball change, pas de bourrée travelling, turning and on the spot, jazz change of weight.
UNIT 10: JAZZ DANCE TECHNIQUES

• Pirouettes:
  o single, double, inwards and outwards at both low and high levels.
• Turning:
  o chaîné turns, posé turns, elevated turns, coupé turns, syncopated turns with high and low leg lines, off balance turns, attitude turns.
• Kicks:
  o front, side, back – on whole foot, rise, en fondu with leg straight or in attitude o flick developpé, layout, hitch kick, tilts, outward round, inward round, controlled.
• Elevation:
  o hops, springs, accented hops, forward leaps with and without developpé, side leaps, side leap turning, attitude leaps, tuck jumps, turning jumps, barrel turn, Russian split, scissor leap, stag leaps, forward and sideways jazz pounce.

B2 Development of stylistic features
• Traditional jazz.
• Lyrical jazz.
• Musical theatre/Broadway jazz.
• Commercial jazz.
• Street jazz.

B3 Relationship between techniques and music
• Time signatures, e.g. 4/4, 2/4, 3/4, 6/8, 5/4, 7/4.
• Tempo.
• Rhythm and timing:
  o understanding of note values
  o syncopation, accents, cross phrasing.
• Musicality:
  o use of lyrics or key sounds within the musical accompaniment, light and shade, impetus.
• Dynamic range:
  o impulse, impact, suspension, speed, use of weight.
• Use of breath.
• Understanding of musical accompaniment, such as African/percussion, swing and big band, ballads, Latin, Bollywood, musical theatre, commercial, blues.

Learning aim C: Apply skills and techniques of jazz dance to a performance

C1 Application of jazz dance techniques through rehearsal
• Awareness of safe practice.
• Appropriate dance wear, footwear and presentation (hair tied back, no jewellery).
• Understanding the principles of how to warm up and cool down appropriately.
• Rehearsal: understanding the structure of a rehearsal and how this is used in preparation for a performance.
• Self-management.
• Self-discipline.
• Commitment to the task or activity.
• Ability to follow and respond to direction.
• Working independently.
• Responding to feedback.
• Repetition.
• Responding to direction and corrections from peers, teachers and choreographers.
• Use of self-reflection to support development through use of observation, video and mirrors.
C2 Application of jazz dance techniques through performance

Selection, refinement and rehearsal of appropriate techniques and skills for the selected performance piece.

- Application of technical skills, such as:
  - alignment
  - posture
  - core stability
  - strength
  - stamina
  - flexibility
  - co-ordination
  - agility
  - balance
  - weight placement
  - whole body participation
  - elevation
  - breadth and depth of movement
  - movement memory and accuracy
  - spatial awareness.

- Application of interpretative skills, such as:
  - projection
  - energy
  - communication with the audience
  - focus
  - dynamic range
  - use of breath
  - attack
  - emphasis
  - musicality and phrasing
  - use of facial expression to support the intention or theme of performance
  - spatial awareness
  - awareness of floor pattern and formation.

Learning aim D: Review personal development and own performance

Learners must track their progress during this unit, reflecting and evaluating on the application and development of jazz dance skills and techniques during workshops, rehearsals and final performance, presenting the information in a performance log that includes a combination of recorded and photographic evidence and supporting annotations.

D1 Review and evaluate development of jazz dance techniques for a performance

Resource requirements

For this unit, learners must have access to:

- a dance studio with sprung floor, mirrors, sound system for technique classes and rehearsals
- a performance space allowing enough space for learners to perform the set study and a clear video recording to be made (this could be the dance studio)
- a range of music appropriate to the jazz dance styles delivered in technique classes and for the set study performances
- video clips/DVDs and live performances of a range of jazz dance performances to support their contextual understanding of the jazz dance genre and chosen jazz dance style for set study performance
- video recording and playback facilities to support their development throughout the unit and for recording of final performances
- an internet connection and digital resources
- blogging programs and basic video-editing equipment so learners can keep a digital performers’ log if appropriate.

Essential information for assessment decisions

Learning aim A

For distinction standard, learners must present a detailed and comprehensive account of the development of jazz dance and musical accompaniment, supported with examples of practitioners (a minimum of three) and musical accompaniment associated with their work, gathered through effective exploration, for example Bob Fosse, Jerome Robbins and Mia Michaels. Evidence of comparing and contrasting dance styles will be included in learners’ work and they will look at features such as the context in which their work is performed, movement style, and use of dancers. Learners will evaluate how developments have contributed to current practice, using examples to support these findings, and use as a reference to support the development of learners’ own practice. The work will be presented to a high standard and include a well-argued, evaluative commentary with effective use of subject-specific terminology, relevant presentation techniques, for example practical demonstrations and good use of grammar.

For merit standard, learners must present their understanding of the development of jazz dance and musical accompaniment using clear examples of named practitioners (a minimum of three), gathered through effective exploration and practice. Learners will analyse how developments of the dance style have influenced current performance and practice, with reference to music, for example how Stephen Mear’s choreography for Sweet Charity is influenced by Bob Fosse’s original choreography using the same musical accompaniment. References will be made to similarities and differences between the two versions of choreography. The work will be detailed, using relevant presentation techniques, for example photographic evidence, practical demonstrations and accurate use of subject-specific terminology.

For pass standard, learners must present information on the development of jazz dance and musical accompaniment. An understanding of the key influences will be presented, with descriptions of the similarities and differences between jazz dance styles. The work may lack detail, but will be presented to a satisfactory standard with use of subject-specific terminology.

Learning aims B and C

For distinction standard, learners will demonstrate an effective approach to the development of jazz dance techniques working at a consistently high level during classes and workshops. They will demonstrate a highly disciplined approach to rehearsal, selecting, developing and applying music and techniques to reproduce stylistic features for performance, for example they will develop the required strength and flexibility in the hips, legs, knees and ankles to perform layouts and stag leaps, and use core strength and the ability to spot when performing double pirouettes. Learner performances will demonstrate an inherent understanding of music, rhythm and timing. Performance skills will be used to a high level, for example projection and facial expression.

Learners will self-manage their development, actively seeking and positively responding to feedback from their peers and teachers to develop and refine their work. A fully realised performance, showing refined stylistic qualities of the selected jazz dance style and a high level of technical ability, will be evident.

For merit standard, learners will demonstrate a disciplined approach to classes, rehearsals and performance work. They will respond to feedback from their peers and teachers to inform the development of their jazz dance skills, for example working to develop the strength and flexibility of their feet to enable them to perform intricate footwork in a Bob Fosse inspired performance piece accurately. Music will be used accurately and there will be a good understanding of different rhythm and timing, for example use of syncopation. A well-prepared performance, demonstrating the stylistic qualities of the selected jazz dance style and a good level of technical ability and potential, will be evident.

For pass standard, learners will actively participate in rehearsals and performance work. They will respond to feedback from their peers and teachers and attempt to refine their practice as a result. Learners will develop their general whole body strength to enable them to hold shape and line accurately. Dynamic qualities will be understood and learners will demonstrate dynamic range in performance, for example speed, energy and force. A prepared performance will show the key stylistic qualities of the selected jazz dance style, and technical ability will be evident. Learners will be able to perform with the correct use of rhythm and timing.

Learning aim D

For distinction standard, learners must produce a performance log with clear, accurate reference to development activities and the selection and adaption of music and techniques needed for the performance of a jazz dance piece, using knowledge and understanding developed from learning aim A. The journal will include an evaluation of their strengths and an understanding of improvements that need to be made. Learners will document their response to feedback, audience reaction, personal development and target setting and link this to professional practice. Work will be communicated in a well-structured and meaningful manner, with use of subject-specific terminology and good use of grammar.

For merit standard, learners must produce a performance log that demonstrates their understanding of the development and application of the music and techniques needed for the performance of a jazz dance piece. Learners will use analysis of their strengths, areas for improvement, response to feedback, direction and performance to set targets and support personal development and professional practice. Information will be presented coherently and with good use of grammar.

For pass standard, learners must produce a performance log that includes their development and application of jazz dance techniques in rehearsal and performance. Strengths and areas for improvement will be identified, with reference to technique classes, rehearsals and performance. There will be some references to target setting, however these will be generalised. The performance log will lack detail and there will be an inconsistent use of subject-specific terminology.

Unit 11: Street Dance Technique

Level: 3
Unit type: Internal
Guided learning hours: 60

Unit in brief
Learners develop their knowledge, skills and techniques with an emphasis on practical development, application and performance skills.

Unit introduction
Street dance is a diverse form of dance, encompassing many styles, which evolved quite literally on the streets, being performed in any available open space. From its modest beginnings, the genre has grown in popularity, making its way from the battles and clubs of the underground scene into the public eye.

In this unit, you will develop the skills and techniques that will enable you to understand the key technical and stylistic features of street dance through participating in technique classes, rehearsals and performance work. By learning and watching different street dance techniques, you will develop an understanding of the diversity of this dance form and the practitioners who have influenced the development of the style. You will reflect on your progress as you develop skills and techniques, setting targets and reviewing your progress.

The skills that you will develop in this unit will give you the opportunity to work as a dancer across a range of street dance contexts, including music videos, live performance, stage shows, movies and television programmes. They will also support you to progress to higher education to study this style of dance further.

Learning aims
In this unit you will:

A  Understand the development of street dance
B  Develop skills and techniques of street dance
C  Apply skills and techniques of street dance to a performance
D  Review personal development and own performance.

Learning aim A: Understand the development of street dance

A1 Explore the origins, influences and development of street dance

Learners must study the origins, development and influences of street dance and a minimum of three practitioners, allowing for effective analysis, evaluation and understanding.

- Location/setting/birthplace of each style.
- Historical events:
  - programmes/films, e.g. Soul Train, Paris is Burning
  - street dance jams, battles and events national and international, e.g. Juste Debout
  - performance conditions, e.g. lino flooring for outdoor bboy battles, auditions for 'Soul Train' held in car parking lots.
- Influences of other styles and practitioners, e.g. Latin dancing influenced elements of toprock, funk social dances influenced the development of locking.
- Practitioners and pioneers of the techniques, e.g. Boogaloo Sam, Don Campbell, Greg Campbell Junior, Ken Swift, Crazy Legs.
- Social events:
  - audience, e.g. other crews, in the clubs where the social dancing/jamming took place
  - media
  - fashion, e.g. bboys wore shell suits, up-to-date trainers, lockers wore hush puppies, stripes and braces.
- Cultural influences on the genre:
  - minority groups
  - world influence
  - influences from own heritage.

Learning aim B: Develop skills and techniques of street dance

Learners must participate in classes and workshops in order to develop their knowledge, understanding and technical skills.

B1 The development of the key technical features of street dance

- Posture.
- Weight placement.
- Isolations.
- Locking:
  - wrist twirls, points, scoo b doo, scoobot, skeeta-rabbit, funky guitar.
- Popping:
  - arm and leg pops, fresno, neck-flex, twisto-flex, walk-out, master-flex
  - toyman style, puppet style, scarecrow style.
- Bboying/girling:
  - toprock – salsa step, cross over, shuffles, Indian step, side step, kick step
  - footwork – cc, 6 step, Zulu spins, pretzel, threads
  - power – swipes, back spins, windmills, head spins
  - freezes – shoulder freezes, chair freeze, baby freeze, elbow freeze, Indian step, side step, kick step, zulu spins, 6 step, swipes, airflares, shoulder freeze.
- House:
  - jacks, happy feet, rumba, farmer, scribble foot.
- Krump.
- Waacking.
B2 Relationship between street dance technique and music
Learners will need to develop an appreciation and understanding of musical accompaniment for street dance appropriate for the selected techniques.

- Tempo.
- Rhythm and timing:
  - understanding of note values
  - syncopation, accents, cross phrasing
  - polyrhythmic.
- Musically:
  - use of lyrics or key sounds within the musical accompaniment.
- Dynamic range:
  - impulse, impact, speed, use of weight.
- Appreciation and understanding of musical accompaniment, such as funk, soul, hip-hop, trip hop, commercial, house, break beat, dubstep, jungle, dance hall, Ragga.

Learning aim C: Apply the skills and techniques of street dance to a performance

C1 Application of street dance skills and techniques through rehearsal

- Awareness of safe practice.
- Appropriate dance wear, footwear and presentation.
- Understanding the principles of how to warm up and cool down appropriately.
- Rehearsal – understanding the structure of a rehearsal and how this is used in preparation for a performance.
- Self-management.
- Self-discipline.
- Commitment to the task or activity.
- Ability to follow and respond to direction.
- Working independently.
- Responding to feedback.
- Repetition.
- Responding to direction and corrections from peers, teachers and choreographers.
- Use of self-reflection to support development through the use of observation, video and mirrors.
- Application of street dance techniques and skills.
- Selection, refinement and rehearsal of appropriate techniques and skills for the selected performance piece.

C2 Application of street dance skills and techniques through performance

- Application of technical and physical skills, such as:
  - alignment
  - posture
  - core stability
  - strength
  - stamina
  - flexibility
  - co-ordination
  - agility
  - balance
  - weight placement
  - whole body participation
  - elevation
  - breadth and depth of movement
• movement memory
• accuracy
• spatial awareness.

• Application of interpretative performance skills, such as:
  • projection
  • energy
  • communication with the audience
  • focus
  • dynamic range
  • use of breath
  • attack
  • emphasis
  • musicality and phrasing
  • polyrhythmic
  • use of facial expression to support the intention or theme of performance
  • spatial awareness
  • awareness of floor pattern and formation.

Learning aim D: Review personal development and own performance.

Learners must track their progress during this unit, reflecting and evaluating on the application and development of their street dance skills and techniques during workshops, rehearsals and final performance, presenting the information in a performance log that includes a combination of recorded evidence and supporting annotations.

D1 Review and evaluate development of street dance skills and techniques

- Technical skills.
- Technique qualities.
- Musicality.
- Rehearsal process.
- Strengths.
- Feedback.
- Target setting.
- Areas for improvement.

D2 Review and evaluate application of street dance skills and techniques

- Technical skills.
- Performance skills.
- Technical qualities.
- Musicality.
- Strengths.
- Feedback.
- Target setting.
- Areas for improvement.

Essential information for assignments

The recommended structure of assessment is shown in the unit summary along with suitable forms of evidence. Section 6 gives information on setting assignments and there is further information on our website.

There is a maximum number of three summative assignments for this unit. The relationship of the learning aims and criteria is:

Learning aim: A (A.P1, A.M1, A.D1)
Learning aims: C and B (B.P2, C.P3, C.P4, B.M2, C.M3, BC.D2)
Further information for teachers and assessors

Resource requirements

For this unit, learners must have access to:

- a dance studio with sprung floor, mirrors, sound system for technique classes and rehearsals
- a performance space allowing enough space for learners to perform movement material and a clear video recording to be made (this could be the dance studio)
- a range of music appropriate to the street dance styles delivered in technique classes and for the final performances
- video clips/DVDs and live performances of a range of street dance performances to support their contextual understanding of street dance techniques
- video recording and playback facilities to support their development throughout the unit and for recording of final performances
- an internet connection and digital resources
- blogging programs and basic video-editing equipment so learners can keep a digital performers’ log if appropriate.

Essential information for assessment decisions

Learning aim A

For distinction standard, learners must present a detailed and comprehensive account of the development of street dance. An understanding of the origins of the style and the key features will be presented in the work. Examples of practitioners (a minimum of three), will be gathered through effective exploratory research and will be presented in a chronological order. The examples will be used to compare and contrast the full range of dance styles, key features and contributions to current practice. The work will be presented to a high standard and will include a well-argued, evaluative commentary with effective use of subject-specific terminology, relevant presentation techniques, for example practical demonstrations and good use of grammar.

For merit standard, learners must present their understanding of the development of street dance with reference to practitioners (a minimum of three) and their work. Key features, movements and styles, and how these have influenced current practice, will be analysed and supported with clear examples gathered through effective exploration. The work will be detailed, using relevant presentation techniques, for example photographic evidence, practical demonstrations and accurate use of subject-specific terminology.

For pass standard, learners must present information on the development of street dance, presented with selected examples of practitioners and their work. The work will describe similarities and differences between key features and styles and how these have influenced current practice. The work may lack detail, but will be presented to a satisfactory standard with use of subject-specific terminology.

Learning aims B and C

For distinction standard, learners will consistently demonstrate a highly disciplined approach to workshops, exercises, rehearsals and performance work, working confidently at a high level throughout.

They will self-manage their development, actively seeking, and positively responding to feedback from their peers and teachers. Learners will apply feedback to develop and refine their work. A fully realised performance, showing refined stylistic qualities of the selected street dance style and a high level of technical ability, will be evident. Learners’ performances will demonstrate an inherent and highly developed sense of musicality and quality of movement throughout.
For merit standard, learners will demonstrate a disciplined approach to workshops, exercises, rehearsals and performance work. Learners will consistently make a positive contribution to the development of their work, they will respond to feedback from their peers and teachers to inform the development of their street dance skills.

A well-prepared performance, showing the stylistic qualities of the selected street dance style and a visible level of technical ability and potential, will be evident. Learners will demonstrate a sense of musicality and quality of movement.

For pass standard, learners will actively participate in workshops, rehearsals and performance work. Learners will make a positive contribution and respond to feedback from their peers and teachers and attempt to refine their practice as a result. A prepared performance will show the key stylistic qualities of the selected street dance style and technical ability will be evident. Learners will be able to perform with the correct use of rhythm and timing.

Learning aim D

For distinction standard, learners must produce a performance log with clear, accurate reference to performance, exercises, and the selection and adaption of material to support the development and application of street dance skills and techniques, using knowledge and understanding developed from learning aim A. The journal will include an evaluation of their strengths and an understanding of improvements that need to be made. Learners will document their response to feedback, audience reaction, personal development and target setting. Learners will use subject-specific terminology and good use of grammar.

For merit standard, learners must produce a performance log that demonstrates their understanding of the development and application of street dance skills and techniques. Learners will use analysis of their strengths, areas for improvement and audience reaction to set targets and support personal development and professional practice. Information will be presented coherently and with good use of grammar.

For pass standard, learners will produce a performance log that includes their development and application of street dance. Learners will refer to their strengths, areas for improvement, audience reaction and personal development to inform the contents of their performance log. The performance log will lack detail and there will be an inconsistent use of subject-specific terminology.

Unit 12: Contemporary Dance Technique

Level: 3
Unit type: Internal
Guided learning hours: 60

Unit in brief

Learners develop their knowledge, skills and techniques with an emphasis on practical development, application and performance skills.

Unit introduction

Contemporary dance is an expressive style that has rejected the more formal aspects of traditional dance genres, challenging previous male and female roles. It has become a technique in its own right with clear stylistic features that can be danced to almost any types of music, sounds or aural settings.

In this unit, you will develop the skills needed to be a contemporary dancer by participating in technique classes, rehearsals and performance. You will gain an understanding of this dance style and the key influences on its development through research and practical application. Throughout your learning and development you will be taught how to reflect on your progress and practice, which will support your development as a dancer.

This unit will prepare you for performing in a wide range of dance performances. The skills you develop will be relevant for progression to roles such as a performer, choreographer, community dance artist or teacher as well as to further study.

Learning aims

In this unit you will:

A Understand the development of contemporary dance
B Develop skills and techniques of contemporary dance
C Apply skills and techniques of contemporary dance to a performance
D Review personal development and own performance.

Learning aim A: Understand the development of contemporary dance

A1 Explore the origins and developments of contemporary dance

Learners must study the origins and developments of contemporary dance and a minimum of three practitioners, allowing for effective analysis, evaluation and understanding.

- Early pioneers of modern dance, such as:
  - Loie Fuller
  - Isadora Duncan
  - Ruby Ginner
  - Madge Atkinson
  - Margaret Morris
  - Mary Wigman
  - Rudolf Laban
  - Kurt Jooss.

- Later developments of contemporary dance, such as:
  - Ruth St Denis
  - Ted Shawn
  - Doris Humphrey
  - José Limón
  - Martha Graham
  - Merce Cunningham
  - Judson Dance Theater
  - Alvin Ailey, Pina Bausch
  - Trisha Brown
  - Robert Cohan
  - Christopher Bruce
  - Richard Alston
  - Siobhan Davies
  - Matts Ek
  - Nederlands Dans Theater.

- Current developments in contemporary dance, such as:
  - Akram Khan
  - Henri Oguike
  - Hofesh Schechter
  - Matthew Bourne
  - Jasmin Vardimon.

Learning aim B: Develop skills and techniques of contemporary dance

Learners must participate in technique classes and workshops in order to develop their knowledge, understanding and technical skills.

B1 Development of contemporary dance techniques

- Key features of contemporary dance techniques.
  - Cunningham:
    - the five curves of the spine
    - movement initiated from the spine
    - chance
    - abstract.
o Graham:
  - contraction
  - release
  - spirals
  - floor work
  - energy of the breath.

o Limon/Humphrey:
  - weight
  - fall and recovery.

o Skinner Release:
  - suppleness
  - suspension
  - actions
  - economy
  - autonomy.

General techniques, such as:
- use of spine and torso
- positions of the spine
- use of feet – brushes
- contraction and release
- swings and suspensions
- qualities of swing
- impulse and impact
- tipping into and out of movements to create continuity
- plies – parallel and turn out
- foot and leg work, e.g. tendu, dégagé
- turns and step patterns in different directions
- shifting of body weight: turning
- into and out of balances
- tilts and off balances
- elevation – jumps, assemble
- use of phrasing and high points
- use of gravity
- suspension
- fall and recover
- weight and breath.

Physical skills, such as:
- posture
- balance
- co-ordination
- stability
- flexibility
- strength
- stamina
- alignment
- placement.
• Interpretative skills, such as:
  o focus
  o expression
  o rhythmic awareness
  o musicality
  o timing
  o quality
  o dynamics.

B2 Relationship between contemporary dance techniques and music
• Time signatures, e.g. 4/4, 2/4, 3/4, 6/8, 5/4, 7/4.
• Tempo.
• Rhythm and timing:
  o understanding of note values
  o syncopation, accents, cross phrasing.
• Musicality:
  o use of lyrics or key sounds within the musical accompaniment, light and shade, impetus.
• Dynamic range:
  o impulse, impact, suspension, speed, use of weight.
• Use of breath.

Learning aim C: Apply skills and techniques of contemporary dance to a performance

C1 Application of contemporary dance techniques through rehearsal
• Awareness of safe practice.
• Appropriate dance wear, footwear and presentation (hair tied back, no jewellery).
• Understanding of how to warm up and cool down appropriately.
• Understanding of the structure of a rehearsal and how this is used in preparation for a performance.
• Commitment to the task or activity.
• Ability to follow and respond to direction.
• Applying corrections, taking directions, repetition.
• Selection, refinement and rehearsal of appropriate techniques and skills for the performance of selected repertoire.
• Working independently.
• Use of self-reflection to support development through use of observation, video and mirrors.

C2 Application of contemporary dance techniques through performance
• Application of technical skills, such as:
  o alignment
  o posture
  o core stability
  o strength
  o stamina
  o flexibility
  o co-ordination
  o agility
  o balance
  o weight placement
  o whole body participation
  o elevation
• breadth and depth of movement
• movement memory and accuracy
• spatial awareness.

• Application of interpretative performance skills, such as:
  • projection
  • energy
  • communication with the audience
  • dynamic range
  • use of breath
  • attack
  • musicality and phrasing
  • use of facial expression to support the intention or theme of performance
  • awareness of floor pattern and formation.

Learning aim D: Review personal development and own performance

Learners must track their progress during this unit, reflecting and evaluating on the application and development of contemporary dance skills and techniques during workshops, rehearsals and final performance, presenting the information in a performance log that includes a combination of recorded evidence and supporting annotations.

D1 Review and evaluate development of contemporary dance techniques

• Technical skills.
• Stylistic qualities.
• Musicality.
• Rehearsal process.
• Strengths.
• Feedback.
• Target setting.
• Areas for improvement.

D2 Review and evaluate application of contemporary dance techniques

• Technical skills.
• Performance skills.
• Stylistic qualities.
• Musicality.
• Strengths.
• Feedback.
• Target setting.
• Areas for improvement.

Resource requirements

For this unit, learners must have access to:
• a dance studio with sprung floor, mirrors, sound system for technique classes and rehearsals
• a performance space allowing enough space for learners to perform the set study and a clear video recording to be made (this could be the dance studio)
• a range of music appropriate to the contemporary dance styles delivered in technique classes and for the set study performances
• video clips/DVDs and live performances of a range of contemporary dance performances to support their contextual understanding of contemporary dance and chosen contemporary dance style for the set study performance
• video recording and playback facilities to support their development throughout the unit and for recording final performances
• an internet connection and digital resources
• blogging programs and basic video-editing equipment so they can keep a digital performers’ log if appropriate.

Essential information for assessment decisions

Learning aim A

For distinction standard, learners must present a detailed and comprehensive account of the development of contemporary dance. An understanding of repertoire, social and historical background and the evolution of techniques will be presented in the work. Learners will present examples of practitioners (a minimum of three), gathered through effective exploratory research, in a chronological order and use them to compare and contrast key features and contributions to current practice. The work will be presented to a high standard and will include a well-argued, evaluative commentary with effective use of subject-specific terminology, relevant presentation techniques, for example practical demonstrations and good use of grammar.

For merit standard, learners must present detailed information on the development of contemporary dance with reference to practitioners (a minimum of three), gathered through effective exploratory research and their work. Analysis of technical features and movement styles and how these have influenced current practice(s) will be presented in the work, supported by clear examples of relevant repertoire. The work will be detailed, using relevant presentation techniques, for example photographic evidence and practical demonstrations with accurate use of subject-specific terminology.

For pass standard, learners must present information on the developments of contemporary dance, with selected examples of practitioners and their work gathered through exploration. The work will include similarities and differences between eras and refer to how each period has influenced the development of contemporary dance through to the present day. The work may lack detail but will be presented to a satisfactory standard with use of subject-specific terminology.

Learning aims B and C

For distinction standard, learners will consistently demonstrate a disciplined approach to workshops, rehearsal and performance work. They will self-manage their development, actively seeking and positively responding to feedback from their peers and teachers. They will apply feedback to develop and perfect their work. A fully realised performance of repertoire, showing refined stylistic qualities of the selected contemporary dance style and a high level of technical ability, will be evident. Learners’ performances will demonstrate an inherent and highly developed sense of musicality and quality of movement throughout.
For merit standard, learners will demonstrate a disciplined approach to workshops, rehearsal and performance work. They will respond to feedback from their peers and teachers to inform the development of their contemporary dance skills. A well-prepared performance of repertoire, showing the stylistic qualities of the selected contemporary dance style and a visible level of technical ability and potential, will be evident. A sense of musicality and quality of movement will be demonstrated.

For pass standard, learners will actively participate in workshops, rehearsals and performance work. They will respond to feedback from their peers and teachers and attempt to refine their practice as a result. A prepared performance of repertoire will show the key stylistic qualities of the selected contemporary dance style, and technical ability will be evident. Learners will be able to perform with the correct use of rhythm and timing.

Learning aim D

For distinction standard, learners must produce a performance log with clear, accurate reference to performance, exercises, selection and adaption of material to support their development and application of contemporary dance skills and techniques for a performance, using knowledge and understanding developed from learning aim A. The performance log will include an evaluation of their strengths and an understanding of improvements that need to be made. Learners will document their responses to feedback, audience reaction, personal development and target setting and link this to professional practice. Work will be communicated in a well-structured and meaningful manner, with good use of subject-specific terminology and grammar.

For merit standard, learners must produce a performance log that demonstrates an understanding of their development and application of contemporary dance skills and techniques. Learners will use analysis of their strengths, areas for improvement and audience reaction to set targets and support personal development and professional practice. Information will be presented coherently and with good use subject-specific terminology and grammar.

For pass standard, learners must produce a performance log that includes information on their development and application of contemporary dance skills and techniques. Learners will refer to their strengths, areas for improvement, audience reaction and personal development to inform the contents of their performance log. The performance log will lack detail and there will be an inconsistent use of subject-specific terminology.

Unit 13: Healthy Dancer

Level: 3
Unit type: Internal
Guided learning hours: 60

Unit in brief

Learners develop an understanding of anatomy, physiology and safe practice in dance training, through the development and application of training techniques.

Unit introduction

Dancers are often compared to athletes because they have higher expectations for their bodies than the average person. Dancers must understand the limitations of their bodies and how to maintain health, fitness and train properly, alongside knowledge of injury prevention. This enables dancers to train safely and effectively to ensure a long and injury-free career.

In this unit, you will learn about the structure and function of the human body and how this relates to dance training and performance, the principles of dance training, safe practice and how to keep injury free as a dancer. You will develop skills and techniques that will enable you to understand effective dance training and develop a training programme to support your development as a dancer. You will set targets, complete your training programme and review your progress.

The knowledge, understanding and skills that you develop in this unit will enable you to understand what constitutes safe and effective dance training. This knowledge and understanding will prepare you for a range of careers, including performing, teaching, dance physiotherapy, dance science and sports training. It will also help you to progress to further study in dance or dance science in higher education.

Learning aims

In this unit you will:
A Understand the structure and function of the human body
B Develop training techniques for a dancer’s fitness programme
C Apply the principles of training techniques to a dancer’s fitness programme
D Review own development and application of training techniques to a dancer’s fitness programme.

Content

Learning aim A: Understand the structure and function of the human body

Learners must study the structure and function of the human body with reference to a minimum of three dance genres and styles, allowing for effective analysis, evaluation and understanding.

A1 Understand the structure of the human body
- Function of the skeleton, such as support, move, protect.
- Main areas of the body, e.g. spine, arms and shoulders and legs.
- Alignment, such as static/standing, dynamic/moving, application to dance techniques.
- Joints, such as cartilaginous, synovial, fibrous.
- Main muscle groups.
- Tendons.
- Ligaments.
- Movement of the skeleton, such as flexion, extension, adduction, abduction, circumduction, rotation, eversion, inversion.

A2 Understand the function of the body systems
- Circulatory.
- Respiratory.
- Nervous.
- Link between body systems to areas of fitness.

Learning aim B: Develop training techniques for a dancer’s fitness programme

B1 Explore areas of fitness
- Strength.
- Muscular stamina, such as isotonic contraction, isometric contraction.
- Cardiovascular stamina, such as aerobic exercise, anaerobic exercise.
- Flexibility.
- Coordination, such as agility, balance (dynamic and static), power, speed, accuracy.
- Areas of fitness applied to dance technique and performance.

B2 Factors that affect training when developing training techniques
- Nutrition:
  o importance and function of a balanced diet, such as protein, carbohydrate, fats, vitamins and minerals, fibre
  o the effect of good/poor nutrition for a dancer o the importance of hydration o effects of dehydration
  o effects of disordered eating.
- Rest and burnout – emotional and physical wellbeing:
  o importance of rest, such as physical wellbeing, mental and physical recuperation, emotional resilience o effects of burnout, such as injury, lack of concentration, effect on work pattern.
- Safe practice:
  o personal factors, such as appropriate clothing, understanding of limitations and level of training, correct alignment, stress, workload and rest, warm up and cool down
  o environmental factors, such as appropriate rehearsal and performance space, appropriate flooring, appropriate temperature, access to changing and washing facilities, ventilation.
• Injury prevention and immediate treatment:
  o the causes of injury, such as unsafe practice, insufficient rest, overworking, unbalanced eating habits, lack of sleep, dehydration, muscle imbalance
  o how to prevent injury, such as following instruction, implementing safe practice in the studio, appropriate training level
  o common types of injury and their causes, such as fractures, sprains, strains, bruises, dislocations o treatment of injury, such as PRICER: prevent, rest, ice, compression, elevation, referral to registered practitioner, long-term care and rehabilitation/alternative therapies.

Learning aim C: Apply the principles of training techniques to a dancer’s fitness programme

C1 Develop a training programme
• Principles of training:
  o frequency
  o intensity
  o time
  o type.
• Progression.
• Reversibility.
• Repetition.
• Sequencing of activities.
• Purpose and benefits of warm up for training.
• Purpose and benefits of cool down for training.
• Training techniques, such as:
  o dance classes, e.g. ballet, contemporary, jazz, urban o Pilates
  o yoga
  o zumba
  o use of free weights
  o use of exercise equipment
  o cardiovascular activity, e.g. swimming, running o stretching, e.g. static, passive, dynamic.
• Training programme:
  o understanding of own strengths and areas for development
  o selection of appropriate techniques, activities and exercises o training methods/cross training.

C1 Application of training techniques to improve performance
• Following a training programme.
• Regular training and performance of training techniques.
• Training at the appropriate level.
• Participating in a range of training techniques, exercises, activities.
• Adherence to principles of training.
• Adapting a training programme to suit level, enable progression and support injury.
• Recording and documenting performance and improvement to support ongoing training:
  o video
  o measurements and documentation of flexibility, weights, repetitions of exercises.
• Warm up and cool down.
• Adherence to safe practice.
• Appropriate nutrition to support training programme.
Learning aim D: Review own development and application of training techniques to a dancer’s fitness programme

D1 Review and evaluate development and application of training techniques

Learners must track their progress during this unit, reflecting and evaluating on the application and development of training techniques for a dancer’s fitness programme, presenting the information in a performance log that includes a combination of recorded and photographic evidence and supporting annotations.

- Appropriateness of training programme, exercises and techniques.
- Adaptation of training programme to support progression.
- Self-assessment.
- Monitoring performance.
- Strengths.
- Feedback.
- Target setting.
- Areas for improvement.

Essential information for assignments

The recommended structure of assessment is shown in the unit summary along with suitable forms of evidence. Section 6 gives information on setting assignments and there is further information on our website.

There is a maximum number of three summative assignments for this unit. The relationship of the learning aims and criteria is:

Learning aim: A (A.P1, A.M1, A.D1)

Learning aims: B and C (B.P2, B.P3, C.P4, C.P5, B.M2, C.M3, BC.D2)

Learning aim: D (D.P6, D.M4, D.D3)
Further information for teachers and assessors

Resource requirements

For this unit, learners must have access to:

- traditional and web-based learning resources to support the teaching and research of theoretical knowledge associated with the unit
- video clips/DVDs and live dance performances from a range of genres to support their application of contextual knowledge to dance technique and performance
- a dance studio with sprung floor, mirrors, sound system for technique classes and practising carrying out the training programme
- a gym or other training equipment required for the completion of the training programme
- video recording and playback facilities to support their development and documentation of the training programme
- an internet connection and digital resources
- blogging programs and basic video-editing equipment so they can keep a digital performers’ log if appropriate.

Essential information for assessment decisions

Learning aim A

For distinction standard, learners must present a detailed and comprehensive account of the structure and function of the human body with particular reference to key areas, for example the spine, arms and shoulders and legs, and how these relate to dancers and performance. A thorough understanding of body systems, such as the circulatory and respiratory systems, and how these link to cardiovascular stamina, aerobic and anaerobic activities will also be presented in the work.

Examples of dance genres and styles (minimum of three), will be gathered through effective exploration and will be used to compare and contrast structure and function of the body, such as use of the hips in ballet, breakdancing and jazz. All anatomical and physiological knowledge presented will be linked to dance technique and performance. Learners will apply this knowledge to a dancer’s body and training at all times to support the development of their own practice. The work will be presented to a high standard and include a well-argued, evaluative commentary with effective use of subject-specific terminology, relevant presentation techniques, for example practical demonstrations, and good use of grammar.

