What is BTEC?

Chosen by over 1 million learners every year, BTEC offers a range of professional qualifications for anyone taking their first steps into the world of work, progressing through their careers, or planning to enter university.

Pearson, which owns BTEC, is the only awarding organisation in the UK which publishes the results for its technical and professional qualifications on an annual basis.

Results 2016

Registrations in our Level 2 (GCSE level) BTEC Firsts have fallen this year, as expected, in part reflecting changes in school accountability measures. FE registrations have remained relatively stable across the suite.

The 2016 BTEC results show an increasingly stable picture:

- At Level 2 (equivalent to GCSE) we saw a big drop in students achieving the top grades in 2015, as schools and colleges adjusted to a new BTEC (the NQF). This year the drop is significantly smaller, which we believe reflects an adjustment to the new qualification among teachers.
- At Level 3 (equivalent to A Level) we have seen some increases in the top grades in recent years. With our triple-grade BTECs, which provide a well-established route to university, the number of students achieving the top grades is now stable. We expect this trend to continue as the new BTEC National qualifications are taken in schools and colleges from autumn 2016.

We see a continuing growth in students, particularly female learners, taking the STEM subjects. The exception is for the BTEC First in Applied Science, which has seen a significant drop connected to school accountability measures.

BTEC Results 2016

About these results

The results published this year represent achievement for learners in UK schools and further education establishments (FE) for the 2015/16 full academic year (from September 2015 to August 2016). They represent learners at a cohort level, i.e. those that were expected to complete in 2015/16. This provides a comprehensive picture of the results for BTEC Firsts and Nationals over the year. Performance tables report on completion rates, so the inclusion of this data aligns these results closely with national reporting.

Learners' results may be reported as 'not completed' for a number of reasons: put simply, the student has not passed the qualification in the expected timeframe. However it may be they are still studying for their qualification, or that a fallback Certificate of Unit Achievement was requested, or that they have withdrawn from the course.

In recent years BTEC First qualifications at Level 2 (GCSE level) have undergone a significant change of structure and the new qualifications sit within the National Qualifications Framework (NQF). The earlier BTEC Firsts were aligned to the Qualifications and Credit Framework (QCF). The QCF has been withdrawn but is used in this publication to identify the earlier suite of qualifications. The NQF BTEC First qualifications include an additional Level 1 Pass grade which was not available in the QCF versions.

Most BTEC National qualifications (Level 3, like A Levels) results in this publication are for specifications aligned to the QCF, the 'older' framework. New BTEC National qualifications at Level 3 are currently available for registration with external assessments required for completion are first available in 2016. These qualifications will have results to report from 2017. The exception is the BTEC National in Children's Play, Learning and Development (CPLD) - which remained aligned to the NQF while other BTEC National qualifications were on the QCF.

The data in this presentation combines results from the NQF and QCF qualifications at each level.

BTEC Firsts Cohort Overview

Completed: learners who completed by the end of the specified course duration and were awarded a qualification grade.

Not completed: learners who withdrew, claimed fallback, or were yet to complete at the end of the specified course duration.

There has been a large drop in the overall cohort for BTEC Firsts, going from a peak of 579,736 in 2014/15 to 333,285 in 2015/16, this represents a decline of 43%. This was expected and in part reflects changes in school accountability measures at Key Stage 4 (Year 11).

