Instructions to Candidates

Answer THREE questions in all, two from Section A, and one from Section B.

Section A: answer two questions, each from a different Theme. The Themes are numbered A1 to A18. Do not answer two questions on the same Theme.

Section B: answer one question from the Special Topics, B1 to B10.

In the boxes on your answer book, write the name of the examining body (London Examinations), your centre number, candidate number, the subject title (History), the paper reference (4380/2H), your surname, other names and signature.

Answer your questions in the answer book. Make sure your answers are clearly numbered.

Information for Candidates

There are 60 pages in this question paper. Any blank pages are indicated.

The total mark for this paper is 75. The marks for the various parts of questions are shown in round brackets: e.g. (2).

Dictionaries may not be used in this examination.

Advice to Candidates

You are reminded of the importance of clear English and careful presentation in your answers.

You are advised to spend an equal amount of time, about 45 minutes, on each of your two answers in Section A, and about 1 hour on Section B.

SECTION A: THEMES

Answer TWO questions, each from a different Theme. The Themes are numbered A1 to A18.

Do not answer two questions on the same Theme.

A1: Revolution and Reaction: France, 1789–1830

Total: 25 marks. You should spend about 45 minutes on this question.

1. Revolution

This question is about France in the years 1791–1814.

- (a) Look at the boxes below. Write down the two reasons why the Legislative Assembly became unpopular in the years 1791–92.

Assignats	The flight to Varennes
The invasion by Prussia	The Declaration of the Rights of Man

- (b) Choose one of your answers to question (a) and describe one effect that it had on France.

(3)

- (c) Give two reasons why Robespierre fell from power in July 1794.

(4)

- (d) Choose any two of the following and explain the part that they played in the rise to power of Napoleon Bonaparte.

The siege of Toulon	The Egyptian Campaign
Brumaire	The First Italian Campaign

(8)

- (e) Study the source and then answer the question that follows.

Source: from a modern textbook

In 1804, Napoleon produced a single code of laws, the Code Napoleon. This put in one system all the existing laws of France, but at the same time modified them so that they fitted together. Some of the principles of the Revolution were upheld. Equality before the law and religious toleration remained. But judges were to be appointed by the government and the jury system was limited.

Use the source, and your own knowledge, to describe how Napoleon's domestic reforms changed France.

(8)

(Total for Question 1: 25 marks)

A1: Revolution and Reaction: France, 1789–1830

If you have answered Question 1 do not answer Question 2.

Total: 25 marks. You should spend about 45 minutes on this question.

2. Reaction

This question is about France in the years 1815–30.

- (a) Look at the boxes below. Write down the two results of the ‘Hundred Days’.

Harsher terms were imposed on France	The Charter
Louis XVIII was forced to flee	France was invited to the Vienna Congress

(2)

- (b) Choose one of your answers to question (a) and describe one effect that it had on France.

(3)

- (c) Give two reasons why the restoration of Louis XVIII appeared to have been successful by 1819.

(4)

- (d) Choose any two of the following and explain the part that they played in the policies of Charles X.

The National Guard	Censorship
The Law of Indemnity	The Law of Sacrilege

(8)

- (e) Study the source and then answer the question that follows.

Source: from a modern textbook

In the general election of December 1827 the Ultras were defeated and a Liberal majority was returned. Charles appointed the Comte de Martignac, a moderate, as Prime Minister. He hoped that this would appease the liberals. Martignac tried to prevent increases in the power of the church, but was dismissed by Charles in August 1829. In his place, Charles appointed the Prince de Polignac.

Use the source, and your own knowledge, to describe how Charles X became increasingly unpopular in the years 1827–30.

(8)

(Total for Question 2: 25 marks)

A2: Reconstruction and Nationalism in Post-war Europe, 1815–1840: The Great Powers and the Rise of Nationalism in Belgium and Greece

Total: 25 marks. You should spend about 45 minutes on this question.

3. The Great Powers

This question is about the Vienna Settlement, the Congress System and the Eastern Question.

- (a) Look at the boxes below. Write down the two aims of the Great Powers at Vienna.

To control France	To unify Germany
To encourage democracy	To restore legitimate rulers

(2)

- (b) Choose one of your answers to question (a) and describe one effect that it had on Europe.

(3)

- (c) Give two reasons why Russia was given control of Poland at Vienna.

(4)

- (d) Choose any two of the following and explain the part that they played in the Congress System.

The Quintuple Alliance	The Troppau Protocol
Castlereagh's State Paper, May 1820	The Holy Alliance

(8)

- (e) Study the source and then answer the question that follows.

Source: from a modern textbook

One of the reasons why Castlereagh opposed Tsar Alexander's offer to send Russian troops to Naples in 1820 was that he was very suspicious of what they might do after the revolt had been crushed. For some time the Russians had been expanding their empire around the Black Sea and now wanted to expand into the Mediterranean.

Use the source, and your own knowledge, to describe how Russian plans for expansion helped to create the Eastern Question.

(8)

(Total for Question 3: 25 marks)

A2: Reconstruction and Nationalism in Post-war Europe, 1815–1840: The Great Powers and the Rise of Nationalism in Belgium and Greece

If you have answered Question 3 do not answer Question 4.

Total: 25 marks. You should spend about 45 minutes on this question.

4. Nationalism in Belgium and Greece

This question is about the Greek War of Independence and problems in the Kingdom of the United Netherlands.

- (a) Look at the boxes below. Write down the two reasons why a Greek revolt against Turkish rule broke out in 1821.

The actions of Alexander Ypsilanti	Murder of the Patriarch of Constantinople
European Volunteers	Hetaira Philike

(2)

- (b) Choose one of your answers to question (a) and describe one effect that it had on Greece.

(3)

- (c) Give two reasons why the European powers intervened in the Greek War of Independence.