For merit standard, learners must present a detailed understanding of the structure and function of the human body with reference to areas such as the spine, arms, shoulders and legs, and how these relate to dancers and performance. Analysis of how the body systems are used in fitness will be included, for example links between the nervous system, joints in the body and flexibility to support a dancer’s understanding of safe stretching. Examples of how anatomy and physiology are used in different dance genres and styles (a minimum of three), will be gathered through effective exploration and will be included, for example the use of the shoulders, arms and associated muscle groups when performing a ports de bras in ballet or waacking in a commercial dance routine. The work will be detailed, presented to a good standard and include accurate use of subject-specific terminology and supporting annotated visual resources.

For pass standard, learners must present information on the structure and function of the human body and how these are linked to a dancer’s performance, fitness and training. Reference will be made to how a dancer uses anatomy and physiology for different dance genres and styles, with the use of examples. The work may lack detail but will include subject-specific terminology and good used of presentation techniques.
Learning aims B and C

For distinction standard, learners will produce a well thought out and structured fitness programme to support their training and development as a dancer. The programme will be linked to activities, classes, rehearsals and performances the learner has participated in. Training techniques, safe practice, nutrition, and rest and injury prevention will be referenced throughout the planning and development of the fitness programme. Learners will use independent research to support the selection of training techniques and activities, for example learners developing the strength of their quadriceps and hamstrings to improve their performance of elevation will select a range of activities that include plié exercises from a ballet class, leg press equipment at the gym, warrior sequence from yoga and jumps exercise from a contemporary technique class. Learners will work at a consistently high level during completion of the fitness programme. They will self-manage their development, making appropriate adaptations where necessary, working in a highly organised manner and demonstrating safe practice at all times to enable their fitness programme to be fully realised.

For merit standard, learners will produce a well-structured fitness programme that is appropriate to support their training as a dancer. Training techniques, safe practice, nutrition, rest and injury prevention will be evident throughout the planning and development of the fitness programme. Learners will select appropriate training techniques and activities based on research they have completed into a range of training methods, for example for the development of core strength a learner would select activities, such as plank, salutation to the sun from yoga, développé exercise from ballet and a contraction exercise from a Graham contemporary technique class. Learners will work in an organised manner enabling them to complete their fitness programme. Adaptations will be made where necessary to support development and learners will apply training techniques in a confident manner to support their performance and progression.

For pass standard, learners will demonstrate the ability to select and apply training techniques through the development and completion of a fitness programme. Training techniques, safe practice, nutrition, rest and injury prevention will be evident in the fitness programme, together with an appropriate selection of activities to support development and progress during training. Learners will complete the fitness programme in an organised manner and will have an awareness of how to make improvements where necessary.

Learning aim D

For distinction standard, learners must produce a performance log presented with clear, accurate references to the planning and development of the fitness programme, using knowledge and understanding developed from learning aim A. Evaluation of their strengths, and an understanding of improvements that need to be made will be well documented and linked to the selection, development and adaptation of training techniques and activities and factors that affect training. Learners will document their target setting and link this to the skills and techniques applied to the development of the fitness programme. They will use well-chosen examples to support the work presented, with reference to their own development and progress. Work will be communicated in a well-structured and meaningful manner with effective use of subject-specific terminology and grammar.

For merit standard, learners must produce a performance log that demonstrates an understanding of planning and development through completion of their fitness programme. Learners will use analysis of strengths and areas for improvement, with examples, to set targets and make adaptations to the programme, supporting their training, development and performance. Information will be presented coherently and with good use of grammar.

For pass standard, learners must produce a performance log that demonstrates the development of skills while planning and completing their fitness programme. Learners will reference strengths and areas for improvement, with examples, to inform the contents of their performance log, including reference to understanding the principles of training. Target setting and adaptations to the fitness programme will be evidenced in the work. The final piece may lack detail and there will be an inconsistent use of subject-specific terminology.

Unit 14: Choreography for Live Performance

Level: 3
Unit type: Internal
Guided learning hours: 60

Unit in brief

Learners develop their knowledge, skills and techniques in choreography through practical exploration, workshops and performance.

Unit introduction

Choreography for live performance can be created for a variety of contexts and target audiences. Professional choreographers use different choreographic skills and techniques to communicate their dance ideas to an audience through live performance. Knowing how to select and work with dancers, structuring live performance and selecting the appropriate accompaniment enable choreographers to make live performance work for a range of settings.

In this unit, you will explore and develop the skills required to enable you to respond to a choreographic brief and realise your ideas for a live performance. Throughout your learning and development you will be taught how to reflect on your progress, which will support your development and creative practice.

The skills you develop during this unit will prepare you for further study at a vocational dance school or university and can lead to a career as a choreographer, community dance artist, movement director or teacher. Many graduates from vocational dance schools and universities will combine a career of performing with choreographing their own work.

Learning aims

In this unit you will:

A Understand choreographic structures and devices
B Develop choreography techniques for performance
C Apply choreography techniques to a performance
D Review own development and final performance.

Content

Learning aim A: Understand choreographic structures and devices

A1 Explore choreographic devices and compositional structures

- Choreographic devices:
  - motif and motif development
  - contrast
  - complementary
  - unison
  - canon (reverting: overlapping and non-overlapping, simultaneous, cumulative, loose)
  - contact
  - highlights and climax
  - logical sequencing
  - positioning/relationship of dancers
  - use of props and set.

- Compositional structures:
  - binary
  - ternary
  - rondo
  - episodic
  - narrative
  - chance
  - collage
  - theme and variation.

A2 Practitioners

Learners must review the work of at least three practitioners to support their understanding of A1, such as:

- Alvin Ailey
- Richard Alston
- Pina Bausch
- Christopher Bruce
- Trisha Brown
- Matthew Bourne
- Adam Cooper
- Merce Cunningham
- Jonzi D
- Bob Fosse
- Shobana Jeyasingh
- Akram Kham
- Wayne McGregor
- Stephen Mear
- Jerome Robbins
- Kenrick ‘H2O’ Sandy
- Hofesh Shechter
- Jasmin Vardimon.
Learning aim B: Develop choreography techniques for performance

B1 Select, explore and respond to stimulus/subject matter when developing choreographic techniques

- Stimulus/subject matter, such as autobiographical, biographical, current affairs, events, movement, music, professional repertoire, text, themes, visual art.
- Movement genre and style, such as ballet, contemporary, jazz, musical theatre, non-western dance styles, e.g. African and South Asian, urban dance forms.
- Improvisation and experimentation.
- Movement material, including motifs.
- Development of movement material and motifs using motif development techniques, e.g. repetition, addition or subtraction of movement material, inversion, retrograde, change of rhythm, timing or dynamics, change spacing, direction or staging, fragmentation, embellishment.
- Use of choreographic devices:
  - contrast and complementary
  - unison
  - canon (reverting – overlapping and non-overlapping, simultaneous, cumulative, loose)
  - contact
  - highlights and climax
  - logical sequencing
  - positioning/relationship of dancers
  - use of props and set.
- Selection of compositional structure:
  - binary
  - ternary
  - rondo
  - episodic
  - narrative
  - chance
  - collage
  - theme and variation.
- Refinement of movement material.

B2 Accompaniment for choreography

- Musical accompaniment for live choreography, such as live (musicians, dancers, sound engineer/DJ), recorded, classical, electronic, pop and rock, found and natural sounds, text/spoken word, silence.

B3 Relationship between movement and musical accompaniment

- Relationships between movement and musical accompaniment:
  - collaboration between music and choreography
  - direct correlation
  - music visualisation
  - mutual coexistence
  - disassociation
  - enhancement of mood and atmosphere.
- Set time and place:
  - identification of character
  - narrative
  - call and response
  - combination of the above.
Learning aim C: Apply choreography techniques to a performance

C1 Application of skills and techniques when developing performance and working with dancers

- Working with dancers:
  - understanding the strengths of dancers
  - appropriate movement genre/style
  - planning and leading choreographic tasks and rehearsals:
    - solo, duo, trio, small and large groups
    - co-operating with other dancers
    - building a rapport.

- Choreographic techniques:
  - positioning and relationships of dancers
  - choreographic devices
  - compositional structures
  - rehearsal.

C2 Performance

- Evidence of stimulus/subject matter.
- Development of movement using choreographic devices and techniques.
- Compositional structure to communicate stimulus/subject matter.
- Musical accompaniment to communicate stimulus/subject matter.
- Relationship between movement and musical accompaniment.
- Use of dancers to communicate stimulus/subject matter.

Learning aim D: Review own development and final performance

D1 Review and evaluate development and application of choreographic skills and techniques for performance

Learners must track their progress during this unit, reflecting and evaluating on the application and development of choreographic skills and techniques during workshops, rehearsals and final performance, presenting the information in a performance log that includes a combination of recorded and evidence and supporting annotations.

- Exploratory skills, e.g. exploration and response to stimulus.
- Skills used to develop choreographic idea.
- Use of choreographic techniques.
- Performance.
- Strengths.
- Feedback.
- Target setting.
- Areas for improvement.

- Learning aims: B and C (B.P2, B.P3, C.P4, C.P5, B.M2, C.M3, BC.D2)
- Learning aim: D (D.P6, D.M4, D.D3).
Further information for teachers and assessors

Resource requirements
For this unit, learners must have access to:

- a dance studio with sprung floor, mirrors (if appropriate), sound system for choreographic workshops and rehearsals
- a performance space allowing enough space for learners to perform their choreography and a clear video recording to be made (this could be the dance studio or other performance space selected by the learner)
- a range of stimuli for learners to explore in choreography workshops
- video clips/DVDs and live performances of a range of choreography in different genres and performance spaces to support learners’ contextual understanding of choreography (if required)
- video recording and playback facilities to support learners’ development throughout the unit and for recording of final choreography
- an internet connection and digital resources, such as access to blogging programs and basic video-editing equipment, to enable learners to keep digital reflective choreographic logs (if appropriate).

Essential information for assessment decisions

Learning aim A

For distinction standard, learners must present a detailed and comprehensive commentary of the key features, purpose and potential of a minimum of six choreographic devices and compositional structures in relation to communicating a stimulus effectively and structuring movement material in choreography. Learners will refer to specific contrasting examples of their work explored in practical workshops (live or recorded) and that of professional choreographers. This will enable learners to fully evaluate choreographic devices and compositional structures through comparisons, for example, the use of motif development to signify musical structures in Richard Alston's work and motif development used by Lloyd Newson to reinforce a social theme or idea. Learners’ work will be presented to a high standard and will include a well-argued, evaluative commentary, showing effective use of subject-specific terminology, relevant presentation techniques, such as practical demonstrations, and good grammar.

For merit standard, learners must present the purpose of each choreographic device and compositional structure (a minimum of five) when communicating stimulus/subject matter through performance. Learners will make comparisons between their own work (live or recorded) explored in practical workshops and that of professional choreographers, using examples to support their findings. Learners’ work will be detailed, using relevant presentation techniques, for example photographic evidence and practical demonstrations, and accurate subject-specific terminology.

For pass standard, learners must present information about a minimum of three choreographic devices and compositional structures, for example simple motif development techniques and dances with a narrative structure. This will be supported by the performance of learners’ own work (live or recorded) and exploration of the work of selected professional choreographers. Learners’ work may lack detail but will be presented to a satisfactory standard, with use of subject-specific terminology.
Learning aims B and C

For distinction standard, learners will demonstrate in their work a creative and highly developed response to their chosen stimulus through the choreography presented. Development of movement material, and the application of choreographic devices and compositional structures, will be highly appropriate and will go beyond the conventional, for example, learners will use advanced motif development techniques such as retrograde, embellishment and fragmentation, alongside advanced contact work. Dancers will perform complex relationships, such as simultaneous canon. Accompaniment for the choreography will support the application of choreographic skills. Learners will work at a consistently high level during workshops, rehearsals and performance tasks. They will self-manage their development throughout the choreographic process, actively seeking feedback from their peers and teachers. Learners will have exploited the skills and abilities of their dancer(s) effectively to communicate their idea. During rehearsals with their dancer(s) learners will have worked in a highly organised and sensitive manner to enable their ideas to be fully realised in choreography.

For merit standard, learners will show a thought-out approach to the development of choreographic material and application of choreographic devices and compositional structure. Movement material will be appropriately selected and rejected to enable the dance idea to be communicated successfully. Accompaniment will be used appropriately to support the movement selected, for example song lyrics visualised alongside the use of the rhythm and tempo of the song. The final choreography will be well rehearsed and presented with attention to detail. Learners will work in an organised manner and use feedback positively to support their development. They will have ensured the choreography is appropriate for the skills and abilities of their dancer(s). Rehearsals will be well managed.

For pass standard, learners will show an ability to select accompaniment, develop movement material and apply choreographic devices and compositional structures appropriate to selected stimulus through choreography. There will be evidence of the use of choreographic techniques, for example changing the level, direction and size of motifs, and the use of reverting canon. Rehearsals will be organised and learners will enable creative ideas to be developed and realised through choreography of the performance. Any errors or inaccuracies will not detract from the overall performance work.

Learning aim D

For distinction standard, learners must produce a reflective performance log with clear and accurate reference to the choreographic process and tasks completed to develop the final performance using knowledge and understanding developed from learning aim A. Learners will give a detailed evaluation of their strengths and show an understanding of improvements that need to be made, clearly documented with reference to feedback, audience reaction, personal development and target setting. Learners’ work will be communicated in a well-structured and meaningful manner, with accurate use of subject-specific vocabulary and grammar.

For merit standard, learners must produce a reflective performance log that demonstrates an understanding of the choreographic process for a final performance. They will analyse their strengths, areas for improvement, feedback and audience reaction, supported with examples, to set targets and support personal development and professional practice. Learners will present coherent information with good use of spelling and grammar.

For pass standard, learners must produce a reflective performance log that demonstrates an understanding of the choreographic process for a performance. They will refer to their strengths, areas for improvement, feedback, audience reaction and personal development, using examples. They will set and review targets to support the development of their choreography. Learners’ performance log may lack detail and there will be inconsistent use of grammar.

Unit 15: Theatre Directing

Level: 3
Unit type: Internal
Guided learning hours: 60

Unit in brief

Learners develop an understanding of the skills used by theatre directors, and apply this knowledge to prepare a script as well as plan and lead rehearsals with performers.

Unit introduction

The theatre director is responsible for the artistic vision of productions and the interpretation of texts. A sound understanding of the production process and the ability to work with a group of performers to get the best out of them, and realise the creative intentions of the production, is a required skill.

In this unit, you will explore the role of the theatre director, the skills required for the role and the methods employed in the preparation, planning and rehearsal of a performance. You will use the knowledge of theatre styles and conventions you have gained in other units, and you will gain an understanding of directorial skills and methods from this unit. You will select an extract from a script and, through rehearsal, bring the text to life with a company of performers. You will reflect on your progress as you develop skills, set targets and review them.

On successful completion of this unit you will have developed organisational, teamwork and communication skills as well as the ability to translate creative ideas into a performance piece. These skills can be applied to a wide range of contexts in the performing arts industry, as well as being vital to those who want to continue their studies in higher level programmes.

Learning aims

In this unit you will:

A  Understand skills and methods used by theatre directors
B  Develop skills in directing for a theatre performance
C  Apply skills in directing to realise a theatre performance
D  Review own development of directing skills and final performance.

Content

Learning aim A: Understand skills and methods used by theatre directors

Study of the role of director and its emergence in the 19th century replacing ‘actor manager’, skills and methods used for directing with reference to a minimum of three practitioners must be carried out, allowing for effective analysis, evaluation and understanding of theatre directing.

A1 Explore the role of theatre director

- Practice within the creative and production teams:
  - relationship with designers
  - relationship with production team
  - liaison with producer
  - relationship with performers.
- Development of the artistic vision:
  - creative interpretation of script/text
  - collaboration with playwrights
  - consideration of budgetary and physical constraints of production
  - auditioning and casting.
- Key practitioners, such as:
  - Constantin Stanislavski
  - Bertolt Brecht
  - Antonin Artaud
  - Peter Brook
  - Simon McBurney
  - Mark Rylance
  - Max Stafford-Clark
  - Vicky Featherstone
  - Peter Hall
  - Jude Kelly
  - Greg Doran
  - Katie Mitchell
  - Marianne Elliott
  - Tamara Harvey
  - Dominic Cooke.

A2 Understand skills and methods used by a theatre director

- Skills:
  - research and preparation
  - organisation
  - planning and scheduling
  - rehearsal management
  - communication.
- Methods:
  - research and exploration of text
  - off-text exercises and activities
  - workshops
  - improvisation
  - movement and vocal exercises
  - use of space
  - use of production and design elements.
Learning aim B: Develop skills in directing for a theatre performance

B1 Explore and develop skills when responding to a script

- Selection of appropriate script:
  - cutting/adapting script
  - dividing script into rehearsal sections.
- Context of the script:
  - playwright
  - style, e.g. naturalistic, epic, melodrama
  - historical context
  - theme(s)
  - previous notable productions.
- Consideration of dramatic construction of script:
  - structure
  - plot
  - subplot
  - characters
  - settings.
- Creative intentions:
  - interpretation of text
  - artistic vision.
- Assessing production requirements:
  - casting
  - selection of extracts and monologues to be used for audition
  - identifying the criteria for role selection
  - appearances of characters
  - physical qualities, e.g. age, build, height, facial features
  - movement
  - posture
  - gesture
  - facial expressions
  - vocal qualities, e.g. volume, pitch, accent.

B2 Production and planning when responding to a script

- Production:
  - venue for performance, e.g. a theatre space, site specific
  - staging (stage movement)
  - creation of mood and atmosphere
  - set and props
  - costumes
  - lighting, e.g. colour, direction, special effects
  - sound or sound effects, recorded or live
  - other technical elements, e.g. smoke machines.
- Planning:
  - selection of stage form
  - production of design brief
  - constructing rehearsal schedule
  - auditions
  - meetings with production and technical teams.
Learning aim C: Apply skills in directing to realise a theatre performance

C1 Application of directing skills in rehearsal
- Managing the rehearsal process:
  - auditions
  - first rehearsal/read-through
  - initial team-building sessions
  - the main rehearsal period
  - production meetings
  - technical and dress rehearsals
  - 'first night'.
- Leading rehearsals:
  - warm-ups
  - text-based and non-text-based activities
  - improvisation
  - character and relationship building
  - blocking
  - giving notes and feedback
  - leading the performance.

C2 Application of directing skills to a final performance
- Interpretation of script.
- Planning and development.
- Quality of the performance.
- Techniques and processes.
- Director’s notes prior to performance.
- Focus and discipline of the performers.
- Audience response.

Learning aim D: Review own development of directing skills and final performance

D1 Review and evaluate development and application of directing skills for a theatre performance
Learners must track their progress during this unit, reflecting and evaluating on the development and application of directing skills, presenting the information in a performance log that includes a combination of recorded evidence and supporting annotations.
- Response to script.
- Casting, production and rehearsal.
- Processes and techniques.
- Quality of performance.
- Audience reaction.
- Feedback.
- Strengths.
- Weaknesses.
- Target setting.
- Areas for improvement.

Essential information for assignments

The recommended structure of assessment is shown in the unit summary along with suitable forms of evidence. Section 6 gives information on setting assignments and there is further information on our website.

There is a maximum number of three summative assignments for this unit. The relationship of the learning aims and criteria is:

Learning aim: A (A.P1, A.M1, A.D1)

Learning aims: B and C (B.P2, B.P3, C.P4, C.P5, B.M2, C.M3, BC.D2)

Learning aim: D (D.P6, D.M4, D.D3)
Further information for teachers and assessors

Resource requirements

For this unit, learners must have access to:

- a studio space large enough to allow learners to undertake a range of practical acting exercises and activities, e.g. drama studio, theatre or large classroom
- a performance space appropriate to the chosen purpose of the assignment to be undertaken for learning aims A, B and C, can be a drama studio, theatre or large classroom
- a range of published or professionally commissioned texts
- props, costume, lighting and sound effects as appropriate
- recordings to support learners’ development throughout the unit and for recording of final performance
- an internet connection and digital resource
- blogging programs and basic video-editing equipment to enable learners to keep digital reflective performers’ logs if appropriate.

Essential information for assessment decisions

Learning aim A

For distinction standard, learners must present a detailed and comprehensive account of the theatre production process and the director’s place in the creative and production teams. Learners’ work will show a thorough understanding of skills and methods, for example research, planning, development and management, with reference to the rehearsal process and final performance. Through effective research, learners will use examples of past and present practices, referring to a minimum of three key practitioners, to compare and contrast features such as creative skills, working practices and performance. Learners’ work will be presented to a high standard and will include a well-argued, evaluative commentary, with effective use of subject-specific terminology, relevant presentation techniques and good grammar.

For merit standard, learners must present a detailed understanding of theatre production process, skills and methods, for example research, planning, development and management skills used in the rehearsal and final performance. Through effective research they will use examples of past and present practices, referring to a minimum of three key practitioners, to analyse features such as creative skills, working practices and performance. Learners’ work will be detailed, presented to a high standard and will include accurate use of subject-specific terminology.

For pass standard, learners must present their understanding of the theatre production process. Their work will include information on features such as creative skills, working practices and performance, with reference to past and present practices and examples gathered through research. Learners’ work may lack detail but will be presented to a satisfactory standard, using subject-specific terminology.

For distinction standard, learners will demonstrate a highly considered approach to the application of directing skills when preparing material and managing the rehearsal and performance process. They will undertake effective exploration, production and planning with reference to the selected script and will apply appropriate directing skills to communicate meaning and purpose to the target audience. Learners will self-manage their development and application of skills using the support of peers and teachers, actively seeking feedback and self-evaluating their directing skills. During rehearsals and the final performance they will apply their directing skills in a creative, confident and imaginative manner, supporting performers to produce a highly effective interpretation of the script.
For merit standard, learners will demonstrate a considered approach to the application of directing skills when preparing material and managing the rehearsal and performance process. They will undertake effective exploration and planning with reference to the script and will apply directing skills to communicate meaning and purpose. Learners will actively contribute to development of the work by inputting ideas and recognising opportunities for improvement. During rehearsals and the final performance they will apply directing skills in an effective manner, supporting the performer in producing a creative interpretation of the script.

For pass standard, learners will demonstrate the ability to apply directing skills when preparing material and managing the rehearsal and performance process. They will complete exploration and planning to support development and production with reference to the script. During rehearsals learners will apply directing skills in a competent manner, supporting the performer in producing a creative interpretation of the script.

Learning aim D

For distinction standard, learners must produce a performance log with clear and accurate reference to the selection, planning and production skills developed and applied for directing and managing a theatre performance with reference to a selected script. They should use the knowledge and understanding developed from learning aim A. Learners will clearly document evaluation of their strengths and an understanding of improvements that need to be made linked to the rehearsal process and the final performance. They will use feedback and audience reaction for target setting, supporting personal progress and professional development. Learners’ work will be communicated in a well-structured and meaningful manner. Learners will use subject-specific terminology, relevant presentation techniques and good grammar.

For merit standard, learners must produce a performance log demonstrating understanding of the skills used for developing and managing a theatre performance with reference to a selected script. They will analyse their strengths and areas for improvement to set targets and support personal development and professional practice, using feedback gathered during rehearsal and the success of the final performance. Learners will present information coherently and using good grammar.

For pass standard, learners must produce a performance log demonstrating the development and application of directing skills at all stages of the production, including rehearsal and the final performance. They will refer to their strengths, areas for improvement, feedback, audience reaction and personal development to inform contents. The performance log may lack detail and there will be inconsistent use of grammar.

Unit 16: Writing for Performance

Level: 3
Unit type: Internal
Guided learning hours: 60

Unit in brief

Learners develop their skills and techniques for writing and developing scripts for performance. Learners will understand the treatment each story requires for different mediums.

Unit introduction

For each successful performance the starting point is usually a successful script. The work of a scriptwriter is a creative and highly-skilled role, which requires discipline and understanding about how stories work. It requires you to apply different structures and techniques appropriate to the development of a story for theatre, radio, film or television. Understanding the different requirements for each medium, and the different formats used by each, is vital for creating a complete script. The editing process, the willingness to respond to feedback and understanding the relevance of research are all important characteristics of a successful scriptwriter.

In this unit, you will develop skills and techniques in scriptwriting and/or screenwriting through the process of workshops, exercises, peer review, discussions and writing practice. These will include formatting a script according to its medium, balancing dialogue with action and writing informative stage directions. You will produce several drafts, synopses and treatments before completing a final script. Throughout your learning you will reflect on your progress while developing skills and techniques, setting and reviewing targets.

You will develop the skills to concisely communicate information with imagination, which is useful in all forms of employment in the performing world. The ability to create writing for performance will also help you to create and produce your own productions in the future. You will be equipped to work in the creative industry writing scripts for theatre or radio and screenplays for film or television.

Learning aims

In this unit you will:

- Understand the skills used for writing a performance
- Develop skills in producing a script for performance
- Apply skills to the development of a script for performance
- Review own development and writing for performance skills.

Learning aim A: Understand the skills used for writing a performance

Learners must study the key elements of scriptwriting and past and present practices, with reference to a minimum of three practitioners, allowing for effective analysis, evaluation and understanding of writing for performance.

A1 Investigate key elements of scriptwriting

- Mediums:
  - theatre – takes place 'in real time and in real space', e.g. comedy, tragedy, classic, modern, Brechtian, realism
  - radio – sound only – different broadcast formats, e.g. 15-minute serial, 60-minute drama
  - television – broadcast slots and times, e.g. repeated serial, sitcom, drama, comedy, children's TV
  - film – story told in pictures, the importance of genre, e.g. horror, romance, sci-fi, road movie, crime movie, thriller, fantasy, war movie.
- Context, e.g. period, social or cultural relevance.
- Storyline, e.g. the synopsis of the piece, including any sub-plots.
- Setting, e.g. place and time.
- Characterisation, e.g. character development throughout the piece and character relationships.
- Structure, e.g. how storylines emerge and how a storyline is broken into scenes.
- Style, e.g. naturalistic, absurd, realism.
- Genre, e.g. comedy, tragedy, romantic, thriller.
- Purpose, e.g. educate, entertain, inform.

A2 Past and present practices

- Play texts.
- Film and TV scripts.
- Live or recorded performances.
- Films.
- Audio.
- Biographies of practitioners and writers.

A3 Understand the skills used by a scriptwriter

- Research and preparation.
- Organisational skills.
- Producing scripts and screenplays.
- Mediums, such as radio, theatre, film, TV.
- Format, such as act, scene, page numbers, use of grammar and spelling, stage directions, for location, action, sound effect(s), lighting, time of day.
Learning aim B: Develop skills in producing a script for performance

B1 Exploration of key areas for development of a script
- Texts, such as play texts, radio, film and TV scripts, storyboards, scenarios.
- Genres, such as comedy, serious drama, documentary, satire.
- Stimulus, such as literature, real life, historical events, visual images.

B2 Development of skills when producing a script for performance
- Writing a synopsis.
- Creating a screenwriting story-building board.
- Structure, such as three-act structure, five-act structure, eight movements.
- Plot points.
- Inciting incidents.
- Use of beats.
- Building tension.
- Releasing climaxes.
- Character development, such as protagonist, antagonist, secondary characters: how to make them interesting, relationships, gender, dislikes, drives.
- Dialogue:
  - formatting
  - effective dialogue, what is said, what is not said
  - using monologues or not.
- Effective action:
  - maintaining a balance between the action of the story
  - ensuring that the action is possible and plausible for the given medium.
- Process:
  - interviews with art form/medium practitioners
  - personal accounts of the production process
  - attendance at rehearsals.

B3 Development of writing and style
- Experimenting with characters and dialogue.
- Using different formats and styles.
- Effective stage direction and actions, use of parentheses.
- Pace.
- Writing within specific boundaries: target audience, budget, genre, broadcast time slot.
- Maintaining a theme within the story.
- Writing styles, such as linear, episodic, epic, lyrical, naturalistic, absurd.
Learning aim C: Apply skills to the development of a script for performance

C1 Application of skills to the scripting process

- Format:
  - live performance
  - rehearsed reading
  - film
  - audio recording.
- Creating a synopsis.
- Characterisation, e.g. development of characters throughout the piece.
- Relationships, e.g. all the different relationships within the piece and how they develop and change.
- Plot structure, e.g. stage directions, dialogue.
- Pitching the idea and discussing with interested parties.
- Reflecting and adapting according to discussion, feedback and reflection.
- First draft(s).
- Editing.
- Revising in response to feedback, peer commentary.

C2 Presentation of final script

Learners should be able to present a piece of writing for performance which is correctly formatted for the intended type of production. Their work should contain practical and artistic information which communicates their intentions to a director, performer or other members of the production team.

- Setting.
- Time.
- Mood.
- Character.
- Storyline.
- Theme.
- Scenes and beats.
- Action.
- Dialogue.
- Format:
  - layout
  - use of font, e.g. size and style
  - content organisation, e.g. character lists, scene headings
  - spell checked.
Learning aim D: Review own development and writing for performance skills

D1 Review and evaluate development and application of writing for performance skills

Learners must track their progress during this unit, reflecting and evaluating on the application and development of scriptwriting skills, presenting the information in a performance log that includes a combination of recorded evidence and supporting annotations.

- Use of research and writing style.
- Exploration and development of script, character and story.
- Effectiveness of script in conveying story elements (character, theme, incidents).
- Audience reaction (feedback).
- Response to feedback.
- Strengths.
- Target setting.
- Areas for improvement.

Essential information for assignments

The recommended structure of assessment is shown in the unit summary along with suitable forms of evidence. Section 6 gives information on setting assignments and there is further information on our website.

There is a maximum number of three summative assignments for this unit. The relationship of the learning aims and criteria is:

Learning aim: A (A.P1, A.M1, A.D1)
Learning aims: B and C (B.P2, B.P3, C.P4, C.P5, B.M2, C.M3, BC.D2)
Learning aim: D (D.P6, D.M4, D.D3)
Further information for teachers and assessors

Resource requirements
For this unit, learners must have access to a range of scripted materials, covering a variety of styles and genres and also in several mediums, such as for stage, TV, film and radio. Learners should also have access to writing and research facilities. There should be at least one room where script readings and pitches can take place. Video evidence of any such practical activity should be provided.

Essential information for assessment decisions

Learning aim A

For distinction standard, learners must present a detailed and comprehensive account of the scriptwriting process and key elements, for example types of mediums. Their work should demonstrate a thorough understanding of skills and methods, such as research, planning and development, with reference to the scripting process. Learners will use a minimum of three examples of past and present practices of key practitioners gathered through effective research to compare and contrast creative practices, format and medium. Their work will be presented to a high standard and will include a well-argued, evaluative commentary. Learners will make effective use of subject-specific terminology, relevant presentation techniques and good grammar.

For merit standard, learners must present a detailed understanding of the scriptwriting process, skills and methods, such as research, planning and development used during the scripting process. They will use a minimum of three examples of past and present practices with reference to key practitioners gathered through effective research to analyse features such as creative practices, format and medium. Their work will be detailed, presented to a high standard and will include accurate use of subject-specific terminology.

For pass standard, learners must present an understanding of the scriptwriting process. Their work will include information on features such as creative practices, format and medium, with reference to past and present practices, using examples gathered through research. Learners’ work may lack detail, but it will be presented to a satisfactory standard with good use of subject-specific terminology.

For distinction standard, learners will demonstrate a highly considered approach to the application of scripting skills when producing a script for performance. Their work will show evidence of effective exploration, production and planning with reference to structure, scenario, character development, meaning and purpose. Learners will self-manage their development and application of skills using the support of peers and teachers, actively seeking feedback and self-evaluating their writing skills. Evidence will include preparation such as detailed and imaginative character backstories, a thorough and engaging synopsis, and developed scene by scene breakdown and appropriate research. The first draft of the script will be annotated and will include areas for improvement that have been actioned and edited in the final draft. The final script will be an imaginative and carefully constructed piece; spelling and grammar will be correct throughout. The scriptwriter’s creative intent will be evident and the script will be of highly valuable, practical use for a performer, producer, director and designer.
For merit standard, learners will demonstrate a considered approach to the application of scripting skills when producing a script for performance. Their work will show effective exploration and planning with reference to scenario, structure and character development, and will communicate meaning and purpose. Learners will actively contribute to development of the work by inputting ideas and recognising opportunities for improvement of their writing skills. Evidence will include preparation of forms such as character backstories, synopsis, scene by scene breakdown and research. The first draft of the script will include annotations of areas that need development and the final script will be free from spelling and grammatical errors and will show signs of careful consideration of the story elements and medium. The scriptwriter's intent will be evident and the script will be of practical use for a performer, producer, director and designer.

For pass standard, learners will demonstrate the ability to apply scripting skills when producing a script for performance. Learners will complete exploration and planning supporting the development of the scenario, structure and character. They will have considered and used feedback to support development and improvement. Evidence will include character backstories and scene breakdown. The first draft of the script will include some annotations of areas to edit and/or develop. The final script will be free from spelling and grammatical errors and the correct format for the chosen medium will have been used correctly. The script will be useable by a performer, producer, director or designer.

Learning aim D

For distinction standard, learners must produce a performance log with clear and accurate reference to the development of writing skills for performance using the knowledge and understanding developed from learning aim A. Evaluation of their strengths and an understanding of improvements that need to be made will be clearly documented, linked to exploration, creative development, writing style and the final script. Learners will use feedback for target setting, supporting personal progress and professional development. Their work will be communicated in a well-structured and meaningful manner. Learners will use subject-specific terminology, relevant presentation techniques and good use of grammar.

For merit standard, learners must produce a performance log that demonstrates an understanding of the skills used for the development of writing for a performance. They will analyse strengths and areas for improvement of process, ability to use writing skills and the success of the final script with reference to feedback to set targets and support personal development and professional practice. Learners will present information coherently with good use of grammar.

For pass standard, learners must produce a performance log that demonstrates development and application of writing skills at all stages of the process and review of the final script. They will make reference to strengths, areas for improvement, feedback and personal development to inform contents. Learners’ work may lack detail and there will be inconsistent use of grammar.

Unit 17: Screen Acting

Level: 3
Unit type: Internal
Guided learning hours: 60

Unit in brief

Learners develop their acting skills and techniques so they can be applied for performance in front of a camera.

Unit introduction

There are many opportunities for actors to gain work providing performances for film, television and digitally recorded moving image media. In everyday life it is possible to capture moving images on phones and other hand-held devices, but there is a need to understand and appreciate the complexities surrounding the expectations that the professional media industry demands of an actor.

In this unit, you will develop an understanding of how to apply your acting skills and techniques in front of the camera. You will learn how to scale your performance both physically and vocally to suit the requirements of the camera. By looking at the work of established screen actors and examining different styles, you will develop an understanding of the acting skills required to bring an effective performance to the screen. Throughout your learning and development you will be taught how to reflect on your progress and practice, which will support your development.

Screen acting gives a range of employment opportunities, including working in television drama, performing in adverts motion-picture acting and corporate training and information work. This unit will provide you with the technical know-how for working on a film/TV set or location.

Learning aims

In this unit you will:

A Understand the context of screen acting
B Develop acting skills and techniques for performance in front of a camera
C Apply acting skills and techniques to a performance in front of a camera
D Review own development and screen acting performance.