BTEC Results 2016

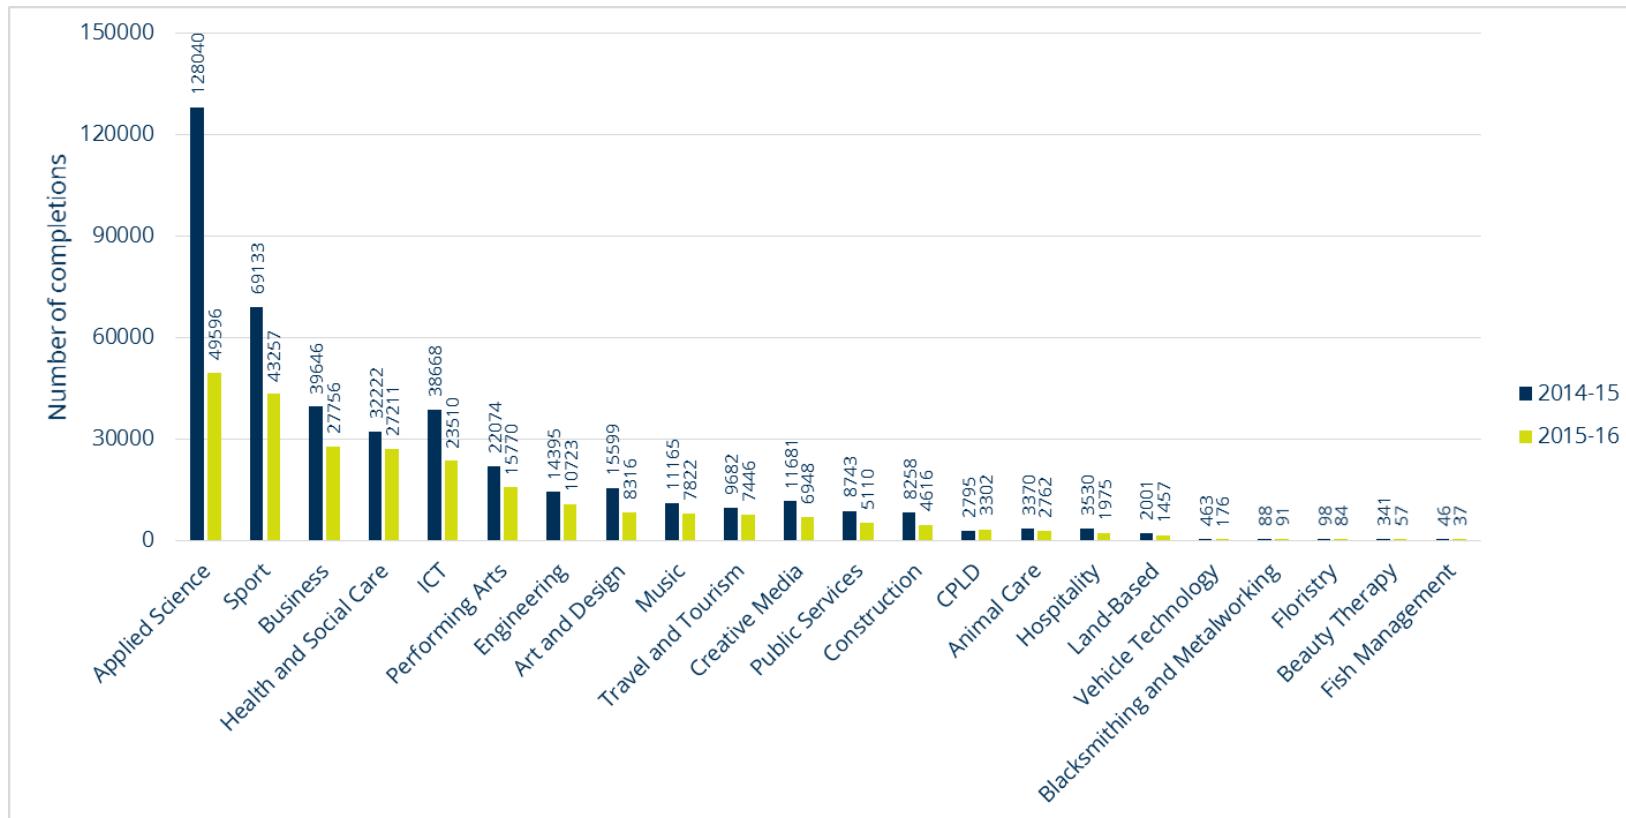

The significant drop in science in part reflects changes in schools accountability measures, which for the future will only recognise GCSE qualifications in science subjects.

BTEC Firsts: an overview of volume by region

The data for Wales includes an unusual pattern of early entry.