(4)

- (d) Choose any two of the following and explain the part that they played in the achievement of Greek independence.

The National Assembly	The Battle of Navarino
Capo d'Istria	The London Protocol

(8)

- (e) Study the source and then answer the question that follows.

Source: from a modern textbook

Belgium was the first area of Europe to follow the British example and industrialise. In Belgium there was a flourishing textile industry. By contrast, in Holland there was very little industry. Belgium was therefore contributing by far the greater share of the national income.

Use the source, and your own knowledge, to describe how trade and the economy contributed to divisions between the Belgians and the Dutch after the creation of the Kingdom of the United Netherlands in 1815.

(8)

(Total for Question 4: 25 marks)

A3: The Making of the Nation States: Unification of Italy and Unification of Germany

Total: 25 marks. You should spend about 45 minutes on this question.

5. Italy, 1852–1870

This question is about the unification of Italy in the 1850s and early 1860s.

- (a) Look at the boxes below. Write down the two reasons why Cavour believed that he needed foreign help to defeat Austria in the 1850s.

Events in the war of 1848–49	The railways of Piedmont
Events in the Crimean War	The size of Piedmont

(2)

- (b) Choose one of your answers to question (a) and describe one effect that it had on Piedmont.

(3)

- (c) Give two reasons why Cavour was able to persuade Napoleon III to support Piedmont in 1859.

(4)

- (d) Choose any two of the following and explain the part that they played in the events of 1859.

Solferino	The Treaty of Villafranca
The Austrian ultimatum to Piedmont	Nice and Savoy

(8)

- (e) Study the source and then answer the question that follows.

Source: from a modern textbook

The Thousand were all volunteers. Many of them were educated men, such as lawyers and teachers. There were few trained soldiers. But Garibaldi was an experienced commander and an inspiring leader. They landed in Sicily in May 1860 and were greeted with great enthusiasm. Garibaldi soon defeated the king's forces and by the end of July he had driven them out of Sicily.

Use the source, and your own knowledge, to describe the role of Garibaldi in the unification of Italy in 1860–61.

(8)

(Total for Question 5: 25 marks)

A3: The Making of the Nation States: Unification of Italy and Unification of Germany

If you have answered Question 5 do not answer Question 6.

Total: 25 marks. You should spend about 45 minutes on this question.

6. Germany, 1862–1890

This question is about the creation of the German Empire.

- (a) Look at the boxes below. Write down the two examples of Bismarck's use of Realpolitik.

The Zollverein	The solving of the budget crisis
The Ems Telegram	The reforms of the army

(2)

- (b) Choose one of your answers to question (a) and describe one effect that it had on Prussia.

(3)

- (c) Give two reasons why the parliament of the German Empire had little real power.

(4)

- (d) Choose any two of the following and explain the part that they played in the German Empire.

The Reichsbank	The Junkers
The Tariff Law	The Chancellor

(8)

- (e) Study the source and then answer the question that follows.

Source: from a modern textbook

No sooner had Bismarck tried to destroy the Socialist Party, than he began to put into place many of its demands. He announced that the well-being of the worker must be protected by the state. In 1883, medical treatment was provided for 3,000,000 workers and their families.

Use the source, and your own knowledge, to describe how Bismarck changed his policy towards socialism and the Socialist Party in the 1880s.

(8)

(Total for Question 6: 25 marks)

A4: The Road to War in Europe, 1870–1914

Total: 25 marks. You should spend about 45 minutes on this question.

7. The Alliance System

This question is about international relations in the years 1870–1900.

- (a) Look at the boxes below. Write down the two reasons why Prussia was able to defeat France so quickly in 1870–71.

The Prussian railway network	Prussian rifles were more effective
Prussia was supported by Austria	The Prussian army was larger

- (b) Choose one of your answers to question (a) and describe one effect that it had on the outcome of the War.

(3)

- (c) Give two reasons why Bismarck formed alliances with Russia in the 1870s.

(4)

- (d) Choose any two of the following and explain the part that they played in the Congress of Berlin (1878) and the Treaty of Berlin.

The Treaty of San Stefano	Bismarck as the ‘honest broker’
Bosnia-Herzegovina	Bulgaria

(8)

- (e) Study the source and then answer the question that follows.

Source: from a modern textbook

In 1890, Bismarck was forced to resign by the new Kaiser, Wilhelm II. The Kaiser refused to renew the Reinsurance Treaty and consequently Russia and France began to grow closer together. Consequently, Bismarck’s policy of isolating France came to an end and the prospect of a war on two fronts became much greater.

Use the source, and your own knowledge, to describe how the resignation of Bismarck affected international relations in the 1890s.

(8)

(Total for Question 7: 25 marks)

A4: The Road to War in Europe, 1870–1914

If you have answered Question 7 do not answer Question 8.

Total: 25 marks. You should spend about 45 minutes on this question.

8. International Rivalry

This question is about relations between Britain and Germany and the Schlieffen Plan.

- (a) Look at the boxes below. Write down the two reasons why relations between Britain and Germany grew worse in the 1890s.

The Kiel Canal	The Entente Cordiale
The Kruger Telegram	Splendid Isolation

(2)

- (b) Choose one of your answers to question (a) and describe one effect that it had on relations between Britain and Germany.

(3)

- (c) Give two reasons why the expansion of the German Empire was viewed with suspicion in Britain.

(4)

- (d) Choose any two of the following and explain the part that they played in the Moroccan Crises of 1905 and 1911.

The Kaiser	The Algeciras Conference
The Panther	The Mansion House Speech

(8)

- (e) Study the source and then answer the question that follows.

Source: from a modern textbook

The German invasion of Belgium was the first part of the Schlieffen Plan. As relations between France and Germany deteriorated in the early 1900s and France and Russia grew closer together, the German High Command began to prepare for war. The Schlieffen Plan was developed by Count Alfred von Schlieffen, the German Chief of Staff in 1905, and was designed to cope with a war on two fronts.