Content

Learning aim A: Understand the context of screen acting

Learners must study film genres and acting styles used for performance with reference to a minimum of three films, allowing for effective analysis, evaluation and understanding of screen acting.

A1 Explore film genres
- Comedy, such as silent movies, romantic comedy, heist movies, musical comedy, star vehicle comedies.
- Drama, such as domestic or realistic, thrillers or film noir, horror, melodrama, crime, documentary style, historical costume.
- Big budget, such as action films, science fiction, adventure movies, musicals, fantasy, historical epics.

A2 Investigate acting styles used for film performance
- Method acting in American films of the 1940s/1950s.
- Realistic acting in British films of the 1950s/1960s.
- Melodramatic acting.
- Character acting.
- Personality acting.
- Introspective acting.
- Comic acting.
- Bravura-style acting.
- Silent movie acting.

Learning aim B: Develop acting skills and techniques for performance in front of a camera

Learners must be given the opportunity to develop techniques and methodologies of acting to the camera through practical workshops covering all of the following.

B1 Acting techniques for camera
- Acting to the camera.
- Acting off camera.
- Relationship with the camera, e.g. fourth wall.
- Working with others.
- Cues and cuts.
- Close up.
- Medium shot.
- Long shot.
- Facial expression.
- Physical expression.
- Emotion, e.g. reaction shots.
- Verbal and non-verbal communication.

B2 Acting methodologies for camera
- Acting styles.
- Responding to stimulus, e.g. script, storyboards.
- Applying vocal skills and techniques.
- Applying physical skills and techniques.
- Spotting in relation to camera angles and positions.
- Timing moves from mark to mark.
- Stepping in and out of role on request.
Learning aim C: Apply acting skills and techniques to a performance in front of a camera

C1 Application of acting skills and techniques through rehearsal prior to camera shoot
• Awareness of safe practice.
• Blocking moves.
• Hitting marks.
• Listening to and responding to technical instructions.
• Using props.
• Working to cues.
• Using costumes and accessories.
• Working with makeup and/or prosthetics.
• Learning and memorising dialogue.
• Taking direction and modifying performance.

C2 Applying acting skills and techniques to on-camera performances
• Perform on ‘and action’.
• Recalling and reproducing rehearsed moves, moments and lines.
• Repeating the scene and sustaining spontaneity until the best ‘take’ is achieved and ‘in the can’.
• Performing in character.
• Interacting and/or reacting with other performers or ‘imagined’ elements on set.
• Consistent replaying in different shots.
• Concentration and focus.
• Scaling the performance to suit the camera angle and focus of the shot.

Learning aim D: Review own development and screen acting performance
Learners must track their progress during this unit, reflecting and evaluating on the application and development of skills and techniques during workshops, rehearsal and camera performance, presenting the information in a performance log that includes a combination of recorded evidence and supporting annotations.

D1 Review and evaluate development of screen acting techniques
• Development of techniques.
• Strengths.
• Weaknesses.
• Target setting.
• Areas for improvement.

D2 Review and evaluate application of screen acting techniques
• Reviewing, e.g. each take of a scene and evaluating its effectiveness.
• Responding to the director’s feedback on each take.
• Recognising performance that is working or not.
• Finding solutions.
• Responding to feedback.
• Strengths.
• Weaknesses.
• Target setting.
• Areas for improvement.

Essential information for assignments

The recommended structure of assessment is shown in the unit summary along with suitable forms of evidence. Section 6 gives information on setting assignments and there is further information on our website.

There is a maximum number of three summative assignments for this unit. The relationship of the learning aims and criteria is:

Learning aim: A (A.P1, A.M1, A.D1)
Learning aims: B and C (B.P2, C.P3, C.P4, B.M2, C.M3, BC.D2)
Learning aim: D (D.P5, D.P6, D.M4, D.D3)
Further information for teachers and assessors

Resource requirements

For this unit, learners must have access to:

- DVDs or digital downloads of films related to the genres and periods outlined in the content section
- digital moving-image camera(s) and associated sound and lighting equipment
- digital playback and editing equipment.

Essential information for assessment decisions

Learning aims A

For distinction standard, learners must present a detailed understanding of film genres and acting styles. They will use a minimum of three examples of selected films gathered through effective research, for example comedy and drama, to compare and contrast acting styles associated with these. Learners will be able to express their views in an informed and critical way. They will make connections between stylistic elements and moments in films to illustrate their depth of knowledge and understanding of styles such as comic, silent movie and character. Their work will be presented to a high standard and will include a well-argued, evaluative commentary. Learners will make effective use of subject-specific terminology, relevant presentation techniques and good grammar.

For merit standard, learners must demonstrate in their work an understanding of film genres and acting styles. They will use a minimum of three examples of selected films gathered through effective research to compare acting styles, for example comedy and drama. Their work will show analysis of what distinguishes one film genre from another, such as stylistic elements, and the relationship between different acting styles. Learners will clearly show evidence of understanding and knowledge of the films under review. Their work will be detailed, presented to a high standard and will include accurate use of subject-specific terminology.

For pass standard, learners must present an understanding of film genres and acting styles. Learners will include information on what characterises a particular film genre and describe what a particular acting style looks and sounds like. They will make some attempt at comparing and/or contrasting different performances or scenes from the films, though this may lack detail. Learners’ work will be presented to a satisfactory standard and will include subject-specific terminology.

Learning aims B and C

For distinction standard, learners will work at a high level during workshops, rehearsals and performance tasks. They will self-manage their development and application of skills and techniques using the support of peers and teachers, for example establishing the most suitable gestures or communication techniques during takes for a particular scene. They will self-evaluate their performance and progress.

Learners will communicate in a knowledgeable and informed way regarding their role and how it relates to the film sequence. They will demonstrate a sensibility to the material and approach development and performance of the role with creative insight.

Learners will apply acting skills in a confident, assured and imaginative manner to effectively and creatively communicate purpose and meaning appropriate to the selected genre.

For merit standard, learners will develop and apply acting skills and techniques during workshops and rehearsals, contributing to the development of the work by inputting ideas and recognising opportunities for improvement.

With reference to feedback, learners will make changes in the development and application of techniques for their performance, for example trying out different ways of saying a line or using a more suitable gesture or facial expression for a particular take.
For pass standard, learners will develop and apply acting skills and techniques during workshops, rehearsals and the final performance. They will demonstrate an ability to select, develop and/or adapt material(s) and once agreed they will know their role in terms of moves and lines and be able to reproduce their interpretation on cue. Any errors or inaccuracies will not detract from the overall performance work.

Learning aim D

For distinction standard, learners must produce a performance log with clear and accurate reference to the acting skills and techniques used to develop material for a performance in front of the camera using the knowledge developed from learning aim A. The work will include an evaluation of their strengths, and an understanding of improvements that need to be made. Learners will document responses to feedback, audience reaction, personal development and target setting and will link these to professional practice. Their work will be communicated in a well-structured and meaningful manner. Learners will use subject-specific terminology and good grammar.

For merit standard, learners must produce a performance log demonstrating understanding of acting skills and techniques. This will be used to develop a performance in front of a camera. Learners will have analysed their strengths, areas for improvement, feedback and audience reaction to set targets and support personal development and professional practice. They will present information coherently and will use good grammar.

For pass standard, learners must produce a performance log demonstrating the development and application of acting skills and techniques. They will have made reference to their strengths, areas for improvement, feedback, audience reaction and personal development to inform contents. The performance log may lack detail and there will be inconsistent use of subject-specific terminology.

Unit 18: Interpreting Classical Text for Performance

Level: 3
Unit type: Internal
Guided learning hours: 60

Unit in brief

Learners develop their acting skills and techniques, applying these to the rehearsal and performance of a classical text.

Unit introduction

As a versatile performing arts practitioner you need to be able to understand, interpret and perform classical texts. Exploring the requirements of a range of heightened texts will help you to develop your acting and performance skills. This will increase your understanding of the acting craft, opening up possibilities for you to work with a broad range of material.

This unit introduces you to the key structures and stylistic features of acting heightened text. You will develop your acting skills in practical workshops that increase your awareness of the physical and vocal demands classical texts place on the modern actor. You will become aware of the structure and style of heightened language and appropriate movement for the period of the text. You will research the social, historical, cultural and political context of the text and explore the vocal and physical stylistic conventions involved in interpreting the text for performance.

Throughout your learning and development you will be taught how to reflect on your progress and practice, which will support your development as an effective actor and performer.

The skills that you develop in this unit will increase your understanding of the craft of acting, enabling you to improve your acting skills and your ability to perform a range of classical texts. You will find this useful when auditioning for theatre, drama or acting courses in higher education or at a vocational drama or performing arts school. The knowledge, understanding and skills you develop will be of great advantage if you wish to progress to a career in drama or theatre, such as an actor, director or teacher.

Learning aims

In this unit you will:

A Understand the performance requirements of classical texts
B Develop skills in interpreting classical text and character for a performance
C Apply vocal and physical acting skills to the performance of classical text
D Review personal development and own performance.

Content

Learning aim A: Understand the performance requirements of classical texts

A1 Explore classical texts

Learners are required to research, explore and understand the vocal and physical requirements of classical texts.

- Greek tragedy, e.g. Sophocles (c.497–406 BC).
- Greek comedy, e.g. Aristophanes (c.446–c.386 BC).
- Medieval plays/liturgical drama (14th/15th century).
- William Shakespeare (1564–1616).
- Elizabethan/Renaissance/Jacobean theatre.
- French Renaissance theatre, e.g. Corneille (1606–1684).
- Restoration theatre, e.g. Thomas Otway (1652–1685), William Congreve (1670–1729).
- Commedia dell’arte, e.g. Carlo Goldoni (1707–1793).

A2 Understand vocal requirements and physical demands when performing classical text

- Vocal requirements, such as verse speaking, choral speaking, asides, monologues/soliloquies, sonnets, direct audience address.
- Structure and rhythm of the text.
- Metre and rhythm.
- Use of punctuation to discover the rhythm, flow and energy of thoughts in a text, such as full stops, exclamation marks, question marks, colons and semi-colons, caesuras.
- Exploring the patterns of sound, such as connecting with the vowels and understanding their purpose in the language, connecting with the consonants and understanding their purpose in the language, alliteration, assonance, consonance, rhyme.
- Exploring the words and images.
- Exploring the language patterns, such as antithesis (contrast), repetition, comparison (simile and metaphor), lists, complex sentences and thought patterns, argument, patterns of rhetoric, emotion, wit/timing.
- Exploring the structure of speeches.
- Exploring the structure of scenes.
- Physical demands:
  - movement specifically required by the text: choral movement in Greek theatre, dumb show in Jacobean theatre, wearing a mask
  - movement to create character: posture, gait/movement, gesture, facial expression, pace, physical interaction and response.
- The conventions of movement, gesture and posture appropriate to the social and cultural conventions of the period and the style of text.
- Posture/stance when: standing, sitting, walking, gesturing, gesturing with props, bowing, curtseying, taking snuff, using a fan, using a hat, using a sword or dagger, eating and drinking, entering and exiting a room, greeting and saying farewell.
- Movement influenced by the costume and props of the period:
  - women – using a fan, carrying and using a parasol, effect of corsets, effect of a bustle, long skirts, wearing a train, wearing a wig.
  - men – using a hat, taking snuff, wearing a wig, wearing a coat with tails, wearing shoes with a heel, wearing breeches, wearing a large shirt with flamboyant cuffs, using a handkerchief, carrying a sword, wearing jewels.
Learning aim B: Develop skills in interpreting classical text and character for a performance

B1 Interpret classical text and develop character(s)
- Interpret classical text:
  - social, cultural, historical and/or political context
  - themes and issues
  - subject matter
  - character motivation
  - staging conditions
  - costumes and types of props
  - stage directions and the practical demands
  - conventions of movement, gesture and postural techniques required by the specific period of the text
  - writing and language style
  - vocal and speech demands.
- Develop character(s):
  - create role(s)
  - development of physical and vocal action
  - interpretation and communication of the character’s journey
  - relationships and interactions between characters
  - development of emotional range.

B2 Explore and develop vocal and physical skills
- Vocal skills, such as:
  - tone
  - pitch
  - range
  - inflection
  - articulation and diction
  - dialect and accent (if appropriate)
  - pace
  - vocal interaction and response
  - verse speaking
  - releasing the imagery of the language
  - exploring the rhythm of the text
  - vocal interaction and response
  - control and clarity of voice and speech
  - vocally inhabiting the character/role
  - meeting the specific demands of the text in relation to vocal interpretation.
- Physical skills, such as:
  - posture
  - gait/movement
  - gesture
  - facial expression
  - dynamics and rhythm of the period and of the text
  - pace
  - physical interaction and response
  - control and clarity of physicality
  - physically inhabiting the character/role
  - handling of props and costume
  - meeting the demands of the text in relation to the physical creation of the period.
Learning aim C: Apply vocal and physical acting skills to the performance of classical text

C1 Application of vocal and physical acting skills through rehearsal

- Rehearsal discipline, such as:
  - time management
  - physical
  - vocal and mental preparation for productive work
  - concentration and focus
  - trust
  - respect for others
  - respect for the work
  - co-operation
  - working collaboratively
  - communication
  - commitment
  - taking direction and responding positively to feedback.

- Rehearsal work, such as:
  - interacting as a member of the ensemble company
  - participating in group discussion
  - application of research
  - application of rehearsal techniques
  - response to and use of rehearsal exercises
  - experimenting creatively with the text
  - exploring ideas
  - development of characterisation/role
  - development of physical and vocal skills
  - refining ideas
  - use of costume and props (if appropriate).

C2 Application of vocal and physical acting skills to a performance of classical text

- Mental and physical preparation for performance.
- Communication of the playwright’s/director’s intentions to an audience:
  - communication of the plot line
  - interpretation of character
  - communication of the character’s journey.
- Coherence and consistency of performance.
- The communication of meaning through vocal expression, such as:
  - tone
  - pitch
  - range
  - inflection
  - projection
  - articulation and diction
  - dialect and accent (if appropriate)
  - pace
  - control
  - verse speaking
  - vocal interaction and response
  - control and clarity of voice and speech
  - meeting the specific demands of the text in relation to vocal interpretation.
• The communication of meaning through physical expression, such as:
  o posture
  o gait/movement
  o gesture
  o facial expression
  o dynamics
  o rhythm
  o pace
  o physical interaction and response
  o control and clarity of physicality
  o meeting the demands of the text in relation to the physical creation of the period.
• Emotional range.
• Focus and commitment of the performance.
• Performance energy.
• Interaction and response to other performers.
• Relationship with the audience.

Learning aim D: Review personal development and own performance

D1 Review and evaluate the development and application of vocal and physical acting to a performance of classical text

Learners must track their progress during this unit, reflecting on and evaluating the application and development of skills for interpreting and performing classical text during workshops, rehearsal and final performance, presenting the information in a performance log that includes a combination of recorded evidence and supporting annotations.

• Exploratory skills.
• Vocal skills.
• Physical skills.
• Rehearsal skills.
• Performance skills.
• Feedback, including audience response.
• Strengths.
• Target setting.
• Areas for development.

Essential information for assignments

The recommended structure of assessment is shown in the unit summary along with suitable forms of evidence. Section 6 gives information on setting assignments and there is further information on our website.

There is a maximum number of three summative assignments for this unit. The relationship of the learning aims and criteria is:

Learning aim: A (A.P1, A.M1, A.D1)

Learning aims: B and C (B.P2, B.P3, C.P4, C.P5, B.M2, C.M3, BC.D2)

Learning aim: D (D.P6, D.M4, D.D3)
Further information for teachers and assessors

Resource requirements
For this unit, learners must have access to:

- a studio space large enough to allow learners to undertake a range of practical acting exercises and activities, e.g. drama studio, theatre or large classroom
- a performance space appropriate to the chosen purpose of the assignment to be undertaken for learning aims A, B and C. This can be a drama studio, theatre or large classroom
- a range of classical texts
- recordings and live performances of a range of classical texts to support learners’ contextual understanding of the requirements of a range of texts
- props, costumes, lighting and sound effects as appropriate
- recordings to support learners’ development throughout the unit and for the recording of the final performance
- an internet connection and digital resources
- blogging programs and basic video-editing equipment to enable learners to keep digital reflective performers’ logs if appropriate.

Essential information for assessment decisions

Learning aim A
For distinction standard, learners must present a detailed and comprehensive account of the vocal and physical requirements of classical texts for performance. Their work will show a thorough understanding of period texts and playwrights. They will refer to vocal requirements such as structure, rhythm and physical demands that need to be considered when developing character(s) for a performance.

Learners will compare and contrast the key vocal and physical demands placed on a modern actor using a minimum of three examples of classical texts. These examples will be gathered through effective research of different historical periods. Their work will be presented to a high standard and will include a well-argued, evaluative commentary with effective use of subject-specific terminology, relevant presentation techniques and good grammar.

For merit standard, learners must present a detailed understanding of the vocal and physical demands of selected classical text. Their work will show an understanding of period texts and playwrights. Learners will analyse the key vocal and physical demands each text places on a modern actor using a minimum of three examples of classical texts. These examples will be gathered through effective research of different historical periods. Learners will analyse the key vocal and physical demands each text places on a modern actor. Their work will be detailed, presented to a high standard and will include accurate use of subject-specific terminology.

For pass standard, learners must present an understanding of the vocal and physical demands of classical text. Their work will show an understanding of the key features of classical texts, with reference to examples and the demands these have on acting and performance. Learners’ work may lack detail, but it will be presented to a satisfactory standard, with use of subject-specific terminology.

Learning aims B and C
For distinction standard, learners will work at a consistently high level throughout workshops, rehearsals and in the performance. They will demonstrate an excellent understanding of the requirements of classical texts and the vocal and physical demands.

They will effectively manage the development and application of their vocal and physical acting skills with the support of their peers and teachers, using feedback to evaluate progress and development.
Learners will demonstrate an excellent understanding of the development and rehearsal process as they work on a piece of classical text, which will last for at least 20 minutes in a performance. While doing this learners will effectively analyse and apply information in the text and from their knowledge of the social, cultural and historical context to effectively interpret and develop their character’s physical and vocal action in the play, including the character’s interactions with other characters.

Learners’ vocal and physical acting skills will be applied in a highly confident, accurate, assured and imaginative manner to effectively and creatively communicate their character(s) and interpret the classical text for the audience.

For merit standard, learners will work confidently during workshops, rehearsals and in the performance. They will demonstrate a considered understanding of the requirements of classical texts and the vocal and physical demands of them.

They will manage the development and application of the vocal and physical acting skills with the support of their peers and with feedback from teachers.

Learners will demonstrate a clear understanding of the development and rehearsal process as they work on a piece of classical text, which will last at least 20 minutes in a performance. While doing this learners will use and apply information in the text and from their knowledge of the social, cultural and historical context to interpret and develop their character’s physical and vocal action in the play, including the character’s interactions with other characters.

Learners’ vocal and physical acting skills will be applied in an effective, confident and assured manner to communicate their character(s) and interpret the classical text for the audience.

For pass standard, learners will work appropriately during workshops, rehearsals and in the performance. They will demonstrate understanding of the requirements of classical texts and the vocal and physical demands of them.

Learners will seek feedback to support the development of their acting skills, their understanding of the demands of the text and the application of their vocal and physical skills.

They will demonstrate understanding of the development and rehearsal process as they work on a piece of classical text, which will last at least 20 minutes in a performance.

Learners’ vocal and physical acting skills will be applied in a secure and appropriate manner to communicate their character(s) and interpret the classical text for the audience. Any errors or inaccuracies will not detract from the overall performance work.

Learning aim D

For distinction standard, learners must produce a performance log using the knowledge developed from learning aim A to present detailed, clear and accurate references to the vocal and physical demands of performing classical texts. Learners will show a very clear understanding of the selection and application of vocal and physical skills as appropriate to the text. This will support their significant development of acting skills and techniques, the development of character(s) and the accurate interpretation of the classical text for performance.

The performance log will include a clear evaluation of their strengths and a good understanding of areas for improvement. Audience reaction, feedback, personal development and target setting will be clearly documented and linked to professional practice.

Learners’ work will be communicated in a well-structured and meaningful manner. Subject-specific vocabulary and grammar will be used accurately.

For merit standard, learners must produce a performance log that demonstrates a clear understanding of the vocal and physical demands of performing classical texts. They must show they understand the selection and application of vocal and physical skills as appropriate to the text. This will support their overall development of acting skills and techniques, character(s) and interpretation of the classical text for performance.

The performance log will include analysis of their strengths and necessary areas for improvement. Learners will use teacher and peer feedback, together with audience reaction, to set targets and support personal development and professional practice. Learners will present information coherently and will make good use of grammar.
For pass standard, learners must produce a performance log that demonstrates an understanding of the vocal and physical demands of performing classical texts. They must also demonstrate the vocal and physical skills that are applied to develop character(s) and interpret the text for performance.

They will make reference to their strengths, areas for improvement, audience reaction, feedback and personal development. Learners’ performance log may lack detail in places and there may be inconsistent use of grammar.

Unit 19: Acting Styles

Level: 3
Unit type: Internal
Guided learning hours: 60

Unit in brief

Learners develop acting methods by exploring different acting styles. They will apply techniques to the development, rehearsal and performance of their practical work.

Unit introduction

Actors need to develop many skills to be able to work, rehearse and perform in a range of acting styles. Exploring the approaches and techniques used by different theatre practitioners and/or theatre companies will help you to develop and adapt your acting and performance skills. This will make you a more versatile actor, opening up possibilities for you to work in a broad range of styles.

This unit will introduce you to the basic differences of a range of styles of theatre and the approaches of theatre practitioners. You will take part in workshops that explore acting styles, techniques and practices used by different theatre practitioners in their work. This will enable you to create character, interpret lines and develop your vocal and physical skills while rehearsing and performing a text or devising original work. Throughout your learning and development you will reflect on your progress and practice, which will support your development as an actor.

The skills that you develop in this unit will increase your understanding of the craft of acting across a range of theatrical styles. This will be useful when auditioning for theatre, drama or acting courses in higher education or at a vocational drama or performing arts school. The knowledge, understanding and skills you develop will be an advantage if you want to progress to a career in drama or theatre, such as an actor, director or teacher.

Learning aims

In this unit you will:

A. Understand acting styles and techniques for performance
B. Develop acting styles, skills and techniques for performance
C. Apply acting styles, skills and techniques in rehearsal and performance
D. Review personal development and own performance.

Content

Learning aim A: Understand acting styles and techniques for performance

Study of acting styles, processes and practices using a minimum of three practitioners must be carried out, allowing for effective analysis, evaluation and understanding.

A1 Explore and understand the key features of acting styles for performance

- Acting styles, such as:
  - absurdism
  - comedy of manners
  - commedia dell’arte
  - epic
  - expressionism
  - farce
  - Greek
  - Improvisation
  - Melodrama
  - Naturalism
  - Physical
  - Realism
  - Symbolism
  - theatre of cruelty
  - verbatim.

- Performance style.
- Vocal and physical performance skills.
- Relationship with audience.

A2 Understanding processes and practices in theatre performance

- Processes and practice, such as research, observation, analysis/deconstruction of text, experimentation, improvisation, role play, developing imagination, developing character.

- Actors’ mental preparation.
- Actors’ vocal preparation.
- Actors’ movement/physical preparation.

- Practitioners, such as:
  - Antonin Artaud
  - Augusto Boal
  - Steven Berkoff
  - Bertolt Brecht
  - Peter Brook
  - Michael Chekhov
  - Jerzy Grotowski
  - Jacques Lecoq
  - Mike Leigh
  - Sanford Meisner
  - Vsevolod Meyerhold
  - Katie Mitchell
  - Konstantin Stanislavski
  - Max Stafford-Clark.
• Theatre companies, such as:
  o Complicite
  o Frantic Assembly
  o Gecko
  o Kneehigh Theatre
  o Shared Experience
  o Trestle.

Learning aim B: Develop acting styles, skills and techniques for performance

Learners must participate in classes and workshops in order to develop their knowledge, understanding, acting styles and technical skills.

B1 Acting styles, skills and techniques

• Interpret text.
• Interpret characters.
• Apply research.
• Apply theatre practitioners’ techniques.
• Apply key features of the acting style.
• Develop physical and vocal action of character(s).
• Vocal expression, such as:
  o tone
  o pitch
  o range
  o inflection
  o articulation and diction
  o dialect and accent (if appropriate)
  o pace
  o vocal interaction and response
  o control and clarity of voice and speech o vocally inhabit the character/role o meet the specific demands of the work in relation to vocal interpretation.
• Physical expression, such as:
  o posture
  o gait/movement
  o gesture
  o facial expression
  o dynamics and rhythm
  o pace
  o physical interaction and response
  o control and clarity of physicality
  o physically inhabit the character/role o handle props and costume
  o meet the demands of the work in relation to the physical creation of the character.
• Interpret and communicate the character’s journey.
• Interpret and communicate the relationships and interactions between characters.
• Develop emotional range.
Learning aim C: Apply acting styles, skills and techniques in rehearsal and performance

C1  Apply acting styles, skills and techniques in rehearsals

- Rehearsal discipline, such as:
  - time management
  - physical
  - vocal and mental preparation for productive work
  - concentration and focus
  - trust
  - respect for others
  - respect for the work
  - co-operation
  - work collaboratively
  - communication
  - commitment
  - take direction and respond positively to feedback.

- Exploration and understanding of the text, such as:
  - social
  - cultural
  - historical and/or political context
  - themes and issues
  - subject matter
  - character motivation
  - original staging conditions
  - original costumes and types of props
  - stage directions and the practical demands of the texts
  - conventions of movement
  - gesture and postural techniques required by the text
  - writing and language style, vocal demands required by the style of the text.

- Interacting as a member of the ensemble company.

- Participating in group discussion.

- Application of research.

- Application of rehearsal techniques.

- Response to and use of rehearsal exercises.

- Experimenting creatively in the work exploring ideas.

- Development of characterisation/role.

- Development of physical and vocal skills.

- Refining ideas.

- Use of costume and props (if appropriate).

C2  Apply acting styles, skills and techniques to a performance

- Communication of the playwright’s/director’s intentions to the audience.

- Communication of the plot line.

- Interpretation of character.

- Communication of the character’s journey.

- Coherence and consistency of performance.
• Performance skills, including the communication of meaning through:
  o vocal expression: tone, pitch, range, inflection, projection, articulation and diction, dialect and accent (if appropriate), pace, vocal interaction and response, control and clarity of voice and speech, meeting the specific demands of the text in relation to vocal interpretation
  o physical expression: posture, gait/movement, gesture, facial expression, dynamics, rhythm, pace, physical interaction and response, control and clarity of physicality, meeting the specific demands of the text in relation to the physical interpretation.
• Emotional range.
• Focus and commitment of the performance.
• Performance energy.
• Interaction and response to other performers.
• Relationship with the audience.

Learning aim D: Review personal development and own performance

Learners must track their progress during this unit, reflecting on and evaluating the application and development of their acting styles, skills and techniques during workshops, rehearsal and final performance, presenting the information in a performance log that includes a combination of recorded evidence and supporting annotations.

D1 Review and evaluate development of acting styles and theatrical techniques
• Acting styles.
• Acting skills and techniques.
• Development skills.
• Feedback, including audience response.
• Strengths.
• Target setting.
• Areas for development.

D2 Review and evaluate the application of acting styles and theatrical techniques
• Acting styles.
• Acting skills and techniques.
• Performance skills.
• Feedback, including audience response.

Essential information for assignments

The recommended structure of assessment is shown in the unit summary along with suitable forms of evidence. Section 6 gives information on setting assignments and there is further information on our website.

There is a maximum number of three summative assignments for this unit. The relationship of the learning aims and criteria is:

Learning aim: A (A.P1, A.M1, A.D1)
Learning aims: B and C (B.P2, C.P3, C.P4, B.M2, C.M3, BC.D2)
Further information for teachers and assessors

Resource requirements

For this unit, learners must have access to:

- a studio space large enough to allow learners to undertake a range of practical acting exercises and activities, e.g. drama studio, theatre or large classroom
- a performance space appropriate to the chosen purpose of the assignment to be undertaken for learning aims A, B and C, can be a drama studio, theatre or large classroom
- a range of published or professionally commissioned texts
- props, costume, lighting and sound effects as appropriate
- recordings to support learners’ development throughout the unit and for recording of final performance
- an internet connection and digital resource
- blogging programs and basic video-editing equipment to enable learners to keep digital reflective performers’ logs if appropriate.

Essential information for assessment decisions

Learning aim A

For distinction standard, learners must present a detailed and comprehensive account of the key features of different acting styles. They will give examples of the specific vocal and physical performance requirements of selected acting styles, and will compare, contrast and evaluate their features.

Learners’ work will be supported by a minimum of three detailed examples of practitioners’ work, one for each acting style investigated. These will be gathered through effective exploratory research and will include specific characteristics of the work, including productions.

There will be a thorough and detailed evaluation of the demands and requirements that each acting style and practitioner places on a modern actor.

Learners’ work will be presented to a high standard and will include a well-argued, evaluative commentary with effective use of subject-specific terminology, relevant presentation techniques, for example photographic evidence, practical demonstrations, and good use of grammar.

For merit standard, learners must present a detailed analysis of the key features of acting styles, supported with examples of the performance requirements of each. Learners’ work will include a minimum of three examples of practitioners’ work, one for each acting style investigated, gathered through effective exploratory research. Learners will show a clear understanding of the demands and requirements that each acting style and practitioner places on a modern actor. Their work will be detailed, using relevant presentation techniques, for example photographic evidence and practical demonstrations, as well as accurate subject-specific terminology.

For pass standard, learners must present the key features of a minimum of two acting styles and the key features of two practitioners’ work, gathered through exploratory research.

Learners’ work will show an understanding of the demands and requirements each acting style and practitioner places on a modern actor. Their work may lack detail, but it will be presented to a satisfactory standard, with use of subject-specific terminology.

Learning aims B and C

For distinction standard, learners will work at a consistently high level throughout workshops, rehearsals and during the performance. They will demonstrate an excellent understanding of the performance requirements of the acting style they are working in and the influence of appropriate practitioners.

Learners will effectively manage the development of their vocal and physical acting skills and the application of acting styles and techniques. They will use feedback from peers and teachers to evaluate their progress and development.
Learners will demonstrate understanding of the rehearsal process as they work on developing their performance. They will apply their acting skills in a highly confident, accurate, assured and imaginative manner to effectively and creatively communicate their character(s) and interpret the text for the target audience.

For merit standard, learners will work confidently during workshops, rehearsals and the performance. They will demonstrate a considered understanding of the performance requirements of the acting style they are working in and the influence of practitioners’ techniques. They will manage the development of their vocal and physical acting skills and the application of acting style and techniques with the support of feedback from peers and teachers.

Learners will demonstrate a clear understanding of the rehearsal process as they work on developing their performance. They will apply their acting skills in an effective, confident and assured manner to communicate their character(s) and interpret the text for the target audience.

For pass standard, learners will work appropriately during workshops, rehearsals and the performance. They will demonstrate understanding of the requirements of the acting style they are working in and the practitioners’ influences on their work.

Learners will seek feedback to support the development and application of their acting styles and techniques for performance. They will demonstrate understanding of the rehearsal process as they develop and interpret text for a performance. They will apply their acting skills in a secure and appropriate manner to communicate their character(s) and interpret the text for their audience. Any errors or inaccuracies will not detract from the overall performance work.

Learning aim D

For distinction standard, learners must produce a performance log using the knowledge developed from learning aim A to present detailed, clear and accurate references to the demands of performing a text in a particular style.

Learners will show a very clear understanding of the selection and application of practitioners’ techniques as appropriate to the chosen acting style and text. This understanding will support the significant development of acting skills and techniques, the development of character(s) and the accurate interpretation of the text for performance.

The performance log will include clear evaluation of their strengths and good understanding of areas for improvement. Audience reaction, feedback, personal development and target setting will be clearly documented and linked to professional practice.

Learners will communicate their work in a well-structured and meaningful manner, using subject-specific vocabulary and grammar accurately.

For merit standard, learners must produce a performance log demonstrating a clear understanding of the demands of performing a text in a particular style.

Learners will show a clear understanding of the selection and application of practitioners’ techniques as appropriate to the chosen acting style and text. This understanding will support the development of acting skills and techniques, the development of character(s) and the interpretation of the text for performance.

The performance log will include a clear analysis of their strengths and areas for improvement. Learners will use teacher and peer feedback, and audience reaction to set targets and support personal development and professional practice. They will present information coherently and with good use of grammar.

For pass standard, learners must produce a performance log demonstrating understanding of the demands of performing a text in a particular style.

Learners will show understanding of the acting styles, skills and techniques that have been applied to develop character(s) and interpret a text for performance. They will make reference to strengths and areas for improvement, but the performance log may lack detail and there will be inconsistent use of grammar.

Unit 20: Developing the Voice for Performance

Level: 3
Unit type: Internal
Guided learning hours: 60

Unit in brief

Learners develop their vocal techniques and improve their vocal skills in order to realise the power of the spoken word in performance.

Unit introduction

Your voice is one of the principal tools you will use as a performer to communicate effectively to an audience. Voice and speech production is a physical action involving the use of particular muscles. If these muscles are exercised regularly, the efficiency and clarity of the voice is improved and the sound is defined and energised. This will allow you to respond effectively to the vocal demands of performing in theatre, television and film.

In this unit, you will develop an understanding of the key principles of voice production and the skills and techniques that will enable you to apply your voice to a performance. Through a range of exercises focused on aligning and releasing tension in the body, improving your breathing and sound production, you will develop an understanding of how to expand the range, power and texture of your voice. You will also develop skills that will help you connect with the words and structure of text, enabling you to speak with life and meaning during a performance. Throughout your learning and development you will be taught how to reflect on your progress and practice which will support your development as an effective actor and performer.

The skills you develop in this unit will increase your understanding of the craft of acting, improving your technical voice and speech ability as well as your connection with the words you speak. Improving your vocal delivery will be useful when auditioning for theatre, drama or acting courses in higher education or at a vocational drama or performing arts school. The knowledge, understanding and skills you develop will be of great advantage if you wish to progress to a career in drama or theatre such as an actor, director or teacher.

Learning aims

In this unit you will:
  A Explore the principles of voice production
  B Develop vocal techniques for a performance
  C Apply vocal techniques to a performance
  D Review personal development and own performance.

Learning aim A: Explore the principles of voice production

A1 Investigate the principles of voice production

- The body:
  - areas of the body relevant to voice production: spine, head, neck, shoulders, sternum, rib cage, abdominal muscles, pelvic area, knees, ankles, facial muscles – cheeks, forehead and jaw
  - centring
  - weight placement
  - posture, e.g. alignment of head, neck, spine and pelvic area
  - tension, e.g. knees, back, shoulders, sternum, stomach, jaw.

- The breath:
  - respiration process
  - diaphragm and the role of the abdominal support muscles to develop breath capacity
  - lungs
  - rib cage
  - breath placement
  - breath capacity
  - effect of tension on breath capacity.

- Sound:
  - larynx
  - vocal folds
  - main areas that support vocal resonance: head, nose, face/mouth, throat/pharynx, chest
  - effect of placing the sound: back of the mouth, soft palate, hard palate, as far forward in the mouth as possible.

