

Resit rules for 9-1 GCSEs: 1EN0, 1EN2 ('2.0') & 1ETO

Pearson offers two GCSEs in English Language, 1EN0 (first assessment in June 2017) and 1EN2 (first assessment in June 2022).

English Language 1EN0/1EN2

1EN0/1EN2 are linear qualifications. This means that resitting students must take both papers 1 and 2. However, they may carry forward their Spoken Language Endorsement (SLE) grade if they wish, or they may also make a new attempt at the SLE and submit a new grade.

November series

1EN0/1EN2

Key dates

Entry deadline: 4 October each year.

Deadline for grade and video sample submission for the SLE (for those students not carrying forward their SLE grade): 5 November each year

Who is eligible to sit 1EN0/1EN2 in the November exam series?

Any student who was aged at least 16 on 31 August of the relevant year (so aged 16 on 31 August 2024 to sit the exam in the November 2024 exam series) can take the GCSE English language and maths exams.

Can students carry forward their Spoken Language Endorsement (SLE) result from their previous attempt at GCSE English Language 9-1?

Yes, if the student achieved 'Pass', 'Merit' or 'Distinction'. If they achieved 'Not Classified' they must resit the SLE. Students may carry forward a SLE result from any previous exam series from both 1EN0 and 1EN2.

If the student has sat GCSE English Language with one awarding organisation but is resitting with another, can they still carry forward the SLE result?

Yes, they can, providing it is a 9-1 GCSE in English Language and they achieved 'Pass', 'Merit' or 'Distinction'. A student who has sat 1EN0 can carry forward their SLE grade to 1EN2 and vice versa. A SLE result from International GCSE in English Language (4EA1 or 4EB1) may not be carried forward to 1EN0.

How do I make an entry for a candidate who wants to carry forward their SLE grade from a previous sitting with Edexcel or another awarding organisation?

Enter the student for '1EN0 T' (not '1EN0') or '1EN2 T' (not 1EN2) if the student is sitting GCSE English Language 2.0. You do not need to enter the awarding organisation if the previous GCSE English Language grade is from another awarding organisation. Nor do you enter the SLE grade achieved. Edexcel will source this information.

You should ensure that you have seen evidence that the candidate achieved 'Pass', 'Merit' or 'Distinction' for the SLE because if you enter them for 1EN0 T/1EN2 T and it emerges later that they do not have one of these grades, you will need to change the entry to 1EN0/1EN2, possibly incurring amendment or late fees.

For each exam series, we have an entry deadline followed by late fees, amendment fees and high late fees deadlines. If you notice that you have used the 'T' option to enter a student but then find out that they have not passed the SLE, you will need to amend the option entry (removing the 'T' option for transfer of SLE grade from a previous series). If you make such an amendment before the 'amendment fees charged from' date, you will not be charged for the change in the entry.

You should not withdraw the candidate from 1EN0 T and re-enter them for 1EN0 (or 1EN2 T and 1EN2) in order to amend the SLE part of the entry. If you make the change in this way, you will incur late fees if you are making the change after the entry deadline. This applies to exams officers making entries using EDI too. They must submit an amendment file, to swap entries from 1EN0 to 1EN0 T etc rather than an entry file.

If you change from T entries back to 1EN0/1EN2 entries, you will also need to carry out the SLE with students and submit their grade and sample by 5 November of the relevant November exam series.

How do I enter a student who is resitting GCSE English Language and submitting a new SLE grade?

Enter the student for 1EN0/1EN2 and submit their grade in Edexcel Online by 5 November each year for the November exam series or 15 May each year for the June exam series.

Video recordings for the SLE sample

Please note that 1EN0 and 2.0 are separate qualifications. If a centre makes entries for both qualifications, they are required to submit a sample of video recordings for each. The sample size is 30 recordings (10 pass, 10 merit and 10 distinctions) for cohorts of 30 or more for each qualification (60 video recordings if 30 or more candidates are entered for each of 1EN0 and 2.0).

English Literature

1ET0 is a linear qualification. This means that students who resit have to take both papers 1 and 2. 1ET0 can only be resat in the June exam series. Use the entry code 1ET0 by 21 February each year for the June exam series of the same year.
