

Level 4-5 BTEC Higher Nationals

“

BTEC students have a particular set of skills that prepare them well for university, in particular their ability to work independently and to see the integration between the subjects that they are studying. We love BTEC students and we look forward to welcoming more onto campus in the next few years.

Lisa du Lieu, Senior Lecturer in Marketing at Huddersfield University

What is a BTEC Higher National?

BTEC Higher Nationals are higher education qualifications, recognised as equivalent to the first two years of an honours degree. They have been carefully designed for students who want:

- To gain recognition through higher education level study (with progression to the final year of an honours degree)
- An industry recognised qualification, providing the skills and experience to support their progression in employment.

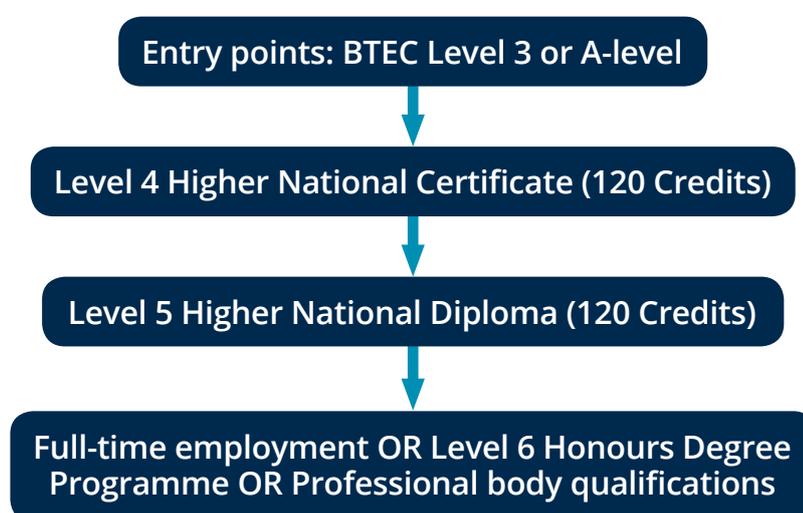

Where can a BTEC Higher National take you?

Designed to TAKE YOU FURTHER

Whether you're looking for work, currently in employment, or going onto the final year of a university degree, Pearson is dedicated to creating opportunities to help you, once you have completed your qualification:

We work with universities in the UK and around the world, explaining the content, structure and purpose of BTEC Higher National qualifications, so that the universities recognise your value and accept applications from you as a BTEC Higher National holder onto a degree programme.

What are my next steps?

If you are interested in studying a BTEC Higher National Qualification:

1. Spend time researching the course and subject that you are interested in.
2. Visit the college website(s) and attend open days to find out what they have to offer.
3. Make sure you meet all application requirements.
4. Speak to your careers advisor if you need more support.

BTEC Higher Nationals are taught in colleges in over 58 countries around the world.
