IN DEPTH ARTIST ANALYSIS.

I chose to focus on half-lengths when the head and body began stretching my focus. I felt connected to the artist capture of the face and the symmetry of the hands, capturing and refining the details in the fingers, essentially when all the head is.

My approach was to contrast the left hand, where it comes to the black skin, with the right hand, which has light skin. The same is true of the eyes, the lips, and the texture of the hair. The eyes are large and protruding in the left hand, while the right hand shows the same features, but in a more subtle way.

The texture of the skin is important, as is the shape of the nose, and the movement of the expression. The light and shadow play an important role in the overall effect.

DEVELOPMENT 1.

When deciding which processes to use for each step, I focused on the detail and the composition of the piece. I also took into consideration the light and shadow, the color, and the texture.

DEVELOPMENT 2.

The final piece concept involved considering the color and the light. I used contrasting colors and shades to create depth and interest. The final piece was achieved through careful attention to detail and composition.

FINAL PIECE CONCEPT.

This piece was inspired by the artistic approaches of other artists, focusing on the details and the overall effect.
