

ATP Conference 2015
10th – 12th July
University of Lancaster
For the teacher, by the teacher...

The Association for the Teaching of Psychology is holding its Annual Conference at the University of Lancaster this year. With new specifications commencing in September, what better time to come to conference and get support and advice from exam board representatives, authors of the new text books, examiners and colleagues?

Across the three days of conference, we have a full exhibition, four keynote speakers and a choice of 52 breakout events, designed specifically to support you in teaching Psychology. There are also plenty of networking opportunities. If you come for the CPD days, you are welcome to stay on and join us for the wine receptions. Prices start from just £140 for a one-day CPD event to just £320 for the whole three-day conference. To book visit: <http://www.kc-jones.co.uk/atp2015> or see our conference website: <http://atpconference.org.uk/> See below for the breakout events list.
