BTEC Nationals in Health and Social Care 2016–2019

Health and social care is part of everybody’s life, from the moment we’re born. Our goal is to help you inspire learners to work in a sector which has such a huge impact on people, providing them with rewarding careers in the process.

Studying a BTEC in Health and Social Care will prepare your learners for various pathways into the sector, providing them with a flexible range of skills.

Qualifications available:

Health and Social Care

“I’ve been teaching BTEC since 2002 and I don’t think I will ever change now because I believe it offers so much to the students and as a teacher, I love the flexibility it offers. I find it so interesting to teach because there is so much you can do within each topic area and the students love the interactivity.”

Kathy Prebble, Head of Health and Social Care at Valley Park School

We’ve highlighted below the main differences between the QCF and RQF qualifications:

- Units come in a range of sizes – 60, 90 and 120 GLH which means that their weighting is different when calculating the final grade.
- There is compensation across the qualification, with grades to reflect all achievement.
- Externally assessed units with a Near Pass grade.
- Assessment criteria in internally assessed units are set out differently.
- Synoptic Assessment requires learners to demonstrate that they can identify and use effectively, in an integrated way, an appropriate selection of skills, techniques, concepts, theories and knowledge from across the whole sector as relevant to a key task.

Further information provides key information about preparing for and delivering a unit.

Further information for teachers and assessors

Resource requirements

There are no specific resource requirements for this unit but centres must give learners access to information on a range of businesses, including local, national and international.

Essential information for assessment decisions

It is expected that learners in a cohort will individually select and research their choice of businesses.

Throughout the unit, learners will show individuality of thought, independent collection, collation and judgement of evidence.

The businesses selected by the learner in Learning aims A and B should be contrasting in terms of their features, e.g. ownership and liability, purpose, sector, scope and/or size.

It is recommended the learner’s own centre is not used for this unit.

Learning aims A and B

For distinction standard, learners will produce relevant evidence of how differing features and the complex relationship and communications with its internal and external stakeholders make businesses successful to support the evaluation given.

For merit standard, learners will present a careful consideration of each of the businesses relationship and communication with its stakeholders, and arrive at conclusions about how well each business communication impacts on its relationship with stakeholders. Learners will give a breakdown of the organisational structure including the different functional areas within the structure, what each does and how the areas interrelate or work together to contribute to each business’s aims and objectives.

For pass standard, learners will carry out research that allows them to clearly link familiar and obvious features of the businesses and the stakeholder influence to success factors.

Appendix 2 Glossary of terms used for internally-assessed units

Glossary highlights the key terms used.

ASSIGNMENT BRIEFS

To give you maximum flexibility and support when planning your course, you have three options available when preparing your assignment briefs:

1. Use the Pearson Authorised Assignment Briefs as published – you will find these under the Internal Assessment tab on the Course Materials section of the qualification specification page.

2. Adapt a Pearson Authorised Assignment Brief to suit the needs of your learners.

3. Create your own Assignment Briefs if you think this will better meet the needs of your learners, or where an Authorised Assignment Brief is not available. To help check you have everything covered you can use our Assignment Checking Service.

(\textit{Remember, you must still internally verify assignments even if you’ve used them ‘off the shelf’.})