Use the source, and your own knowledge, to describe how the Schlieffen Plan was intended to defeat France.

(8)

(Total for Question 8: 25 marks)

A5: Reform and Reaction in Russia, 1855–1917

Total: 25 marks. You should spend about 45 minutes on this question.

9. Reform

This question is about attempts to introduce reforms in Russia in the years 1855–1914.

- (a) Look at the boxes below. Write down the two reasons why Alexander II faced serious problems when he came to the throne in 1855.

Poor transport	Military defeat
The Populists	Widespread unrest in St Petersburg

(2)

- (b) Choose one of your answers to question (a) and describe one effect that it had on Russia.

(3)

- (c) Give two reasons why Alexander II emancipated the serfs.

(4)

- (d) Choose any two of the following and explain the part that they played in the reign of Nicholas II.

Rasputin	Peter Stolypin
The October Manifesto	The Duma

(8)

- (e) Study the source and then answer the question that follows.

Source: from a modern textbook

Nicholas retained the title of Autocrat in 1906 and continued to appoint and dismiss ministers. Laws continued to be made by the government without reference to the Duma. There was no apparent relaxation in the power of the Tsar's secret police, the Okhrana. In fact, Nicholas had probably never intended to honour his promises.

Use the source, and your own knowledge, to describe how Nicholas II went back on promises of reform made in 1905.

(Total for Question 9: 25 marks)

A5: Reform and Reaction in Russia, 1855–1917

If you have answered Question 9 do not answer Question 10.

Total: 25 marks. You should spend about 45 minutes on this question.

10. Reaction

This question is about opposition to Tsarist rule in Russia.

- (a) Look at the boxes below. Write down the two opposition groups that were formed in the reign of Alexander II.

The Populists	The Bolsheviks
The Social Revolutionaries	The People's Will

(2)

- (b) Choose one of your answers to question (a) and describe one of its aims for change in Russia.

(3)

- (c) Give two reasons why the Social Democratic Party was formed in 1898.

(4)

- (d) Choose any two of the following and explain the part that they played in the 1905 Revolution.

Bloody Sunday	The Russo-Japanese War
The St Petersburg Soviet	The October Manifesto

(8)

- (e) Study the source and then answer the question that follows.

Source: from a modern textbook

In August 1915, Nicholas appointed himself Commander-in-Chief. This meant that he was now directly responsible for strategy. Before this, he had been able to blame his generals. He also left Petrograd for the army headquarters, which allowed Rasputin to influence him through the Tsarina. Rasputin persuaded her to ask her husband to dismiss ministers and change military tactics.

Use the source, and your own knowledge, to describe how Nicholas II's decision to take command of the army led to increased opposition to the government.

(8)

(Total for Question 10: 25 marks)

A6: The USSR, 1917–1964: Bolshevism Triumphant

Total: 25 marks. You should spend about 45 minutes on this question.

11. The Soviet Union, 1917–1941

This question is about the policies of Stalin.

- (a) Look at the boxes below. Write down the two reasons why Stalin became the leader of the Soviet Union after the death of Lenin in 1924.

He was General-Secretary of the Party	The success of the NEP
Trotsky was supported by the Red Army	Lenin's Political Will was kept secret

(2)

- (b) Choose one of your answers to question (a) and describe one effect that it had on the struggle for power.

(3)

- (c) Give two reasons why Stalin adopted the policy of 'Socialism in One Country'.

(4)

- (d) Choose any two of the following and explain the part that they played in the Five-Year Plans.

Targets	Gosplan
Stakhanovites	Komsomol

(8)

- (e) Study the source and then answer the question that follows.

Source: from a modern textbook

The executions of the Old Bolsheviks, the people who had known Lenin, meant that Stalin could begin to rewrite the history of Russia and the Soviet Union. He wanted to do this for several reasons. Firstly, he wanted to destroy Trotsky's reputation. Trotsky had been largely responsible for the Bolshevik successes in October 1917 and during the Civil War.

Use the source, and your own knowledge, to describe how Stalin used the 'Revision of History' in his efforts to control public opinion in the Soviet Union.

(8)

(Total for Question 11: 25 marks)

A6: The USSR, 1917–1964: Bolshevism Triumphant

If you have answered Question 11 do not answer Question 12.

Total: 25 marks. You should spend about 45 minutes on this question.

12. The Soviet Union, 1941–1964

This question is about the Second World War and the reforms of Khrushchev.

- (a) Look at the boxes below. Write down the two reasons why the German invasion of 1941 failed to defeat the Red Army.

Reinforcements from Siberia	Hitler attacked too late
Stalin was warned of the attack by spies	The Red Army had experienced officers

(2)

- (b) Choose one of your answers to question (a) and describe one effect that it had on the German invasion.

(3)

- (c) Give two reasons why Khrushchev wanted to reform Soviet agriculture.

(4)

- (d) Choose any two of the following and explain the part that they played in Khrushchev's reforms of Soviet agriculture.

Maize	The Virgin Lands
Machine Tractor Stations	Collectivisation

(8)

- (e) Study the source and then answer the question that follows.

Source: from a modern textbook

Nobody actually wanted to return to the terror that Stalin had imposed, but there was a feeling that Khrushchev had allowed too much freedom and criticism. There was also the way that Khrushchev behaved in public. Although he appeared to be lively and friendly when he met ordinary people, he was often rude to other leaders and rarely listened to advice.

Use the source, and your own knowledge, to describe how Khrushchev came to be dismissed in 1964.

(8)

(Total for Question 12: 25 marks)

A7: The Rise of Fascism in Europe: Germany and Italy, 1919–1939

Total: 25 marks. You should spend about 45 minutes on this question.

