1984, George Orwell, Robert Icke and Duncan Macmillan

This play had its first performance at Nottingham Playhouse in September 2013.

This extract is taken from the final section of the play.

The TORTURERS move to their equipment.

O'BRIEN Power is power over people, Winston, yes, over the body, but above all, over the mind. Power over external, objective reality is not important.

The TORTURERS are attaching brightly coloured wires to WINSTON. A sponge is submerged in water then placed beneath a metal plate on WINSTON'S head.

Reality is inside the skull.

(Turn over)

Do you remember writing that 'freedom is the freedom to say that two plus two make four'?

WINSTON Yes.

O'BRIEN holds up four fingers.

O'BRIEN How many fingers Winston?

WINSTON Four.

O'BRIEN And if the Party says that it is not four – but five. Then how many?

WINSTON Four.

A massive surge of pain rushes through WINSTON. O'BRIEN'S fingers remain held up.

O'BRIEN How many fingers, Winston?

WINSTON Four.

Again, more pain.

O'BRIEN How many fingers, Winston?

(Turn over)

WINSTON Four! Four! What else can I say!
Four!

And more pain. WINSTON'S head thrashes back and forwards.

O'BRIEN How many fingers, Winston?

WINSTON FIVE! FIVE! FIVE!

O'BRIEN No, Winston, that is no use. You are lying. You still think there are four. How many fingers, please?

WINSTON Four! FIVE! FOUR! ANYTHING!
STOP THE PAIN! STOP THE PAIN!

O'BRIEN You are a slow learner, Winston.

WINSTON, like a child, shivering, pleading, wanting approval.

WINSTON How can I help it? How can I help seeing what is in front of my eyes? Two and two are four.

(Turn over)

O'BRIEN Sometimes. Sometimes they are five. Sometimes they are three. Sometimes they are all of them at once.

You must try harder – it is not easy to become sane.

How many fingers Winston?

WINSTON I don't know, I don't know, you will kill me if you do that again. Four, five, six, I don't know – in all honesty I don't know.

O'BRIEN Better.

O'BRIEN nods to one of the TORTURERS, who gives WINSTON some water through a straw.

You will give in eventually. The price of sanity is submission. Winston, we are curing you. We convert the heretic so that he is a heretic no longer: we make him one with us. We do not tolerate rebellion, even if it exists only in a brain awaiting a bullet. We make the brain perfect before we blow it out.

But you are not perfect yet. You still think you are the hero. You still believe that you are going to win. You picture the future. You have thought about it and thought about it.

WINSTON Yes.

O'BRIEN You were writing for them.
The unborn.

WINSTON Yes.

O'BRIEN You hoped to inspire them to change things.

WINSTON Yes!

(Continues on next page)

(Turn over)

O'BRIEN You wanted to give them your message.

WINSTON Yes!

O'BRIEN Then go ahead. Speak to us.

A sudden, bright light on WINSTON. The house lights slowly rise.

WINSTON I'm –

O'BRIEN We're listening Winston. We're all watching you.

Silence. WINSTON is aware of us watching him.

What does the future look like?
Tell us what will defeat the Party?

Go ahead. Winston, speak to us.

Winston? What will defeat us?

(Continues on next page)

(Turn over)

WINSTON Brotherhood. Humanity. The spirit of Man.

O'BRIEN Brotherhood. Humanity. The spirit of Man.

And do you consider yourself a man?

WINSTON Yes.

O'BRIEN If you want a picture of the future, Winston, imagine a boot stamping on a human face – for ever. The face of the enemy. Defeated. Powerless. But about to be cured.

An Inspector Calls, J B Priestley

This play had its first performance at the Kamerny Theatre in Moscow in 1945. The first performance in Britain was at the New Theatre, London in October 1946.

This extract is taken from Act One.

BIRLING Giving us the port, Edna? That's right. (He pushes it towards ERIC.) You ought to like this port, Gerald. As a matter of fact, Finchley told me it's exactly the same port your father gets from him.