- Articulation:
  - jaw
  - lips
  - mouth
  - soft palate
  - hard palate
  - tongue
  - pharynx/throat.

- The effect on the voice and the clarity of sound produced:
  - when the facial muscles are released
  - when the areas of articulation are warmed up and engaged.

Learning aim B: Develop vocal techniques for a performance

Learners must participate in technique classes and workshops in order to develop their knowledge, understanding and technical skills.

B1 Developing vocal exercises

- Centring the body.
- Weight placement.
- Alignment of body, particularly the head, neck, spine and pelvic area.
- Locating and releasing tension, particularly tension in the knees, back, shoulders and the jaw.
- Opening the rib cage.
- Correct placement of the breath.
- Developing the breath support muscles
- Building and improving breath capacity.
• Breathing on support with vowel sounds.
• The forward placement of sound in the mouth.
• Opening up the vocal resonators in the head, nose, face, throat/pharynx and chest.
• Developing the range of the voice.
• Releasing the facial muscles – cheeks, forehead, eyebrows and jaw.
• Freeing and engaging the areas of articulation – tongue, mouth, lips, throat.
• Increasing the control and muscularity of the lips and the tongue.
• Improving the sound production of vowels.
• Improving the formation of consonant sounds.

B2 Developing vocal warm-up

• Alignment.
• Tension release of body:
  o spine
  o neck
  o shoulders
  o knees
  o sternum/chest
  o stomach/abdomen.
• Opening the rib cage.
• Breathing on support.
• Opening up vocal resonators:
  o head
  o nose
  o face
  o pharynx/throat
  o chest.
• Forward placement of sound.
• Tension release of facial muscles:
  o forehead/eyebrows
  o cheeks
  o jaw
  o tongue.
• Muscularity of the lips and tongue.
• Production of a range of vowel sounds while breathing on support.
• Formation of consonant sounds.

B3 Vocal techniques, selected texts and performance spaces

• Awareness of language; the sound, shape and meaning of words with reference to selected text, such as:
  o observation and understanding of words
  o imagining words
  o words connected to people, e.g. names and pronouns
  o nouns, e.g. places, animals and objects o verbs, adjectives and adverbs o breathing the text
  o intoning a text on support
  o structure and journey of the speech o journey of the line
  o antitheses
  o asking questions
  o mouthing the text
  o vowel work on the text
o physicalising the text o pace and pause
o rhythm
o stress and meaning.

- Texts, such as:
  o poetry
  o playscripts
  o speeches
  o classic novels
  o modern fiction
  o other literature.

- Performance spaces and vocal techniques:
  o vocal considerations when performing in different locations: outdoor, indoor, studio theatre, proscenium arch theatre, performing for camera, acoustics of the performance space, set within the performance space.

Learning aim C: Apply vocal techniques to a performance

C1 Apply vocal techniques in rehearsal

- Rehearsal discipline, such as:
  o time management
  o physical o vocal and mental preparation for productive work o concentration and focus o commitment
  o responding positively to feedback.

- Rehearsal work, such as:
  o application of vocal exercises
  o application of vocal techniques o response to vocal exercises and techniques o developing awareness of the language o exploring the content of the text o experimenting creatively with the sound o shape and meaning of the words
  o refining ideas and techniques.

C2 Apply vocal techniques in performance

- Vocal techniques:
  o good physical habits, e.g. a well-aligned posture without unnecessary physical tension
  o low breath placement
  o breath control – supported breath production
  o breath capacity
  o forwardly placed sound
  o balanced resonance
  o articulation
  o projection
  o pace
  o expression
  o accent
  o dialect
  o engagement and connection with text o vocal commitment
  o vocal energy.
Learning aim D: Review personal development and own performance

Learners must track their progress during this unit, reflecting and evaluating on the application and development of vocal techniques during workshops, rehearsal and final performance, presenting the information in a performance log that includes a combination of recorded evidence and supporting annotations.

D1 Review and evaluate development of vocal techniques
- Technical skills.
- Development skills.
- Strengths.
- Feedback.
- Target setting.
- Areas for improvement.

D2 Review and evaluate application of vocal techniques
- Technical skills.
- Performance skills.
- Strengths.
- Feedback.
- Target setting.
- Areas for improvement.

Resource requirements

For this unit, learners must have access to:

- a studio space large enough to allow learners to undertake a range of practical vocal exercises and activities, e.g. drama studio, theatre or large classroom
- a performance space appropriate to the chosen purpose, e.g. drama studio, theatre or large classroom
- a range of texts in both verse and prose
- recording equipment to support learners’ development throughout the unit and recording of final performance
- an internet connection and digital resources
- blogging programs and basic video-editing equipment to enable learners to keep reflective digital performers’ logs, if appropriate.

Essential information for assessment decisions

Learning aim A

For distinction standard, learners must present a detailed and comprehensive account of the key principles of voice production and the areas that need to be considered when developing vocal technique. There will be a thorough understanding of how the voice works, including the role of the body and breath in voice production, how sound is produced, the effect of the resonators, organs of speech and the process of articulation. The work will be presented to a high standard and will include a well-argued, evaluative commentary with effective use of subject-specific terminology, relevant presentation techniques, for example practical demonstrations, and good use of grammar.

For merit standard, learners must present a detailed analysis of the key principles of voice production and the areas to be considered when developing vocal technique. There will be an understanding of how the voice works, including the role of the body and breath in voice production, how sound is produced, the effect of the resonators, organs of speech and the process of articulation. The work will be detailed, using relevant presentation techniques, for example practical demonstrations and accurate use of subject-specific terminology.

For pass standard, learners must present an understanding of the key principles of voice production and the areas that need to be considered when developing vocal techniques. Information on how the voice works, including the role of the body and breath in voice production, how sound is produced, the effect of the resonators, organs of speech and the process of articulation, will be included in the work. The work may lack detail, but will be presented to a satisfactory standard with use of subject specific terminology.

Learning aims B and C

For distinction standard, learners will participate in vocal exercises in a consistently effective manner, demonstrating an excellent understanding of the benefits of regular practice. The result of applying a range of exercises to support the development of personal technique will be evident in the progress made in development. Learners will demonstrate an excellent understanding of the effects of applying vocal exercises and techniques to explore, investigate and specifically interpret two pieces of text, one in verse and one in prose. They will make successful connections to the words and structure of the texts they are rehearsing and performing.

Learners will demonstrate highly effective vocal warm-ups appropriate to their vocal needs, texts and performance space. Their vocal performance will be confident and assured and learners will successfully communicate the meaning of the words in their chosen texts effectively and imaginatively to an audience.
For merit standard, learners will participate in vocal exercises in an effective manner. They will demonstrate an understanding of the benefits of regular practice and provide clear evidence of their vocal development. Learners will effectively apply vocal exercises and techniques to explore, investigate and interpret two pieces of text, one in verse and one in prose. They will make connections to the words and structure of the texts they are rehearsing and performing. Learners will demonstrate effective vocal warm-ups with consideration of their texts and performance space. The vocal performance will be confident and assured. Learners will successfully communicate the specific meaning of the words in their chosen texts to an audience.

For pass standard, learners will participate appropriately in vocal exercises. They will demonstrate an understanding of the benefits of regular practice to support their vocal development. Learners will demonstrate an understanding of the effects of applying vocal exercises and techniques to explore and interpret two pieces of text, one in verse and one in prose. They will make connections to the words and structure of the texts they are rehearsing and performing in addition to appropriate vocal warm-up. The vocal performance will be secure with evidence of attempts to communicate the specific meaning of the words in their chosen texts to an audience. Any errors or inaccuracies will not detract from the overall performance work.

Learning aim D

For distinction standard, learners must produce a performance log using knowledge developed from learning aim A to present a clear, detailed and accurate evaluation of the application of vocal exercises to text, technical vocal exercises and warm-ups. There will be an evaluation of the development of vocal skills, techniques and strengths along with a clear understanding of areas for improvement. Audience reaction, feedback, personal vocal development and target setting will be well documented and linked to professional practice. Work will be communicated in a well-structured and meaningful manner. Subject-specific vocabulary and grammar will be used accurately.

For merit standard, learners must produce a performance log demonstrating a clear understanding of technical vocal exercises, warm-up and the application of vocal exercises to text. Work will include analysis of the development and application of vocal skills and techniques with reference to their own strengths and areas for improvement. Feedback and audience reaction will be used to set targets and support personal vocal development. Target setting will be clear and used to develop vocal skills. Learners will present information coherently and with good use of grammar.

For pass standard, learners must produce a performance log demonstrating understanding of technical vocal exercises, warm-up and the application of vocal exercises to text. There will be reference to areas of vocal development, strengths and areas for improvement. Reference to the application of vocal techniques in performance will be documented. The performance log may lack detail and there may be an inconsistent use of grammar.

Unit 21: Improvisation

Level: 3
Unit type: Internal
Guided learning hours: 60

Unit in brief

Learners develop skills and techniques in improvisation, applying them to performance material.

Unit introduction

Improvisation is an essential skill for a performer. It allows you to develop and apply specialist skills to spontaneous and planned performance work. It is used to explore and develop existing repertoire and to create new performance material. Improvising is a skill needed for the devising process.

In this unit, you will develop improvisation skills and techniques using a range of stimulus, for example physical, aural, text and motif. You will work both as an individual and in collaboration with other performers, to use skills and techniques in classes and rehearsal to develop material, explore character, extend and interpret the creative intentions of others. Throughout your learning and development you will be taught how to reflect on your practice in order to support your development as an effective performer.

The skills and techniques you develop in this unit will make you a more versatile performer, improving your progression opportunities. For example, you may be asked to improvise as part of an audition process for further study, rehearsal and performance.

Learning aims

In this unit you will:

A Understand the key features of improvisation for performance
B Develop skills and techniques in improvisation for performance
C Apply skills and techniques in improvisation to a performance
D Review personal development and own performance.

Learning aim A: Understand the key features of improvisation for performance

A1 Exploration of improvisation practices in dance and drama performance

Study of improvisation practices in dance and drama performance, with reference to a minimum of three examples, must be carried out, allowing for effective analysis, evaluation and understanding.

- Responding to stimulus.
- Spontaneity.
- Imagination.
- Offering leads.
- Interaction.
- Looking for openings.
- Action and reaction.
- Thinking ahead.
- Response.
- Taking risks.

Dance:
- Contact improvisation
- Choreographic development using improvisation (motif development, selection and refinement)
- Mixing choreography and improvisation
- Pure improvisation
- Maintaining technique.

Drama:
- Developing characters and relationships
- Off-text improvisation
- Narrative skills
- Storytelling
- Using text.

- Types of performance, such as theatre/acting, dance, variety, singing, comedy.
- Purpose, such as rehearsal, live performance, recorded performance.

Learning aim B: Develop skills and techniques in improvisation for performance

Learners must participate in technique classes and workshops in order to develop their knowledge, understanding and technical skills.

B1 Skills development exercises

- Lifting.
- Catching.
- Trust.
- Observation.
- Concentration.
- Spontaneous response.
- Balance.
- Space.
- Time.
B2 Explore starting points or stimulus
- Visual images.
- Moving images.
- Words.
- Character.
- Artefacts.
- Sound and music.
- Sound effects.
- Live sounds.
- Poems.
- Stories.
- Texts.
- Play.
- Scenario.
- Props.
- Costume.

B3 Developing skills and techniques in response to starting points/stimulus
- Generating ideas in response to starting points or stimulus.
- Developing performance, e.g. characters, stylistic features.
- Responding to ideas of others.
- Co-operation and relation to others.
- Giving and taking ideas.
- Communicating, such as emotions, feelings, reactions, ideas, intentions, mood.
- Commitment.
- Focus.
- Space.
- Dynamics.
- Level.
- Direction.
- Flow.
- Body language.
- Control.
- Performance, e.g. dance, drama.
- Solo, in pairs and/or groups.

Learning aim C: Apply skills and techniques in improvisation to a performance

C1 Apply skills and techniques through rehearsal to create original performance work
- Response to starting point or stimulus.
- Type of performance, e.g. dance, drama.
- Development of creative ideas.
- Meaning.
- Selection and/or rejection of ideas and material.
- Practising and perfecting skills, techniques and material.
- Characters.
- Settings.
- Movement.
- Voice.
- Space.
- Dynamics.
- Support.
• Use of external elements, e.g. music, costume, mask, props.
• Spontaneity.
• Target audience.
• Feedback from peers.
• Refining performance in response to feedback.

C2 Apply skills and techniques to performance work
• Response to starting point or stimulus.
• Style and structure.
• Specialist technical skills.
• Specialist performance skills, e.g. dance or drama.
• Communication.
• Intention.
• Expression.
• Use of performance space.
• Relation to audience, e.g. appropriateness, communication, purpose.

Learning aim D: Review personal development and own performance

D1 Review and evaluate development and application of improvisation skills and techniques for a performance
Learners must track their progress during this unit, reflecting and evaluating on the application and development of specialist skills and techniques during workshops, rehearsal and final performance, presenting the information in a performance log that includes a combination of recorded evidence and supporting annotations.
• Communication of creative intentions.
• Technical skills.
• Development skills.
• Performance skills, e.g. dance or drama.
• Development and application of skills and techniques with reference to purpose and target audience.
• Feedback.
• Strengths.
• Target setting.
• Areas for improvement.

Essential information for assignments

The recommended structure of assessment is shown in the unit summary along with suitable forms of evidence. Section 6 gives information on setting assignments and there is further information on our website.

There is a maximum number of three summative assignments for this unit. The relationship of the learning aims and criteria is:

Learning aim: A (A.P1, A.M1, A.D1)
Learning aims: B and C (B.P2, B.P3, C.P4, C.P5, B.M2, C.M3, BC.D2)
Learning aim: D (D.P6, D.M4, D.D3)
Further information for teachers and assessors

Resource requirements

For this unit, learners must have access to:
- a studio space large enough to allow learners to undertake practical improvisation activities, e.g. rehearsal room, studio or large classroom
- a performance space appropriate to the chosen purpose of the assignment to be undertaken for learning aims B and C, could be a studio, theatre or large classroom
- a range of stimulus
- recording and playback facilities to support learners’ development throughout the unit and for recording of final performance
- an internet connection and digital resources
- blogging programs and basic video-editing equipment to enable learners to keep digital performers’ logs, if appropriate.

Essential information for assessment decisions

Learning aim A

For distinction standard, learners must present a detailed and comprehensive account of improvisation for performance. They will present a thorough understanding of the application of skills and techniques, performance types and purpose in dance and drama in their work. Examples of selected performances, such as variety and theatre (a minimum of three), will be gathered through effective exploratory research and will be used to compare and contrast key features such as specialist performance and creative skills, use of props and spontaneity. The work will be presented to a high standard and will include a well-argued, evaluative commentary with effective use of subject-specific terminology, relevant presentation techniques, for example practical demonstrations and good use of grammar.

For merit standard, learners must present a detailed understanding of improvisation for performance, with reference to the application of skills and techniques, performance types and purpose in dance and drama. Examples of selected performances, such as variety and theatre (a minimum of three), will be gathered through effective exploratory research and will be used to analyse key features such as use of specialist performance skills, use of props and spontaneity. The work will be detailed, using relevant presentation techniques, for example photographic evidence and practical demonstrations and accurate use of subject-specific terminology.

For pass standard, learners must present an understanding of improvisation for performance in dance and drama. Information on the application of skills and techniques, key features, performance types and purpose will be included in the work, with use of examples gathered through exploratory research. The work may lack detail, but will be presented to a satisfactory standard with use of subject-specific terminology.

Learning aims B and C

For distinction standard, learners must demonstrate a creative and innovative response to the selection and development of skills and techniques, with reference to the starting point/stimulus, needs of the target audience, purpose and meaning. They will work at a consistently high level during workshops, developing specialist skills, for example trust, observation and spontaneous response, applying these with relevance to the development and performance of their final piece. Creative intentions and ideas will be developed during rehearsals where learners will apply existing skills such as dance and drama to an improvised performance. Learners will self-manage their development and application of skills and techniques using the support of peers and teachers, actively seeking feedback and self-evaluating their performance and development. The final improvised performance will be presented with fluency and attention to detail. Skills and techniques will be applied in an assured manner, to imaginatively communicate the creative intentions of the piece to the target audience.
For merit standard, learners must demonstrate a considered approach to the selection and development of skills and techniques with reference to the starting point/stimulus, needs of the target audience, purpose and meaning. Learners will develop specialist skills, for example trust, observation and spontaneous response during workshops, applying these with performance techniques such as dance or drama in rehearsals to develop their piece. During the creative process learners will contribute to the development of the work by inputting ideas and recognising opportunities for improvement. The improvised performance will be presented with creativity and attention to detail. Performance skills and techniques, such as dance or drama, will be applied in a secure manner to communicate the creative intentions to the target audience.

For pass standard, learners must demonstrate the ability to select and develop skills and techniques with reference to the starting point/stimulus, needs of the target audience, purpose and meaning. Learners will develop skills during workshops, applying these to existing specialist performance techniques such as dance or drama in rehearsal and the final performance. Skills and techniques will be applied during the improvised performance in a secure and appropriate manner. Any errors or inaccuracies will not detract from the overall performance to the target audience.

Learning aim D

For distinction standard, learners must produce a performance log with clear and accurate reference to the methods used for selection and development of material for an improvised performance in dance or drama, using the knowledge and understanding developed from learning aim A. Evaluation of their strengths, and an understanding of improvements that need to be made, will be clearly documented as well as audience reaction, personal development and target setting linked to professional practice. Work will be communicated in a well-structured and meaningful manner. Learners will use subject-specific terminology, relevant presentation techniques and good use of grammar.

For merit standard, learners must produce a performance log demonstrating understanding of the skills and techniques required to develop an improvised performance in dance or drama. Analysis of their strengths, areas for improvement and audience reaction will have been used to set targets and support personal development and professional practice. Learners will present information coherently and with good use of grammar.

For pass standard, learners must produce a performance log demonstrating development and application of performance skills and techniques relevant to an improvised performance. Reference to strengths, areas for improvement, audience reaction and personal development will have been made to inform contents. The work may lack detail and there will be an inconsistent use of grammar.

Unit 22: Movement in Performance

Level: 3
Unit type: Internal
Guided learning hours: 60

Unit in brief

Learners develop the movement skills that can be used in a performance through practical application.

Unit introduction

Movement is a fundamental part of everyday life. As a performer, you will need to be multi-skilled in relation to movement and physicality. Whether you perform on stage or screen, you will need to consider the smallest facial expression to the most physically demanding movement. Imagine watching your favourite television programme or West End show and they have minimal movement. Would they still have the same impact? This unit covers the use and place of movement in relation to the character or style of choreography for both dancers and actors. Through research, exploration and performance, this unit will help you to gain valuable insight into how movement can be used in diverse ways.

You will look at the four components of movement in performance in their most uncomplicated form, taking into account Rudolf Laban’s theories of movement. Having gained an understanding of how to use the body as an expressive instrument, you will be able to apply your knowledge of movement in performance. Movement is used very differently by a performer in classical ballet to how it is used by an actor in a play. It is more likely that your performing arts specialism will require a more subtle approach to the use of movement in performance than either of the above. This unit will require you to focus on these differences.

Physicality will support a full range of possible styles and themes, whether in spoken dialogue, devised pieces of work or more complex dance pieces. The unit links with choreographic, technical and performance units and the emphasis is on both process and performance, on the rudiments of movement as well as putting these skills into practice in a performance context. You will become competent and confident in using your body as a vehicle for expression in front of an audience. The skills you will learn in this unit will help prepare you for employment or higher education courses.

Learning aims

In this unit you will:

A Understand the four components of movement in performance
B Develop movement skills for performance
C Apply movement skills to a performance
D Review personal development and own performance.

Content

Learning aim A: Understand the four components of movement in performance

A1 The four main components of movement

Study of the four components of movement with reference to dance and acting must be carried out allowing for effective analysis, evaluation and understanding.

RADS: relationships, actions, dynamics, space

- Relationships:
  - mirror, unison, canon
  - back-to-back, one behind the other, side-by-side, waiting
  - interaction, e.g. with a partner or in a group, trust work, weight bearing, lifting, carrying
  - meet and part, lead and follow, complement, passing, contrast
  - question and answer, action and reaction.

- Actions:
  - travel – walking, running, sliding, stepping, rolling, with a partner, in a group, as a transition, stylistic differences, technical, pedestrian
  - turns – rolling, spinning, twisting, pivoting, whole body turns
  - elevation – hop, leap, jump, preparation, take-off, landing, two feet to one, two feet to two assemble, one foot to one
  - gesture:
    - functional, e.g. beckon, nod, salute
    - non-functional, e.g. abstract
    - conversational, e.g. gesticulate
    - social, e.g. hug
    - emotional, e.g. wring hands
  - stillness and falling: pause, shape, tableaux, use of centre to aid balance, on and off balance, suspension, fall and recovery.

- Dynamics:
  - time – sudden, sustained
  - weight – firm, light
  - space – direct, flexible
  - flow – bound, free
  - effort – punch, slash, wring, press, float, glide, dab, flick.

- Space:
  - personal and general space, body shape, group shape
  - pathways – on the floor and in the air
  - direction, including stage directions
  - dimensions – height, width, depth
  - levels – low, middle, high
  - spatial boundaries in relation to audience
  - peripheral vision
  - lines in space – curved, straight, circular, free-form, shape, group formation
  - planes – vertical, horizontal, sagittal.

Learning aim B: Develop movement skills for performance

B1 Exploration of stimulus that can be used to develop a movement phrase

- Visual, e.g. paintings, films, photographs, sculpture, colours, shapes, animation, digital images.
- Aural, e.g. music; sound effects (live/recorded).
- Text-based, e.g. script, poetry, literature, news items, dance notation.
- Other, e.g. abstract, thematic, narrative.
B2 Development of movement skills

Learners must participate in classes and workshops in order to develop their knowledge, understanding and movement skills.

- Movement phrases, such as:
  - dance in any style, e.g. a contemporary travelling phrase
  - physical theatre or physical comedy, e.g. slapstick
  - a section of dialogue incorporating movement
  - mime
  - clowning, mask work, commedia dell’arte
  - improvisation or contact improvisation
  - parkour
  - part of a notated score such as Labanotation.

- Physical skills, such as:
  - posture, balance, coordination, flexibility
  - strength, stamina
  - alignment and placement of legs/base
  - use of legs/supporting base, position and carriage of the arms, awareness and use of centre
  - movement memory
  - whole-body participation
  - isolation.

- Interpretative skills, such as:
  - projection
  - focus
  - timing
  - dynamics
  - facial expression
  - phrasing
  - emphasis
  - musicality.

Learning aim C: Apply movement skills to a performance

C1 Application of movement skills through rehearsal

- Awareness of safe practice.
- Appropriate clothing.
- Understanding of how to warm up and cool down.
- Understanding of the structure of a rehearsal and how this is used in preparation for a performance.
- Commitment to the task or activity.
- Responding to peer and teacher instructions/corrections.
- Receiving and giving positive and constructive feedback.
- Working independently.
- Selection and rejection of ideas.
- Working cooperatively with others.
- Contributing and accepting ideas.
- Repeating and revisiting material.
- Reviewing and adjusting material.
- Application of movement skills.
C2 Application of movement skills through performance

- Projection and communication of ideas through movement.
- Response to stimulus.
- Practical understanding of the four movement components (RADS).
- Application of physical skills.
- Application of interpretative skills.
- Response to other performers.

Learning aim D: Review personal development and own performance

D1 Review and evaluate development and application of movement skills

Learners must track their progress during this unit, reflecting and evaluating on the application and development of movement skills during workshops, rehearsal and final performance, presenting the information in a performance log that includes a combination of recorded evidence and supporting annotations.

- Response to stimulus.
- Reference to the four movement components (RADS).
- Physical skills.
- Interpretative skills.
- Strengths.
- Areas for improvement.
- Target setting.
- Peer/tutor feedback.
- Audience reaction.

Further information for teachers and assessors

Resource requirements

For this unit, learners must have access to:

- a practical space, preferably with sprung floor and mirrors
- sound equipment
- camera and video playback facilities
- an internet connection and digital resources
- blogging programs and basic video editing equipment to enable learners to keep digital performers’ logs, if appropriate.

Essential information for assessment decisions

Learning aim A

For distinction standard, learners must present a detailed and comprehensive account of the four components of movement (RADS): relationships, actions, dynamics and space, with excellent use of images, appropriate demonstrations, visual and written evidence to support this.

A thorough understanding of the interrelation of RADS, gained through effective participation in tasks and focused research, will be included in the work, for example learners will compare and contrast the dynamic and spatial content of two different movement phrases using specific and relevant examples. The work will be presented to a high standard and include awell-argued, evaluative commentary with effective use of subject-specific terminology, and good use of spelling and grammar.

For merit standard, learners must present and analyse the four components of movement (RADS): relationships, actions, dynamics and space, with effective use of images, appropriate demonstrations, visual and written evidence to support this.

A broad understanding of the interrelation of RADS, gained through participation in tasks and research, will be included in the work, for example learners will be able to discuss the dynamic and spatial content of two different movement phrases using appropriate examples. The work will be detailed, presented to a high standard and include accurate use of subject-specific terminology.

For pass standard, learners must present information on the four components of movement (RADS): relationships, actions, dynamics and space, with use of images, demonstrations, visual and written evidence to support this. The four components may not be covered in detail; however there will be a clear indication that all four have been addressed. Reference to research as well as personal discovery through practical exploration will be evident. Work will be presented to a satisfactory standard with use of subject-specific terminology.

Learning aims B and C

For distinction standard, learners will demonstrate in their performance competent, confident and skilled application of the four components of movement, communicating ideas and meaning with clarity. An innovative response to exploration of stimulus will be achieved through a professional and organised approach to practical workshops, rehearsal, feedback and direction. High levels of self-discipline, focus and engagement will be evident throughout, resulting in significant contribution.

Learners will work experimentally, exploring the full potential of stimulus and devising with originality. They will memorise movement phrases effectively and perform them with both accuracy and confidence. Response to other performers will show initiative and professionalism. Subtle details and complex actions, dynamics, space and relationships will be mastered and reproduced to a high standard during the performance.
For merit standard, learners will demonstrate in their performance accurate and competent application of the four components of movement, communicating ideas and meaning appropriately. Learners will explore and adequately respond to stimulus through effective participation in practical workshops and rehearsal. During rehearsal, learners will contribute ideas and will recognise opportunities for improvement, as well as respond positively to instruction and other performers effectively.

The use of complex actions, dynamics, space and relationships will be seen in performance, although this may not be to a consistently high standard.

For pass standard, learners will demonstrate in their performance application of the four components of movement. Learners will respond and explore stimulus through practical exploration, developing skills during workshops and rehearsal.

Learners will communicate ideas and meaning and respond positively to other performers. Application of the four main components of movement may lack mastery of more complex actions. Learners will reproduce general dynamic qualities, spatial dimensions and demonstrate some understanding of relationships.

Learning aim D

For distinction standard, learners must produce a performance log detailing clear and accurate reference to the four components, development and application of skills using knowledge and understanding developed from learning aim A. The performance log will include detailed reasoning regarding their strengths, and analysis of improvements that need to be made. Personal development and target setting will be clearly documented with reference to feedback from others and self-reflection. Work will be communicated in a well-structured and meaningful manner. Subject-specific vocabulary will be used accurately.

For merit standard, learners must produce a performance log that demonstrates understanding and analysis of development and application of movement skills and areas identified for improvement. Personal development and target setting will be clearly documented with feedback from others and self-reflection. Learners will present information coherently and with good use of grammar.

For pass standard, learners must produce a performance log explaining development and application of movement skills. Reference to their strengths, areas for improvement, audience reaction and personal development will be made to inform contents. The performance log may lack detail and there will be an inconsistent use of grammar.

Unit 23: Singing Techniques for Performers

Level: 3
Unit type: Internal
Guided learning hours: 60

Unit in brief

Learners develop their vocal skills and singing techniques to interpret and perform songs in a performance.

Unit introduction

Singing is a valuable skill for anyone planning a career as a performer. Opportunities for singing in the performing arts industry are many and varied, such as musical theatre, variety shows, cabaret and plays with significant musical content.

In this unit, you will develop the skills required to be a singer by participating in technique classes, rehearsal and performance pieces. You will learn about the structure and physiology of the singing voice and develop an understanding of how the sound is produced. You will develop a repertoire of both solo and ensemble pieces as you develop the appropriate technical and performance skills required to be a singer. Throughout your learning and development you will be taught how to reflect on your progress and practice which will support your development.

The skills you develop in this unit will enable you to understand the key vocal techniques used in singing, and prepare you for performing in a wide range of contexts. This will be relevant for auditioning for further study on higher education performing arts courses or at a vocational performing arts school.

Learning aims

In this unit you will:
A  Understand the key features of singing techniques for performance
B  Develop vocal skills and singing techniques for a performance
C  Apply vocal skills and singing techniques to a performance
D  Review personal development and own performance.

Learning aim A: Understand the key features of singing techniques for performance

A1 Explore the principles of sound production

- The body:
  o areas of the body relevant to sound production: spine, head, neck, shoulders, sternum, rib cage, abdominal muscles, pelvic area, knees, ankles, facial muscles – cheeks, forehead and jaw
  o centring
  o weight placement
  o posture, e.g. alignment of head, neck, spine and pelvic area o release of tension, e.g. knees, back, shoulders, sternum, stomach and jaw.

- The breath:
  o respiration process
  o diaphragm and the role of the abdominal support muscles to develop breath capacity and control the out breath
  o lungs
  o rib cage
  o breath placement
  o breath capacity
  o effect of tension on breath capacity
  o effect of poor alignment on breath capacity.

- Sound:
  o larynx
  o vocal folds
  o main areas that support vocal resonance: head, nose, face/mouth, throat/pharynx, chest
  o voice placement: back of the mouth, soft palate, hard palate, as far forward in the mouth as possible o the effect on the voice and the clarity of sound produced: when the facial muscles are released, when the areas of articulation are warmed up and engaged.

- Articulation:
  o jaw
  o lips
  o mouth:
    - soft palate
    - hard palate
  o tongue.

A2 Vocal skills and singing techniques for performance

- Types of breathing for singing:
  o deep breathing supported by diaphragm
  o snatch breathing
  o use of support muscles to control exhalation
  o control of breath to sing through phrases.

- Posture:
  o centering
  o weight placement
  o alignment of posture allowing effective use of muscles
  o jaw position.
• Sound production:
  o voice placement
  o use of vocal resonators
  o tonal quality.
• Articulation:
  o vowel sounds
  o consonants
  o diphthongs.

Learning aim B: Develop vocal skills and singing techniques for a performance

Learners must participate in vocal skills and singing technique classes and workshops in order to develop their knowledge, understanding and technical skills.

B1 Technical singing exercises and selected style
• Projection and breath control exercises that develop the use of supported breathing and control of exhalation, using a balance of the vocal resonators in the head, nose, face, pharynx (throat) and chest.
• Voice placement and tone.
• Singing through the break.
• Range: finding own range, sustaining and extending range.
• Flexibility exercises, including scales and arpeggios.
• Aural training and pitching exercises.
• Articulation: sounds formed using the hard palate, soft palate, tongue, teeth and lips.
• Singing style such as: musical theatre, blues, soul, pop, rock, classical, jazz, folk.

B2 Singing warm-up techniques
• Alignment.
• Tension release of body and facial muscles.
• Opening up the rib cage.
• Breathing on support.
• Opening up the vocal resonators.
• Forward placement of sound.
• Muscularity of the lips and tongue.
• Production of a range of vowel sounds while singing on support.
• Formation of consonant sounds.
• Humming.
• Lip trills.
• Scales and arpeggios.
• Singing basic intervals.

Learning aim C: Apply vocal skills and singing techniques to a performance

C1 Apply vocal skills and practical singing techniques in rehearsal
• Warming up the voice.
• Taking part in and contributing to technical workshops and rehearsals.
• Selecting and performing appropriate technical exercises.
• Setting targets and reviewing progress.
• Undertaking personal practice.
• Working on repertoire.
• Learning performance material such as: learning songs in note bashing sessions, following a score/lyric sheet, accuracy of pitch and rhythm, response to musical direction, working with an accompanist or backing track.
• Interpretative skills, such as considering the mood, emotion and meaning of material, phrasing and breathing points, expression, tempo and dynamic changes, characterisation, refining ideas and techniques.
C2 Apply vocal skills and singing techniques to a performance

- Solo or ensemble performance.
- Musical accuracy such as: pitch, rhythm, lyrics, singing in unison, harmony.
- Quality and appropriateness of the interpretation of the musical material.
- Communication of mood and emotion.
- Quality of tone.
- Appropriateness of the style of presentation to the musical genre.
- Musicality and communication of meaning.
- Confidence in delivery and presentation.
- Projection.

Learning aim D: Review personal development and own performance

D1 Review and evaluate development and application of vocal skills and singing techniques

Learners must track their progress during this unit, reflecting and evaluating on the application and development of vocal skills and singing techniques during workshops, rehearsal and final performance, presenting the information in a performance log that includes a combination of recorded evidence and supporting annotations.

- Technical skills.
- Development skills.
- Performance skills.
- Strengths.
- Feedback.
- Target setting.
- Areas for improvement.

Essential information for assignments

The recommended structure of assessment is shown in the unit summary along with suitable forms of evidence. Section 6 gives information on setting assignments and there is further information on our website.

There is a maximum number of three summative assignments for this unit. The relationship of the learning aims and criteria is:

Learning aim: A (A.P1, A.M1, A.D1)
Learning aims: B and C (B.P2, B.P3, C.P4, C.P5, B.M2, C.M3, BC.D2)
Learning aim: D (D.P6, D.M4, D.D3)
Further information for teachers and assessors

Resource requirements

For this unit, learners must have access to:

- a studio space large enough to allow learners to undertake practical singing activities, e.g. rehearsal room, drama studio or large classroom
- a performance space appropriate to the chosen purpose of the assignment to be undertaken for learning aims B and C, e.g. drama studio, theatre or large classroom
- a range of songs and an accompanist or backing tracks
- recording and playback facilities to support learners’ development throughout the unit and for recording of final performance
- an internet connection and digital resources
- blogging programs and basic video-editing equipment to enable learners to keep digital performers’ logs, if appropriate.

Essential information for assessment decisions

Learning aim A

For distinction standard, learners must present a detailed and comprehensive account of the key principles of sound production and the areas that need to be considered when developing singing technique. They will have a thorough understanding of the role of the body and breath in sound production, the effect of the resonators, organs of speech, the process of articulation and the role of exercises used to develop techniques, such as humming, lip trills, scales and arpeggios, for performance styles. The work will be detailed and delivered to a high standard with good use of relevant presentation techniques, for example practical demonstrations. It will include a well-argued, evaluative commentary with effective use of subject-specific terminology and good use of grammar.

For merit standard, learners must present an analysis of the key principles of sound production and the areas to be considered when developing singing techniques. There will be an understanding of how sound is produced, including the role of body and breath in sound production, the effect of the resonators, organs of speech, the process of articulation and the role of specific exercises to develop techniques, such as humming, lip trills, scales and arpeggios. The work will be detailed, using relevant presentation techniques, for example practical demonstrations, accurate use of subject specific terminology and good use of grammar.

