

Pearson

A Level and GCSE Geography Fieldwork – External Links

Notes to teachers: The links provided in this document are from external websites and were correct at the time of publishing. These links are provided to help you find resources and ideas for your coursework teaching but have not been written by Pearson.

1. FSC Fieldwork Live – These materials all have preparation work and follow-up work with a teachers website . There are a wide variety of materials available from KS3 to GCSE and GCE. All materials are free to access.

- #Fieldworklive – you can access the recordings on the main website.
<https://encounteredu.com/live-lessons/fsc-fieldworklive-2020>
- Or via YouTube – for example, GCSE Urban -.
<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=CI5mV6MF2NM>
- Rocky Shore ecology for Year 12 Biology and could be Geography for carbon <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=3Vfaf0UHaoU>
- Also see FSC Fieldwork Website <https://www.geography-fieldwork.org/> which has a wide range of supporting resources for both GCSE and GCE which are free to access and use.

2. RGS (Royal Geographical Society) Fieldwork Support Information

- the main link is here <https://www.rgs.org/in-the-field/fieldwork-in-schools/> .
- This link takes you to examples of projects <https://www.rgs.org/in-the-field/fieldwork-in-schools/fieldwork-resources/> including downloadable recording sheets.

3. GA (Geographical Association) Fieldwork Resources

The main link is here <https://www.geography.org.uk/Geography-fieldwork>, although access to many of the resources requires membership.

4. Barcelona Field Centre has an excellent website that is crammed full of useful tools. This is the main site <https://geographyfieldwork.com/>, but this link for example will take you to an area on sampling <https://geographyfieldwork.com/Sampling.htm>. Most of the site is open access, but some areas are locked down via a password. Accessibility is pitched more towards GCE than GCSE.

5. Leeson House (Swanage, Dorset) is also another source of information around specific fieldwork days and activities that may be useful for some in terms of seeing what type of can be done, especially at the coast. Their GCE Geography activities are here <https://leesonhouse.com/a-level-geography.html> and GCSE can be found here <https://leesonhouse.com/secondary-fieldwork-gcse-geography.html>

6. The Geography Fieldwork Academy is also another website that can be recommended.

- There is a small section for instance of coastal archive data <https://www.geographyfieldworkacademy.co.uk/resources/archive-data-southwold>
- Another useful document is here https://www.geographyfieldworkacademy.co.uk/fae/file/asset/2/NEA_Methods_Menu.pdf for fieldwork ideas and techniques. Although pitched at GCE, this particular document, with its icons, could be used for some GCSE work.

7. ESRI have some useful information and resources around using ArcGIS.

- <https://esriukeducation.maps.arcgis.com/apps/MapSeries/index.html?appid=db93e323d2184a56b45b1c82b6e0d4a9>
- <https://schools.esriuk.com/teaching-resources/?#/s=title%3A%22Getting%20Started%20with%20ArcGIS%20Online%22>
- <https://survey123.arcgis.com/> provides explanations and links to training

A Level and GCSE Geography Fieldwork – Links to Pearson support

A Level resources
Fieldwork exemplars	Some exemplars can be found in the exemplars area of the website here
Examiner reports	These reports can be found in the exam materials area of the website here
Past training materials	Past training events packs – including feedback on all examined and NEA units – can be found in the teaching and learning area of the website here

GCSE Geography A resources
Fieldwork exemplars	Some exemplars can be found in the exemplars area of the website here
Examiner reports	These reports can be found in the exam materials area of the website here
Past training materials	Past training events packs – including feedback on all examined papers– can be found in the teaching and learning area of the website here
Fieldwork guides	There is an area of the website devoted to fieldwork with guides and videos. The link is here .

GCSE Geography B resources
Fieldwork exemplars	Some exemplars can be found in the exemplars area of the website here
Examiner reports	These reports can be found in the exam materials area of the website here
Past training materials	Past training events packs – including feedback on all examined papers– can be found in the teaching and learning area of the website here
Fieldwork guides	There is an area of the website devoted to fieldwork with guides and videos. The link is here .