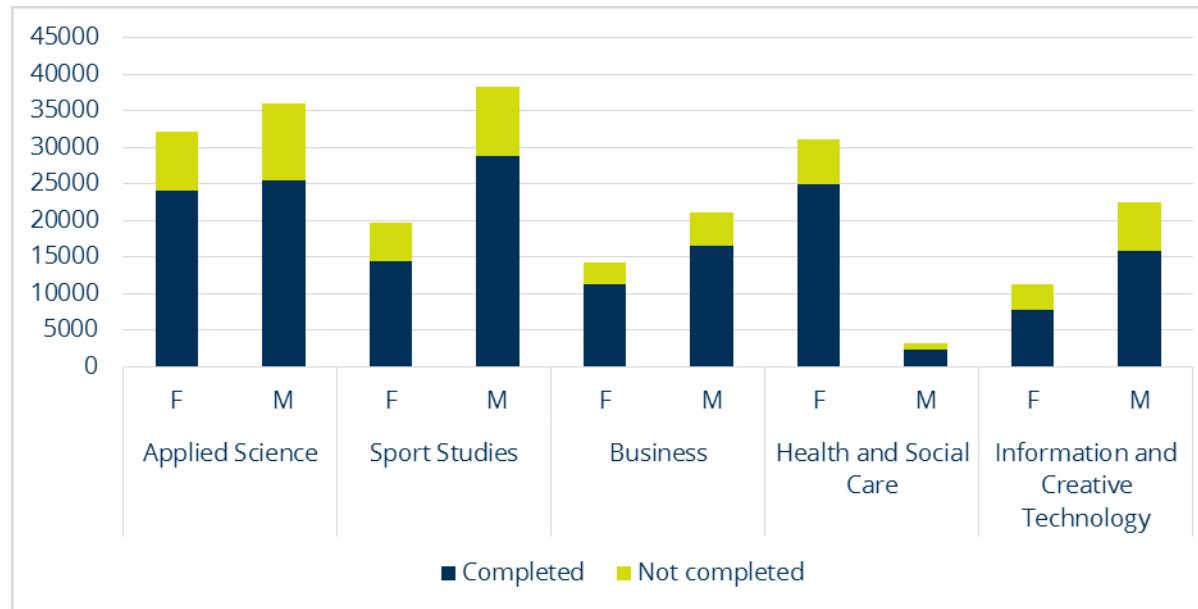

South East England has seen the highest number of completions for the 3rd year running. The North East has seen the lowest number of completions for the last 3 years.

(South East does not include London
Not including N.Ireland, Wales or Scotland where overall registrations are low)

BTEC Firsts: 2015/16 top 5 sectors by volume and gender

Males are still the dominant cohort on four of the five largest BTECs. The only one which sees a higher female to male ratio, is Health and Social Care where we see approximately 10 times as many females as males.

BTEC Results 2016

BTEC Firsts: top 5 sectors for female learners by completion volume

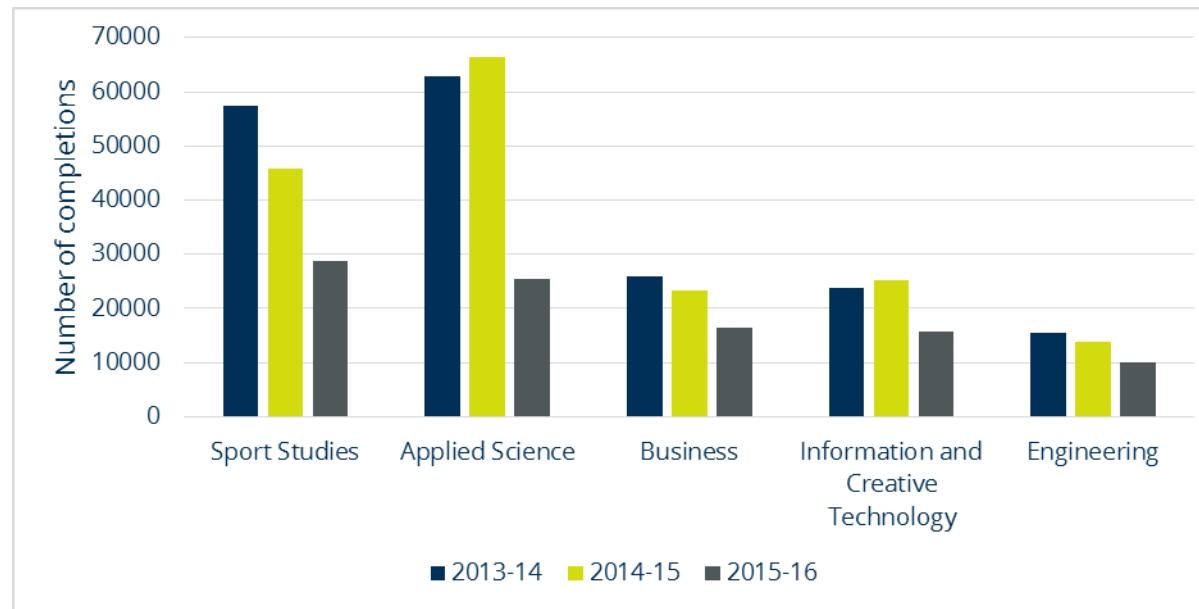

In 2016 Health and Social Care is the most popular BTEC course for female learners with Applied Science second.