GERALD Then it'll be all right. The governor prides himself on being a good judge of port. I don't pretend to know much about it.

SHEILA (gaily, possessively) I should jolly well think not, Gerald. I'd hate you to know all about port – like one of these purple-faced old men.

(Turn over)

BIRLING Here, I'm not a purple-faced old man.

SHEILA No, not yet. But then you don't know all about port – do you?

BIRLING (noticing that his wife has not taken any) Now then, Sybil, you must take a little tonight. Special occasion, y'know, eh?

SHEILA Yes, go on, Mummy. You must drink our health.

MRS B. (smiling) Very well, then. Just a little, thank you. (To EDNA, who is about to go, with tray.) All right, Edna. I'll ring from the drawing-room when we want coffee. Probably in about half an hour.

EDNA (going) Yes, Ma'am.

EDNA goes out. They now have all the glasses filled.

(Continues on next page)

(Turn over)

BIRLING beams at them and clearly relaxes.

BIRLING Well, well – this is very nice. Very nice. Good dinner too, Sybil. Tell cook from me.

GERALD (politely) Absolutely first-class.

MRS B. (reproachfully) Arthur, you're not supposed to say such things-BIRLING Oh – come, come – I'm treating Gerald like one of the family. And I'm sure he won't object.

SHEILA (with mock aggressiveness) Go on, Gerald – just you object!

GERALD (smiling) Wouldn't dream of it. In fact, I insist upon being one of the family now. I've been trying long enough, haven't I? (As she does not reply, with more insistence.) Haven't I? You know I have.

(Turn over)

MRS B. (smiling) Of course she does.

SHEILA (half serious, half playful) Yes – except for all last summer, when you never came near me, and I wondered what had happened to you.

GERALD And I've told you – I was awfully busy at the works all that time.

SHEILA (same tone as before) Yes, that's what you say.

MRS B. Now, Sheila, don't tease him. When you're married you'll realise that men with important work to do sometimes have to spend nearly all their time and energy on their business. You'll have to get used to that, just as I had.

SHEILA I don't believe I will. (Half playful, half serious, to GERALD.) So you be careful.

(Turn over)

GERALD Oh – I will, I will.

ERIC suddenly guffaws. His parents look at him.

SHEILA (severely) Now – what's the joke?

ERIC I don't know – really. Suddenly I felt I just had to laugh.

SHEILA You're squiffy.

ERIC I'm not.

MRS B. What an expression, Sheila!
Really the things you girls pick up these days!

ERIC If you think that's the best she can do–

SHEILA Don't be an ass, Eric.

MRS B. Now stop it, you two. Arthur, what about this famous toast of yours?

(Turn over)

BIRLING Yes, of course. (Clears his throat.) Well, Gerald, I know you agreed that we should only have this quiet little family party. It's a pity Sir George and – er – Lady Croft can't be with us, but they're abroad and so it can't be helped. As I told you, they sent me a very nice cable – couldn't be nicer. I'm not sorry that we're celebrating quietly like this-

MRS B. Much nicer really.

GERALD I agree.

BIRLING So do I, but it makes speech-making more difficult-

ERIC (not too rudely) Well, don't do any. We'll drink their health and have done with it.

(Turn over)

BIRLING No, we won't. It's one of the happiest nights of my life. And one day, I hope, Eric, when you've a daughter of your own, you'll understand why. Gerald, I'm going to tell you frankly, without any pretences, that your engagement to Sheila means a tremendous lot to me. She'll make you happy, and I'm sure you'll make her happy. You're just the kind of son-in-law I always wanted.

Blue Stockings, Jessica Swale

This play had its first professional performance at Shakespeare's Globe, London in August 2013.

This extract is taken from Act Two, Scene Eleven.

WILL enters with MINNIE, he is flustered.

TESS. Will!

MRS WELSH. Is there any news?

WILL. I don't know, ma'am, but I think the gates should be shut.