13. Germany

This question is about the Treaty of Versailles, the increasing importance of the Nazi Party and its impact on ordinary people.

- (a) Look at the boxes below. Write down the two terms of the Treaty of Versailles.

The Polish Corridor	Hyperinflation
Occupation of the Ruhr	Occupation of the Saar

(2)

- (b) Choose one of your answers to question (a) and describe one effect that it had on Germany. (3)
- (c) Give two reasons why the number of votes cast for the Nazis in elections increased in the years 1928–32. (4)
- (d) Choose any two of the following and explain the part that they played in the Night of the Long Knives in June 1934.

Roehm's plans for the SA	The SS
Hitler's need for the support of the army	General von Schleicher

(8)

- (e) Study the source and then answer the question that follows.

Source: from a modern textbook
Germans were continually reminded about the basic Nazi ideas. Men and women had separate and quite distinct roles in society. The Nazi Party was a man's party. There were no women in senior positions. Hitler and the Nazis did not believe in equality for the sexes.

Use the source, and your own knowledge, to describe the roles of men and women in Nazi Germany.

(8)

(Total for Question 13: 25 marks)

A7: The Rise of Fascism in Europe: Germany and Italy, 1919–1939

If you have answered Question 13 do not answer Question 14.

Total: 25 marks. You should spend about 45 minutes on this question.

14. Italy

This question is about the rise to power of Mussolini.

- (a) Look at the boxes below. Write down the two reasons why Mussolini became popular in the years 1919–21.

The Acerbo Law	Losses during the First World War
Fear of Communism	The Balilla

(2)

- (b) Choose one of your answers to question (a) and describe one effect that it had on support for Mussolini.

(3)

- (c) Give two reasons why Mussolini was appointed prime minister after the March on Rome.

(4)

- (d) Choose any two of the following and explain the part that they played in Mussolini's gaining complete power in Italy from 1925.

The murder of Matteotti	The Lateran Treaties
The OVRA	Rule by decree

(8)

- (e) Study the source and then answer the question that follows.

Source: from a modern textbook

One aim of the Battles was to achieve self-sufficiency. The Battle for Grain tried to increase wheat production. But very often farmers switched from citrus fruits, olive and grapes to wheat, which was much more difficult to produce in most areas. Italy depended on exports of wine and olive oil for foreign currency.

Use the source, and your own knowledge, to describe how Mussolini tried to make Italy self-sufficient.

(8)

(Total for Question 14: 25 marks)

A8: International Relations, 1919–1939: Collective Security and Appeasement

Total: 25 marks. You should spend about 45 minutes on this question.

15. Collective Security

This question is about successes and failures of the League of Nations in the 1920s.

- (a) Look at the boxes below. Write down the two successes of the League of Nations in the 1920s.

The Aaland Islands	The Greek-Bulgarian border dispute
The Corfu Incident	Vilna

(2)

- (b) Choose one of your answers to question (a) and describe one effect that it had on the League of Nations.

(3)

- (c) Give two reasons why the League of Nations' military sanctions were almost always ineffective.

(4)

- (d) Choose any two of the following and explain the part that they played in the decision of the USA not to join the League of Nations.

The Monroe Doctrine	Fear of communism
Isolationism	Fear of foreign wars

(8)

- (e) Study the source and then answer the question that follows.

Source: from a modern textbook

Following the Locarno Pacts, Germany was admitted to the League of Nations and became the fifth Permanent Member of the Council. This seemed to be a very important event. It suggested that Germany had recovered from the effects of the war and had been accepted as an equal by the rest of Europe. It was all the more important because France nominated Germany's membership.

Use the source, and your own knowledge, to describe how Collective Security appeared to be working in the later 1920s.

(8)

(Total for Question 15: 25 marks)

A8: International Relations, 1919–1939: Collective Security and Appeasement

If you have answered Question 15 do not answer Question 16.

Total: 25 marks. You should spend about 45 minutes on this question.

16. Appeasement

This question is about Hitler's foreign policy.

- (a) Look at the boxes below. Write down the two ways in which Hitler broke the Treaty of Versailles in the years 1933–35.

Conscription	Re-occupying the Rhineland
Rearmament	Re-taking control of the Saar

(2)

- (b) Choose one of your answers to question (a) and describe one effect that it had on international relations.

(3)

- (c) Give two reasons why the League of Nations did very little when Hitler invaded Austria in March 1938.

(4)

- (d) Choose any two of the following and explain the part that they played in the Munich Crisis in September 1938.

Neville Chamberlain	The Czech government
Mussolini	Henlein

(8)

- (e) Study the source and then answer the question that follows.

Source: from a modern textbook

From March 1939, there could be no doubt that Hitler would have to be stopped one way or another. In April 1939, Britain made defensive alliances with Romania and Poland. These meant that if either country were attacked, Britain would go to war to defend them. From June to August 1939, France, Britain and the Soviet Union discussed an alliance against Hitler.

Use the source, and your own knowledge, to describe how the British government tried to stop Hitler's aggression in 1939.

Although people in the new industries found themselves getting better off, the wages of many workers did not rise during the 1920s. In the old industries they actually fell. More and more money found its way into the pockets of fewer and fewer people. This meant that the gap between the very rich and the very poor grew. Eventually, there were fewer and fewer people who could actually afford to go on buying.

Use the source, and your own knowledge, to describe how many industrial workers did not share in the boom during the 1920s.

The Agricultural Adjustment Act helped farming begin to recover in the mid-1930s. But one group of farmers saw no improvement. In the states of Oklahoma, Kansas and Arkansas the fertile soil was swept away by winds and the area became a dustbowl. The farmers here were poor sharecroppers, who were evicted and forced to head west to California. Many made a living fruit-picking.

