General Marking Guidance

- All candidates must receive the same treatment. Examiners must mark the first candidate in exactly the same way as they mark the last.
- Mark schemes should be applied positively. Candidates must be rewarded for what they have shown they can do rather than penalised for omissions.
- Examiners should mark according to the mark scheme not according to their perception of where the grade boundaries may lie.
- There is no ceiling on achievement. All marks on the mark scheme should be used appropriately.
- All the marks on the mark scheme are designed to be awarded. Examiners should always award full marks if deserved, i.e. if the answer matches the mark scheme. Examiners should also be prepared to award zero marks if the candidate's response is not worthy of credit according to the mark scheme.
- Where some judgement is required, mark schemes will provide the principles by which marks will be awarded and exemplification may be limited.
- When examiners are in doubt regarding the application of the mark scheme to a candidate's response, the team leader must be consulted.
- Crossed out work should be marked UNLESS the candidate has replaced it with an alternative response.

Question number	Answer	Mark
1 (a)	In each case, award 1 mark for a valid primary or secondary research source, and the second mark for explaining what was learned, e.g.: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> I used the Amnesty International website to help me find out about modern slavery (1) and this told me that 40 million people are affected worldwide (1) No credit may be given to material that does not relate in any way to the candidate's own stated community action title. A maximum of 2 marks may be awarded if facts are provided but no sources given.	2+ 2 (4)

Question number	Answer	Mark
1 (b)	In each case, award 1 mark for the point of view and the second mark for an explanation of the point of view, e.g.: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Some people say that it is wrong to take action to stop climate change (1) because Earth's climate has always changed in the past so why worry now. (1) No credit may be given to generic material that does not relate specifically to the candidate's own community action.	2+2 (4)

Question number	Indicative content
1 (c)	Marking instructions Markers must apply the descriptors in line with the general marking guidance (page 3) and the qualities outlined in the mark scheme for AO2. No marks may be awarded for generic answers that do not relate specifically to the candidate's own community action. Indicative content guidance Candidates must consider the statement in the light of experiences and knowledge gained during their own community action project. Points made will depend, to a great extent, on the candidate's own experiences, but might include some of ideas below. All relevant ideas about persuasive methods must also be credited. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • A PowerPoint presentation can include strong images or bold fonts that get people's attention and make them listen carefully (indicative of Level 2) • Using a range of different methods to get people's attention (indicative of Level 2) • Careful and sensitive negotiation with people whose point of view differs - to persuade and not alienate (indicative of Level 3) • Informing people about how they may be affected by the issue in ways they had not considered previously (indicative of Level 3) • Making use of personal testimonies of people affected by the issue to help the target audience empathise (indicative of Level 3) •

Level	Mark	Descriptor
	0	No rewardable material.
Level 1	1-2	Limited knowledge is shown of concepts, terms and issues relevant to the question (i.e. persuasive methods). Limited understanding of how these apply is shown by simple undeveloped comment about community action(s).
Level 2	3-4	Some knowledge is shown about the concepts, terms and issues relevant to the question (i.e. persuasive methods). Some understanding of how these apply is shown by some developed comment about community action(s).
Level 3	5-6	Detailed knowledge is shown about the concepts, terms and issues relevant to the question (i.e. persuasive methods). Effective and sustained comment is made, which shows good understanding of how these apply to community action(s).

Question number	Indicative content	Mark
1 (d)	The importance of planning Award 1 mark for each clear reference to the importance of planning for the candidate's own experience of community action and further marks for explaining what advice could be given, up to a maximum of 3 marks, e.g.: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • My own community action required me to visit three local beaches to study the pollution (1) this requires careful planning if you need to do this at the weekend during term time (1) and it is essential to keep a diary with important dates in it (1) Possible mistakes to avoid Award 1 mark for each clear reference to a mistake that was made/avoided while the candidate was carrying out their own community action and further marks for explaining ways of avoiding similar mistake(s), up to a maximum of 3 marks, e.g.: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • I carried out my survey on a religious holiday and this was a mistake. (1) I would advise anyone else to avoid doing this because it affects who you can talk to because many people with religious views will stay at home (1) resulting in biased survey results (1) No credit may be given to material that does not relate specifically to the candidate's own community action.	3+3 (6)

