A mandala or a chakra represents the cycle of life.

It's a way to present how our souls live through different lives after life preparation 3

Each of the seven main chakras contains bundles of nerves and major organs as well as our psychological, emotional, and spiritual states of life.

The wheel turns eternally, the sun rises and sets. We live and regenerate and the universe itself is destroyed and recreated.

It is believed by most of us that there is no greater possession of ours, than our culture and our life.

Background of preparations done by spray watercolor.
