Candidate Authentication

Candidates must enter their details on all tasks before printing as specified in the test. Handwritten details are not acceptable.

However, when collating scripts in preparation for sending off to the examiner, if invigilators/exams officers notice that candidates have not entered their details on printouts, discretion may be used to write in candidate details on each printout providing invigilators/Exam Officers can verify that it is the candidates' own work.

The invigilators/Exams Officers doing this must initial next to the candidates' name on both the printouts and on the attendance register.

If centres are not able to verify that the work is the candidates' own, then the printouts should not be annotated.