For pass standard, learners must present their knowledge and understanding of the key principles of sound production and the areas to be considered when developing singing technique. There will be understanding of how sound is produced, including the role of body and breath in sound production, the effect of the resonators, organs of speech, the process of articulation and the role of exercises. The work will be presented to a satisfactory standard with use of subject specific terminology.

Learning aims B and C

For distinction standard, learners will demonstrate a consistently effective approach to the development of vocal skills and singing techniques, working at a high level during classes and rehearsals. They will select and use appropriate technical exercises in order to improve existing skills and develop new ones. They will self-manage their development and application of singing techniques using the support of peers and teachers, actively seeking feedback, reviewing and reflecting on their development and final performance.

Learners will demonstrate a highly effective singing warm-up appropriate to their vocal needs and the songs being performed. Singing skills will be applied in a highly confident and assured manner to communicate the stylistic qualities of the solo and/or ensemble material performed.
For merit standard, learners will demonstrate an effective approach to the development of vocal skills and singing techniques, working well during classes and rehearsals. They will use technical exercises in order to improve existing skills and develop new ones. They will apply singing techniques in rehearsal, recognising opportunities for improvement.

Learners will demonstrate effective singing warm-up skills with consideration given to the songs being performed. Singing skills will be applied in a confident and effective manner to the solo and/or ensemble material performed.

For pass standard, learners will demonstrate the ability to develop vocal skills and singing techniques, working satisfactorily during technique classes and rehearsals. They will perform during technical exercises in a competent manner and will apply singing techniques in rehearsal, working cooperatively with others and taking direction.

Learners will demonstrate an appropriate singing warm-up. Singing skills will be applied in a competent manner during a solo and/or ensemble performance. Any errors or inaccuracies will not detract from the overall performance piece.

Learning aim D

For distinction standard, learners must produce a performance log with clear and accurate reference to the development and application of vocal skills and singing techniques for performance, using the knowledge and understanding from learning aim A. Evaluation of their strengths, and an understanding of improvements that need to be made will be clearly documented as well as audience reaction, feedback, personal development and target setting linked to professional practice. Work will be communicated in a well-structured and meaningful manner.

For merit standard, learners must produce a performance log that demonstrates an understanding of the vocal skills and singing techniques developed for a solo and/or ensemble performance. Analysis of their strengths, areas for improvement and audience reaction will have been used to set targets and support personal development and professional practice. Learners will present information coherently and with good use of grammar.

For pass standard, learners must produce a performance log that demonstrates development and application of vocal skills and singing techniques for a solo and/or ensemble performance. Reference to their strengths, areas for improvement, audience reaction and personal development will have been made to inform content. The work may lack detail and there will be an inconsistent use of grammar.

Employer involvement

Centres may involve employers in the delivery of this unit if there are local opportunities. There is no specific guidance related to this unit.
Unit 24: Children’s Theatre Performance

Level: 3
Unit type: Internal
Guided learning hours: 60

Unit in brief
Learners develop and apply skills and techniques that enable them to create and apply performance material for young audiences.

Unit introduction
Children’s theatre is a popular performing arts genre. The intention of the work can be to entertain and engage young audiences with live performance or to educate on a particular issue or theme. This unit will introduce you to children’s theatre from the perspective of a performer. You will investigate the main features of children’s theatre and develop an understanding of what is involved when performing for a young audience. You will explore ideas to develop a performance for children through practical application.

In this unit, you will investigate the main considerations of performance work for children. By considering the purpose and key features, you will gain an understanding of common structures, themes, settings and style of work. You will develop skills on how to adapt existing work to meet the needs of children. It is important for you to develop relevant skills and techniques for the effective communication of themes and ideas to a young audience. You will reflect on your progress as you develop skills and techniques, setting targets and reviewing them.

As a performing arts practitioner you will need to develop strong interpretive and communication skills to support your work with children. In this unit, you will develop these skills and those used by professional children’s theatre performers.

Learning aims
In this unit you will:

A Understand children’s theatre performance
B Develop materials for a children’s theatre performance
C Apply material to a children’s theatre performance
D Review personal development and own performance.

Content

Learning aim A: Understand children’s theatre performance

A1 Investigate key features of children’s theatre

Study of performance features, context, purpose and production features must be carried out, allowing for effective analysis, evaluation and understanding of children’s theatre performance.

- Performance features, such as:
  - physical theatre
  - music and song
  - dance
  - storytelling
  - narration
  - audience participation
  - ensemble
  - chorus
  - masks
  - puppets
  - comedy
  - slapstick.

- Context, such as:
  - play groups
  - nursery groups
  - primary schools
  - secondary schools
  - youth clubs
  - additional needs
  - summer schools.

- Purpose:
  - entertain
  - inform
  - educate.

- Production features, such as:
  - set and props
  - costume
  - make-up
  - sound and lighting
  - supporting materials, e.g. teacher’s pack.

- Health and safety requirements, such as Disclosure and Barring Service (DBS), legal requirements, performance licence.

Learning aim B: Develop materials for a children’s theatre performance

B1 Explore themes and ideas that can be used for young audiences

- Themes, such as:
  - safety, e.g. online, road, strangers
  - social, e.g. friendships, bullying, integration
  - health, e.g. eating, bodies, emotional
  - engaging young audiences with live work, e.g. spectacle
  - curriculum content, e.g. a story, period in history, numbers
  - environmental, e.g. recycling, fuels, green spaces
  - cultural, e.g. diversity, faith, language.
• Suitability, such as:
  o age group
  o timescale
  o client needs, e.g. centre, school
  o venue.
• Performance material such as: storylines, e.g. classics, myths, fiction, non-fiction, adaptations, genre.

B2 Develop performance skills and techniques and adapt material for performance to a young audience

• Adaptation and interpretation of script or source material through the use of techniques:
  o improvisation
  o physical theatre
  o dance and movement
  o song
  o puppetry
  o masks.
• Forms:
  o storytelling
  o musical numbers
  o narration
  o dialogue
  o chorus
  o ensemble
  o forum theatre
  o audience participation
  o adapting and refining source material and performance style.
• Use of language, e.g. age appropriate.
• Length of the piece, e.g. engaging the audience.
• Selection and/or rejection of ideas.

Learning aim C: Apply material to a children’s theatre performance

C1 Application of skills and techniques through rehearsal

• Development of performance work, relevant to the specific role being undertaken.
• Awareness of safe practice.
• Appropriate preparation for rehearsal.
• Understanding of the structure of a rehearsal and how this is used in preparation for a performance.
• Commitment to the task or activity.
• Responding to peer and teacher instructions/corrections.
• Receiving and giving positive and constructive feedback.
• Working independently.
• Working cooperatively with others.
• Contributing and accepting ideas.
• Selection and rejection of ideas.
• Repeating and revisiting material.
• Reviewing and adjusting material.
C2 Performance to a young audience

- Setting and characters.
- Performance techniques to suit the material and the target audience, such as:
  - vocal and physical qualities
  - response and communication with audience
  - energy
  - focus
  - adaptability
  - confidence
  - pace
  - movement
  - use of props
  - lighting and sound effects
  - communication of ideas
  - meaning and themes.

Learning aim D: Review own development and final performance

D1 Review and evaluate development and application of skills and techniques for a children’s theatre performance

Learners must track their progress during this unit, reflecting and evaluating on the application and development of performance skills and techniques during rehearsals and final children’s theatre performances, presenting the information in a performance log that includes a combination of recorded evidence and supporting annotations.

- Development of performance skills with reference to client, audience and purpose.
- Performance.
- Feedback.
- Target setting.
- Strengths.
- Areas for improvement.

Resource requirements

For this unit, learners must have access to:

- a studio space large enough to allow learners to undertake practical activities, e.g. drama studio or large classroom
- a performance space appropriate to the chosen purpose of the assignment to be undertaken for learning aims B and C. NB this need not be a traditional theatre space as children's theatre can take place in a range of venues
- a range of research material for themes and ideas when developing content
- props, lighting and sound effects, as appropriate
- video recording and playback facilities to support learners’ development throughout the unit and for recording of final performance
- an internet connection and digital resources
- access to blogging programs and basic-video editing equipment to enable learners to keep digital performers’ logs, if appropriate.

Essential information for assessment decisions

Learning aim A

For distinction standard, learners must present a detailed and comprehensive account of the key features and purposes of children’s theatre. They will present a thorough understanding of structures, themes, characters, settings and styles in their work; this will include reference to context and purpose such as performance to entertain nursery children. Examples of performances (a minimum of three) will be gathered through effective exploratory research and will be used to compare and contrast key features and creative intentions. The work will be clearly presented and communicated using relevant presentation techniques, and will include subject-specific terminology and good use of grammar.

For merit standard, learners must present an analysis of the key features and purposes of children’s theatre. They will present an understanding of structures, themes, characters, settings and styles in their work. Reference to the contexts, purpose and creative intentions will be made, comparing examples gathered through effective exploratory research of how these have been used to educate and entertain. The work will be detailed, presented to a satisfactory standard and will include accurate use of subject-specific terminology.

For pass standard, learners must present information on the key features and purpose of children’s theatre. An understanding of themes, characters, settings, styles and creative intention with reference to specific examples will be included, taking into account context and purpose. The work will include subject-specific terminology and relevant presentation techniques.

Learning aims B and C

For distinction standard, learners will demonstrate through individual contributions to the group performance, the ability to develop creative and imaginative work that fully meets the intended outcomes. The needs of the young audience will be fully considered and inform the content of the work as well as the skills and techniques applied in performance. Learners will work at a consistently high level throughout the development, rehearsal and performance of the work, making a significant contribution to the success of the piece. Learners will initiate ideas and respond well to the ideas of others.

For merit standard, learners will demonstrate through individual contributions to the group performance, the ability to develop creative work that meets the intended outcomes. Understanding of the needs of the young audience and intentions of the work will be supported with effective application of relevant skills and techniques. Learners will work consistently throughout development, rehearsal and performance, contributing as part of the group, and responding well to feedback supporting progression.
For pass standard, learners will demonstrate through individual contributions to the group performance, an ability to develop and apply performance skills and techniques appropriate to the work being performed and for the identified young audience. Skills will be developed and applied in rehearsal and the final performance. Learners will demonstrate good teamwork skills and strong relationships with other members of the group, and use feedback to support progress.

Learning aim D

For distinction standard, learners must produce a performance log presented with clear and accurate reference to the development process, using examples to communicate how creative decisions were made to fulfil purpose and the needs of the target audience. There will be reference to the application of skills and techniques and a demonstration of the knowledge developed from learning aim A. The performance log will include an evaluation of their strengths and an understanding of improvements that need to be made. Response to feedback, audience reaction, personal development and target setting will be documented and linked to professional practice. Work will be communicated in a well-structured and meaningful manner. Learners will use subject-specific terminology and good use of grammar.

For merit standard, learners must produce a performance log that demonstrates an understanding of the development process, and how creative decisions were made to fulfil the purpose of the performance and the needs of the target audience through their application of skills and techniques. The analysis of their strengths, areas for improvement and audience reaction will be used to set targets and support personal development and professional practice. Learners will present information coherently and with good use of grammar.

For pass standard, learners must produce a performance log that includes evidence of the development process, giving examples of creative decisions made for achieving the purpose and the needs of the target audience. Reference to their strengths, areas for improvement, audience reaction and personal development will be made to inform contents. The performance log will lack detail and there will be an inconsistent use of subject-specific terminology.

This unit will benefit from employer involvement in the form of:
- guest speakers
- contribution to the setting of the assignment briefs, e.g. ‘Live Projects’/Commissions
- participation in review of performances
- work experience.
Unit 25: Site Specific Performance

Level: 3
Unit type: Internal
Guided learning hours: 60

Unit in brief

Learners develop knowledge and skills for a site-specific commission. They will understand practice and explore creative possibilities, devising a site-specific performance.

Unit introduction

Theatrical performances are no longer bound by the constrictions of the conventional theatre as we can now see performances in unexpected, unlikely and atmospheric settings. Site-specific performance refers to work that has been specifically created or adapted from an existing repertoire and has been inspired by the place in which it is performed. The prominent features are that the content of the performance and the place where it is held are strongly related and the space is used to enhance the theatrical experience.

In this unit, you will develop the skills and techniques that allow you to take part in a set commission for a site-specific performance. You will explore and develop ideas for content that allows the audience to engage with your work, applying your skills to an innovative and original approach to devising or adapting a performance. Throughout your learning and development you will be taught how to reflect on your progress and practice which will support your development.

On successful completion of this unit, you will have developed your understanding of how different sites can inform performance work and broaden the creative points of reference that will support your practice and progression opportunities.

Learning aims

In this unit you will:

A Understand the key features of site-specific performance
B Develop ideas for a site-specific performance
C Apply performance skills to a site-specific performance
D Review own development and final site-specific performance.

Content

Learning aim A: Understand the key features of site-specific performance

A1 Investigate the key features of site-specific performance

Study of the key features, such as performance space, audience, purpose, venues, practitioners and practices, must be carried out, allowing for effective analysis, evaluation and understanding of site-specific performance.

- Performance space, such as:
  - man-made, e.g. buildings, bridges
  - natural, e.g. landscapes
  - light, e.g., natural
  - space
  - sonic and acoustic elements
  - weather.

- Audience, such as:
  - static audience
  - promenade
  - participatory or non-participatory
  - sitting or standing
  - ratio of performers to audience
  - relationship of audience to space.

- Purpose, such as:
  - artistic response, e.g. innovation, aesthetic, use of non-theatrical environments
  - commission, e.g. festival, street theatre, educational, tourism
  - accessibility, e.g. to meet the needs of a specific audience
  - community initiative, e.g. historical, celebratory, social, cultural.

- Practitioners, e.g. Trisha Brown, Brith Gof.

- Genre:
  - discipline, e.g. dance, acting, musical theatre
  - repertoire, e.g. existing work, devised work.

Learning aim B: Develop ideas for a site-specific performance

B1 Explore starting points for a site-specific performance

- Surveying the site.
- Securing permissions to perform.
- Health and safety.
- Risk assessment.
- Access: performers and audience.
- On-site facilities, e.g. electrical supply, parking, toilet and washing facilities.
- Required resources, e.g. staging, seating, lighting, sound.
- Required legislation, e.g. public liability, public health.
- Consistency.
- Research.
- Practical exploration.
- Testing and modifying material.
- Integrating theatrical elements, e.g. props, costume, sound.
B2 Development of performance material

- Purpose and objectives.
- Environment, such as size, location, atmosphere.
- Target audience, such as age, gender, culture, race, disability.
- Purpose:
  - educate
  - entertain
  - communicate.
- Performance skills, such as dancing, acting, singing, musical theatre, improvising.
- Genre or style.
- Repertoire:
  - existing work
  - devised work.

Learning aim C: Apply performance skills to a site-specific performance

C1 Application of performance skills through rehearsal

Rehearsal:

- awareness of safe practice
- appropriate preparation for rehearsal
- understanding of the structure of a rehearsal and how it is used in preparation for a performance
- commitment to the task or activity
- responding to peer- and teacher instructions/corrections
- receiving and giving positive and constructive feedback
- working independently
- working cooperatively with others
- contributing and accepting ideas
- selection and rejection of ideas
- repeating and revisiting material
- reviewing and adjusting material.

C2 Site-specific performance

The following content must be applied in the context of performing at a specified site which should be anywhere other than a conventional studio or theatre space.

- Application of performance skills.
- Dance and movement, such as:
  - stylistic qualities appropriate to the performance piece
  - alignment
  - balance
  - co-ordination
  - movement memory
  - extension and flexion
  - clarity of movement
  - use of breath
  - use of weight
  - use of trust and risk.
- Acting and vocal, such as:
  - clarity and articulation of voice
  - remembering lines
  - pitch
  - inflection and modulation of voice.
- tone and vocal colour
- timing
- physicality.

Essential information for assignments

The recommended structure of assessment is shown in the unit summary along with suitable forms of evidence. Section 6 gives information on setting assignments and there is further information on our website.

There is a maximum number of three summative assignments for this unit. The relationship of the learning aims and criteria is:

Learning aim: A (A.P1, A.M1, A.D1)
Learning aims: B and C (B.P2, B.P3, C.P4, C.P5, B.M2, C.M3, BC.D2)
Learning aim: D (D.P6, D.M4, D.D3)
Further information for teachers and assessors

Resource requirements

For this unit, learners must have access to:

- a studio space large enough to allow learners to undertake practical activities in preparation for site-specific work
- the chosen performance site
- props, lighting and sound effects, as appropriate
- video recording and playback facilities to support learners’ development throughout the unit and for recording of final performance
- an internet connection and digital resources
- blogging programs and basic video-editing equipment to enable learners to keep digital performers’ logs, if appropriate.

Essential information for assessment decisions

Learning aim A

For distinction standard, learners must present a detailed and comprehensive understanding of site-specific performance with reference to settings, for example natural and man-made, audience, purpose and practice. Examples of creative responses by practitioners (a minimum of three), will be gathered through effective exploratory research and will be used to compare and contrast key features and how the environment has influenced creative responses to the development of performance material. The work will be presented to a high standard, clearly presented and communicated using relevant presentation techniques, subject-specific terminology and good use of grammar.

For merit standard, learners must present an analysis and understanding of site-specific performances, with reference to settings. Examples of creative responses by practitioners (a minimum of three), will be gathered through effective exploratory research and will be used to demonstrate purpose, key features and creative response. The work will be detailed, presented to a satisfactory standard and will include accurate use of subject-specific terminology.

For pass standard, learners must present information on the key features of site-specific performance. They will demonstrate an understanding of the purpose of site-specific performances, with reference to the work of selected practitioners. The work may lack detail but will include subject-specific terminology.

Learning aims B and C

For distinction standard, learners will show a creative and imaginative response to potential starting points for a site-specific performance. Learners will work at a consistently high level during planning development and rehearsal sessions, selecting relevant and innovative ideas with clear and appropriate reference to the performance environment, the relationship between performers and audience, and the objectives of the work.

Learners will apply performance skills with confidence, imagination and attention to detail. The atmosphere and aesthetics of the performance environment will be fully considered.

For merit standard, learners will show a considered approach to the research and exploration of potential starting points for a site-specific performance. They will contribute to planning, development and rehearsal sessions, selecting relevant ideas with reference to the performance environment and the objectives of the work.

Learners will apply performance skills with clarity and attention to detail, taking the atmosphere and aesthetics of the performance environment into account.
For pass standard, learners will show an ability to research and explore potential starting points for a site-specific performance. They will work cooperatively in planning, development and rehearsal sessions and sharing relevant ideas.
Learners will apply performance skills in a secure and appropriate manner. Any errors or inaccuracies will not detract from the overall performance work.

Learning aim D

For distinction standard, learners must produce a performance log, presented with clear and accurate reference to the development process and using examples to communicate how creative decisions were made to fulfil purpose, with reference to the application of skills and techniques and knowledge developed from learning aim A. The performance log will include an evaluation of their strengths and an understanding of improvements that need to be made. Clear and relevant reference to aspects of the final performance piece, such as the use of the environment and the relationship between audience and performers, will be made to justify arguments. Work will be communicated in a well-structured and meaningful manner. Subject-specific vocabulary and grammar will be used accurately.

For merit standard, learners must produce a performance log that demonstrates an understanding of the development process, how creative decisions are made to fulfil the purpose of the performance piece and skills, and how the techniques that are selected are applied to support this. Reference to aspects of the final work, such as the use of the environment and the relationship between audience and performers, will be made to support findings. The analysis of their strengths, areas for improvement and audience reaction will be used to set targets and support personal development and professional practice. Information will be presented coherently with a good use of grammar.

For pass standard, learners must produce a performance log that includes an outline of the development process, giving examples of creative decisions made for the final performance piece. Reference to their strengths, areas for improvement, audience reaction and personal development will be made to inform contents. The performance log may lack detail, and there will be an inconsistent use of subject-specific terminology.

- participation in review of performances
- work experience.
Unit 26: Physical Theatre Techniques

Level: 3
Unit type: Internal
Guided learning hours: 60

Unit in brief

Learners develop skills and techniques in physical theatre that can be used in a performance through practical application.

Unit introduction

Physical theatre is a diverse performance genre that overlaps with dance, circus, street theatre, verbatim theatre and performance art. It is a term used to describe performance where the body is used primarily to convey meaning to an audience. Physical theatre performances can be developed from existing script work or by adapting stories, personal experiences and themes.

In this unit, you will develop physical theatre techniques, using the body and voice, by actively participating in workshops and rehearsals and then in a performance to communicate meaning to an audience. By researching and watching different performances, you will develop an understanding of the diversity of this performance genre and the practitioners that have influenced the development of physical theatre. Throughout your learning you will review your development of the skills and techniques used when creating your final performance.

The skills that you will develop in this unit open up the possibilities to be an actor or performer working in a broad range of contexts. These skills will be relevant in auditions for further study to higher education drama and performance/physical theatre courses at a vocational performing arts school or university, and can lead to a career as a performer, director, community artist or teacher.

Learning aims

In this unit you will:

A Understand the key features of physical theatre performance
B Develop physical theatre skills and techniques
C Apply physical theatre skills and techniques to a performance
D Review personal development and own performance.

Content

Learning aim A: Understand the key features of physical theatre performance

The key features and contemporary practices of physical theatre with reference to a minimum of three practitioners must be studied, allowing for effective analysis, evaluation and understanding.

A1 Explore key features of physical theatre performance
- Characterisation.
- Use of voice.
- Use of movement.
- Mask work.
- Ensemble work.
- Use of theme or narrative/story.
- Audiences for physical theatre.

A2 Contemporary practice and practitioners in physical theatre performance Exploration and understanding of contemporary practitioners and companies, such as:
- Lloyd Newson/DV8
- Theatre Complicite
- Kneehigh
- Steven Berkoff
- Pina Bausch
- Frantic Assembly
- Trestle Theatre Company
- Shunt
- Belarus Free Theatre.

Learning aim B: Develop physical theatre skills and techniques

Learners must participate in technique classes and workshops in order to develop their knowledge, understanding and technical skills.

B1 Development of skills and techniques to reproduce stylistic features
- Physical skills, such as:
  o posture
  o muscular strength
  o stamina
  o physical control
  o balance
  o breathing
  o lifting and catching
  o weight placement
  o taking weight
  o use of levels
  o body percussion.
- Movement actions, such as:
  o stillness
  o gesture
  o turning
  o transference of weight
  o elevation
  o travelling.
• Space, such as:
  o personal space
  o general space
  o floor patterns
  o levels
  o size of movement.
• Dynamic quality, such as:
  o speed
  o flow
  o direction
  o use of contrasts
  o emotional quality
  o sense of performance.
• Vocal skills, such as:
  o breath control
  o projection
  o pitch and tone
  o vocal range
  o creating and physicalising sound
  o use of vocal dynamics.
• Ensemble work and working with others, such as:
  o movement choirs
  o flocking
  o spatial awareness
  o leading and following
  o vocal work
  o proxemics (near, far) o unison
  o canon
  o status
  o supporting other performers
  o lift work
  o leading and following
  o manipulation of other performers.
• Action and reaction.
• Responsiveness to other performers.
• Characterisation, such as:
  o facial expression
  o posture and physicality
  o gesture
  o working with costume and props
  o masks
  o status.

Learning aim C: Apply physical theatre skills and techniques to a performance

C1 Application of physical theatre skills in response to stimulus through rehearsal • Responding to stimulus, such as:
  o text, e.g. speech, text messages
  o props and found objects, e.g. umbrella, telephone o visual art, e.g. Edward Hopper, Tracey Emin o music and sound, e.g. street sounds, The Space Between Us (Craig Armstrong)
  o masks and costume, e.g. old coat, Theatre Complicite masks
• themes, e.g. new beginnings, corruption
• current affairs/issues, e.g. political elections, extremism
• stories, poetry and plays (full or extracts), e.g. The Yellow Wallpaper
  (Charlotte Perkins Gilman), Othello (Shakespeare)
• autobiographical/biographical, e.g. Charlie Chaplin, Sylvia Plath
• historical period or event, e.g. 1960s, the Wall Street Crash.

• Application of skills and techniques in response to stimulus, such as:
  o research source material/stimulus
  o improvisation
  o use of words
  o development and refinement of use of words
  o motif/movement material
  o use of sound
  o use of multi-media, actor/performer as creator
  o selection and refinement of appropriate techniques and skills for the selected performance piece
  o understanding audience, working collaboratively.

• Rehearsal:
  o awareness of safe practice
  o understanding the structure of a rehearsal and how this is used in preparation for a performance
  o self-management
  o self-discipline
  o commitment to the task or activity
  o ability to follow and respond to direction o working independently
  o responding to feedback
  o repetition
  o responding to direction and corrections from peers
  o teachers and choreographers
  o use of self-reflection to support development through use of observation o video and mirrors.

C2 Application of physical theatre skills in performance

• Projection, energy and connection with audience.
• Use of focus in relation to movement material, other performers and the audience.
• Appropriate use of facial expression and characterisation to support the communication of the source material and performance.
• Execution of movement material.
• Use of voice and breath.
• Ensemble work.
• Understanding of working in contact with others.
• Understanding of dynamic range.
• Alignment and posture.
• Strength (including core stability).
• Muscular and cardio-vascular stamina.
• Flexibility.
• Co-ordination and agility.
• Balance.
• Whole body participation and ability to isolate body parts.
• Movement memory and accuracy.
• Spatial awareness and sensitivity when performing with others.
Learning aim D: Review personal development and own performance.
Learners must track their progress during this unit, reflecting and evaluating on the application and development of physical theatre skills and techniques during workshops, rehearsal and final performance, presenting the information in a performance log that includes a combination of recorded evidence and supporting annotations.

D1 Review and evaluate development of physical theatre techniques
- Technical skills.
- Development skills.
- Strengths.
- Feedback.
- Target setting.
- Areas for improvement.

D2 Review and evaluate application of physical theatre techniques
- Technical skills.
- Performance skills.
- Strengths.
- Feedback.
- Target setting.
- Areas for improvement.

Further information for teachers and assessors

Resource requirements

For this unit, learners must have access to:

- a studio space (ideally with sprung floor), sound system for physical theatre workshops and rehearsals
- a performance space allowing enough space for the learner to perform their physical theatre performance and a clear video recording to be made (this could be the studio space that workshops and rehearsals take place in)
- a range of stimulus for learners to explore in workshops
- props (as required)
- video clips/DVDs and live performances of a range of physical theatre performances to support learners’ contextual understanding of physical theatre
- video recording and playback facilities to support learners’ development throughout the unit and for recording of final performance pieces
- an internet connection and digital resources
- blogging programs and basic video-editing equipment to enable learners to keep digital performers’ logs, if appropriate.

Essential information for assessment decisions

Learning aim A

For distinction standard, learners must present a detailed and comprehensive account of the key features of physical theatre performance. A thorough understanding of movement, characterisation and use of voice and ensemble work will be presented in relation to communicating a stimulus effectively, for example ensemble to portray the different aspects of a character. Examples of selected practitioners’ work (a minimum of three) and professional performance, will be gathered through effective exploratory research, for example Trestle Theatre Company and Kneehigh, and will be used to demonstrate the diversity of the performance genre with the support of visual aids, projected images and annotations. The work will be presented to a high standard and include a well-argued, evaluative commentary with effective use of subject-specific terminology, relevant presentation techniques, for example photographic evidence and practical demonstrations, and good use of grammar.

For merit standard, learners must present a detailed understanding of the key features of physical theatre for performance with reference to response to stimulus, for example use of narrative, movement, and mask work. Examples of selected practitioners’ work (a minimum of three) will be gathered through effective exploratory research and will be used to analyse diversity of the performance genre with the support of relevant visual aids and annotations. The work will be detailed, using relevant presentation techniques, for example photographic evidence and practical demonstrations, and accurate use of subject-specific terminology.

For pass standard, learners must present an understanding of physical theatre performance. Information on key features and a response to stimulus and genre will be included in the work, with use of examples gathered through exploratory research. The work may lack detail, but will be presented to a satisfactory standard with use of subject-specific terminology.

Learning aims B and C

For distinction standard, learners will demonstrate a creative and highly developed response to their chosen stimulus through physical theatre performance. The performance will be well thought out and structured in an appropriate manner. Development of skills and techniques, with reference to the selected stimulus, for example vocal work and movement, will be performed with confidence, assurance and precision. A minimum of four key features will be used in the performance, for example, use of voice, movement, ensemble work, and characterisation. Learners will work at a consistently high level during workshops, rehearsals and performance tasks. They will self-manage the development of their group performance throughout the creative process, actively seeking feedback from their peers and teachers to support development. They will work in a highly organised and sensitive manner to enable their ideas to be fully realised in performance. Physical theatre skills and techniques will be applied with a confident, assured and imaginative approach to effectively and creatively communicate their performance to the target audience.

For merit standard, learners will show a considered approach to developing appropriate skills, techniques and material in response to their chosen stimulus when creating a physical theatre performance. The performance will be well structured, enabling the communication of ideas and meaning to the audience. As part of the creative process, selection and development of skills and techniques will enable the chosen stimulus to be communicated successfully. A minimum of three key features will be used in performance, for example use of narrative, ensemble work, and characterisation. Learners will work with purpose during workshops, rehearsals and performance tasks in an organised manner, using feedback positively, individually and as a group, to support the development of their performance. Rehearsals will be well managed. Physical theatre skills and techniques will be applied effectively, communicating the performance to a target audience.

For pass standard, learners will show an ability to select and develop skills and techniques to communicate their chosen stimulus in rehearsals and performance. Rehearsals will be organised and learners will have an awareness of how to develop and apply skills and techniques to a group performance with reference to the chosen stimulus. Physical theatre skills and techniques will be applied to the performance and communicated to a target audience. Errors or inaccuracies will not detract from the overall performance work.

Learning aim D

For distinction standard, learners must produce a performance log with clear and accurate reference to the selection, development and application of skills and techniques, the creative process, rehearsal and the final performance, using the knowledge and understanding developed from learning aim A to support this process. The work will include an evaluation of their strengths and an understanding of improvements that need to be made. Response to feedback, audience reaction, personal development and target setting will be documented and linked to professional practice. Work will be communicated in a well-structured and meaningful manner. Learners will use subject-specific terminology and good grammar.

For merit standard, learners must produce a performance log that demonstrates an understanding of the development and application of skills and techniques, the creative process, rehearsal and performance. The analysis of strengths, areas for improvement, feedback and audience reaction will be used to set targets and support personal development and professional practice. Learners will present information coherently and with good use of grammar.

For pass standard, learners must produce a performance log that demonstrates the development and application of skills and techniques. Reference to their strengths, areas for improvement, feedback, audience reaction and personal development will be made to inform contents. The performance log will lack detail and there will be an inconsistent use of subject-specific terminology.

Unit 27: Musical Theatre Techniques

Level: 3
Unit type: Internal
Guided learning hours: 60

Unit in brief

Learners explore key features of musical theatre, developing specialist skills and techniques as a musical theatre performer combining acting, singing and dance skills for a performance.

Unit introduction

Musical theatre is an exciting and popular type of entertainment. It takes on many forms from large-scale West End and Broadway musicals such as Wicked and Mama Mia, to plays with musical content such as The Threepenny Opera. The musical theatre performer is required to be versatile, combining the skills of acting, singing and dancing in their work. Musical theatre requires actors who can sing and dance; dancers who can act and sing; singers who can act and dance; and performers who may have all three skills in more or less equal measure. The skills you develop in this unit will open up the possibilities of becoming a performer that can work across a wide range of performance contexts.

In this unit, you will develop the skills required to be a musical theatre performer by participating in technique classes, rehearsals and final performance. By learning about the key features of musical theatre performance you will develop an understanding of the skills and techniques required to create a successful performance. You will reflect on your progress as you develop skills and techniques in acting, singing and dance, setting targets and reviewing your progress.

Musical theatre is a significant area of employment in the performing arts industry with opportunities for chorus and ensemble work as well as solo/leading roles. The skills you develop in this unit will open up possibilities to be a performer that can work in a wide range of performance contexts as well as providing a platform for further study in acting, dance and/or music performance.

Learning aims

In this unit you will:

A Understand the key features of musical theatre performance
B Develop skills and techniques in musical theatre
C Apply musical theatre skills and techniques to a performance
D Review personal development and own performance.

Content

Learning aim A: Understand the key features of musical theatre performance

A study of the key features of musical theatre with reference to the following content using examples from a minimum of three musicals must be carried out, allowing for effective analysis, evaluation and understanding.

A1 Investigate musical theatre genres

- Genres, such as:
  - operetta, e.g. The Tales of Hoffmann, The Pirates of Penzance
  - musical revues, e.g. The Ziegfeld Follies
  - book musicals, e.g. Oklahoma, Guys and Dolls, Les Misérables
  - rock musicals, e.g. Jesus Christ Superstar, Godspell
  - jukebox musicals, e.g. Mama Mia, Buddy, We Will Rock You
  - concept musicals, e.g. Wicked, Starlight Express
  - comic musicals, e.g. Singin’ in the Rain, Top Hat
  - chamber musicals, e.g. Dracula, Sweeney Todd
  - musicals, e.g. Footloose, Ghost.

A2 Understand forms, structures, themes and characters used in musical theatre

- Forms, such as:
  - overture
  - chorus number
  - solo
  - duet
  - comedy song
  - 11 o’clock number
  - Ballad
  - musical scenes
  - reprise
  - dance interlude
  - ‘showstopper’
  - finale.

- Structures, such as:
  - sung through
  - libretto with musical numbers
  - comic opera
  - operetta.

- Themes, e.g. love, conflict.

- Characters, such as:
  - juvenile lead
  - juvenile supporting character
  - older supporting character.

A3 Understand function of music, dance, dramatic elements and roles

- Musical elements, such as:
  - mood settingchanging
  - scene settingchanging
  - heightening of drama/emothions
  - underscroing.
UNIT 27: MUSICAL THEATRE TECHNIQUES

- Dance elements, such as:
  - heightening of drama/emotions
  - mood setting/changing
  - scene setting/changing
  - interludes.
- Dramatic elements, such as:
  - plot development
  - character development,
  - relationship building.
- Transitions into music/dance elements.
- Roles, such as:
  - producer
  - choreographer
  - music director
  - technical director
  - stage manager
  - costume designer
  - set designer
  - production manager
  - impresario
  - angels.

Learning aim B: Develop skills and techniques in musical theatre

Learners must participate in technique classes and workshops in order to develop their knowledge, understanding and technical skills

B1 Develop performance techniques

- Singing techniques, such as:
  - vocal quality, e.g. pitch, tone, projection
  - use of singing styles, e.g. pop, rock, light opera
  - word painting
  - characterisation
  - response to musical direction.
- Dance techniques, such as:
  - movement accuracy
  - use of space and relationships
  - use of appropriate dance styles, e.g. jazz, tap
  - characterisation
  - response to choreography.
- Acting techniques, such as:
  - use of vocal and physical skills
  - character development
  - relationship with other characters
  - use of appropriate acting styles, e.g. naturalistic, melodramatic
  - use of acting skills within music and dance numbers
  - response to direction.
Learning aim C: Apply musical theatre skills and techniques to a performance

C1 Selection and application of musical theatre skills and techniques in rehearsal
- Understanding the structure of a rehearsal and how this is used in preparation for a performance.
- Self-management.
- Collaboration.
- Rehearsal attendance/commitment.
- Self-discipline.
- Commitment to the task or activity.
- Ability to follow and respond to direction, choreography and musical direction.
- Working independently.
- Responding to feedback.
- Repetition.
- Awareness of safe practice.
- Appropriate dance wear, footwear and presentation (hair tied back, no jewellery).
- Understanding the principles of how to warm up and cool down appropriately.
- Application of performance techniques such as:
  - disciplines, e.g. acting, singing and dance appropriate to the role
  - performance material, e.g. score, libretto
  - songs
  - dance routines
  - dialogue.
- Relationship between singing, acting and dance such as:
  - maintaining characterisation and focus in dialogue
  - songs and dances
  - communication of mood and emotion
  - fitting own role with production concept and creative intentions
  - working with production elements: props, costume, lighting.

