

Today's BTEC in Land-Based Environment

Right for you, right for your future

Katie Piper - Outstanding BTEC Land-Based Environment Student of the Year 2014

Katie studied the BTEC Level 3 National Extended Diploma in Animal Management. She started doing A levels, but soon realised she would achieve more completing a BTEC. She was predicted Merit grades initially, but showed great determination and drive to upgrade those predictions to Distinction in all her work. Katie is now employed as the student ambassador in her college community and she has been accepted to study at the Royal Veterinary College in London.

Progress with your studies

50%+

More than 50% of 20- to 30-year-olds going on to higher education have progressed via studying a BTEC†

85%

85% of BTEC students who progressed to further studies expect to derive long-term career-related benefits from their BTEC study*

Succeed in your career

79%

79% of BTEC students who progressed into employment consider BTEC as an important stepping stone towards their dream job*

62%

62% of large companies have recruited employees with a BTEC qualification

† www.which.co.uk/university

* Independent research carried out by London Economics 2010

 YouGov Large Business Research, February 2011

Santanna Kinnish - Outstanding BTEC Land-Based Environment Student of the Year 2013

Santanna excelled when taking her BTEC Level 3 National Extended Diploma in Horse Management as part of her level 3 studies. She began the course with limited practical skills, but through hard work and additional classes she became an outstanding student who has now progressed to study BSc in Equine Studies at degree level.

Learn how you can study BTEC as a standalone course, or alongside GCSEs and A levels, at www.btec.co.uk