11	In support <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Local communities who are threatened by war or natural disasters may be hard/impossible to help/reach. (AO1) • Some threats are so great that nothing can be done in any case, e.g. tsunamis. (AO1) • International agreements and laws about conflict and refugees do exist but can often be hard to enforce. (AO2) • Climate change may be the greatest threat for some communities and no international laws can prevent it. (AO2) • To work properly, international laws (e.g. on conflict intervention) rely on agreement/consensus amongst the international community, which all too often fails. (AO3) • Certain threats to local communities (e.g. land grabs/forced migration) may be legal in a national context and so there is simply no case for international intervention. (AO3) Opposing views <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The UN has often taken action to help communities in accordance with international law. (AO1) 	3 AO1 3 AO2 3 AO3

	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • European laws are sometimes enforced effectively and can help EU communities in a range of ways. (AO1) • The UDHR has paved the way for many persecuted groups around the world to gain equal rights and no longer face the threat of discrimination. (AO2) • The UDHR has in turn helped shape human rights laws in different countries. (AO2) • Despite slow progress, the ICC and ICJ have a track record for successful prosecution (war crime trials). (AO3) • Global economic development and the fall over time in the numbers killed by war suggest that, on the whole, international laws have been successful. (AO3) 	(9)

21	In support <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Economic development means that average incomes rise allowing people improved lifestyles. (AO1) Economic development brings better education so people can make healthier lifestyle choices, e.g. diet. (AO1) Education promotes understanding of diversity and greater cultural understanding of others. (AO2) Life expectancy and human wellbeing have risen in line with economic development globally. (AO2) Economic development has helped create modern societies where there is less place for intolerance and people's life chances are higher. (AO3) It is reasonable to view economic development as a positive thing for all countries and their communities. (AO3) Opposing views <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Economic development brings industry and pollution, which harm health. (AO1) Increased wealth can actually lead to a poorer diet and obesity. (AO1) Not all people benefit equally from gains of development and some groups remain hugely exploited, e.g. sweatshops. (AO2) The spread of economic wealth does not guarantee equality for all groups, e.g. rights of women in some states. (AO2) Economic development has led to the spread of a consumer culture that is now damaging the planet and threatens everyone's future lifestyles. (AO3) 'Diseases of affluence' may be just as negative as 'diseases of poverty' were. (AO3) At Level 3, there should be some mention/inference of cultural change (at Level 2 expect generic mix of pros and cons of development e.g. life expectancy gains, carbon emissions etc.).	3 AO1 3 AO2 3 AO3 (9)

(AO1) • Businesses that have relocated in developing countries can pay higher wages to their workers. (AO1) • Global development is helped by technology created by businesses such as Apple, Microsoft and Google. (AO2) • Businesses help to spread cultural changes such as the promotion of diversity in Hollywood films. (AO2) • The profits of the world's biggest businesses are greater than the gross national product of many countries, therefore they do have a more important role. (AO3c) • The most important technologies in global development, such as computers, were created by businesses and so theirs is the most important role. (AO3c) 	(15)

	Arguments to counter the statement drawn from across the whole specification may include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Governments are the main providers of education and services, not businesses. (AO1) • Political leaders, not businesses, are responsible for governing countries and setting development targets. (AO1) • Governments have many motivations, but businesses seek mainly profit and are less likely to pursue social development goals. (AO2) • Businesses may be less interested in sustainable development than governments are, and this is an important part of global development. (AO2) • Businesses cannot invest in countries unless governments allow them to, using laws and planning. Ultimately, governments, therefore, have the most important role. (AO3c) • The world's richest and most powerful countries, such as the USA and China, have more influence on global development than any single business. (AO3c)