MRS WELSH. What are you talking about?

MR BANKS. Is everything alright?

WILL. People are rather up in arms.

MRS WELSH. I'm sure it's just some overzealous students.

WILL. It's not. With respect, ma'am, there's men on the streets. Train-loads of them.

(Continues on next page)

MRS WELSH. Perhaps we ought to keep our festivities indoors. Although it's a shame / to –

WILL. You're not listening, ma'am. It's bedlam out there.

Pause.

MRS WELSH. Minnie, fetch my coat.

MINNIE. Yes, ma'am. (Exits.)

WILL. It's no business for a lady.

MRS WELSH. If it's anyone's business, it's mine. Now please –

MR BANKS. Elizabeth, let me go.

MRS WELSH. No. You hold the fort. I will go.

WILL. Mrs Welsh. I beg you, it's not safe.

MRS WELSH. Don't be absurd.

MR BANKS. What's going on?

(Turn over)

WILL. It's chaos, sir. They've broken windows. Pulled down the theatre hoardings and the railings from Queens' and set them on fire in the square. The police can't get near them. And they were heading this way.

MR BANKS. Lord knows what they'll do when they get here.

WILL. It's too dangerous. You should get out of here, all of you. Just go, go out the back way. Don't, for God's sake, go near them.

MRS WELSH. This is preposterous. I've worked my whole life for this day and I refuse to have it compromised by some petulant juveniles. They have no right!
(Goes to exit.)

WILL. Not you. Please. Don't let her go, sir.

MRS WELSH. Don't tell me what to do. I will speak to them.

(Turn over)

WILL. You don't understand! They've made an effigy – ma'am.

Beat.

MRS WELSH. What?

WILL. A woman on a bicycle, a plaque round its neck. They strung it up, paraded it like Guy Fawkes. A woman in blue stockings. And then, when they got to the square – when they got to the square they doused it in oil and burnt it. Stood and cheered and watched it burn.

Beat.

MR BANKS. Elizabeth –

MRS WELSH puts her hand out to silence him. She is holding back tears but won't let herself crack.

WILL. Anyone voting yes has been sought out. They chased them down, throwing rocks, firecrackers, anything they could lay their hands on. They're out of control, ma'am. There's thousands of them on the streets –

(Turn over)

MRS WELSH. That's enough. Enough!

Minnie! I'll get my coat myself. They shall not make a mockery of us. I'll be damned if they do.

She exits.

MR BANKS. Elizabeth!

He goes towards the exit.

TESS (to WILL). Are you alright?

WILL. No. You?

TESS. Not really.

WILL. Well then.

A window smashes. Sounds of protestors outside.

TESS. Jesus!

WILL. Mr Banks, get the girls out now, let me talk to them.

MR BANKS. But –

WILL. Now!

Another smash from somewhere else, off.

(Continues on next page)

(Turn over)

CELIA. No!

TESS. Celia!

Another smash and then the MEN enter, a whole crowd, headed up by LLOYD and HOLMES. They stand in a line, unmoving, terrifying. Silence.

HOLMES (looking at the banners). This isn't right. It can't be right.

LLOYD. To hell with that.

He goes for the banner.

MR BANKS. What do you think you are doing?

The MEN pull the banner down.

Get out.

Silence.

I don't think you heard me. I said get out. If you leave now, there'll be minimal trouble.

WILL. Fellas. Please. Just go home.

The Crucible, Arthur Miller

This play had its first performance at the Martin Beck Theatre on Broadway in January 1953.

This extract is taken from Act Three.

Danforth I cannot hear you. What do you say? (Mary utters again unintelligibly.) You will confess yourself or you will hang! (He turns her roughly to face him.) Do you know who I am? I say you will hang if you do not open with me!

Proctor Mary, remember the angel Raphael – do that which is good and – Abigail (pointing upward) The wings! Her wings are spreading! Mary, please, don't, don't – !

Abigail (Looking up) Look out! She's coming down!

