BTEC Level 2 Award and Certificate in Employability Skills

Deloitte.

Our BTEC L2 Award in Employability Skills supports the Deloitte Employability Course.

The professional services firm Deloitte has been working with Pearson to produce a qualification to support its award winning employability initiative.

As part of the Deloitte - Pearson programme centres receive:

- A Train the Trainer programme on the delivery of effective employability skills. The course challenges ideas and perceptions, enhances employability teaching skills and develops personal and professional effectiveness. Courses are delivered by Deloitte Master Trainers from colleges across the UK.
- A full set of teaching and learning materials mapped to WorkSkills units which include detailed lesson plans, assignments, activities and opportunities for assessment. The resources support the BTEC L2 Award only.
- Access to Deloitte volunteers who support Deloitte courses by delivering specific workshop sessions on CVs, interviews and presentation skills.
- An observation visit from the local Deloitte Employability Centre to provide further advice and guidance on effective delivery.

The Deloitte Employability Initiative is a unique programme that helps tutors teach students the skills, attitudes and behaviours they need to secure and sustain employment.

To date over 600 college tutors from over 150 FE colleges have been trained and over 24,000 students have completed this highly successful programme.

Deloitte together with Pearson have launched a Level 2 Award in Employability Skills to support the Deloitte Employability initiative. This comprises of 9 credits from the WorkSkills suite at Level 2.

A 13 credit BTEC Level 2 Certificate in Employability Skills is also available which comprises of the 9 credit Award plus an additional 4 optional credits. The 4 optional units are not part of the Deloitte Employability Initiative.

The Deloitte Employability course is designed to be delivered alongside any vocational qualifications. Feedback from both trainers and students indicates that it has a lasting impact:-

89% of students who completed a Deloitte course went on to full-time employment or full time education six months after course completion.***

99% of trainers that participated in the course during 2009 rated the course and its contribution to their continuing professional development as "good" or "excellent".****

** Deloitte survey of trainers that participated in the train the trainer session in 2009.

Students who successfully complete the programme can gain a BTEC L2 Employability Skills qualification.

The big thing it gave me was the confidence to believe that I could make a real contribution to any organisation. Without the employability skills training, I'm sure I'd never have managed to secure such an interesting and rewarding job with such a major UK employer.