Lyndon Johnson was a southerner from Texas, where segregation was common, so it was surprising that he forced Congress to accept the Civil Rights Act. This was partly a result of Kennedy's assassination, but also because Johnson had been a schoolteacher who had seen the effects of segregation. The Act made segregation in education and housing illegal and stated that all US citizens were entitled to equal employment opportunities.

If you have answered Question 35 do not answer Question 36.

Total: 25 marks. You should spend about 45 minutes on this question.

36. Eastern Europe, 1945–1990s

This question is about Europe in the years 1945–91.

- (a) Look at the boxes below. Write down the two reasons why Stalin believed that the West was trying to undermine the Soviet Union in the years after the Second World War.

Disagreements over Germany	France was given part of the US zone
Berlin was divided into four sectors	The attitude of Truman at Potsdam

(2)

- (b) Choose one of your answers to question (a) and describe one effect that it had on Stalin.

(3)

- (c) Give two reasons why many refugees left the East in the 1950s.

(4)

- (d) Choose any two of the following and explain the part that they played in life behind the Iron Curtain.

Religion	The Media
Education	Communist Parties

(8)

- (e) Study the source and then answer the question that follows.

Source: from a modern textbook

Gorbachev knew that if the Soviet Union were to survive, he had to reduce expenditure and make the economy more efficient. But he also needed foreign aid and new technology. The only way of getting it was by making agreements to reduce arms with the West. Reagan also wanted to cut military expenditure. In 1983, the USA spent $300 billion on defence: more than the entire British budget.

Use the source, and your own knowledge, to describe how the policies of Mikhail Gorbachev led to improved relations with the West.

SECTION B: SPECIAL TOPICS

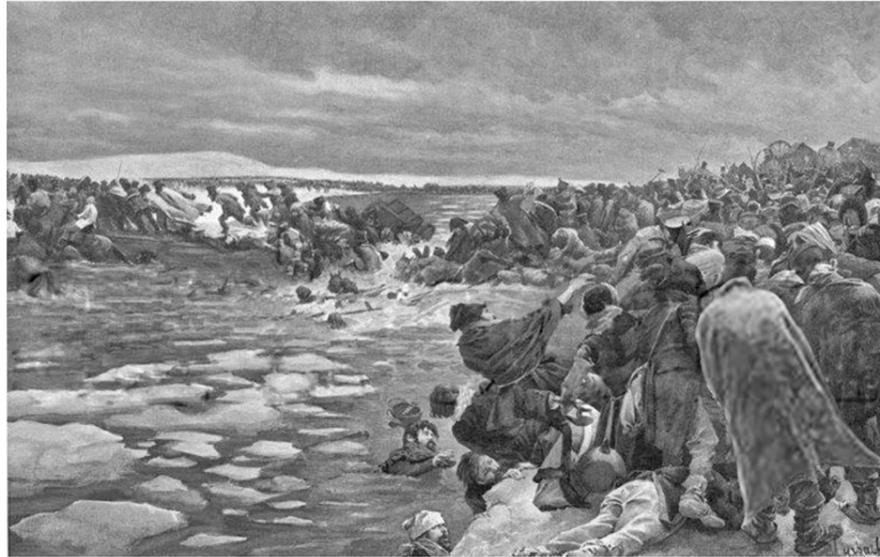

Answer ONE question from the Special Topics, numbered B1 to B10.

B1: The Napoleonic Wars, 1803–1815

You should spend about one hour on this question.

1. This question is about the 1812 campaign in Russia. Study Sources A, B, C and D and then answer the questions that follow.

SOURCE A: A nineteenth century painting showing the remnants of Napoleon's army attempting to cross the Beresina River in November 1812.

SOURCE B: From a history of warfare, published in 2000.

The Russian winter forced Napoleon to begin the retreat from Moscow in October 1812. However, at the end of November the French found that their retreat was blocked by the Beresina River. A few bridges were thrown across the icy waterway but the Russian artillery caused panic. French discipline was lost as men crowded across the only escape routes available to them. The Russians claimed to have counted 13,000 frozen French corpses on the Russian side of the Beresina.

SOURCE C: A nineteenth century French painting showing Marshall Ney's command of the rearguard at the Beresina, November 1812. Ney is the figure in the centre holding a musket in front of him.

SOURCE D: From a history of the Napoleonic Wars, published in 2004.

The most important factor in the failure of Napoleon's Russian campaign was the tactics employed by the Russian commanders. The Russian forces simply withdrew and Napoleon's lines of communication became dangerously extended. The French armies were used to 'living off the land'. However, the Russian troops destroyed villages and crops as they fell back. By the time Napoleon reached Smolensk, only 160,000 of his original 450,000 troops were left.

Questions

Study Sources A and B.

- (a) Does Source B support the evidence of Source A about the crossing of the Beresina River by the French troops? Explain your answer. (5)

Study Source C and use your own knowledge.

- (b) Source C suggests that Ney's command of the rearguard at the Beresina was heroic. Why might the artist have shown Ney in this way? (8)

Study Sources A, B, C and D and use your own knowledge.

- (c) Source D suggests that the main reason for the failure of Napoleon's Russian campaign was the tactics employed by the Russian commanders. Do you agree that this was the main reason? Explain your answer, using the sources and your own knowledge. (12)

B2: Bismarck's Wars, 1864–1871

You should spend about one hour on this question.

2. This question is about the Franco-Prussian War of 1870–71. Study Sources A, B, C and D and then answer the questions that follow.

SOURCE A: From a history of Germany, published in 1973.

The German army laid siege to Paris. Bismarck ordered the Prussian guns to shell the city, causing considerable damage to the city and a number of civilian deaths. This stiffened the resolve of the Parisians to resist. It also aroused much foreign sympathy for the city. However, the Parisians, due to serious food shortages, were soon forced to eat their own pets. Paris finally surrendered on 28 January 1871.

