1 Introducing BTEC Specialist qualifications

What are BTEC Specialist qualifications?

BTEC Specialist qualifications are qualifications from Entry to Level 3 on the Qualifications and Credit Framework (QCF). They are work-related qualifications available in a range of sectors. They give learners the knowledge, understanding and skills they need to prepare for employment. The qualifications also provide career development opportunities for those already in work. The qualifications may be offered as full-time or part-time courses in schools or colleges. Training centres and employers may also offer these qualifications.

Some BTEC Specialist qualifications are knowledge components in Apprenticeship Frameworks, i.e. Technical Certificates.

There are three sizes of BTEC Specialist qualification in the QCF:

- Award (1 to 12 credits)
- Certificate (13 to 36 credits)
- Diploma (37 credits and above).

Every unit and qualification in the QCF has a credit value.

The credit value of a unit specifies the number of credits that will be awarded to a learner who has achieved the learning outcomes of the unit.

The credit value of a unit is based on:

- one credit for every 10 hours of learning time
- learning time – defined as the time taken by learners at the level of the unit, on average, to complete the learning outcomes to the standard determined by the assessment criteria.

QCF Qualification Number and qualification title

Centres will need to use the QCF Qualification Number (QN) when they seek public funding for their learners. Every unit in a qualification has a QCF unit reference number (URN).

The qualification title, unit titles and QN are given on each learner's final certificate. You should tell your learners this when your centre recruits them and registers them with us. There is more information about certification in our UK Information Manual, available on our website at: www.edexcel.com/iwantto/Pages/uk-information-manual

Qualification objective

The Pearson BTEC Level 2 Certificate in Principles of Funeral Operations and Services (QCF) is for learners who work in, or want to work in, the funeral sector.

It gives learners the opportunity to:

- develop knowledge related to the funeral sector
- achieve a nationally-recognised Level 2 qualification

Apprenticeships

Skillsmart Retail UK Ltd (People 1st) approve the Pearson BTEC Level 2 Certificate in Principles of Funeral Operations and Services (QCF) as a knowledge component for the Intermediate Apprenticeship in Funeral Operations and Services.

Relationship with previous qualifications

This qualification is a direct replacement for the EDI Level 3 Certificate in Funeral Operations and Services (QCF).

Progression opportunities through Pearson qualifications

Learners who have achieved the Certificate can progress to Pearson BTEC Level 3 Certificate in Funeral Operations and Services (QCF) or Pearson Edexcel Level 2 Certificate in Funeral Operations and Services (QCF).

Industry support and recognition

This qualification is supported by Skillsmart Retail UK Limited (People 1st), the SSC for retail, hospitality, passenger transport, travel and tourism.

Relationship with National Occupational Standards

This qualification relates to the National Occupational Standards in Funeral Operations and Services.

4 Assessment

The table below gives a summary of the assessment methods used in the qualification.

Units	Assessment method
All units	Centre-devised assessment

Centre-devised assessment (internal assessment)

Each unit has specified learning outcomes and assessment criteria. To pass an internally assessed unit, learners must meet all of the unit's learning outcomes. Centres may find it helpful if learners index and reference their evidence to the relevant learning outcomes and assessment criteria.

Centres need to write assignment briefs for learners to show what evidence is required. Assignment briefs should indicate clearly which assessment criteria are being targeted.

Assignment briefs and evidence produced by learners must meet any additional requirements given in the Information for tutors section of each unit.

Unless otherwise indicated in Information for tutors, the centre can decide the form of assessment evidence (for example performance observation, presentations, projects, tests, extended writing) as long as the methods chosen allow learners to produce valid, sufficient and reliable evidence of meeting the assessment criteria.

Centres are encouraged to give learners realistic scenarios and to maximise the use of practical activities in delivery and assessment.

To avoid over-assessment, centres are encouraged to link delivery and assessment across units.

There is more guidance about internal assessment on our website. For details please see Section 13 Further information and useful publications.

5 Recognising prior learning and achievement

Recognition of Prior Learning

Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL) is a method of assessment (leading to the award of credit) that considers whether a learner can demonstrate that they can meet the assessment requirements for a unit through knowledge, understanding or skills they already possess and so do not need to develop through a course of learning.

Pearson encourages centres to recognise learners' previous achievements and experiences in and outside the workplace, as well as in the classroom. RPL provides a route for the recognition of the achievements resulting from continuous learning.