It should be noted that the proportion of female learners studying these subjects is similar to previous years, the decline in completions for 2016 reflects the fact there was an overall drop in L2 registrations.

BTEC Results 2016

BTEC Firsts: top 5 sectors for male learners by completion volume

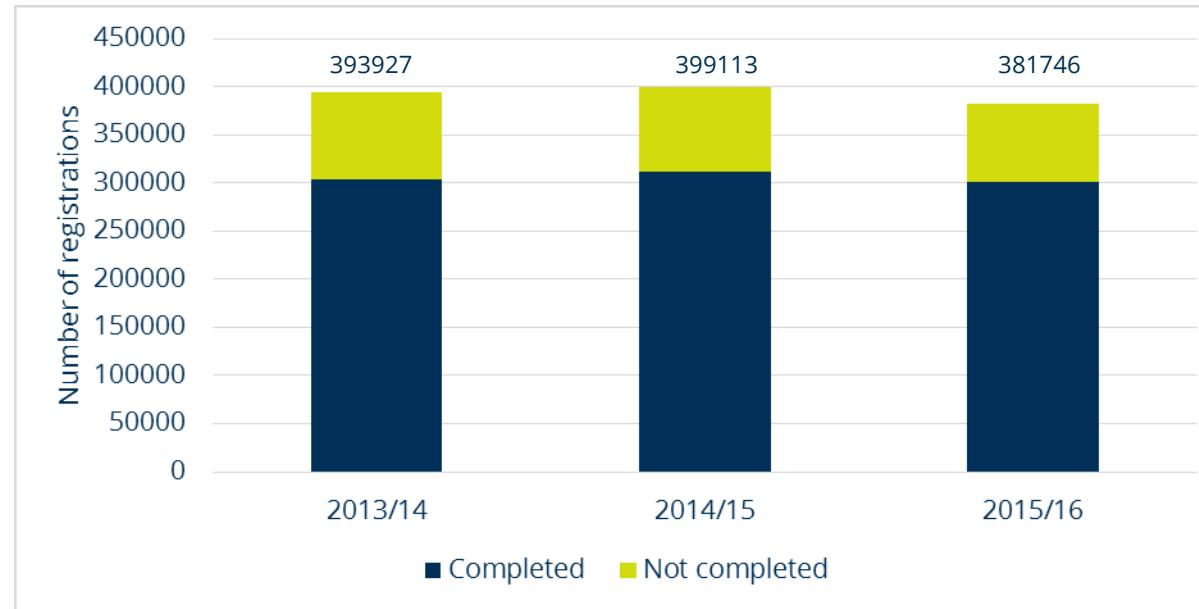

It should be noted that the proportion of male learners studying these subjects is similar to previous years, the decline in completions for 2016 reflects the fact there was an overall drop in L2 registrations.

BTEC Nationals Cohort Overview

Completed: learners who completed by the end of the specified course duration and were awarded a qualification grade.

Not completed: learners who withdrew, claimed fallback, or were yet to complete at the end of the specified course duration.

Registrations have fallen by 17,367 learners from 2014/15 to 2015/16. This is largely in line with a 3.1% drop in 18 year olds in England, Wales and Northern Ireland.

Non completions have reduced from 23% to 21%.

BTEC Firsts achievement: grade distribution overview

D* grades have fallen over the three year period from 13.1% to 4.1% on L2 qualifications, mainly due to the introduction of the new 'NQF' BTEC qualifications. (in table one, 95% of the 282,068 2015-16 cohort were registered on the NQF). The grade distributions are more stable this year as teachers adapt their teaching to the new qualification.

For these qualifications: Certificate (QCF), Extended Certificate (QCF), Diploma (QCF), Award (NQF)

Following rises in the top grades in recent years, the 2015/16 results show stability at the top grades. We believe this is partly down to changes made by Pearson to the resubmission rules in 2013. We expect this pattern to continue as the new BTEC Nationals are introduced across the country.