C2 Application of skills and techniques to a musical theatre performance
- Technical skills, such as acting, singing, dance, combining acting, singing and dancing.
- Interpretative skills.
- Projection, energy, communication with audience.
- Characterisation across dramatic, music and dance elements to support the intentions of the piece.
- Relationships with other performers.
- Maintaining focus and concentration.

Learning aim D: Review personal development and own performance.
Learners must track their progress during this unit, reflecting and evaluating on the application and development of skills and techniques during workshops, rehearsal and final performance, presenting the information in a performance log that includes a combination of recorded evidence and supporting annotations.

D1 Review and evaluate development of musical theatre techniques
- Development of acting, singing and dance skills in a musical theatre context.
- Combining acting, singing and dance skills in development and rehearsal.
- Response to direction, choreography and musical direction.
- Strengths.
- Target setting.
- Areas for improvement.
D2 Review and evaluate application of musical theatre techniques

- Realisation of performance material.
- Combining acting, singing and dance skills in performance.
- Feedback.
- Strengths.
- Target setting.
- Areas for improvement.

Essential information for assignments

The recommended structure of assessment is shown in the unit summary along with suitable forms of evidence. Section 6 gives information on setting assignments and there is further information on our website.

There is a maximum number of three summative assignments for this unit. The relationship of the learning aims and criteria is:

Learning aim: A (A.P1, A.M1, A.D1)
Learning aims: B and C (B.P2, C.P3, C.P4, B.M2, C.M3, B.C.D2)
Learning aim: D (D.P5, D.P6, D.M4, D.D3)
Further information for teachers and assessors

Resource requirements

For this unit, learners must have access to:

- a studio space large enough to allow learners to undertake workshop and rehearsal sessions, e.g. drama/dance studio.
- a performance space appropriate to the chosen purpose of the assignment to be undertaken for learning aims B and C
- a range of recordings of musical theatre works
- a range of scores and libretti.
- props, lighting and costumes as appropriate
- video recording and playback facilities to support learners’ development throughout the unit and for recording of final performance
- an internet connection and digital resources
- blogging programs and basic video-editing equipment to enable learners to keep digital reflective performers’ logs if appropriate.

Essential information for assessment decisions

Learning aim A

For distinction standard, learners must present a detailed and comprehensive account of the key features of musical theatre. There will be a thorough understanding of forms, structures and the functions of dramatic, musical and dance elements with reference to musical theatre genres. Examples of specific repertoire (at least three musicals) gathered through effective exploratory research will be fully evaluated with reference to key features such as use of chorus numbers, solos, duets and spoken dialogue. The work will be presented to a high standard and will include a well-argued, evaluative commentary with effective use of subject-specific terminology, relevant presentation techniques, for example, photographic evidence and practical demonstrations, and a good use of grammar.

For merit standard, learners must present a detailed understanding of the key features of musical theatre performance. Learners will analyse form, structure and the functions of dramatic, musical and dance elements such as chorus numbers, solos, duets and spoken dialogue. The analysis will be presented through the comparison of examples of repertoire (at least three musicals) gathered through effective exploratory research. The work will be detailed, using relevant presentation techniques, for example, photographic evidence and practical demonstrations, and accurate use of subject-specific terminology.

For pass standard, learners must present an understanding of the key features of musical theatre performance. Information on forms and structures of musical theatre and the functions of dramatic, musical and dance elements gathered through exploratory research will be evidenced in learners’ work. The work may lack detail, but will be presented to a satisfactory standard with use of subject-specific terminology.

Learning aims B and C

For distinction standard, learners will demonstrate an effective approach to the development of acting, singing and dance skills, in a musical theatre context, working at a consistently high level during technique classes and workshops. Learners will apply musical theatre techniques to rehearsal combining acting, singing and dance skills in a fluent and imaginative manner. They will self-manage their development and application of techniques using the support of peers and teachers, actively seeking feedback, reviewing and reflecting on their development and final performance.

Musical theatre performance skills will be applied in a confident, assured and imaginative manner to communicate the creative intentions of the piece during the performance.
For merit standard, learners will show a considered approach to the development of acting, singing and dance skills in a musical theatre context. In workshops and rehearsals, learners will be able to select and use performance techniques appropriate to the style and context of the work. They will apply musical theatre techniques in rehearsal combining acting, singing and dance skills effectively, contributing to the development of the work by sharing ideas and recognising opportunities for improvement.

Musical theatre performance skills will be applied in an effective manner to communicate the creative intentions of the piece during the performance.

For pass standard, learners will demonstrate the ability to develop acting, singing and dance skills in a musical theatre context. In workshops and rehearsals, learners will use appropriate performance techniques combining acting, singing and dance skills appropriate to the style and context of the piece.

Musical theatre performance skills will be applied in a competent and appropriate manner during the performance. Any errors or inaccuracies will not detract from the overall performance piece.

Learning aim D

For distinction standard, learners must produce a performance log with clear, accurate reference to development activities and the selection and application of singing, dancing and acting techniques needed for a musical theatre performance, using the knowledge and understanding developed from learning aim A.

The performance log will include an evaluation of their strengths, and an understanding of improvements that need to be made. Response to choreography, musical direction, feedback, audience reaction, personal development and target setting will be clearly documented, and linked to professional practice. Work will be communicated in a well-structured and meaningful manner. Learners will use subject-specific terminology and demonstrate a good use of grammar.

For merit standard, learners must produce a performance log that demonstrates an understanding and analysis of development activities and the selection and application of singing, dancing and acting techniques needed for a musical theatre performance. The performance log will include understanding of the skills and techniques required to develop musical theatre performance skills. The analysis of their strengths, areas for improvement and response to choreography and musical direction, feedback and audience reaction will have been used to set targets and support personal development and professional practice. Learners will present information coherently and with good use of grammar.

For pass standard, learners must produce a performance log that demonstrates how singing, dancing and acting techniques needed for a musical theatre performance were developed in workshops and rehearsals and then applied in performance. The performance log will include reference to specific skills and techniques used in a musical theatre context. Strengths, areas for improvement and response to choreography, musical direction and audience reaction will be referenced. The performance log may lack detail and there will be an inconsistent use of grammar.

Unit 28: Variety Performance

Level: 3
Unit type: Internal
Guided learning hours: 60

Unit in brief

Learners develop skills, techniques and understanding in variety performance, applying them to a practical act.

Unit introduction

Variety performance has a long history dating back to Victorian music halls and vaudeville performances. Variety shows were popular on television in the mid- to late 20th century, making acts such as Morecambe and Wise and Paul Daniels household names. In recent years, variety as a form of entertainment has been enjoying a renaissance due to talent shows like Britain’s Got Talent and televised live events such as Sunday Night at the Palladium.

In this unit, you will investigate the key features of variety performance. By exploring different types of variety acts, venues and contexts, you will gain an understanding of past and present practices. You will investigate and develop skills and techniques used by performers, for example ventriloquism, magic or juggling, combining these with skills gained in other units to support the development of an innovative group or solo act. You will reflect on your progress as you develop and apply skills and techniques, setting targets and reviewing your progress.

This unit will allow you to apply your acting, musical theatre or dance skills in new and innovative ways, making this an ideal unit for those who wish to progress to further study in any of these disciplines.

Learning aims

In this unit you will:

A. Understand the key features of variety performance
B. Develop skills and techniques for variety performance
C. Apply performance skills and techniques to a variety performance
D. Review personal development and own performance.

Learning aim A: Understand the key features of variety performance

A study of a minimum of three past and present variety acts and performers with reference to key features, purpose, venues and context must be carried out, allowing for effective analysis, evaluation and understanding of variety performance.

A1 Explore past and present variety acts and performers

• Variety acts, such as:
  - magicians and illusionists
  - children's entertainment
  - comedy acts
  - impressionists
  - ventriloquists
  - novelty acts.

• Performers, such as:
  - Marx Brothers
  - Jack Benny
  - Max Bygraves
  - Paul Daniels
  - Penn and Teller
  - The Chuckle Brothers
  - Ray Allen
  - Paul Zerdin
  - Rod Hull and Emu
  - Morecambe and Wise
  - Mike Yarwood
  - Alistair McGowan
  - Dame Edna Everage
  - Ashley and Pudsey.

A2 Key features and purpose

• Entertainment.
• Comedy.
• Audience participation.
• Shock, spectacle and risk.
• Specialist performance skills.
• Specialist equipment and props.

A3 Venues and contexts

• Live variety shows.
• Televised variety shows.
• Game shows.
• Talent competitions.
• Talk shows.
• Cruise ships.
• Holiday camps.
• After dinner shows.
• Launch events.
• Outdoor events and festivals.
Learning aim B: Develop skills and techniques for variety performance

Learners must participate in technique classes and workshops in order to develop their knowledge, understanding and technical skills in variety performance.

B1 Develop skills and techniques that can be used in a variety act
- Exploration of new skills, such as magic, ventriloquism, impressionism.
- Developing existing skills, such as dance, singing, acting.
- Combining skills, such as dance and comedy, singing and impressionism, magic and acting.
- Collaboration with other performers, such as double act, group.
- Use of equipment, such as puppets, props, staging.

B2 Develop and adapt material for a variety performance
- Using and adapting material, such as:
  - songs
  - sketches
  - choreography
  - dance and movement
  - improvisation
  - experimentation.
- Target audience, e.g. families, adults, teenagers.
- Context and purpose, such as:
  - talent show
  - after dinner performance
  - holiday entertainment.
- Adapting and refining source material and performance, such as:
  - use of language
  - length of piece
  - selection and/or rejection of ideas.

Learning aim C: Apply performance skills and techniques to a variety performance

C1 Apply skills and techniques to a variety act through rehearsal
- Type of act, e.g. ventriloquism, magic, novelty.
- Target audience, e.g. families, adults, teenagers.
- Context of performance, e.g. talent show, corporate after dinner show, festival.
- Venue/performance space, e.g. prosenium arch stage, studio theatre, outdoor space.
- Selection and/or rejection of ideas and material.
- Practising and perfecting skills and material through rehearsal.
- Working with props equipment and/or production elements.
- Dry runs.
- Feedback from peers.
- Refining performance in response to feedback.

C2 Apply skills and techniques to the performance of a variety act
- Technical skills, such as:
  - physical techniques
  - vocal techniques
  - specialist techniques.
• Communication/performance skills, such as:
  o stage presence
  o energy and focus
  o working the audience
  o interaction with and responsiveness to other performers
  o timing
  o communication of ideas
  o meaning and mood.
• Use of production elements, such as:
  o manipulation and control of props or equipment
  o use of lighting and/or sound
  o use of costume.

Learning aim D: Review personal development and own performance

D1 Review and evaluate development and application of skills and techniques for a variety act

Learners must track their progress during this unit, reflecting on and evaluating the application and development of their skills and techniques during workshops, rehearsal and final variety performance, presenting the information in a performance log that includes a combination of recorded evidence and supporting annotations.

• Communication of creative intentions.
• Technical skills.
• Performance skills.
• Development and application of skills and techniques with reference to purpose and target audience.
• Performance material.
• Feedback.
• Target setting.
• Strengths.
• Areas for improvement.

Resource requirements

For this unit, learners must have access to:

- online resources for research
- a studio space to support the development and rehearsal of practical performance material
- video recording and playback facilities to support learners’ development throughout the unit and for recording of final performance
- an internet connection and digital resources
- blogging programs and basic video-editing equipment to enable learners to keep digital reflective performers’ logs, if appropriate.

Essential information for assessment decisions

Learning aim A

For distinction standard, learners must present a detailed and comprehensive account of variety performance. A thorough understanding of features, purpose, types of acts and historical and contemporary practices will be presented in the work, including reference to specific contexts, such as talent shows, holiday camps and televised shows. Examples of selected variety acts, a minimum of three, will be gathered through effective exploratory research and will be used to compare and contrast features, such as specialist performance, creative skills and use of equipment and props. The work will be presented to a high standard and include a well-argued, evaluative commentary with effective use of subject-specific terminology, relevant presentation techniques, for example, practical demonstrations, and a good use of grammar.

For merit standard, learners must present a detailed understanding of variety performance with reference to features, purpose, types of acts and historical and contemporary practices. Specific contexts, such as talent shows, holiday camps and televised variety shows will be included. Examples of selected variety acts, a minimum of three, will be gathered through effective exploratory research and will be used to analyse key features, such as the use of specialist performance skills, equipment and props. The work will be detailed, using relevant presentation techniques, for example, photographic evidence and practical demonstrations, and an accurate use of subject-specific terminology.

For pass standard, learners must present an understanding of variety performance. Information on key features, purpose, types of acts, historical and contemporary practices with reference to specific contexts will be included in the work, with use of examples gathered through exploratory research. The work may lack detail, but will be presented to a satisfactory standard with use of subject-specific terminology.

Learning aims B and C

For distinction standard, learners will demonstrate a creative and innovative response to the selection, development and/or adaptation of performance material(s) with reference to the needs of the target audience, purpose and meaning. Learners will work at a consistently high level during workshops, rehearsals and performance tasks, developing existing skills and combining new ones to enhance their performance techniques. They will self-manage their development and application of skills and techniques using the support of peers and teachers, actively seeking feedback and self-evaluating their performance and development. The variety act will be presented with fluency and attention to detail. Performance skills will be applied in an assured manner to imaginatively communicate the creative intentions of the piece.

For merit standard, learners will demonstrate a considered approach to the selection, development and/or adaptation of material(s) with reference to the needs of the target audience, purpose and meaning. Learners will develop and apply existing and new skills and techniques during workshops and rehearsals, contributing to the development of the work by inputting ideas.
and recognising opportunities for improvement. The variety act will be presented with creativity and attention to detail. Performance skills will be applied in a secure manner to communicate the creative intentions of the piece.

For pass standard, learners will demonstrate the ability to select, develop and/or adapt material(s) with reference to the needs of the target audience and purpose of the variety performance. Learners will develop and apply existing and new skills and techniques during workshops, rehearsals and the final performance. Performance skills will be applied during the variety act in a secure and appropriate manner. Any errors or inaccuracies will not detract from the overall performance.

Learning aim D

For distinction standard, learners must produce a performance log with clear and accurate reference to the methods used for selection and adaptation of material for a variety performance, using the knowledge and understanding developed from learning aim A. Evaluation of their strengths, and an understanding of improvements that need to be made, will be clearly documented as well as feedback, audience reaction, personal development and target setting linked to professional practice. Work will be communicated in a well-structured and meaningful manner. Learners will use subject-specific terminology, demonstrate a good use of grammar and effective presentation techniques.

For merit standard, learners must produce a performance log that demonstrates an understanding of the skills and techniques required to develop a variety act. Analysis of their strengths, areas for improvement from feedback and audience reaction will have been used to set targets and support personal development and professional practice. Information will be presented coherently and will demonstrate a good use of grammar.

For pass standard, learners must produce a performance log that demonstrates the development and application of performance skills and techniques relevant to a variety act. Reference to strengths, areas for improvement, feedback, audience reaction and personal development will have been made to inform contents. The performance log may lack detail and there will be an inconsistent use of grammar.

Unit 29: Storytelling

Level: 3
Unit type: Internal
Guided learning hours: 60

Unit in brief

Learners explore traditional stories and develop techniques in performing existing written pieces to a target audience.

Unit introduction

Storytelling is one of the oldest performance activities known to any culture. Throughout history stories have been told to entertain, educate and help people make sense of their world. This unit will introduce you to storytelling as a performance art. You will investigate the features of traditional stories and develop an understanding of the purpose. Through practical application you will explore existing stories in order to develop a chosen example for performance to a target audience.

In this unit, you will investigate the origins of traditional stories. By considering the purpose, as well as analysing their key features, you will gain an understanding of common structures, themes, settings and characters. You will consider the role of storytelling in performing arts and develop skills on how to adapt existing stories to meet the needs of specific audiences. You will develop strong vocal and movement techniques to recreate different characters, moods and settings to support your performance. Throughout your learning you will reflect on your progress as you develop skills and techniques, setting targets and reviewing these.

As a performing arts practitioner you will need to develop strong interpretative and communication skills to support working with text and stimulus. This unit will develop these skills and those used by professional storytellers for performance across a range of entertainment contexts, supporting application and progression to performing arts qualifications.

Learning aims

In this unit you will:

A Understand storytelling, traditional stories and their qualities
B Develop storytelling techniques for performance
C Apply storytelling techniques to a performance
D Review personal development and own performance.

Content

Learning aim A: Understand storytelling, traditional stories and their qualities

A study of the features of a minimum of three traditional stories and context for storytelling must be carried out, allowing for effective analysis, evaluation and understanding.

A1 Explore the features of traditional stories

- Fairy stories, e.g. Hansel and Gretel, Bluebeard, The Sea Maiden.
- Fables, e.g. The Tortoise and the Hare, Androcles and the Lion.
- Features, such as:
  - structure – exposition, rising action, conflict, climax/crisis, falling action, resolution, denouement, use of repetition
  - themes – origins of the world, good triumphs over evil, romance, cautionary tales, quests and journeys, rewards and/or punishments, magical items
  - characters – heroes/heroines, villains, magicians, demons, ghosts, extraordinary creatures, fairies, goblins, talking animals, wise ones, people in danger
  - settings – ordinary, extraordinary, magical kingdoms, dark forests, ‘long-long ago’, ‘far-far-away’
  - style – comic, serious, tragic, melodramatic.

A2 Context for storytelling

- Purpose:
  - educate
    - explaining concepts, e.g. life and death
    - passing on wisdom to younger generations
    - links to school curriculum
  - entertain
    - excitement, e.g. audience at the ‘edge of their seats’
    - fear
    - laughter
    - escape to a different time and place
  - communicate
    - capturing a moment in time
    - sharing beliefs
    - morals and ethics
    - stimulating the listener’s imagination.
- Events and venues:
  - festivals
  - schools
  - museums and galleries
  - storytelling cafes
  - ghost walks.

Learning aim B: Develop storytelling techniques for performance

B1 Explore stories that can be used for a specific audience

- Traditional stories.
- Classic novels.
- Fiction.
- Non-fiction.
- Children’s stories.
• Educational.
• Poems.
• Target audience, such as age, gender, culture, race, disability.
• Purpose, e.g. educate, entertain, communicate.

B2 Explore and develop storytelling techniques
Learners must participate in technique classes and workshops in order to develop their knowledge, understanding and technical skills.

• Performance techniques, e.g. create different characters, create settings and moods.
• Interaction/relationship with audience.
• Vocal techniques, such as:
  o pitch
  o tone
  o pause and expression
  o rhythm and pace
  o volume.
• Movement techniques, such as:
  o gesture
  o movement
  o body language.
• Use of performance space, such as:
  o formal
  o informal o indoors
  o outdoors
  o proximity to audience.
• Use of props, lighting and sound effects, such as:
  o to create mood
  o atmosphere and setting
  o to add tension
  o to punctuate the performance.

Learning aim C: Apply storytelling techniques to a performance

C1 Select and adapt material during rehearsal for a performance
• Use of language, e.g. age appropriate, culturally sensitive.
• Length of the piece, e.g. holding the attention of the audience, keeping in line with given time constraints for the performance.
• Selection and/or rejection of ideas.
• Practising and perfecting material.
• Dry runs.
• Feedback from peers.
• Refining performance style and material in response to feedback.

C2 Performance to a target audience
• Setting and characters, e.g. use of the original setting and characters or creating a new setting and characters.
• Performance techniques to suit the material and the target audience, e.g. pace, facial expression, gesture, vocal control and expression, movement and stillness.
• Use of props, lighting and sound effects.
• Audience participation.
Learning aim D: Review personal development and own performance

D1 Review and evaluate development and application of storytelling techniques

Learners must track their progress during this unit, reflecting and evaluating on the development and application of storytelling techniques during workshops, rehearsal and final performance, presenting the information in a performance log that includes a combination of recorded evidence and supporting annotations.

- Exploratory skills, e.g. material for performance.
- Development skills, e.g. selecting and adapting material, needs of the audience, purpose/context of the performance.
- Performance skills, e.g. vocal, movement and interpretive skills.
- Feedback, e.g. audience reaction.
- Target setting.
- Strengths.
- Areas for improvement.

Essential information for assignments

The recommended structure of assessment is shown in the unit summary along with suitable forms of evidence. Section 6 gives information on setting assignments and there is further information on our website.

There is a maximum number of three summative assignments for this unit. The relationship of the learning aims and criteria is:

- Learning aim: A (A.P1, A.M1, A.D1)
- Learning aims: B and C (B.P2, B.P3, C.P4, C.P5, B.M2, C.M3, BC.D2)
- Learning aim: D (D.P6, D.M4, D.D3)
Further information for teachers and assessors

Resource requirements

For this unit, learners must have access to:

- a studio space large enough to allow learners to carry out practical storytelling activities, e.g. drama studio or large classroom
- a performance space appropriate to the chosen purpose of the assignment to be carried out for learning aims B and C – this doesn’t need to be a traditional theatre space as storytelling can take place in a range of venues
- a range of traditional stories
- props, lighting and sound effects as appropriate
- video recording and playback facilities to support learners’ development throughout the unit and for recording of final performance
- an internet connection and digital resources
- blogging programs and basic video-editing equipment to enable learners to keep digital performers’ logs, if appropriate.

Essential information for assessment decisions

Learning aim A

For distinction standard, learners must present a detailed and comprehensive account of the key features and purposes of traditional stories. A thorough understanding of structures, themes, characters, settings and styles will be presented in the work; this will include reference to contexts and purpose, such as performance in a school to educate learners. Examples of selected stories (a minimum of three) will be gathered through effective exploratory research and will be used to compare and contrast key features. The work will be presented to a high standard and will include a well-argued, evaluative commentary with effective use of subject-specific terminology, relevant presentation techniques, for example, practical demonstrations and a good use of grammar.

For merit standard, learners must present an analysis of the key features and purposes of traditional stories. An understanding of structures, themes, characters, settings and styles will be presented in the work. Reference to the contexts and purpose of stories will be made, comparing examples from selected stories to illustrate an understanding of how they can educate, entertain and communicate. The work will be detailed, using relevant presentation techniques, for example, photographic evidence and practical demonstrations, and an accurate use of subject-specific terminology.

For pass standard, learners must present information on the key features and purpose of traditional stories. An understanding of different types of stories with reference to context and purpose will be presented with use of examples gathered through exploratory research. The work may lack detail, but will be presented to a satisfactory standard with use of subject-specific terminology.

Learning aims B and C

For distinction standard, learners will demonstrate in their work a creative response to the development of material based on a selected piece from a minimum shortlist of three stories. Learners will work at a high level during workshops, rehearsals and performance tasks. They will self-manage their development and application of techniques, using the support of peers and teachers, actively seeking feedback and self-evaluating their performance and development. The performance will demonstrate a creative response to the development of material; any adaptations made to the original will be appropriate and enhance the final performance work. The needs of the target audience will be considered and met, and the purpose of the story will be clearly demonstrated in the final performance. Vocal and movement skills will be applied in a confident, assured and imaginative manner to effectively and creatively communicate setting, mood and characters to the target audience.
For merit standard, learners will show a considered approach to the development of material. The selection and rejection of material and ideas will be justified with reference to the needs of the target audience and the purpose of the selected piece. Any adaptations made to the chosen story will be appropriately considered. Learners will develop and apply storytelling techniques during workshops and rehearsals, contributing to the development of the work by inputting ideas and recognising opportunities for improvement. The final performance will be presented with clarity and attention to detail. Vocal and movement skills will be applied in a secure manner to communicate the setting, mood and characters.

For pass standard, learners will demonstrate an ability to select, develop and/or adapt material(s), in line with the needs of the target audience and purpose of the performance. Learners will develop and apply storytelling techniques during workshops, rehearsals and the final performance. Vocal and movement skills will be applied during the performance in a secure and appropriate manner. Any errors or inaccuracies will not detract from the overall performance work.

Learning aim D

For distinction standard, learners must produce a performance log with clear and accurate reference to the methods used for selection and adaption of material for a performance using the knowledge and understanding developed from learning aim A. The performance log will include an evaluation of their strengths, and an understanding of improvements that need to be made. Response to feedback, audience reaction, personal development and target setting will be documented and linked to professional practice. Work will be communicated in a well-structured and meaningful manner. Learners will use subject-specific terminology and demonstrate a good use of grammar.

For merit standard, learners must produce a performance log that demonstrates an understanding of the skills and techniques required to develop a performance. The analysis of their strengths, areas for improvement and audience reaction will have been used to set targets and support personal development and professional practice. Information will be presented coherently and with good use of grammar.

For pass standard, learners must produce a performance log that demonstrates development and application of storytelling techniques. Reference to strengths, areas for improvement, audience reaction and personal development will have been made to inform contents. The performance log will lack detail and there will be an inconsistent use of subject-specific terminology.

Unit 30: Audio Performance

Level: 3
Unit type: Internal
Guided learning hours: 60

Unit in brief

Learners develop audio acting skills and techniques and apply them to a recorded audio performance.

Unit introduction

Employment opportunities for performers in the area of audio acting are many and varied. The increased number of radio stations, use of voiceovers in advertising, sustained demand for radio drama, growth in the demand for talking books, and the popularity of character-based video games have enabled actors to broaden their range of work.

In this unit, you will be introduced to the skills and techniques employed in audio acting. By considering and analysing the key features of audio acting you will gain an understanding of the particular skills needed by the audio actor. You will explore and develop audio acting skills in the recording studio before applying them to a recorded audio performance. You will reflect on your progress as you develop and apply skills and techniques, setting targets and reviewing your progress.

The skills you develop in this unit will support your development as a performer by improving your vocal performance techniques, understanding of text-based performance work and interpretative acting skills. As a performing arts practitioner working with audio acting techniques, you will need to build on and develop strong vocal and characterisation skills. This unit is for you if you want to progress to a career in the performing arts or if you are considering further study.

Learning aims

In this unit you will:

A  Understand the features of audio acting for a recorded performance
B  Develop audio acting skills and techniques for a recorded performance
C  Apply audio acting skills and techniques to a recorded performance
D  Review personal development and own performance.

Content

Learning aim A: Understand the features of audio acting for a recorded performance

Study of performance genres, context and key features of audio acting, with reference to examples from the following content, must be carried out, allowing for effective analysis, evaluation and understanding of recorded performances.

A1 Explore performance genres and context of audio acting in a recorded performance

- Radio, such as serial drama, plays, comedy, advertisements, interviews.
- Audiobooks, such as: novels, short stories, poetry.
- Television, such as documentary voiceover, advertisements, audio description, animated characters.
- Film, such as animated characters.
- Voiceovers/narration.
- Multimedia.

A2 Key features of audio acting for recorded performance

- Multi-character work, such as changing tone, pitch and/or accent, differentiate among characters.
- Conveying a setting or period through sound, such as changing the quality of the voice to suggest different settings – indoor, outdoor, large space, intimate space.
- Recording fragments of text to be edited into longer pieces, such as maintaining the meaning/coherence of the text, recording dialogue with an absent or pre-recorded character.
- Multiple takes, such as maintaining focus and concentration during multiple takes, responding to direction.
- Working sonic elements – sound effects, music and ambient noise, such as interacting with live effects, interacting with recorded effects.

Learning aim B: Develop audio acting skills and techniques for a recorded performance

Learners must participate in technique classes and workshops in order to develop their knowledge, understanding and technical skills.

B1 Explore and develop vocal skills for a recorded performance

Learners should be able to develop audio acting skills and control their voice during a performance.

- Vocal techniques, such as:
  - tone and pitch
  - inflection and dynamics
  - accent and dialect
  - pace and rhythm
  - register
  - articulation
  - breathing
  - character (class, status, nationality/region)
  - vowel sounds
  - differentiation of individual voices.
UNIT 30: AUDIO PERFORMANCE

B2 Develop technical and interpretative skills
- Technical skills, such as:
  - working with microphones – interaction with microphone (rather than other performers), techniques to suggest distance or intimacy, producing a clean take
  - sight-reading and speed learning – accuracy, communicating meaning, working from a script, e.g. turning pages silently, maintaining vocal character between takes
  - working with studio technicians – responding to instructions, evaluating different takes, responding to feedback and direction.
- Interpretative skills, such as:
  - genre, e.g. radio, film
    - solo
    - ensemble
  - meaning
  - context
  - characterisation.

Learning aim C: Apply audio acting skills and techniques to a recorded performance

C1 Application of skills and techniques for a recorded performance through rehearsal
- Development of performance work, relevant to the specific role being carried out.
- Appropriate preparation for rehearsal.
- Understanding of the structure of a rehearsal and how this is used to develop and apply skills to a recorded performance.
- Commitment to the task or activity.
- Responding to peer and teacher instructions/corrections.
- Receiving and giving positive and constructive feedback.
- Working independently.
- Working cooperatively with others.
- Contributing and accepting ideas.
- Selection and rejection of ideas.
- Repeating and revisiting material.
- Reviewing and adjusting material.

C2 Application of skills and techniques to a recorded performance
Learners should be able to demonstrate the application of audio acting skills and techniques (appropriate to role and context).
- Skills and techniques to suit the genre, context and purpose.
- Appropriate use of vocal skills, such as tone and pitch, inflection and dynamics, accent and dialect, pace and rhythm, register, playing and alternating different roles/characters with the voice.
- Interpretative skills.
- Technical skills, such as microphone techniques to ensure a useable and effective recording, response to instructions, interaction with live/recorded sound.
- Communicating ideas, emotions and expressions appropriate to the situation and circumstances.
- Relationship with other performers, situation and circumstances.
Learning aim D: Review personal development and own performance

D1 Review and evaluate development and application of audio acting skills and techniques

Learners must track their progress during this unit, reflecting and evaluating on the development and application of audio acting skills and techniques during workshops, rehearsal and final performance, presenting the information in a performance log that includes a combination of recorded evidence and supporting annotations.

- Development of skills and techniques with reference to performance genre and context.
- Creative skills.
- Performance.
- Audience reaction.
- Feedback.
- Target setting.
- Strengths.
- Areas for improvement

Further information for teachers and assessors

Resource requirements

For this unit, learners must have access to:

- a recording studio, or facilities to record sound, to allow learners to carry out a range of practical activities and a recorded audio performance
- recordings of radio drama, audiobooks and examples of voiceover work
- a range of texts and scripts
- an internet connection and digital resources
- blogging programs and basic video-editing equipment to enable learners to keep digital performers’ logs, if appropriate.

Essential information for assessment decisions

Learning aim A

For distinction standard, learners must present a detailed, comprehensive account of the key features of audio acting for a recorded performance. An understanding of performance types that use audio acting skills and techniques will be evident in the work. Examples of performance genre and context, for example the use of radio for presenting, interviews and advertising, will be gathered through effective exploratory research and will be used to compare and contrast features such as character work, settings, meaning and purpose. The work will be presented to a high standard and will include a well-argued, evaluative commentary with effective use of subject-specific terminology, relevant presentation techniques and a good use of grammar.

For merit standard, learners must present a detailed understanding of audio performance with reference to key features, meaning and purpose. Examples of types of performance genres, for example the use of radio for advertising and television for documentary work, will be gathered through effective exploratory research and will be used to analyse features such as character work and vocal skills. The work will be detailed, presented to a high standard and will include accurate use of subject-specific terminology.

For pass standard, learners must present an understanding of audio performance with reference to examples of performance genres and key features, such as character work and vocal skills, gathered through exploratory research. The work may lack detail, but will be presented to a satisfactory standard with use of subject-specific terminology.

Learning aims B and C

For distinction standard, learners will demonstrate a proactive approach to the development and application of audio acting skills and techniques such as vocal, working with microphones and sight-reading. They will work at a consistently high level during practical activities, research, creative development and rehearsals, producing a recorded performance that demonstrates purpose and meaning relevant to the selected performances’ genre and context. Learners will self-manage their development and application of skills and techniques using the support of peers and teachers, actively seeking feedback and self-evaluating their performance and development. The audio acting skills will be applied in a confident, fluent and imaginative manner to realise a highly effective recorded performance genre.

For merit standard, learners will demonstrate a considered approach to the development of audio acting skills. They will effectively develop and apply vocal and interpretative skills and techniques during practical activities and rehearsal to produce a recorded performance communicating meaning and purpose. Learners will actively contribute to development of the work by inputting ideas and recognising opportunities for improvement. Skills will be applied in a secure and effective manner to realise an effective recorded performance genre.
For pass standard, learners will demonstrate the ability to apply audio skills when preparing material for a recorded performance. Exploration and planning will be completed by learners to support the development and application of skills and techniques during rehearsal and the final recorded performance. Vocal and interpretative skills will be applied in a competent manner, supporting the performer in producing a creative realisation of the recorded performance genre.

Learning aim D

For distinction standard, learners must produce a performance log with clear and accurate reference to the methods used for selection, development and application of skills and techniques for a recorded performance, using the knowledge and understanding developed from learning aim A. The work will include an evaluation of their strengths, and an understanding of improvements that need to be made. Response to feedback, audience reaction, personal development and target setting will be documented and linked to professional practice. Work will be communicated in a well-structured and meaningful manner. Learners will use subject-specific terminology and a good use of grammar.

For merit standard, learners must produce a performance log demonstrating understanding of the skills and techniques required to develop a recorded performance. The analysis of their strengths, areas for improvement and audience reaction will be used to set targets and support personal development and professional practice. They will present information coherently and demonstrate a good use of grammar and subject-specific terminology.

For pass standard, learners must produce a performance log demonstrating the development and application of skills and techniques used for a recorded performance. Reference to their strengths, areas for improvement, audience reaction and personal development will be made to inform the contents of the performance log. The work may lack detail and there will be an inconsistent use of subject-specific terminology.

Unit 31: Stand-up Comedy Technique

Level: 3
Unit type: Internal
Guided learning hours: 60

Unit in brief

Learners develop their stand-up comedy techniques through practical application to a final performance.

Unit introduction

Stand-up comedy is a popular form of performing arts. In this unit, you will develop skills and techniques in stand-up comedy through research, development and application. You will gain an understanding of the development of this performance type and key features that contribute to a successful stand-up comedy performance.

In this unit, you will investigate and research a range of stand-up styles, techniques and material to gain an understanding of what makes a successful routine. You will research and understand the origins of these techniques, the ways they have developed over time and the key features that make a stand-up routine successful. You will take part in classes that will teach you techniques, such as the one-liner, anecdotes, sight gags, character-based and improvisational comedy and apply your skills in rehearsal leading to a final comedy routine. Throughout your learning and development you will be taught how to reflect on your progress and practice which will support your development as an effective performer.

The skills you develop in this unit will allow you to develop your delivery and communication skills that will support your application and progression to further study in performing arts.