SOURCE B: An engraving by a French artist showing the Parisians buying food during the siege of Paris, 1870–71. The sign reads 'Butcher, dogs and cats'.

SOURCE C: A painting by a Prussian artist showing Prussian troops during the Battle of Sedan, September 1870.

SOURCE D: From a modern history of German unification, published in 1986.

The Prussian troops were generally well-trained and they were under the command of the brilliant General von Moltke. Their superior firepower overwhelmed the French armies. However, the main reason for Prussia's victory was the diplomatic isolation of France. Napoleon had no allies. On the other hand, the outbreak of war united all Germans with patriotic enthusiasm. Wurttemberg, Hesse and Baden immediately declared their support for Prussia.

Questions

Study Sources A and B.

- (a) Does Source B support the evidence of Source A about the situation in Paris in the years 1870–71? Explain your answer. (5)

Study Source C and use your own knowledge.

- (b) Source C shows the Prussian troops advancing during the Battle of Sedan. Why might the artist show the event in this way? (8)

Study Sources A, B, C and D and use your own knowledge.

- (c) Source D suggests that the main reason for the Prussian victory was the diplomatic isolation of France. Do you agree that this was the main reason? Explain your answer, using the sources and your own knowledge. (12)

B3: The Balkans, 1876–1914

You should spend about one hour on this question.

3. This question is about the assassination at Sarajevo. Study Sources A, B, C and D and then answer the questions that follow.

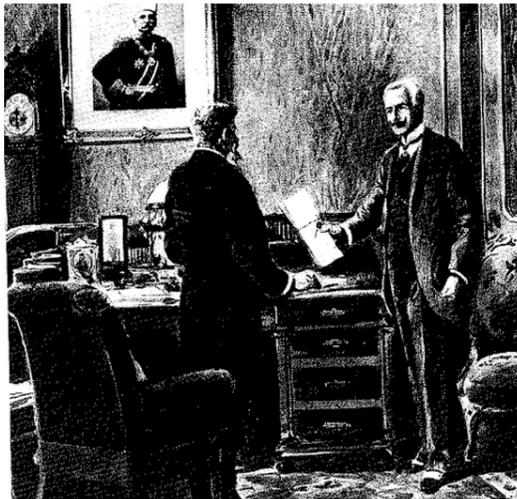

SOURCE A: From evidence given by Gavrilo Princip at his trial in October 1914.

The main motive which guided me in my deed was the avenging of the Serbian people. I am a nationalist. I am a Serb. I aim to free the Serbs. As far as Serbia is concerned, it is her duty to free all Serbs. I aimed at the Archduke. I do not remember what I thought at that moment. I only know that I fired twice or perhaps several times, without knowing whether I had hit or missed.

SOURCE B: From a modern history of Europe, published in 2001.

Princip was a member of The Black Hand, a secret society in Serbia, whose aim was to unite all Serbs, including those in the Austrian Empire, in an enlarged Serbia. As the car carrying the Archduke Franz Ferdinand and his wife stopped, Princip stepped forward. He fired at point blank range. The first bullet went through the side of the car and hit the Archduchess, who died instantly. The second bullet hit the Archduke in the neck, cutting the jugular vein. He died within minutes.

SOURCE C: A sketch which was published in Austrian newspapers, showing the Austro-Hungarian ambassador handing over his government's ultimatum to Serbia on 23 July 1914.

SOURCE D: From a history of international relations, 1870–1914, published in 1988.

It was the actions of Germany which turned the assassination into an international crisis. The Kaiser's reaction to the Sarajevo murder was to insist that the Serbs be dealt with once and for all. At a meeting on 5 July it was decided to give complete support to Austria-Hungary even at the risk of war with Russia. This was the famous 'blank cheque', as it was called.

Questions

Study Sources A and B.

- (a) Does Source B support the evidence of Source A about the part played by Gavrilo Princip in the assassination? Explain your answer. (5)

Study Source C and use your own knowledge.

- (b) Source C shows the Austrian Ambassador handing over his government's ultimatum to Serbia. Why might the Austrian government have wanted to publicise this event? (8)

Study Sources A, B, C and D and use your own knowledge.

- (c) Source D suggests that German support for Austria was the main reason that the assassination turned into an international crisis and war. Do you agree that this was the main reason? Explain your answer, using the sources and your own knowledge. (12)

B4: The First World War, 1914–1918

You should spend about one hour on this question.

4. This question is about the Gallipoli campaign. Study Sources A, B, C and D and then answer the questions that follow.

SOURCE A: From an account by a British officer who fought at Gallipoli.

The Turks had sited their trenches very cleverly on the higher ground and it was often useless to attack one set before another had been taken. There were two difficulties: getting the attacks underway at all, and then supporting them properly. The trenches became congested, the telephone wires were cut by shrapnel and the whole show got out of control. The idea was always to go through with a rush and to disregard losses. This tactic had no chance against determined defenders armed with machine guns.

SOURCE B: From a history textbook, published in 2001.

British and ANZAC attacks failed to break through against strongly defended Turkish trenches and machine guns which were sited on higher ground. For the Turks, this was a Holy War, a struggle to drive out Christian invaders from Muslim Turkey. Time and again, the Turks charged downhill on the Allies. Despite suffering very heavy casualties from machine-gun fire, the Turks continued their charges.

SOURCE C: An official British sketch entitled, 'How the gallant Australians attacked the covered-in trenches of the Turks'. This successful attack took place in Anzac Cove in August 1915.

SOURCE D: From the memoirs of a British officer who fought at Gallipoli.

The major problem was that the attacks were carried out by men who had been seriously weakened by the conditions in the trenches. The dead bodies in no-man's-land attracted horrendous numbers of flies which, in turn, contaminated our food. Typhoid and dysentery were rife. Those that didn't get either suffered other very unpleasant tummy troubles.