She and all the Girls run to one wall, shielding their eyes. And now, as though cornered, they let out a gigantic scream, and Mary, as though infected, opens her mouth and screams with them. Gradually Abigail and the Girls leave off, until only Mary is left there, staring up at the 'bird', screaming madly. All watch her, horrified by this evident fit. Proctor strides to her.

Proctor Mary, tell the Governor what they – (He has hardly got a word out, when, seeing him coming for her, she rushes out of his reach, screaming in horror.)

JOHN TATE: not fine exactly, alright, fair enough, I mean things are bad, things are a little, alright, yes, I'm not trying to hide the, this is tricky, it's a tricky LOU: Tricky?

JOHN TATE: situation, but it's not, because actually what you are saying is a very negative, and that's...

Look, haven't I looked after things before?

LOU: This is different.

JOHN TATE: Lou, are you scared of anyone in this school?

LOU: You?

JOHN TATE: Apart from me.

LOU: No.

JOHN TATE: Exactly

LOU: Richard, maybe

JOHN TATE: exactly, that's exactly, that's what I'm saying – Richard, you're scared of, are you...? – I mean you can walk down any corridor in this – I don't think Richard's – any corridor in this school and you know, no one bothers you and if you want something it's yours and no one bothers you and everyone respects you and everyone's scared of you and who made that, I mean I'm not boasting, but who made that happen?

LOU: You.

JOHN TATE: Thank you, so are things really that bad?

LOU: Yes.

JOHN TATE: Richard? I mean are you really?

DANNY: I can't get mixed up in this. I'm gonna be a dentist.

LOU: This is different, John. This is

JOHN TATE: Alright, it's a little bit

LOU: This is really serious.

DANNY: Dentists don't get mixed up in things. I've got a plan. I've got a plan John, I've made plans, and this is not...

JOHN TATE: It's a bit serious, but let's not, I mean come on, let's not over play the, the, the

LOU: He's dead.

JOHN TATE: the gravity of... Well, yes, okay, fair enough, but DANNY: This is not part of the plan. Dental college is part of the plan, A-levels are part of the plan, dead people are not part of the plan, this is not Dental college.

LOU: He's dead, John.

JOHN TATE: Alright, I'm not denying, am I denying? no, I'm

LOU: He's dead.

(Continues on next page)

JOHN TATE: Well, don't keep saying it.

DANNY: This is the opposite of Dental college.

LOU: But he is dead.

JOHN TATE: Well you just, you're saying it again, didn't I just –

LOU: Because he's dead, John, he's dead, dead is what he is so we have to use that word to –

JOHN TATE: Alright. New rule; that word is banned.

Beat.

LOU: What, 'dead'?

JOHN TATE: Yes.

DANNY: Banned?

JOHN TATE: Yes. Banned. Sorry.

LOU: You can't ban a word.

(Continues on next page)

JOHN TATE: and if anyone says it I'm going to have to, you know, bite their face. Or something.

DANNY: How can you ban a word?

JOHN TATE: Well just say it then.

Pause.

Say it and see what happens.

They say nothing.

Look, we have to keep together. We have to trust each other and believe in each other. I'm trying to help. I'm trying to keep things together.

RICHARD enters, with CATHY and BRIAN, CATHY grinning, BRIAN crying.

Pause.

RICHARD: He's dead.

JOHN TATE: Right, that's...now I really am getting a little bit cross, do not use that word.

(Continues on next page)

RICHARD: What?

JOHN TATE: No one says that word, okay, no one.

RICHARD: What, word?

CATHY: This is mad, eh?

JOHN TATE: You know.

Scene 18

ADZIO and STEPHANIE are with the PRIEST.
The PRIEST looks at the letter.

PRIEST: No.

ADZIO: What?

PRIEST: I'm terribly sorry.

STEPHANIE: But father . . .

ADZIO: No?

PRIEST: I'm afraid . . . it's really . . . out of the question.

STEPHANIE: We promise not to damage anything.

