BTEC International Level 3 University Recognition

BTEC International Level 3 University Recognition

This list includes universities that have indicated they will consider one or more BTEC International Level 3 qualification for undergraduate study. This is not an exhaustive list—many other universities worldwide may also accept BTEC Level 3 International qualifications, so students are encouraged to research potential progression routes and contact universities directly before starting a university course.

In addition, recognition does not always guarantee admission, and students should confirm specific university requirements. Students should be aware that university admission criteria are subject to change and should always check the specific entry requirements for their chosen course, including subject and grade requirements.

Additionally, universities' approaches to BTEC qualifications may vary by country. In some countries, BTEC International Level 3 qualifications are formally recognised by governments or national education bodies, which can further support university acceptance For example, in the UK, universities often consider a combination of smaller BTEC Level 3 qualifications (Diploma, Foundation Diploma, etc.) alongside A Levels. In contrast, in the Netherlands, students with BTEC qualifications should primarily consider universities of applied sciences and hold a BTEC Level 3 Extended Diploma.

This list is regularly updated as we receive new information from universities. If you would like us to discuss BTEC recognition with a university, please contact us at at progression@pearson.com.
