Source A: An artist's impression of a scene in the Whitechapel district of London in 1888. It was printed in the Penny Illustrated Paper, a cheap weekly newspaper. The police constable is from H Division. The building behind him is a police station.

A mob in Spitalfields

Source B: From an article in The Times newspaper, October 1888. The Times was a national newspaper, mainly read by the upper classes.

Many critical comments have been made about police failures in connection with the Whitechapel murders. However, it should be remembered that this type of woman chooses to go alone to the place where she has agreed to meet a man.

Some weeks ago, plain-clothes policemen were ordered to patrol this crime-ridden area of Whitechapel and to watch any man or woman seen together in suspicious circumstances.

At about the time when the Mitre Square murder was being committed two of the extra men who had been put on duty were nearby. They would have seen any man and woman going together to Mitre Square.

Therefore the police suspect that the murderer had made an appointment with his female victim and they went to the place separately.