ADZIO: No Jews in your garden – is that it?

PRIEST: I'd love to be able to help. Believe me.

But . . . in these times . . . it's hard enough.

My congregation can't even come to their own church because it's here in the Ghetto.

ADZIO: So the garden isn't being used.
It's going to waste.
We could look after it.

PRIEST: I just don't think the church ought to be . . .

ADZIO: Helping Jews.

PRIEST: Drawing attention to ourselves.

ADZIO: They're just kids.
They want to breathe fresh air.

PRIEST: Look – the Church looks after Christians.
Go to the damn synagogue if you want fresh air.

the riverbank
Catching flies.

STEPHANIE: Adzio, don't.

ADZIO: Big fat stomach full.

Them kids are starving. They got nothing.
And you won't even let them borrow your fresh air.

PRIEST: Get out.

ADZIO: Fat toad on a stone.

I hope the Germans get you.

ADZIO and STEPHANIE leave.
Outside the church.

STEPHANIE: You shouldn't have shouted at him.

ADZIO ignores her.

STEPHANIE: He might have changed his mind.

ADZIO ignores her.

STEPHANIE: You just made him angry.

ADZIO picks up a stone and in a single movement hurls it through the church windows. The smashing of glass.

He'll never let us into his garden.
Because we're Jews.
And because he thinks we're nothing.

KORCZAK: So you stone him?

ADZIO: Yes.
We fight.

KORCZAK: A fight you're bound to lose.

ADZIO: Maybe.

KORCZAK: And worse. Now we'll have complaints. We'll have police coming to our door. They'll come after you two, after all of us. You've put the whole orphanage in danger with your . . . big gesture.

Government Inspector, Nikolai Gogol
adapted by David Harrower

This play had its first performance at the Alexandrinsky Theatre, St Petersburg in April 1836.

This extract is taken from Act Four,
Scene One

Zemlyanika Try that and there will be an emergency. Petersburg follows an official procedure. They play by the book. For a start, we can't all go in at once. One at a time, behind closed doors, sounding him out and treading softly like the Judge said. In fact, Judge, you go first.

Lyapkin-Tyapkin Yes . . . Me? Why don't you go? You gave him lunch.

Zemlyanika (to Khlopov) No, actually, better you go first. You inspire young minds, set them on the path of life – he'll like all that.

(Continues on next page)

Khlopov I can't. I . . . Authority. I have a . . . with authority. Higher ranks. It's how I was brought up. They're, they're like gods. I can hardly speak to them, I, I, I fall apart, my tongue gets so big and fat and wet in my mouth, I can't . . . Not me first, please . . .

Zemlyanika turns back to Lyapkin-Tyapkin.

Lyapkin-Tyapkin Why not you?

Zemlyanika When you talk, people listen. You have a natural authority. You speak with the rhetoric of Seneca. You have the tongue of Cicero.

Lyapkin-Tyapkin Cicero? Don't be ridiculous . . .

Lyapkin-Tyapkin is pushed into the room with Khlestakov.

Khlestakov Ah, the Judge.

Lyapkin-Tyapkin Yes, sir. The Judge. Proud to serve this town . . .

Khlestakov (indicates he should sit) Please . . .

Lyapkin-Tyapkin I've served for almost fifteen years now.

The Judge's arm is out, fist clenched.

Khlestakov I don't like the red and yellow one. The Order of St Anne.

Lyapkin-Tyapkin coughs.

What have you got in your hand?

Lyapkin-Tyapkin (drops the money)
Nothing, Your Excellency.

Lyapkin-Tyapkin Lend you it? But it's not mine.

Khlestakov I'm in need of a little top-up. Just as a loan.

Lyapkin-Tyapkin In need?

Khlestakov I somehow managed to spend all I had on the journey here.

Khlestakov Directives and orders?

Lyapkin-Tyapkin Pertaining to the town court and...

Khlestakov Well, let me... uh, let me think about that.

Lyapkin-Tyapkin Absolutely...