Learning aims

In this unit you will:
A Understand the key features of historical and contemporary practices of stand-up comedy performance
B Develop stand-up comedy techniques for performance
C Apply stand-up comedy techniques to a performance
D Review personal development and own performance.

B

B1 Explore performance materials and contexts for stand-up comedy performance

B2 Investigate and develop stand-up comedy techniques for performance

Recorded footage that demonstrates the development and application of stand-up comedy techniques for a solo performance (3–5 minutes). Practical exploration and development work. Research and process notes.

C

C1 Select and adapt material during rehearsal for a performance

C2 Application of stand-up comedy techniques to a final performance

D

D1 Review and evaluate development and application of stand-up comedy techniques

Performance log that reviews and evaluates the development and application of stand-up comedy techniques for a solo performance, with reference to knowledge developed from learning aim A, presented using relevant techniques, for example digital, recorded.
Content

Learning aim A: Understand the key features of historical and contemporary practices of stand-up comedy performance

A1 Explore key features, historical and contemporary practices and performance

A study of the key features of historical and contemporary practices, with reference to a minimum of three practitioners, must be carried out, allowing for effective analysis, evaluation and understanding of stand-up comedy performance.

- Comic monologues, e.g. Stanley Holloway.
- Working men’s clubs, e.g. Bobby Thompson, Les Dawson.
- Social comment, e.g. Lenny Bruce, George Carlin, Alexei Sayle.
- Comedy songs, e.g. George Formby, Victoria Wood, Billy Connolly.
- Alternative comedy, e.g. Ben Elton, Dawn French, Jennifer Saunders.
- Character comedy, e.g. Steve Coogan, Harry Enfield.
- The Comedy Store, e.g. Craig Ferguson, Rik Mayall, Adrian Edmondson.
- Physical comedy, e.g. Lee Evans.
- Extended monologues, e.g. Billy Connolly, Shelley Berman.
- Observational comedy, e.g. Peter Kay, Sarah Millican, John Bishop.
- One-liner gags, e.g. Jimmy Carr, Tim Vine, Jo Brand, Paul Chowdhry.
- Deadpan style, e.g. Jack Dee, Steven Wright.
- Improvisational comedy, e.g. Eddie Izzard, Ross Noble.
- Satire/political comedy, e.g. Stewart Lee, Ava Vidal, Shappi Khorsandi.

B1 Investigate and develop stand-up comedy techniques for performance

Learners must participate in technique classes and workshops in order to develop their knowledge, understanding and technical skills.

- Physical techniques, such as:
  - vocal
  - acting
  - vocal and physical expression and exaggeration
  - body language
  - characterisation
  - microphone technique
  - stagecraft and presence
  - timing
  - observation.
• Comedy techniques, such as:
  o audience interaction
  o heckling
  o observation
  o set-up/pay-off
  o ranting
  o style
  o deadpan
  o mimicry
  o satire
  o delivery.

Learning aim C: Apply stand-up comedy techniques to a performance

C1 Select and adapt material during rehearsal for a performance
  • Selecting ideas.
  • Rejecting ideas.
  • Experimenting.
  • Developing.
  • Dry runs.
  • Responding to feedback.
  • Manipulation and use of words.
  • Action and use of body.

C2 Application of stand-up comedy techniques to a final performance
  • Physical skills.
  • Vocal skills.
  • Acting skills.
  • Communication.
  • Timing.
  • Energy and focus.
  • Interaction with, and responsiveness to, audience.
  • Presentation of ideas.

Learning aim D: Review personal development and own performance

D1 Review and evaluate development and application of stand-up comedy techniques
Learners must track their progress during this unit, reflecting and evaluating on the development and application of stand-up comedy skills and techniques during workshops, rehearsal and final performance, presenting the information in a performance log that includes a combination of recorded evidence and supporting annotations.
  • Technical skills, e.g. select and adapt material.
  • Development skills, e.g. stand-up comedy techniques with reference to audience and context.
  • Performance skills, e.g. timing, physicality, expression.
  • Feedback, e.g. audience reaction.
  • Strengths, e.g. technical skills, rapport with audience, performance material.
  • Target setting.
  • Areas for improvement.

There is a maximum number of three summative assignments for this unit. The relationship of the learning aims and criteria is:

Learning aim: A (A.P1, A.M1, A.D1)
Learning aims: B and C (B.P2, B.P3, C.P4, C.P5, B.M2, C.M3, BC.D2)
Learning aim: D (D.P6, D.M4, D.D3)
Further information for teachers and assessors

Resource requirements

For this unit, learners must have access to:

- a space suitable to the development of the work
- a performance space appropriate to the chosen purpose of the assignment to be carried out for learning aims B and C
- recordings covering practitioners and comedy styles
- DVD recording equipment to support learners’ development throughout the unit and for recording of final performance
- internet connection and digital resources
- blogging programs and basic video-editing equipment to enable learners to keep digital performers’ logs if appropriate.

Essential information for assessment decisions

Learning aim A

For distinction standard, learners must present a detailed and comprehensive account of historical and contemporary practices in stand-up comedy. A thorough understanding of the work of practitioners (a minimum of three) and their working practices will be gathered through effective exploratory research and will be used to compare and contrast key features and styles, for example material, delivery and skills, such as timing, physicality and improvisation used during a performance. The work will be presented to a high standard and include a well-argued, evaluative commentary with effective use of subject-specific terminology, relevant presentation techniques, for example, practical demonstrations, and a good use of grammar.

For merit standard, learners must present a detailed understanding of historical and contemporary practices in stand-up comedy using clear examples of practitioners (a minimum of three) and their working practices, gathered through effective exploratory research, who have influenced development and current practice. Reference to a broad range of key features, techniques and styles will be included, for example material, delivery and skills, such as timing, physicality and improvisation used during a performance. The work will be detailed, using relevant presentation techniques, for example, photographic evidence and practical demonstrations, and an accurate use of subject-specific terminology.

For pass standard, learners must present an understanding of the historical and contemporary practices in stand-up comedy, techniques and styles of practitioners. Reference will be made to key features, for example material, delivery and skills, such as timing, physicality and improvisation, used during a performance. The work may lack detail, but will be presented to a satisfactory standard with use of subject-specific terminology.

Learning aims B and C

For distinction standard, learners will demonstrate in their work a creative response to the selection and development of performance material with reference to context for the performance. Learners will work at a consistently high level during workshops, rehearsals and performance tasks. They will self-manage their development and application of stand-up comedy techniques using the support of peers and teachers, actively seeking feedback to support their development and routine. The performance will demonstrate a creative and confident response to the development of material. The needs of the audience and purpose of the performance will have been considered and met. Application of techniques will be clearly demonstrated. Physical, vocal and comedian techniques will be applied in a confident, assured and imaginative manner to effectively and creatively communicate the performance to the target audience.
For merit standard, learners will show a considered approach to the development of performance material with reference to context. The selection and rejection of materials and ideas will be justified in terms of the needs of the audience and purpose of the performance. Any adaptations made to the work will be appropriately considered. Learners will develop and apply stand-up comedy techniques during workshops and rehearsals, contributing to the development of the work by inputting ideas and recognising opportunities for improvement. The final performance will be presented with clarity and attention to detail. Physical and vocal skills and comedian techniques will be applied in a secure manner to communicate the performance to the target audience.

For pass standard, learners will show an ability to select, develop and adapt performance material, in line with the needs of the audience and purpose. Learners will develop and apply stand-up comedy techniques during workshops, rehearsals and the final performance. Physical and vocal skills will be applied during the performance in a secure and appropriate manner. Any errors or inaccuracies will not detract from the overall performance work.

Learning aim D

For distinction standard, learners must produce a performance log with clear, accurate reference to the methods used for selection and adaption of materials to support the development and application of skills and techniques for a performance, using the knowledge and understanding developed from learning aim A. The performance log will include an evaluation of their strengths and an understanding of improvements that need to be made. Audience reaction, feedback, personal development and target setting will be documented and linked to professional practice. Work will be communicated in a well-structured and meaningful manner. Learners will use subject-specific terminology and demonstrate a good use of grammar.

For merit standard, learners must produce a performance log demonstrating an understanding of the skills and techniques required to develop a stand-up comedy performance. The analysis of their strengths, areas for improvement and audience reaction will have been used to set targets and support personal development and professional practice. Information will be presented coherently and with good use of grammar.

For pass standard, learners must produce a performance log demonstrating the development and application of stand-up comedy techniques. Reference to their strengths, areas for improvement, audience reaction and personal development will have been made to inform contents. The performance log will lack detail and there will be an inconsistent use of subject-specific terminology.

Unit 32: Puppetry Technique

Level: 3
Unit type: Internal
Guided learning hours: 60

Unit in brief

Learners develop puppetry skills and techniques through research, investigation and practical application.

Unit introduction

Puppetry has a long and distinguished history in performance. There are many types of puppets, from simple finger puppets to giant machines that require multiple operators. The use of puppetry for adult as well as children’s performances has steadily increased with productions such as War Horse by the Royal National Theatre in association with Handspring Puppet Company. Puppetry is also used in other areas such as carnival and television. In film, the popular Star Wars™ characters of Yoda and Jabba the Hut started life as puppets. In television, puppets have been one of the mainstays of programming for children but examples, such as The Muppets, can appeal to everyone.

In this unit, you will learn to identify the different characteristics of puppetry styles and develop an understanding of how techniques and technical challenges influence the kind of performance experience that can be achieved. You will experiment and explore the physical techniques that enable characters to be transferred from the actor/animator to the puppet itself, producing a puppetry performance for an audience. Throughout your learning and development, you will reflect on your progress and practice, which will support the application of skills and techniques for performance.

In developing your understanding of the successful application of puppetry techniques, you will develop knowledge and skills which are relevant if you are considering progressing to further study in areas including theatre for both children and adults, object theatre, large-scale public projects or traditional theatre.

Learning aims

In this unit you will:

A Understand the use of puppetry in performance
B Develop skills and techniques in puppetry performance
C Apply skills and techniques to a puppetry performance
D Review personal development and own performance.

Content

Learning aim A: Understand the use of puppetry in performance

A study of types of puppets, features and practices, with reference to a minimum of three practitioners must be carried out, allowing for effective analysis, evaluation and understanding.

A1 Types of puppets and features

- Types of puppets, such as:
  - hand or glove puppets, e.g. Punch and Judy, Basil Brush
  - finger puppets, e.g. Fingermouse
  - sock puppets, e.g. Lamb Chop
  - rod puppets, e.g. Sesame Street (Kermit the Frog and others)
  - marionettes or string puppets, e.g. Muffin the Mule, Thunderbirds
  - flat figures, e.g. Victorian toy theatre
  - shadow figures, e.g. Wayang Thailand Shadow Puppet Theatre
  - carnival or body puppet, e.g. Royal de Luxe, The Lion King, Big Bird
  - table-top puppet, e.g. Bunraku
  - ventriloquist’s dummy, e.g. Charlie McCarthy/Edgar Bergen.
- Features, such as materials, size, function, mechanics of manipulation.

A2 Practices and practitioners

- Adult theatre, such as:
  - Handspring Puppet Company, e.g. War Horse, A Midsummer Night’s Dream
  - Wattle and Daub Theatre Company, e.g. Triptych, Tarrare the Freak
  - Thingamajig Theatre, e.g. A November Day, Lost in the Woods
  - Theatre Alibi, e.g. I Believe in Unicorns
  - Box Tail Soup, e.g. Northanger Abbey, Alice’s Adventures in Wonderland
  - Theatre Rites, e.g. Rubbish.
- Children’s theatre, such as:
  - Little Angel Theatre, e.g. Venus and Adonis, Dogs Don’t Do Ballet
  - Pickled Image Theatre Company, e.g. Houdini’s Suitcase, The Shop of Little Horrors
  - Horse + Bamboo, e.g. Company of Angels, Angus – Weaver of Grass, In the Shadow of Trees
  - Puppet Craft, e.g. Nobody Rides the Unicorn, Monkey.
- Television and film, such as:
  - Toby Froud, e.g. Lessons Learned
  - Henson Company, e.g. Sesame Street, The Muppet Show, Star Wars, Labyrinth
  - Jerry Anderson, e.g. Thunderbirds, Stingray
  - Joanne and Michael Cole, e.g. Fingerbobs.
- Practitioners, such as:
  - Jim Henson
  - Fluck and Law
  - Sue Buckmaster
  - Chikamatsu Monzaemon.

Learning aim B: Develop skills and techniques in puppetry performance

B1 Develop skills and techniques in puppetry performance

Learners must participate in puppetry technique classes and workshops in order to develop their knowledge, understanding and technical skills.

- Performer’s relationship with the puppet.
- Use of body, e.g. hands, feet.
Movement, such as precision, dexterity, control, gesture, posture.
Use of voice, such as pace, tone, projection, diction, inflection, dialect, accent.
Use of sound.
Interaction with other performers (puppets/no puppets).
Puppet movement, such as precision, dexterity, control, gesture, posture.
Puppet expression.
Puppet vocal skills.

B2 Develop characterisation
- Personality.
- Idiosyncrasy.
- Emotional qualities.
- Intellectual qualities.
- Audience connection.

Learning aim C: Apply skills and techniques to a puppetry performance

C1 Application of puppetry skills and techniques in rehearsal
- Responding to the brief, e.g. context, purpose, audience.
- Selection, rejection and development of ideas.
- Application of puppetry skills relevant to performance and puppet.
- Scale implications.
- Staging.
- Backstage protocols and planning.
- Use of props, lighting and sound as appropriate.
- Responding to peer and teacher instructions/feedback.
- Working cooperatively with others.
- Contributing to and accepting ideas.
- Awareness of safe practice.

C2 Application of puppetry skills and techniques in performance
- Use of puppet.
- Use of voice.
- Characterisation.
- Movement.
- Focus:
  - creating the illusion of the puppet’s focus of attention
  - maintaining puppet’s life when both active and passive onstage
  - puppet keeping the focus of audience rather than the puppeteer.
- Interaction with others.
- Listening.
- Reception.
- Response.
- Maintaining character and moment.
- Communication of ideas, purpose and meaning to an audience in response to the brief.
- Offstage operation:
  - efficient management of offstage business
  - stage management
  - health and safety practice.
Learning aim D: Review personal development and own performance

Learners must track their progress during this unit, reflecting and evaluating on the application and development of their puppetry skills and techniques during workshops, rehearsal and final performance, presenting the information in a performance log that includes a combination of recorded evidence and supporting annotations.

D1 Review and evaluate development of puppetry skills and techniques in performance
- Technical skills.
- Development skills.
- Strengths.
- Feedback.
- Target setting.
- Areas for improvement.

D2 Review and evaluate application of puppetry skills and techniques in performance
- Technical skills.

Essential information for assignments

The recommended structure of assessment is shown in the unit summary along with suitable forms of evidence. Section 6 gives information on setting assignments and there is further information on our website.

There is a maximum number of three summative assignments for this unit. The relationship of the learning aims and criteria is:

Learning aim: A (A.P1, A.M1, A.D1)
Learning aims: B and C (B.P2, C.P3, C.P4, B.M2, C.M3, BC.D2)
Learning aim: D (D.P5, D.P6, D.M4, D.D3)
Further information for teachers and assessors

Resource requirements

For this unit, learners must have access to:

- a studio space large enough to allow learners to carry out practical activities
- puppets or puppet-making facilities – methods of adapting puppets for performance is highly desirable
- a performance space appropriate for puppet presentation
- lighting and sound resources as appropriate
- video recording and playback facilities to support learners’ development throughout the unit and for recording workshops, and workshop performances for learners to review, as well as the final performance itself
- the internet for research purposes and for access to blog sites and exemplar material
- blogging programs and basic video-editing equipment to enable learners to keep digital performers’ logs, if appropriate.

Essential information for assessment decisions

Learning aim A

For distinction standard, learners must present a detailed and comprehensive account of the key features of puppetry in performance. Exploration of practitioners and practice will be evidenced and supported with well-chosen examples, such as The Muppet Show, The Lion King and War Horse. Comparisons of different types of puppets, features, operational techniques and functions will be made with reference to meaning and purpose during a performance. The work will be presented to a high standard and include a well-argued, evaluative commentary with effective use of subject-specific terminology, relevant presentation techniques, for example practical demonstrations and a good use of grammar.

For merit standard, learners must present a detailed understanding of the key features of puppetry in performance. Examples of performances, such as The Muppet Show, The Lion King and War Horse, will be used to analyse practitioners and practices. Types of puppets, features, function and operational techniques will be presented with reference to performance types. The work will be detailed, using relevant presentation techniques, for example photographic evidence and practical demonstrations, and will demonstrate an accurate use of subject-specific terminology.

For pass standard, learners must present an understanding of the key features of puppetry and performance. Information on types of puppets, features, function and operational techniques will be presented in the work with reference to practice and performance. The work may lack detail, but will be presented to a satisfactory standard with use of subject-specific terminology.

Learning aims B and C

For distinction standard, learners will participate in practical work, showing an informed and imaginative understanding of different puppet styles, skills and operational techniques. Learners will demonstrate creative and fluent application of puppetry skills and operational techniques during rehearsal and performance. This will include expressive and energetic vocal delivery and precise and accurate manipulation skills, which enable sufficient clarity, animated mannerisms and expression of the puppet’s emotional and intellectual character to be communicated. Learners will clearly understand and appreciate the requirement on their part to enable the puppet to become the focus of action and be able to maintain this during their performance. They will understand the need to develop offstage skills for the puppet’s operations to disappear completely from the attention of the audience. Puppetry performance skills and operational techniques will be applied with fluency to communicate creative intentions in an imaginative manner to the target audience.
For merit standard, learners will participate in practical work showing a considered understanding of different puppet styles, skills and operational techniques. Learners will demonstrate the development of convincing and fluent puppetry skills, including effective vocal delivery and dextrous manipulation skills, which enable the puppet’s necessary emotional and intellectual character to be communicated. Learners will demonstrate their understanding of the requirement on their part to enable the puppet to become the focus of the action, and stage skills that allow the puppet’s operation to disappear completely from the attention of the audience during their performance. Puppetry performance techniques will be applied with confidence to effectively communicate creative intentions to the target audience.

For pass standard, learners will participate in practical work, showing an awareness of different puppet styles, skills and operational techniques. Learners will show development of puppetry skills, vocal delivery and precise manipulation which enable communication of the puppet’s character. Learners will demonstrate understanding for the puppet to become the focus of the action and stage management during their performance. Puppetry performance techniques will be applied competently to communicate creative intentions to a target audience.

Learning aim D

For distinction standard, learners must produce a performance log with clear, accurate reference to puppetry skills and operational techniques developed for the communication of character, meaning and purpose during exploration, rehearsal and performance, using the knowledge and understanding developed from learning aim A. The performance log will include an evaluation of their strengths and an understanding of improvements that need to be made. Response to feedback, audience reaction, personal development and target setting will be documented and linked to professional practice. Work will be communicated in a well-structured and meaningful manner. Learners will use subject-specific terminology and good grammar.

For merit standard, learners must produce a performance log that demonstrates an understanding of the development and application of puppetry skills and operational techniques for a performance. The analysis of strengths, areas for improvement and audience reaction will have been used to set targets and support personal development and professional practice. Learners will present information coherently with good use of grammar.

For pass standard, learners must produce a performance log demonstrating the development and application of puppetry skills and operational techniques for a performance. Reference to strengths, areas for improvement, audience reaction and personal development will have been made to inform contents. The performance log will lack detail and there will be inconsistent use of subject-specific terminology.

Unit 33: Performing with Masks

Level: 3
Unit type: Internal
Guided learning hours: 60

Unit in brief

Learners develop their skills and techniques for performing with masks, through research, exploration and performance.

Unit introduction

There are many ways in which masks are used in performance, from commedia dell’arte to children’s theatre. As an actor or dancer you may find yourself performing as an animal, object or distancing yourself from the audience when wearing a mask. Performing with masks may or may not include dialogue. A wide range of mask styles can be used and in each case you will need to understand the physical qualities of the mask, the role you are performing and how to interact with other performers and engage with the audience.

In this unit, you will develop an understanding of the origins and types of masks, the purpose of masks and how they are used as a performance instrument. You will develop skills and techniques in performing with masks, and apply them to your own practical work. You will reflect on your progress as you develop skills and techniques, setting targets and reviewing these.

The skills that you develop in this unit will broaden your appreciation of the physicality of the performer. These transferable skills will support your progression to further study or employment across a broad range of performance styles.

Learning aims

In this unit you will:
A  Understand performance practices using masks
B  Develop skills and techniques for performing with masks
C  Apply skills and techniques to a mask performance
D  Review personal development and own performance.

Learning aim A: Understand performance practices using masks

A1 Investigate performance practices, mask styles and materials

Study of performance practices using masks, mask styles and materials must be carried out, allowing for effective analysis, evaluation and understanding of performing with masks.

- Performance practices, such as:
  - children’s theatre and television
  - theatre, e.g. education and workshops
  - indoor and outdoor performance
  - musical theatre
  - physical theatre
  - urban dance.

- Mask styles, such as:
  - ceremonial
  - chorus
  - full face
  - half face
  - full head
  - animal
  - character
  - neutral
  - larval
  - symbolic
  - face paint, e.g. masquerade.

- Mask materials, such as:
  - skin and hide
  - feather and fur
  - wood
  - leather
  - cloth
  - paper and card
  - papier mâché
  - clay
  - plaster
  - fibreglass
  - wire
  - plastic.

Learning aim B: Develop skills and techniques for performing with masks

B1 Explore context, audience and purposes for performing with masks

- Companies, production and styles.
- Performance, such as:
  - theatre, e.g. Horse + Bamboo
  - musical theatre, e.g. The Lion King
  - physical theatre, e.g. Hanging Around (Trestle)
  - street dance, e.g. JabbaWockeeZ
  - ballet, e.g. The Tales of Beatrix Potter.
- Workshops, such as:
  - Theatre in Education (TIE)
  - masterclasses.
UNIT 33: PERFORMING WITH MASKS

- Outdoor performance.
- Carnival, e.g. Rio.
- Site specific, e.g. Punchdrunk.
- Target audience, such as age, gender, culture, race, disability.
- Purposes, such as ceremony, chorus, ritual, theatre masquerade, carnival, clowning, disguise, characterisation.

B2 Development of skills and techniques for performing with masks
Learners must participate in technique classes and workshops in order to develop their knowledge, understanding and technical skills.
- Putting on/taking off the mask in performance.
- Performer’s relationship with the mask.
- Developing character with the mask.
- Performing to an audience with a mask – physical skills such as: use of face, emotional expression, use of body, creating character, use of voice, use of sound/music, interaction with other performers (masked/unmasked).
- Animating the mask, such as routines, working with music, working with props, working with costumes, vocal techniques, creating mask performance, physicality.

Learning aim C: Apply skills and techniques to a mask performance

C1 Application of skills and techniques for performing with masks through rehearsal
- Awareness of safe practice.
- Focus and concentration.
- Responding to peer and teacher instructions/feedback.
- Receiving and giving positive and constructive feedback.
- Selection and rejection of ideas.
- Working cooperatively with others.
- Contributing to and accepting ideas.
- Application of appropriate and relevant skills, techniques and performance skills.

C2 Application of skills and techniques for performing with masks through performance
- Context.
- Purpose.
- Performance skills, such as use of body, use of voice, characterisation, timing.
- Interaction with others, masked/unmasked.
- Communication of ideas, purpose and meaning to an audience.
- Audience reaction.

Learning aim D: Review personal development and own performance

D1 Review and evaluate development and application of skills and techniques used for performing with masks Learners must track their progress during this unit, reflecting and evaluating the application and development of their skills and techniques during workshops, rehearsal and final performance, presenting the information in a performance log that includes a combination of recorded evidence and supporting annotations.
- Technical skills.
- Development skills.
- Performance skills.
- Feedback.
- Strengths.
- Target setting.
- Areas for improvement.

Essential information for assessment decisions

Learning aim A

For distinction standard, learners must present a detailed and comprehensive account of performance practices using masks. They will present a thorough understanding of mask styles and construction materials in their work. Examples of performances using masks, a minimum of three, will be gathered through effective exploratory research and will be used to compare and contrast key features. The work will be presented to a high standard and will include a well-argued, evaluative commentary with effective use of subject-specific terminology, relevant presentation techniques, for example, practical demonstrations, and a good use of grammar.

For merit standard, learners must present a detailed understanding of performance practices with masks. Information on mask styles and construction will be presented in the work. Examples of performances using masks, a minimum of three, will be gathered through effective exploratory research and will be used to analyse key features. The work will be detailed, using relevant presentation techniques, for example, photographic evidence and practical demonstrations, and demonstrate an accurate use of subject-specific terminology.

For pass standard, learners must present an understanding of performance practices using masks. They will present an understanding of mask styles and construction materials in their work, with reference to selected examples of performances. The work may lack detail, but will include subject-specific terminology.

Learning aims B and C

For distinction standard, learners will participate in exploratory and practical work, showing an informed and imaginative understanding of different contexts, purpose and target audience when developing and applying skills and techniques for mask performance. They will work consistently during workshops and rehearsals, self-managing their development with reference to the function of the mask and performance type. Learners will creatively select effective skills and techniques and show full commitment to their development in response to feedback from others. Mask performance techniques will be applied with fluency to communicate purpose and creative intentions in an imaginative manner to a target audience.

For merit standard, learners will participate in exploratory and practical work, showing a considered understanding of different contexts, purpose and target audience when developing and applying skills and techniques for mask performance. They will develop and apply techniques during workshops and rehearsals, contributing to the development of the work by sharing ideas and recognising opportunities for improvement with reference to mask and performance type. Learners will select skills and techniques, developing these in response to feedback from others. Mask performance techniques will be applied with confidence to effectively communicate purpose and creative intentions to a target audience.
For pass standard, learners will participate in exploratory and practical work, showing an understanding of contexts, purpose and target audience when developing and applying skills and techniques to a mask performance. Learners will develop their performance techniques during workshops and rehearsals and respond to feedback from others to support progress. Mask performance techniques will be applied competently, communicating purpose and creative intentions to a target audience.

Learning aim D

For distinction standard, learners must produce a performance log with clear, accurate reference to the methods used for selection, application and development of skills and techniques for a mask performance, using the knowledge and understanding developed from learning aim A. The performance log will include an evaluation of their strengths, and an understanding of improvements that need to be made. Audience reaction, feedback, personal development and target setting will be documented and linked to professional practice. Work will be communicated in a well-structured and meaningful manner. Learners will use subject-specific terminology and good grammar.

For merit standard, learners must produce a performance log that demonstrates an understanding of the skills and techniques required and develop and apply these to a masked performance. Analysis of strengths, areas for improvement and audience reaction will be used to set targets and support personal development and professional practice. Learners will present information coherently and with good use of grammar.

For pass standard, learners must produce a performance log that demonstrates the development and application of mask performance techniques. Reference to their strengths, areas for improvement, audience reaction and personal development will have been made to inform content. The performance log will lack detail and there will be an inconsistent use of subject-specific terminology.

Links to other units

This unit links to:
- Unit 19: Acting Styles
- Unit 24: Children’s Theatre Performance
- Unit 28: Variety Performance
- Unit 29: Storytelling.

Employer involvement

This unit will benefit from employer involvement in the form of:
- guest speakers
- contribution to the setting of the assignment briefs, e.g. ‘Live Projects’/Commissions
- participation in review of performances
- work experience.
4 Planning your programme

How do I choose the right BTEC National qualification for my learners?

BTEC Nationals come in a range of sizes, each with a specific purpose. You will need to assess learners very carefully to ensure that they start on the right size of qualification to fit into their 16–19 study programme, and that they take the right pathways or optional units that allow them to progress to the next stage.

Some learners may want to take a number of complementary qualifications or keep their progression options open. These learners may be suited to taking a BTEC National Certificate or Extended Certificate. Learners who then decide to continue with a fuller vocational programme can transfer to a BTEC National Diploma or Extended Diploma, for example for their second year.

Some learners are sure of the sector they want to work in and are aiming for progression into that sector via higher education. These learners should be directed to the two-year BTEC National Extended Diploma as the most suitable qualification.

As a centre, you may want to teach learners who are taking different qualifications together. You may also wish to transfer learners between programmes to meet changes in their progression needs. You should check the qualification structures and unit combinations carefully as there is no exact match among the different sizes. You may find that learners need to complete more than the minimum number of units when transferring.

When learners are recruited, you need to give them accurate information on the title and focus of the qualification for which they are studying.

Is there a learner entry requirement?

As a centre it is your responsibility to ensure that learners who are recruited have a reasonable expectation of success on the programme. There are no formal entry requirements but we expect learners to have qualifications at or equivalent to Level 2.

Learners are most likely to succeed if they have:

- five GCSEs at good grades and/or
- BTEC qualification(s) at Level 2
- achievement in English and mathematics through GCSE or Functional Skills.

Learners may demonstrate ability to succeed in various ways. For example, learners may have relevant work experience or specific aptitude shown through diagnostic tests or non-educational experience.

What is involved in becoming an approved centre?

All centres must be approved before they can offer these qualifications – so that they are ready to assess learners and so that we can provide the support that is needed. Further information is given in Section 8.

What level of sector knowledge is needed to teach these qualifications?

We do not set any requirements for teachers but recommend that centres assess the overall skills and knowledge of the teaching team to ensure that they are relevant and up to date. This will give learners a rich programme to prepare them for employment in the sector.

What resources are required to deliver these qualifications?

As part of your centre approval you will need to show that the necessary material resources and work spaces are available to deliver BTEC Nationals. For some units, specific resources are required. This is indicated in the units.

How can myBTEC help with planning for these qualifications?

myBTEC is an online toolkit that supports the delivery, assessment and quality assurance of BTECs in centres. It supports teachers with activities, such as choosing a valid combination of units, creating assignment briefs and creating assessment plans. For further information see Section 10.
Which modes of delivery can be used for these qualifications?
You are free to deliver BTEC Nationals using any form of delivery that meets the needs of your learners. We recommend making use of a wide variety of modes, including direct instruction in classrooms or work environments, investigative and practical work, group and peer work, private study and e-learning.

What are the recommendations for employer involvement?
BTEC Nationals are vocational qualifications and, as an approved centre, you are encouraged to work with employers on the design, delivery and assessment of the course to ensure that learners have a programme of study that is engaging and relevant and that equips them for progression. There are suggestions in many of the units about how employers could become involved in delivery and/or assessment but these are not intended to be exhaustive and there will be other possibilities at local level.

What support is available?
We provide a wealth of support materials, including curriculum plans, delivery guides, authorised assignment briefs, additional papers for external assessments and examples of marked learner work.
You will be allocated a Standards Verifier early on in the planning stage to support you with planning your assessments. There will be extensive training programmes as well as support from our Subject Advisor team.
For further details see Section 10.

How will my learners become more employable through these qualifications?
All BTEC Nationals are mapped to relevant occupational standards (see Appendix 1).
Employability skills, such as team working and entrepreneurialism, and practical hands-on skills have been built into the design of the learning aims and content. This gives you the opportunity to use relevant contexts, scenarios and materials to enable learners to develop a portfolio of evidence that demonstrates the breadth of their skills and knowledge in a way that equips them for employment.
5 Assessment structure and external assessment

Introduction

BTEC Nationals are assessed using a combination of internal assessments, which are set and marked by teachers, and external assessments which are set and marked by Pearson:

- mandatory units have a combination of internal and external assessments
- all optional units are internally assessed.

We have taken great care to ensure that the assessment method chosen is appropriate to the content of the unit and in line with requirements from employers and higher education.

In developing an overall plan for delivery and assessment for the programme, you will need to consider the order in which you deliver units, whether delivery is over short or long periods and when assessment can take place. Some units are defined as synoptic units (see Section 2). Normally, a synoptic assessment is one that a learner would take later in a programme and in which they will be expected to apply learning from a range of units. Synoptic units may be internally or externally assessed. Where a unit is externally assessed you should refer to the sample assessment materials (SAMs) to identify where there is an expectation that learners draw on their wider learning. For internally-assessed units, you must plan the assignments so that learners can demonstrate learning from across their programme. A unit may be synoptic in one qualification and not another because of the relationship it has to the rest of the qualification.

We have addressed the need to ensure that the time allocated to final assessment of internal and external units is reasonable so that there is sufficient time for teaching and learning, formative assessment and development of transferable skills.

In administering internal and external assessment, the centre needs to be aware of the specific procedures and policies that apply, for example to registration, entries and results. An overview with signposting to relevant documents is given in Section 7.

Internal assessment

Our approach to internal assessment for these qualifications will be broadly familiar to experienced centres. It offers flexibility in how and when you assess learners, provided that you meet assessment and quality assurance requirements. You will need to take account of the requirements of the unit format, which we explain in Section 3, and the requirements for delivering assessment given in Section 6.

External assessment

A summary of the external assessment for this qualification is given in Section 2. You should check this information carefully, together with the unit specification and the sample assessment materials, so that you can timetable learning and assessment periods appropriately.

Learners must be prepared for external assessment by the time they undertake it. In preparing learners for assessment you will want to take account of required learning time, the relationship with other external assessments and opportunities for retaking. You should ensure that learners are not entered for unreasonable amounts of external assessment in one session. Learners may resit an external assessment to obtain a higher grade of near pass or above. If a learner has more than one attempt, then the best result will be used for qualification grading, up to the permitted maximum. It is unlikely that learners will need to or benefit from taking all assessments twice so you are advised to plan appropriately. Some assessments are synoptic and learners are likely to perform best if these assessments are taken towards the end of the programme.
Key features of external assessment in performing arts

In performing arts, after consultation with stakeholders, we have developed the following.

- Unit 1: Investigating Practitioners’ Work learners will develop skills that allow them to critically analyse the contextual influences on the work of performing arts practitioners and key features, such as creative intentions, performance, production and repertoire in order to develop and communicate independent judgements. The unit will give learners underpinning knowledge and understanding of the work of performing arts practitioners that will that have an important role in informing their own practice.

- Unit 3: Group Performance Workshop learners will develop skills allowing them to respond to a stimulus as part of a group; using research, discussion and practical exploration to develop performance material and present this to an invited audience. In groups, learners will contribute to the creative development and rehearsal process, shaping and refining the work, applying performance and team working skills. This unit will allow learners to develop their personal management and collaborative skills through the process of sharing responsibility for the creative decisions made regarding the nature and direction of the intended performance. Learners are assessed through task(s) set and marked by Pearson and completed under supervised conditions.

- Unit 5: Individual Performance Commission will give learners an understanding of how and why work is commissioned. They will learn how to respond to a commission, using research and practical exploration to create a proposal that explains how and why their ideas meet the objectives of the brief; applying relevant performance skills and techniques to realise their creative response. Learners are assessed through task(s) set and marked by Pearson and completed under supervised conditions.

- Unit 7: Employment Opportunities in the Performing Arts will give learners an understanding of professional business practice in the performing arts industries. They will develop and apply self-promotional skills that allow them to progress into relevant performing arts employment. As part of their development, learners will produce a promotional portfolio that provides evidence of their experience and skills with extracts of practical work suited to the organisation. Learners are assessed through task(s) set and marked by Pearson and completed under supervised conditions.