Questions

Study Sources A and B.

- (a) Does Source B support the evidence of Source A about the attempts to break through at Gallipoli? Explain your answer. (5)

Study Source C and use your own knowledge.

- (b) Source C shows a successful attack by Australian troops. Why might a British artist have shown the attack in this way? (8)

Study Sources A, B, C and D and use your own knowledge.

- (c) Source D suggests that the living conditions in the trenches were the main reason why the Allies' Gallipoli campaign failed. Do you agree that this was the main reason? Explain your answer, using the sources and your own knowledge. (12)

B5: Weimar Germany and its Challengers, 1919–1924

You should spend about one hour on this question.

5. This question is about German reactions to the Treaty of Versailles. Study Sources A, B, C and D and then answer the questions that follow.

SOURCE A: From a newspaper report which appeared in the New York Times, July 1919.

The immediate effect of the signing of the Treaty was a blaze of protest in the German press and very low spirits among the German people. Several newspapers were published with black borders around articles about the Versailles settlement. They carried headlines such as ‘Germany’s Fate Sealed’ and ‘Peace with Annihilation’. There were numerous protest marches. Serious mob violence was in evidence, especially in Berlin and Hamburg.

SOURCE B: A photograph of Germans demonstrating against the Versailles Treaty, July 1919. The message on the posters reads: ‘We are Germans, displaced from our homeland, protesting against the violent peace and against the theft of our private possessions’.

SOURCE C: A German cartoon of June 1919 showing Germany signing the treaty and surrounded by five of the victorious Allies - Italy, Britain, the USA, Japan and France.

SOURCE D: From the memoirs of a German who remembered the events of 1919.

In our High School in Stuttgart, as indeed in most secondary schools in Germany after 1919, we blamed the new republic for agreeing to such an humiliating treaty. There was increased support for the parties of the right, especially from our teachers. We believed that it was the stab in the back that had prevented a German victory and that we had been betrayed by the Allies.

Questions

Study Sources A and B.

- (a) Does Source B support the evidence of Source A about immediate reactions in Germany to the Treaty of Versailles? Explain your answer. (5)

Study Source C and use your own knowledge.

- (b) Source C shows Germany signing the Treaty at gunpoint. Why might a German cartoonist have wanted to show the Treaty in this way? (8)

Study Sources A, B, C and D and use your own knowledge.

- (c) Source D suggests that opposition to the Weimar Republic was the main effect in Germany of the Treaty of Versailles. Do you agree that this was the main effect? Explain your answer, using the sources and your own knowledge. (12)

B6: Russia in Revolution, 1914–1924

You should spend about one hour on this question.

6. This question is about the impact of the First World War on Russia. Study Sources A, B, C and D and then answer the questions that follow.

SOURCE A: From a report by the Chairman of the Military Commission of the Duma in November 1916.

As early as the beginning of 1915, desertions of soldiers at the front and on their way to the front became commonplace, and the average number of deserters from the army reached 25 per cent. I happen to know of three cases when the train carrying troops was stopped because there were no passengers on it. All, with the exception of the officers in command, had run away.

SOURCE B: A photograph showing Russian deserters, including officers, in December 1916.

SOURCE C: From a letter written by Grand Duke Michael to the Tsar in January 1917.

The unrest continues because of food shortages and inflation. Those who defend the idea that Russia cannot exist without the Tsar are losing the ground under their feet, since the facts of disorganisation and lawlessness are obvious. A situation like this cannot last long. It is impossible to rule the country without paying attention to the voice of the people and without meeting their needs.

SOURCE D: From a history of Russia, published in 1996.

The worst effect of the war was on the government of Russia, which seemed to be in a mess. Able ministers were dismissed and replaced with 'yes' men or friends of Rasputin, most of whom were incompetent. There were so many changes of ministers that nobody was organising food, fuel and other supplies to the cities properly. The railway system was in chaos; trainloads of food were unable to get into the major cities.

Questions

Study Sources A and B.

- (a) Does Source B support the evidence of Source A about the effects of the war on the conduct of the Russian soldiers? Explain your answer. (5)

Study Source C and use your own knowledge.

- (b) Source C suggests that the situation in Russia had become dangerous for the government. Why might the Grand Duke have portrayed the situation in this way? (8)

Study Sources A, B, C and D and use your own knowledge.

- (c) Source D suggests that the main effect of the First World War for Russia was the undermining of the Tsar's government. Do you agree that this was the main effect? Explain your answer, using the sources and your own knowledge. (12)

B7: The USA, 1917–1929

You should spend about one hour on this question.

7. This question is about the ‘Roaring Twenties’. Study Sources A, B, C and D and then answer the questions that follow.

SOURCE A: A photograph, taken in the 1920s, of an assembly-line making cars.

SOURCE B: From an interview with Henry Ford in 1926.

The work is sub-divided so that each man and each machine do only one thing. The point of the assembly-line is to keep everything in motion and take the work to the man not the man to the work. The men do not leave their work to get tools – new tools are brought to them. In the assembling plant everyone works ‘on the belt’. This is a big steel conveyor, waist-high, running down through the plant which brings the tools and parts.

SOURCE C: A poster produced in 1924 to advertise Ford cars.

SOURCE D: From a history of the USA, published in 1973.

The car industry, and especially Ford, completely changed the US way of life. It led to cafeterias, supermarkets and motels. It certainly produced the country's first network of paved highways. The Model T gave the farmer and rancher, miles from anywhere, a new pair of legs. It ended the old distinction between town and country. However, the most important effect of the successful car industry was the stimulus it gave to other industries such as steel, oil and rubber.

Questions

Study Sources A and B.

- (a) Does Source B support the evidence of Source A about the car assembly line? Explain your answer. (5)

B8: The Holocaust, 1939–1945

You should spend about one hour on this question.