Khlestakov No. Can't think of anything.

Lyapkin-Tyapkin Thank you, Your Excellency. (Bows.)

Twelfth Night, William Shakespeare

This play had its first performance at Middle Temple Hall, London in February 1602.

Act 2, Scene 1

The sea-coast.

Enter ANTONIO and SEBASTIAN.

ANTONIO Will you stay no longer, nor will you not that I go with you?

SEBASTIAN By your patience, no. My stars shine darkly over me; the malignancy of my fate might,
perhaps, distemper yours;
therefore I shall crave of you your leave that I may bear my evils alone. It were a bad recompense for your love, to lay any of them on you.

ANTONIO Let me yet know of you whither you are bound.

(Turn over)

SEBASTIAN No, sooth, sir; my determinate voyage is mere extravagancy. But I perceive in you so excellent a touch of modesty, that you will not extort from me what I am willing to keep in; therefore it charges me in manners the rather to express myself. You must know of me then, Antonio, my name is Sebastian, which I called Roderigo. My father was that Sebastian of Messaline, whom I know you have heard of. He left behind him myself and a sister, both born in an hour; if the heavens had been pleased, would we had so ended! but you, sir, altered that; for some hour before you took me from the breach of the sea was my sister drowned.

ANTONIO Alas the day!

(Turn over)

SEBASTIAN A lady, sir, though it was said she much resembled me, was yet of many accounted beautiful; but, though I could not with such estimable wonder overfar believe that, yet thus far I will boldly publish her: she bore a mind that Envy could not but call fair. She is drowned already, sir, with salt water, though I seem to drown her remembrance again with more.

ANTONIO Pardon me, sir, your bad entertainment.

SEBASTIAN O good Antonio! forgive me your trouble.

ANTONIO If you will not murder me for my love, let me be your servant.

(Continues on next page)

(Turn over)

SEBASTIAN If you will not undo what you have done, that is, kill him whom you have recovered, desire it not. Fare ye well at once; my bosom is full of kindness; and I am yet so near the manners of my mother that upon the least occasion more mine eyes will tell tales of me. I am bound to the Count Orsino's court; farewell.

Exit.

ANTONIO The gentleness of all the gods go with thee.
I have many enemies in Orsino's court,
Else would I very shortly see thee there;
But, come what may, I do adore thee so,
That danger shall seem sport,
and I will go.

Exit.

A street.

Enter VIOLA; MALVOLIO
following.

MALVOLIO Were you not even now with the Countess Olivia?

VIOLA Even now, sir; on a moderate pace I have since arrived but hither.

MALVOLIO She returns this ring to you, sir; you might have saved me my pains, to have taken it away yourself. She adds, moreover, that you should put your lord into a desperate assurance she will none of him. And one thing more: that you be never so hardy to come again in his affairs, unless it be to report your lord's taking of this.
Receive it so.

He throws the ring on the ground.

(Continues on next page)

VIOLA She took the ring of me; I'll none of it.

MALVOLIO Come, sir, you peevishly threw it to her; and her will is it should be so returned; if it be worth stooping for, there it lies in your eye; if not, be it his that finds it.

Exit.

VIOLA I left no ring with her; what means this lady?
Fortune forbid my outside have not charmed her!
She made good view of me;
indeed so much
That sure methought her eyes
had lost her tongue,
For she did speak in starts
distractedly.
She loves me, sure; the cunning of her passion
Invites me in this churlish messenger.

(Continues on next page)

(Turn over)

None of my lord's ring! Why, he sent her none.

I am the man; if it be so, as 't is,
Poor lady, she were better love
a dream.

Disguise, I see thou art a wickedness

Wherein the pregnant enemy does much.

How easy is it for the proper-false

In women's waxen hearts to set their forms!

Alas! our frailty is the cause,
not we,

For such as we are made of,
such we be.

How will this fadge? My master loves her dearly;

And I, poor monster, fond as much on him;

And she, mistaken, seems to dote on me.