Units

The externally-assessed units have a specific format which we explain in Section 3. The content of units will be sampled across external assessments over time through appropriate papers and tasks. The ways in which learners are assessed are shown through the assessment outcomes and grading descriptors. External assessments are marked and awarded using the grade descriptors. The grades available are Distinction (D), Merit (M), Pass (P) and Near Pass (N). The Near Pass (N) grade gives learners credit below a Pass, where they have demonstrated evidence of positive performance which is worth more than an unclassified result but not yet at the Pass standard.

Sample assessment materials

Each externally-assessed unit has a set of sample assessment materials (SAMs) that accompanies this specification. The SAMs are there to give you an example of what the external assessment will look like in terms of the feel and level of demand of the assessment. In the case of units containing synoptic assessment, the SAMs will also show where learners are expected to select and apply from across the programme.

The SAMs show the range of possible question types that may appear in the actual assessments and give you a good indication of how the assessments will be structured. While SAMs can be used for practice with learners, as with any assessment the content covered and specific details of the questions asked will change in each assessment.

A copy of each of these assessments can be downloaded from our website. An additional sample of each of the Pearson-set units will be available before the first sitting of the assessment to allow your learners further opportunities for practice.
6 Internal assessment

This section gives an overview of the key features of internal assessment and how you, as an approved centre, can offer it effectively. The full requirements and operational information are given in the BTEC Quality Assurance Handbook available on our website. All members of the assessment team need to refer to this document.

For this qualification, it is important that you can meet the expectations of stakeholders and the needs of learners by providing a programme that is practical and applied. You can tailor programmes to meet local needs and use links with local employers and the wider vocational sector.

When internal assessment is operated effectively, it is challenging, engaging, practical and up to date. It must also be fair to all learners and meet national standards.

Principles of internal assessment

Our approach to internal assessment for this qualification is to offer flexibility in how and when you assess learners, provided that you meet assessment and quality assurance requirements. You will need to take account of the requirements of the unit format, which we explain in Section 3 Units, and the requirements for delivering assessment, given in Section 7 Administrative arrangements.

Operating internal assessment

The assessment team

It is important that there is an effective team for internal assessment so that all assessment is planned and verified. Full information is given in the BTEC Quality Assurance Handbook.

The key roles are:

- the Lead Internal Verifier (Lead IV) for the qualification has overall responsibility for the planning, record keeping and standard setting for the qualification. The Lead IV registers with Pearson annually and organises training using our support materials
- Internal Verifiers (IVs) check that assignments and assessment decisions are valid and that they meet our requirements. In a small team all people will normally be assessors and IVs. No one can verify their own actions as an assessor
- assessors set or use assignments to assess learners to national standards.

Planning and record keeping

The Lead IV makes sure that there is a plan for assessment of the internally-assessed units and maintains records of assessment undertaken.

The key records are:

- verification of assignment briefs
- learner authentication declarations
- assessor decisions on assignments, with feedback given to learners
- verification of assessment decisions.

Examples of records and further information are given in the BTEC Quality Assurance Handbook.

Effective organisation

Internal assessment needs to be well organised so that learners’ progress can be tracked and so that we can monitor that assessment is being carried out in line with national standards. We support you through, for example, providing training materials and sample documentation. Our online myBTEC service can help support you in planning and record keeping. Further information on using myBTEC can be found in Section 10 Resources and support and on our website.

To make sure that learners are able to complete assignments on time, it is particularly important that you manage the overall assessment programme and deadlines.
Learner preparation

To ensure that you provide effective assessment tasks for your learners, you need to make sure that they understand their responsibilities for assessment and the centre’s arrangements.

From induction onwards, you will want to ensure that learners are motivated to work consistently and independently to achieve the requirements of the qualification. Learners need to understand how assessments are used, the importance of meeting assessment deadlines and that all the work submitted for assessment must be their own.

You will need to explain to learners the requirements of assessment and the expected standard that they need to achieve to attain a grade, how assessments relate to the teaching programme and how they should use and reference source materials, including what would constitute plagiarism. You should also set out your approach to operating assessment, such as how learners must submit work and request extensions.

You are encouraged to employ a range of formative assessment approaches as part of teaching and learning before assessing the unitssummatively. Formative assessment supports teaching and learning, and should be ongoing throughout the learning process. It enables tutors to enhance learning by giving learners constructive feedback so that they can identify their strengths and weaknesses, and to put measures in place to target areas that need work. To ensure that learners progress, formative assessment approaches that incorporate reflective learning and regular skills assessment are important in encouraging self-development and reflective practice. You can give feedback on the following:

- technique and skills development
- identifying stretch and challenge.

Setting assessments through assignments

For internally-assessed units, an assessment task is defined as the independent production of evidence, by the learner, during a set period. The format of assessment tasks can include practical, written and observed activities.

An assignment provides the context for assessment tasks and should be issued to learners as a vocational scenario with a defined start date, a completion date and clear requirements for the production of evidence. A valid assessment task will enable a clear, summative assessment of outcomes based on the assessment criteria.

An assessment task in an assignment must be a distinct activity, completed independently by learners. It is a separate, more formal activity but can follow on from teaching activities that learners complete with direction from tutors.

When setting your assignments, you need to work with the information given in the Essential information for assessment decisions and the Assessment activity sections of the units. You can choose to use the suggested scenarios or to adapt them to take account of local circumstances, provided that assignments are verified.

In designing your own assignments you should bear in mind the following points.

- A learning aim must always be assessed as a whole.
- Assessment tasks in assignments must be structured to allow learners to demonstrate the full range of achievement at all grade levels. All learners need to be treated fairly by being given the opportunity to achieve a higher grade if they have the ability.
- Learners should be given clear tasks, activities and structures for evidence, the criteria should not be given as tasks.
- Assessment tasks in assignments provide a final summative assessment of a learning aim.
- Assessment tasks will draw on the specified range of teaching content for the learning aim. The specified teaching content is compulsory. The evidence for assessment need not cover every aspect of the teaching content as learners will normally be given particular examples, case studies or contexts in their assignments. For example, if a learner is carrying out a practical performance, then they must address all the relevant range of content that applies in that instance.
An assignment should have:
- a vocational scenario or context that motivates the learner to apply their learning through the assignment, such as an audience or purpose for which the evidence is being provided
- clear instructions to the learner about what they are required to do, normally set out through a series of tasks.

Forms of evidence

The units allow for a variety of forms of evidence to be used, provided that they are suited to the type of learning aim being assessed. For most units, the practical demonstration of skills is necessary. The units give information on suitable forms of evidence that would give learners the opportunity to apply a range of transferable and sector skills. Centres may choose to use different suitable forms for evidence to those proposed. Overall, learners should be assessed using varied forms of evidence.

The main forms of evidence include:
- projects
- recordings of performance, role play, interviews and practical tasks
- oral or written presentations with assessor questioning
- work logbooks and reflective journals.

It is important to note that an observation record is a source of evidence and does not confer an assessment decision. It must be sufficiently detailed to enable others to make a judgement about the quality and sufficiency of the performance and must document clearly the rationale for the assessment decision. Observation records should be accompanied by supporting evidence, which may take the form of video, audio recordings, photographs, preparation notes, learner logs and other similar types of record.

The form(s) of evidence selected must allow:
- the learner to provide all the evidence required for the learning aim(s) and the associated assessment criteria at all grade levels
- the learner to produce evidence that is their own independent work
- a verifier to independently reassess the learner to check the assessor’s decisions.

Centres need to take particular care in ensuring that learners produce independent work.

Making valid assessment decisions

Assessment decisions through applying unit-based criteria

Assessment decisions for this qualification are based on the specific criteria given in each unit and set at each grade level. The way in which individual units are written provides a balance of assessment of sector-specific knowledge, technical and practical skills, and transferable skills appropriate to the purpose of the qualification.

Pass, Merit and Distinction criteria all relate to individual learning aims. The assessment criteria for a unit are hierarchical and holistic where, in satisfying the M criteria, a learner would also have satisfied the P criteria. The unit assessment grid shows the relationships of the criteria so that assessors can apply all the criteria to the learner’s evidence at the same time.

Assessors must show how they have reached their decisions using the criteria in the assessment records. When a learner has completed all the assessment for a unit then the assessment team will give a grade for the unit. This is given according to the highest level for which the learner is judged to have met all the criteria. Therefore:
- to achieve a Distinction, a learner must have satisfied all the Distinction criteria (and all the Pass and Merit criteria); these define outstanding performance across the unit as a whole
- to achieve a Merit, a learner must have satisfied all the Merit criteria (and all the Pass criteria) through high performance in each learning aim
• to achieve a Pass, a learner must have satisfied all the Pass criteria for the learning aims, showing coverage of the unit content and therefore attainment at Level 3 of the national framework.

The award of a Pass is a defined level of performance and cannot be given solely on the basis of a learner completing assignments.

Learners who do not satisfy the Pass criteria should be reported as Unclassified.

Making assessment decisions using criteria

Assessors should review authenticated learner work and make judgements on standards using the assessment criteria and the supporting information provided in units and training materials. The evidence from a learner can be judged using all the relevant criteria at the same time. The assessor needs to make a judgement against each criterion that evidence is present and sufficiently comprehensive.

Assessors should use the following information and support in reaching assessment decisions:

• the Essential information for assessment decisions section in each unit
• your Lead IV and assessment team’s collective experience, supported by the standardisation materials we provide.

Once the team has agreed the outcome, a formal assessment decision is recorded and reported to learners. The information given:

• must show the formal decision and indicate where criteria have been met
• may show where attainment against criteria has not been demonstrated
• avoid giving direct, specific instructions on how the learner can improve the evidence to achieve a higher grade.

Authenticity of learner work

Assessors must ensure that evidence is authentic to a learner through setting valid assessments and supervising them during the assessment period. Assessors must take care not to provide direct input, instructions or specific feedback that may compromise authenticity.

Once an assessment has begun, learners must not be given feedback that relates specifically to their evidence and how it can be improved, learners must work independently.

An assessor must assess only learner work that is authentic, i.e. learners’ own independent work. Learners must authenticate the evidence that they provide for assessment through signing a declaration stating that it is their own work. Assessors must complete a declaration that:

• the evidence submitted for this assessment is the learner’s own
• the learner has clearly referenced any sources used in the work
• they understand that false declaration is a form of malpractice.

Centres can use Pearson templates or their own templates to document authentication. During assessment, an assessor may suspect that some or all of the evidence from a learner is not authentic. The assessor must then take appropriate action using the centre’s policies for malpractice. Further information is given in Section 8 Administrative arrangements.

Resubmission of improved evidence

The final assessment of evidence for the relevant learning aims is normally the final assessment decision, except where the Lead IV approves one opportunity to resubmit improved evidence based on the completed assessment.

The Lead IV has the responsibility to make sure that resubmission is operated fairly. This means:

• checking that a learner can be reasonably expected to perform better through a second submission, for example that the learner has not performed as expected
• making sure that giving a further opportunity does not give an unfair advantage over other learners, for example through the opportunity to take account of feedback given to other learners
• checking that the learner will be able to provide improved evidence without further guidance and that the original evidence submitted remains valid.
Once an assessment decision has been given to the learner, the resubmission opportunity must have a deadline within 15 working days in the same academic year. However, we recognise that there are circumstances where the resubmission period may fall outside of the 15-day limit owing to a lack of resources being available, for example where learners may need to access a performance space or have access to specialist equipment. Where it is practical to do so, for example evaluations, presentations, extended writing, resubmission must remain within the normal 15-day period.

For assessment to be fair, it is important that learners are all assessed in the same way and that some learners are not advantaged by having additional time or the opportunity to learn from others. Therefore, learners who did not complete assessment tasks by the planned deadline or by an authorised extension deadline (if one was given for specific circumstances), may not have the opportunity to subsequently resubmit. Similarly, learners who submit work that is not their own should not be given an opportunity to resubmit.

The outcome of any resubmission of the assessment task by the learner is then recorded as the final decision.

A learner who has not achieved their expected level of performance in the relevant learning aims after resubmission of an assessment may be offered a single retake opportunity using a new assessment task. The highest grade that may be awarded is a Pass.

The Lead IV must authorise a retake with a new assessment only in exceptional circumstances and where it is necessary, appropriate and fair to do so. For further information on offering a retake opportunity please refer to the BTEC Centre Guide to Internal Assessment available on our website. There is information on writing assignments for retakes on our website, see www.btec.co.uk/keydocuments.
7 Administrative arrangements

Introduction
This section focuses on the administrative requirements for delivering a BTEC qualification. It will be of value to Quality Nominees, Lead IVs, Programme Leaders and Examinations Officers.

Learner registration and entry
Shortly after learners start the programme of learning, you need to make sure that they are registered for the qualification and that appropriate arrangements are made for internal and external assessment. You need to refer to the Information Manual for information on making registrations for the qualification and entries for external assessments.

Learners can be formally assessed only for a qualification on which they are registered. If learners’ intended qualifications change, for example if a learner decides to choose a different pathway specialism, then the centre must transfer the learner appropriately.

Access to assessment
Both internal and external assessments need to be administered carefully to ensure that all learners are treated fairly, and that results and certification are issued on time to allow learners to progress to chosen progression opportunities.

Our equality policy requires that all learners should have equal opportunity to access our qualifications and assessments, and that our qualifications are awarded in a way that is fair to every learner. We are committed to making sure that:

- learners with a protected characteristic are not, when they are undertaking one of our qualifications, disadvantaged in comparison to learners who do not share that characteristic
- all learners achieve the recognition they deserve for undertaking a qualification and that this achievement can be compared fairly to the achievement of their peers.

Further information on access arrangements can be found in the Joint Council for Qualifications (JCQ) document Access Arrangements, Reasonable Adjustments and Special Consideration for General and Vocational Qualifications.
Administrative arrangements for internal assessment

Records
You are required to retain records of assessment for each learner. Records should include assessments taken, decisions reached and any adjustments or appeals. Further information can be found in the Information Manual. We may ask to audit your records so they must be retained as specified.

Reasonable adjustments to assessment
A reasonable adjustment is one that is made before a learner takes an assessment to ensure that they have fair access to demonstrate the requirements of the assessments. You are able to make adjustments to internal assessments to take account of the needs of individual learners. In most cases this can be achieved through a defined time extension or by adjusting the format of evidence. We can advise you if you are uncertain as to whether an adjustment is fair and reasonable. You need to plan for time to make adjustments if necessary.

Further details on how to make adjustments for learners with protected characteristics are given on our website in the document Supplementary guidance for reasonable adjustment and special consideration in vocational internally-assessed units.

Special consideration
Special consideration is given after an assessment has taken place for learners who have been affected by adverse circumstances, such as illness. You must operate special consideration in line with our policy (see previous paragraph). You can provide special consideration related to the period of time given for evidence to be provided or for the format of the assessment if it is equally valid. You may not substitute alternative forms of evidence to that required in a unit, or omit the application of any assessment criteria to judge attainment. Pearson can consider applications for special consideration in line with the policy.

Appeals against assessment
Your centre must have a policy for dealing with appeals from learners. These appeals may relate to assessment decisions being incorrect or assessment not being conducted fairly. The first step in such a policy could be a consideration of the evidence by a Lead IV or other member of the programme team. The assessment plan should allow time for potential appeals after assessment decisions have been given to learners. If there is an appeal by a learner, you must document the appeal and its resolution. Learners have a final right of appeal to Pearson but only if the procedures that you have put in place have not been followed. Further details are given in the document Enquiries and appeals about Pearson vocational qualifications and end point assessment policy.
Administrative arrangements for external assessment

Entries and resits
For information on the timing of assessment and entries, please refer to the annual examinations timetable on our website.

Access arrangements requests
Access arrangements are agreed with Pearson before an assessment. They allow students with special educational needs, disabilities or temporary injuries to:

• access the assessment
• show what they know and can do without changing the demands of the assessment.

Access arrangements should always be processed at the time of registration. Learners will then know what type of arrangements are available in place for them.

Granting reasonable adjustments
For external assessment, a reasonable adjustment is one that we agree to make for an individual learner. A reasonable adjustment is defined for the individual learner and informed by the list of available access arrangements.

Whether an adjustment will be considered reasonable will depend on a number of factors, to include:

• the needs of the learner with the disability
• the effectiveness of the adjustment
• the cost of the adjustment; and

• the likely impact of the adjustment on the learner with the disability and other learners.

Adjustment may be judged unreasonable and not approved if it involves unreasonable costs, timeframes or affects the integrity of the assessment.

Special consideration requests
Special consideration is an adjustment made to a student's mark or grade after an external assessment to reflect temporary injury, illness or other indisposition at the time of the assessment.

An adjustment is made only if the impact on the learner is such that it is reasonably likely to have had a material effect on that learner being able to demonstrate attainment in the assessment.

Centres are required to notify us promptly of any learners who they believe have been adversely affected and request that we give special consideration. Further information can be found in the special requirements section on our website.
Conducting external assessments

Centres must make arrangements for the secure delivery of external assessments. External assessments for BTEC qualifications include examinations, set tasks and performance.

Each external assessment has a defined degree of control under which it must take place. Some external assessments may have more than one part and each part may have a different degree of control. We define degrees of control as follows.

High control
This is the completion of assessment in formal invigilated examination conditions.

Medium control
This is completion of assessment, usually over a longer period of time, which may include a period of controlled conditions. The controlled conditions may allow learners to access resources, prepared notes or the internet to help them complete the task.

Low control
These are activities completed without direct supervision. They may include research, preparation of materials and practice. The materials produced by learners under low control will not be directly assessed.

Further information on responsibilities for conducting external assessment is given in the document Instructions for Conducting External Assessments, available on our website.
Dealing with malpractice in assessment

Malpractice means acts that undermine the integrity and validity of assessment, the certification of qualifications, and/or that may damage the authority of those responsible for delivering the assessment and certification.

Pearson does not tolerate actions (or attempted actions) of malpractice by learners, centre staff or centres in connection with Pearson qualifications. Pearson may impose penalties and/or sanctions on learners, centre staff or centres where incidents (or attempted incidents) of malpractice have been proven.

Malpractice may arise or be suspected in relation to any unit or type of assessment within the qualification. For further details regarding malpractice and advice on preventing malpractice by learners please see Pearson’s Centre guidance: Dealing with malpractice and maladministration in vocational qualifications, available on our website.

The procedures we ask you to adopt vary between units that are internally-assessed and those that are externally assessed.

Internally-assessed units

Centres are required to take steps to prevent malpractice and to investigate instances of suspected malpractice. Learners must be given information that explains what malpractice is for internal assessment and how suspected incidents will be dealt with by the centre. The Centre Guidance: Dealing with Malpractice document gives full information on the actions we expect you to take.

Pearson may conduct investigations if we believe that a centre is failing to conduct internal assessment according to our policies. The above document gives further information, examples and details the penalties and sanctions that may be imposed.

In the interests of learners and centre staff, centres need to respond effectively and openly to all requests relating to an investigation into an incident of suspected malpractice.

Externally-assessed units

External assessment means all aspects of units that are designated as external in this specification, including preparation for tasks and performance. For these assessments, centres must follow the JCQ procedures set out in the latest version of JCQ Suspected Malpractice in Examinations and Assessments Policies and Procedures (www.jcq.org.uk).

In the interests of learners and centre staff, centres need to respond effectively and openly to all requests relating to an investigation into an incident of suspected malpractice.

Learner malpractice

Heads of Centres are required to report incidents of any suspected learner malpractice that occur during Pearson external assessments. We ask that centres do so by completing a JCQ Form M1 (available at www.jcq.org.uk/exams-office/malpractice) and emailing it and any accompanying documents (signed statements from the learner, invigilator, copies of evidence, etc.) to the Investigations Team at candidatemalpractice@pearson.com. The responsibility for determining appropriate sanctions or penalties to be imposed on learners lies with Pearson.

Learners must be informed at the earliest opportunity of the specific allegation and the centre’s malpractice policy, including the right of appeal. Learners found guilty of malpractice may be disqualified from the qualification for which they have been entered with Pearson.
Teacher/centre malpractice

Heads of Centres are required to inform Pearson’s Investigations Team of any incident of suspected malpractice by centre staff, before any investigation is undertaken. Heads of centres are requested to inform the Investigations Team by submitting a JCQ Form M2(a) (available at www.jcq.org.uk/exams-office/malpractice) with supporting documentation to pqsmalpractice@pearson.com. Where Pearson receives allegations of malpractice from other sources (for example Pearson staff or anonymous informants), the Investigations Team will conduct the investigation directly or may ask the head of centre to assist.

Incidents of maladministration (accidental errors in the delivery of Pearson qualifications that may affect the assessment of learners) should also be reported to the Investigations Team using the same method.

Heads of Centres/Principals/Chief Executive Officers or their nominees are required to inform learners and centre staff suspected of malpractice of their responsibilities and rights; see Section 6.15 of the JCQ Suspected Malpractice in Examinations and Assessments Policies and Procedures document.

Pearson reserves the right in cases of suspected malpractice to withhold the issuing of results and/or certificates while an investigation is in progress. Depending on the outcome of the investigation results and/or certificates may be released or withheld.

You should be aware that Pearson may need to suspend certification when undertaking investigations, audits and quality assurances processes. You will be notified within a reasonable period of time if this occurs.

Sanctions and appeals

Where malpractice is proven we may impose sanctions or penalties.

Where learner malpractice is evidenced, penalties may be imposed such as:

- mark reduction for external assessments
- disqualification from the qualification
- being barred from registration for Pearson qualifications for a period of time.

If we are concerned about your centre’s quality procedures we may impose sanctions such as:

- working with you to create an improvement action plan
- requiring staff members to receive further training
- placing temporary blocks on your certificates
- placing temporary blocks on registration of learners
- debarring staff members or the centre from delivering Pearson qualifications
- suspending or withdrawing centre approval status.

The centre will be notified if any of these apply.

Pearson has established procedures for centres that are considering appeals against penalties and sanctions arising from malpractice. Appeals against a decision made by Pearson will normally be accepted only from Heads of Centres (on behalf of learners and/or members of staff) and from individual members (in respect of a decision taken against them personally). Further information on appeals can be found in our Enquiries and appeals about Pearson vocational qualifications and end point assessment policy, which is on our website. In the initial stage of any aspect of malpractice, please notify the Investigations Team by email via pqsmalpractice@pearson.com who will inform you of the next steps.
Certification and results

Once a learner has completed all the required components for a qualification, even if final results for external assessments have not been issued, then the centre can claim certification for the learner, provided that quality assurance has been successfully completed. For the relevant procedures please refer to our Information Manual. You can use the information provided on qualification grading to check overall qualification grades.

Results issue

After the external assessment session, learner results will be issued to centres. The result will be in the form of a grade. You should be prepared to discuss performance with learners, making use of the information we provide and post-results services.

Post-assessment services

Once results for external assessments are issued, you may find that the learner has failed to achieve the qualification or to attain an anticipated grade. It is possible to transfer or reopen registration in some circumstances. The Information Manual gives further information.

Changes to qualification requests

Where a learner who has taken a qualification wants to resit an externally-assessed unit to improve their qualification grade, you firstly need to decline their overall qualification grade. You may decline the grade before the certificate is issued. For a learner receiving their results in August, you should decline the grade by the end of September if the learner intends to resit an external assessment.

Additional documents to support centre administration

As an approved centre you must ensure that all staff delivering, assessing and administering the qualifications have access to this documentation. These documents are reviewed annually and are reissued if updates are required.

- Pearson Quality Assurance Handbook: this sets out how we will carry out quality assurance of standards and how you need to work with us to achieve successful outcomes.
- Information Manual: this gives procedures for registering learners for qualifications, transferring registrations, entering for external assessments and claiming certificates.
- Lead Examiners’ Reports: these are produced after each series for each external assessment and give feedback on the overall performance of learners in response to tasks or questions set.
- Instructions for the Conduct of External Assessments (ICEA): this explains our requirements for the effective administration of external assessments, such as invigilation and submission of materials.
- Regulatory policies: our regulatory policies are integral to our approach and explain how we meet internal and regulatory requirements. We review the regulated policies annually to ensure that they remain fit for purpose. Policies related to this qualification include:
  - adjustments for candidates with disabilities and learning difficulties, access arrangements and reasonable adjustments for general and vocational qualifications
  - age of learners
  - centre guidance for dealing with malpractice
  - recognition of prior learning and process.

This list is not exhaustive and a full list of our regulatory policies can be found on our website.
8 Quality assurance

Centre and qualification approval

As part of the approval process, your centre must make sure that the resource requirements listed below are in place before offering the qualification.

- Centres must have appropriate physical resources (for example, equipment, IT, learning materials, teaching rooms) to support the delivery and assessment of the qualification.
- Staff involved in the assessment process must have relevant expertise and/or occupational experience.
- There must be systems in place to ensure continuing professional development for staff delivering the qualification.
- Centres must have in place appropriate health and safety policies relating to the use of equipment by learners.
- Centres must deliver the qualification in accordance with current equality legislation.
- Centres should refer to the teacher guidance section in individual units to check for any specific resources required.

Continuing quality assurance and standards verification

On an annual basis, we produce the Pearson Quality Assurance Handbook. It contains detailed guidance on the quality processes required to underpin robust assessment and internal verification.

The key principles of quality assurance are that:

- a centre delivering BTEC programmes must be an approved centre, and must have approval for the programmes or groups of programmes that it is delivering
- the centre agrees, as part of gaining approval, to abide by specific terms and conditions around the effective delivery and quality assurance of assessment; it must abide by these conditions throughout the period of delivery
- Pearson makes available to approved centres a range of materials and opportunities, through online standardisation, intended to exemplify the processes required for effective assessment, and examples of effective standards. Approved centres must use the materials and services to ensure that all staff delivering BTEC qualifications keep up to date with the guidance on assessment
- an approved centre must follow agreed protocols for standardisation of assessors and verifiers, for the planning, monitoring and recording of assessment processes, and for dealing with special circumstances, appeals and malpractice.

The approach of quality-assured assessment is through a partnership between an approved centre and Pearson. We will make sure that each centre follows best practice and employs appropriate technology to support quality-assurance processes, where practicable. We work to support centres and seek to make sure that our quality-assurance processes do not place undue bureaucratic processes on centres. We monitor and support centres in the effective operation of assessment and quality assurance.

The methods we use to do this for BTEC Level 3 include:

- making sure that all centres complete appropriate declarations at the time of approval
- undertaking approval visits to centres
- making sure that centres have effective teams of assessors and verifiers who are trained to undertake assessment
- assessment sampling and verification, through requested samples of assessments, completed assessed learner work and associated documentation
- an overarching review and assessment of a centre’s strategy for delivering and quality assuring its BTEC programmes, for example making sure that synoptic units are placed appropriately in the order of delivery of the programme.

Centres that do not fully address and maintain rigorous approaches to delivering, assessing and quality assurance cannot seek certification for individual programmes or for all BTEC Level 3 programmes. An approved centre must make certification claims only when authorised by us and strictly in accordance with requirements for reporting.

Centres that do not comply with remedial action plans may have their approval to deliver qualifications removed. Learners cannot do the qualification more than once.
9 Understanding the qualification grade

Awarding and reporting for the qualification

This section explains the rules that we apply in awarding a qualification and in providing an overall qualification grade for each learner. It shows how all the qualifications in this sector are graded.

The awarding and certification of these qualifications will comply with regulatory requirements. Learners cannot do the qualification more than once.

Eligibility for an award

In order to be awarded a qualification, a learner must complete all units, achieve a Near Pass (N) or above in all external units and a pass or above in all mandatory units unless otherwise specified. Refer to the structure in Section 2.

To achieve any qualification grade, learners must:

- complete and have an outcome (D, M, P, N or U) for all units within a valid combination
- achieve the required units at Pass or above shown in Section 2, and for the Extended Diploma achieve a minimum 900 GLH at Pass or above (or N or above in external units)
- achieve the minimum number of points at a grade threshold.

It is the responsibility of a centre to ensure that a correct unit combination is adhered to.

Learners who do not achieve the required minimum grade (N or P) in units shown in the structure will not achieve a qualification.

Learners who do not achieve sufficient points for a qualification or who do not achieve all the required units may be eligible to achieve a smaller qualification in the same suite provided they have completed and achieved the correct combination of units and met the appropriate qualification grade points threshold.

Calculation of the qualification grade

The final grade awarded for a qualification represents an aggregation of a learner’s performance across the qualification. As the qualification grade is an aggregate of the total performance, there is some element of compensation in that a higher performance in some units may be balanced by a lower outcome in others.

In the event that a learner achieves more than the required number of optional units, the mandatory units along with the optional units with the highest grades will be used to calculate the overall result, subject to the eligibility requirements for that particular qualification title.

BTEC Nationals are Level 3 qualifications and are awarded at the grade ranges shown in the table below.

<table>

</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

The Calculation of qualification grade table, shown further on in this section, shows the minimum thresholds for calculating these grades. The table will be kept under review over the lifetime of the qualification. The most up to date table will be issued on our website.

Pearson will monitor the qualification standard and reserves the right to make appropriate adjustments.

Learners who do not meet the minimum requirements for a qualification grade to be awarded will be recorded as Unclassified (U) and will not be certificated. They may receive a Notification of Performance for individual units. The Information Manual gives full information.
Points available for internal units
The table below shows the number of points available for internal units. For each internal unit, points are allocated depending on the grade awarded.

Pearson will automatically calculate the points for each external unit once the external assessment has been marked and grade boundaries have been set. For more details about how we set grade boundaries in the external assessment please go to our website.

Claiming the qualification grade
Subject to eligibility, Pearson will automatically calculate the qualification grade for your learners when the internal unit grades are submitted and the qualification claim is made. Learners will be awarded qualification grades for achieving the sufficient number of points within the ranges shown in the relevant Calculation of qualification grade table for the cohort.

The learner has sufficient points for an MPP and has achieved N or higher in Units 1, 3, 5 and 7, and P or higher in Units 2, 4 and 6 but has not met the minimum requirement for 900 GLH at Pass or above.

The learner has 240 GLH at U.
10 Resources and support

Our aim is to give you a wealth of resources and support to enable you to deliver BTEC National qualifications with confidence. On our website you will find a list of resources to support teaching and learning, and professional development.

Support for setting up your course and preparing to teach

Specification
This specification (for teaching from September 2018) includes details on the administration of qualifications and information on all the units for the qualification.

Delivery Guide
This free guide gives you important advice on how to choose the right course for your learners and how to ensure you are fully prepared to deliver the course. It explains the key features of BTEC Nationals (for example employer involvement and employability skills). It also covers guidance on assessment (internal and external) and quality assurance. The guide tells you where you can find further support and gives detailed unit-by-unit delivery guidance. It includes teaching tips and ideas, assessment preparation and suggestions for further resources.

Schemes of work
Free sample schemes of work are provided for each mandatory unit. These are available in Word™ format for ease of customisation.

Curriculum models
These show how the BTECs in the suite fit into a 16–19 study programme, depending on their size and purpose. The models also show where other parts of the programme, such as work experience, maths and English, tutorial time and wider study, fit alongside the programme.

Study skills activities
A range of case studies and activities is provided; they are designed to help learners develop the study skills they need to successfully complete their BTEC course. The case studies and activities are provided in Word™ format for easy customisation.

myBTEC
myBTEC is a free, online toolkit that lets you plan and manage your BTEC provision from one place. It supports the delivery, assessment and quality assurance of BTECs in centres and supports teachers with the following activities:
• checking that a programme is using a valid combination of units
• creating and verifying assignment briefs (including access to a bank of authorised assignment briefs that can be customised)
• creating assessment plans and recording assessment decisions
• tracking the progress of every learner throughout their programme.
To find out more about myBTEC, visit the myBTEC page on the support services section of our website. We will add the new BTEC National specifications to myBTEC as soon as possible.
Support for teaching and learning

Pearson Learning Services provides a range of engaging resources to support BTEC Nationals, including:

- textbooks in e-book and print formats
- teaching and assessment packs, including e-learning materials via the Active Learn Digital Service.

Teaching and learning resources are also available from a number of other publishers. Details of Pearson’s own resources and of all endorsed resources can be found on our website.

Support for assessment

Sample assessment materials for externally-assessed units

Sample assessments are available for the Pearson-set units. One copy of each of these assessments can be downloaded from the website/available in print. For each suite an additional sample for one of the Pearson-set units is also available, allowing your learners further opportunities for practice.

Further sample assessments will be made available through our website on an ongoing basis.

Sample assessment materials for internally-assessed units

We do not prescribe the assessments for the internally-assessed units. Rather, we allow you to set your own, according to your learners’ preferences and to link with your local employment profile.

We do provide a service in the form of Authorised Assignment Briefs, which are approved by Pearson Standards Verifiers. They are available via our website or free on myBTEC.

Sample marked learner work

To support you in understanding the expectation of the standard at each grade, examples of marked learner work at PM/MD grades are linked to the Authorised Assignment Briefs.
Training and support from Pearson

People to talk to
There are many people who are available to support you and provide advice and guidance on delivery of your BTEC Nationals. These include:

- Subject Advisors – available for all sectors. They understand all Pearson qualifications in their sector and so can answer sector-specific queries on planning, teaching, learning and assessment
- Standards Verifiers – they can support you with preparing your assignments, ensuring that your assessment plan is set up correctly, and support you in preparing learner work and providing quality assurance through sampling
- Curriculum Development Managers (CDMs) – they are regionally based and have a full overview of the BTEC qualifications and of the support and resources that Pearson provides. CDMs often run network events
- Customer Services – the ‘Support for You’ section of our website gives the different ways in which you can contact us for general queries. For specific queries, our service operators can direct you to the relevant person or department.

Training and professional development
Pearson provides a range of training and professional development events to support the introduction, delivery, assessment and administration of BTEC National qualifications. These sector-specific events, developed and delivered by specialists, are available both face to face and online.

‘Getting Ready to Teach’
These events are designed to get teachers ready for delivery of the BTEC Nationals. They include an overview of the qualifications’ structures, planning and preparation for internal and external assessment, and quality assurance.

Teaching and learning
Beyond the ‘Getting Ready to Teach’ professional development events, there are opportunities for teachers to attend sector- and role-specific events. These events are designed to connect practice to theory; they provide teacher support and networking opportunities with delivery, learning and assessment methodology.

Details of our training and professional development programme can be found on our website.
Appendix 1 Links to industry standards

BTEC Nationals have been developed in consultation with industry and appropriate sector bodies to ensure that the qualification content and approach to assessment aligns closely to the needs of employers. Where they exist, and are appropriate, National Occupational Standards (NOS) and professional body standards have been used to establish unit content.
Appendix 2 Glossary of terms used for internally-assessed units

| Discuss    | Considers different aspects of:
  - a theme or topic
  - how they interrelate
  - the extent to which they are important. A conclusion is not required.                                                                                                               |
| Evaluate   | Draws on varied information, themes or concepts to consider aspects, such as:
  - strengths or weaknesses
  - advantages or disadvantages
  - alternative actions
  - relevance or significance. Learners’ enquiries should lead to a supported judgement showing relationship to its context. This will often be in a conclusion. Evidence will often be written but could be through presentation, performance or practice. |
| Explain    | Shows clear details and gives reasons and/or evidence to support an opinion, view or argument. It could show how conclusions are drawn (arrived at). Learners are able to show that they comprehend the origins, functions and objectives of a subject, and its suitability for purpose. |
| Identify   | Indicates the main features or purpose of something by recognising it and/or being able to discern and understand facts or qualities.                                                                      |