8. This question is about the treatment of Jews after Kristallnacht (Crystal Night). Study Sources A, B, C and D and then answer the questions that follow.

SOURCE A: A photograph showing Jews, arrested after Kristallnacht, being marched to the railway station.

SOURCE B: From a letter by an un-named Jew in February 1939, about the treatment of Jews after Kristallnacht.

At police headquarters warrants for our arrest were made out. We were led into a narrow yard where hundreds of others had been waiting since early morning. A procession was formed of about two thousand prisoners, escorted by a great many SS men, police constables and military police, all with rifles. We began our march towards a distant railway station. Crowds lined the streets, and some shouted abuse, such as 'Germany will be freed of Jews'. The majority of the crowd remained silent.

SOURCE C: A Nazi cartoon of 1939. The sign reads ‘One-way street. The Jews are our misfortune and are moving out of Germany and to the distant South’.

SOURCE D: From a history of Germany, published in 1997.

After Kristallnacht the position of German Jews rapidly worsened. Hitler decided to use Kristallnacht to speed up the removal of Jews. On 12 March 1939, the first mass arrest of Jews took place and nearly 30,000 Jewish men and boys were sent to concentration camps.

Questions

Study Sources A and B.

- (a) Does Source B support the evidence of Source A about the treatment of the Jews after Kristallnacht? Explain your answer. (5)

Study Source C and use your own knowledge.

- (b) Source C shows Jews in Germany being forced to leave their homes. Why might cartoons such as this have been widely circulated in Germany in the late 1930s? (8)

B9: The Second World War, 1939–1945

You should spend about one hour on this question.

9. This question is about the Battle of the Bulge and the final defeat of Germany. Study Sources A, B, C and D and then answer the questions that follow.

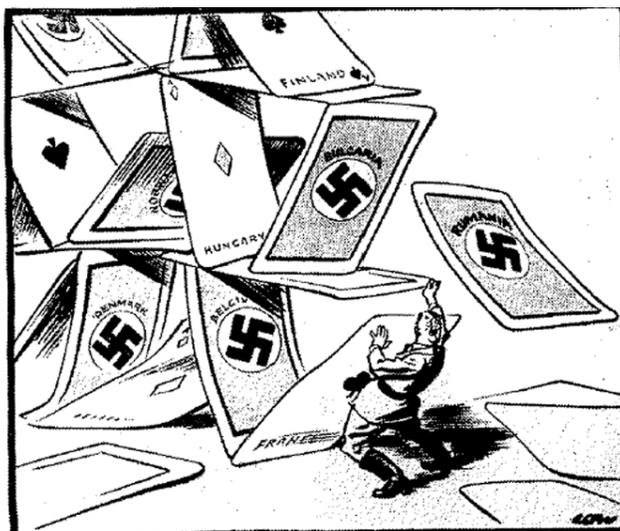

SOURCE A: From a history of the Second World War, published in 1990.

There was often disagreement between Hitler and his generals. He refused to delegate authority to them and preferred to play one off against the other. It was Hitler's decision, against the advice of his generals, to launch one last offensive in the Ardennes in December 1944 to try to repeat the success of 1940. It was doomed to failure. Hitler used up his last reserves of planes, tanks and troops for no apparent gain.

SOURCE B: From the memoirs of a British general writing about the Battle of the Bulge.

In the Battle of the Bulge the Allies got a really 'bloody nose'. The US had nearly 80,000 casualties and we lost six weeks in time. However, there was no German breakthrough to Antwerp and US troops held on to the vital road-centre at Bastogne. The Germans suffered heavy losses in planes, tanks and troops, losses which could not be replaced.

SOURCE C: A British cartoon of August 1944.

SOURCE D: From a modern world history, published in 1996.

The Allied bombing of Germany was the main reason for the defeat of Germany. It drew off huge numbers of German aircraft from the Russian front and forced Germany to shift its production into anti-aircraft guns rather than tanks. In surveys carried out after the war, 91 per cent of Germans said that the hardest part of civilian life in the war was the effects of the bombing.

Questions

B10: China under Mao Zedong, 1949–1959

You should spend about one hour on this question.

10. This question is about the introduction of communes and The Great Leap Forward. Study Sources A, B, C and D and then answer the questions that follow.

SOURCE A: An account by a foreign visitor to China, 1959.

Winter and summer, visitors came from all over China to Shashiyu to see the changes made. They have seen this parched land and these once barren hills turned into orchards and terraced fields of grain. They also come to take back with them the spirit of the people who literally grew grain and fruit trees on rocks, carrying soil up slopes now terraced by walls and forested with pine and spruce.

SOURCE B: From a modern history of China, published in 1983, describing a tour of China in 1959 by P'eng, the Minister of Defence of China.

P'eng came upon a large pile of rice crops lying on the ground apparently abandoned. There was little or no evidence of farming. After a lengthy search, an old peasant was finally located who explained that all the able-bodied people were busy on steel production. P'eng exclaimed, 'Has no one here given any thought to what you will eat next year if you do not harvest your crops?' The old peasant nodded in agreement but added, 'True enough. Who would disagree with that? But who can stand up against government policy?'

SOURCE C: An official Chinese government poster of 1960 with the title 'The people's commune is good, happiness will last for ten thousand years'.

SOURCE D: From a modern history of China, published in 1988.

Communes were responsible for local government, health, education and social welfare. Their aim was economic self-sufficiency – for example, iron and steel production could be located in communes so that tractors could be produced locally. However Mao’s main aim in introducing communes was to transform traditional ways in Chinese society. He wanted to break down age-old loyalties to the family and village.

Questions

Study Sources A and B.

- (a) Does Source B support the evidence of Source A about the effect of the communes on agriculture? Explain your answer. (5)
