Project proposal

Objectives of my project

My project is about takeaways in Heanor. I will be finding information out on what kinds of foods they sell and putting the information on my power point presentation then I will be producing it into a website. I will also be finding photographs of the places to put on the slides. This will provide information for the public.

For example new people who come to visit the college and people who are at the age 16 – 19 years old that are in education. There are also 2 sixth forms and an FE college which will provide them with this information.

Scope of my project

In my project I will be making presentation then turning it into website to show what types of eating places there are and where they are. I will be putting the information on about 8 slides. The first slide will have the different types of takeaways and you will have to click on the one you want and it will link you to the information on the place. I will then make links to all the slides so more information is on the pages that hyperlink together.

Deliverables

My project is based on takeaways in heanor and it will provide information about the place like what kind of foods they provide. The slides will have all the information needed on also with a few pictures of the foods that they do. On the 8 slides that I will produce will be all about the different types of takeaways there are in Heanor. The website will also provide information on the opening times and days they are open etc... In which I already have these skills already.

Stakeholders

I will be the one who's producing this project and it will be provided for students and teachers in my college for information on what to eat on lunch times. This will affect the businesses that are in heanor because the business will increase and the money that comes into the business will increase.

Equipment needed to make my project

The equipment that I might need is the internet to find the information out for the takeaways that I am producing, Photographs of the businesses so I would need a camera to do this, power point on my computer so I could produce my website. Information on how long the companies have been around for and how could there services are. I may also need to ask permission to take the photographs.

Evaluation/success criteria

I will know that my project has been successful because I will ask some students in my college and ask them to write some comments of what they think of the website. I will also look through the comments and change anything they don't like etc...

Timescale

Start – 9th December 2008

Finish – 17th February 2009

Potential risks

The only risk to my project would if I had a day of when my lesson was meant to be I would become behind on my project. Or the teacher could be ill and no one to cover the lesson we would be behind.

I think this will never happen because I will always be here and hopefully the teacher will be here every lesson also.
But if it does I have access to the learning centre and could do some work outside of lessons to catch up.

My Alternative design and why I didn't pick this design

The design that I did first was a leaflet to give people from colleges and schools information didn't succeed because I didn't think this would be the best way of giving the information across to 16 – 19 years old that are still in education.

I decided to do a website on the information of the takeaways of Hearnor because younger people would rather look on the internet than read a leaflet.

This would make it easier to have a website because they would be able to look and understand more about the place to eat than on a leaflet, where would they get the leaflet from? Would they read it?

Feed back from others

The presentation has all the details on the respective restaurants it also stands out on the coloured backgrounds and the pictures also look very good.

The presentation is good it's not got a lot of writing and it tells you what days and times that the places are open. It also has a good range of photographs of the types of foods that they sell.

Proof of changes to my website

Before changes:

When the changes have been made:

Changes that were made are the backgrounds on all the pages, and the colour of the title and I also added information on the when they are opening and the times.

Review One

I started doing my research for my project on Heanor takeaways, I did this by looking on the internet and asking people at these places what sort of foods that they sell. I then gathered all my information together and started to think of a design for my website.

I had done my proposal and started doing my website. I found that I had to find a lot of information of the internet to put onto my website. I need to also do a chart on my progress after I've finished my proposal.

I found some good things about my website and some bad things that went a bit wrong.

Here are some good thing's about my site:-

- I thought the style of my writing was good and attractive.
- I found some good pictures for my website.
- I found information from the internet

Here are some bad things about my site:

- Colour of the background on the pages.
- Needs more information and the opening times.
- More attractive pictures.

By Gemma Donson

Review two

On my first review I found some bad and good things about my website and in the last couple of weeks I've changed some of the bad things about my website. I have now also completed my chart on my progress and put the bad things on my website correct now.

The bad things that I have changed are:

- Colour on the background I changed from white because it didn't think it was eye catching and looked a bit boring.
- I also had to put more information on about the opening times and the days they where open through the week and weekends.
- I also added more pictures to my pages.

I have now finished and corrected all the things on my website and now I am going to do my final review and my evaluation then I will have completed the project.

End of Project Review

Extent to which the project objectives have been met.

The objectives that I wrote in my proposal I met, because I still went ahead with doing a website about Heanor takeaways. I didn't go around Heanor though and take photographs; I took them of the company's websites and some of the photographs I took off Google images of just different types of foods that they sell. In the end I only did 5 slides as in my proposal I put 8 as an estimate but I didn't need that many. I didn't have to use 8 slides because there were only 4 different types of takeaway companies in Heanor.

Factors that contributed to the projects success or failure

My project was successful because I did a lot of research on all the companies, and I found lots of information of the internet. I also got lots of different pictures to put on my pages.

It was also successful because I put it to set up like a website and I thought it looked good and other people would be interested in finding these places to eat.

I also kept to the original plan and timescales quite well and all on time.