RPL enables recognition of achievement from a range of activities using any valid assessment methodology. If the assessment requirements of a given unit or qualification have been met, the use of RPL is acceptable for accrediting a unit, units or a whole qualification. Evidence of learning must be sufficient, reliable and valid.

Further guidance is available in our policy document Recognition of Prior Learning Policy and Process, available on our website at: www.edexcel.com/policies

Credit transfer

Credit transfer describes the process of using a credit or credits awarded in the context of a different qualification or awarded by a different awarding organisation towards the achievement requirements of another qualification. All awarding organisations recognise the credits awarded by all other awarding organisations that operate within the QCF.

If learners achieve credits with other awarding organisations, they do not need to retake any assessment for the same units. The centre must keep evidence of credit achievement.

6 Centre resource requirements

As part of the approval process, centres must make sure that the resource requirements below are in place before offering the qualification.

- Centres must have appropriate physical resources (for example IT, learning materials, teaching rooms) to support delivery and assessment.
- Staff involved in the assessment process must have relevant expertise and occupational experience.
- There must be systems in place that ensure continuing professional development (CPD) for staff delivering the qualification.
- Centres must have in place appropriate health and safety policies relating to the use of equipment by learners.
- Centres must deliver the qualifications in accordance with current equality legislation. For further details on Pearson's commitment to the Equality Act 2010, please see Section 10 Access and recruitment and Section 11 Access to qualifications for learners with disabilities or specific needs. For full details of the Equality Act 2010, please go to www.legislation.gov.uk

7 Centre recognition and approval centre recognition

Centres that have not previously offered Pearson qualifications need to apply for, and be granted, centre recognition as part of the process for approval to offer individual qualifications.

Existing centres will be given 'automatic approval' for a new qualification if they are already approved for a qualification that is being replaced by a new qualification and the conditions for automatic approval are met.

Guidance on seeking approval to deliver BTEC qualifications is given on our website.

Approvals agreement

All centres are required to enter into an approval agreement that is a formal commitment by the head or principal of a centre to meet all the requirements of the specification and any associated codes, conditions or regulations.

Pearson will act to protect the integrity of the awarding of qualifications. If centres do not comply with the agreement, this could result in the suspension of certification or withdrawal of approval.

8 Quality assurance of centres

Quality assurance is at the heart of vocational qualifications. The centre assesses BTEC qualifications. The centre will use quality assurance to make sure that their managers, internal verifiers and assessors are standardised and supported. Pearson use quality assurance to check that all centres are working to national standards. It gives us the opportunity to identify and provide support, if needed, to safeguard certification. It also allows us to recognise and support good practice.

For the qualifications in this specification, the Pearson quality assurance model will follow one of the processes listed below.

- 1 Delivery of the qualification as part of a BTEC Apprenticeship ('single click' registration):
 - an annual visit by a Standards Verifier to review centre-wide quality assurance systems and sampling of internal verification and assessor decisions.
- 2 Delivery of the qualification outside the Apprenticeship:
 - an annual visit to the centre by a Centre Quality Reviewer to review centre-wide quality assurance systems
 - Lead Internal Verifier accreditation – this involves online training and standardisation of Lead Internal Verifiers using our OSCA platform, accessed via Edexcel Online. Please note that not all qualifications will include Lead Internal Verifier accreditation. Where this is the case, each year we will allocate a Standards Verifier to conduct postal sampling of internal verification and assessor decisions for the Principal Subject Area.

For further details please see the UK Vocational Quality Assurance Handbook on our website.

9 Programme delivery

Centres are free to offer this qualification using any mode of delivery (for example full-time, part-time, evening only, distance learning) that meets their learners' needs. Whichever mode of delivery is used, centres must make sure that learners have access to the resources identified in the specification and to the subject specialists delivering the units.

Those planning the programme should aim to enhance the vocational nature of the qualification by:

- liaising with employers to make sure that a course is relevant to learners' specific needs
- accessing and using non-confidential data and documents from learners' workplaces
- developing up-to-date and relevant teaching materials that make use of scenarios that are relevant to the sector
- giving learners the opportunity to apply their learning in practical activities
- including sponsoring employers in the delivery of the programme and, where appropriate, in assessment
- making full use of the variety of experience of work and life that learners bring to the programme.

Where legislation is taught, centres must ensure that it is current and up to date.

10 Access and recruitment

Pearson's policy regarding access to our qualifications is that:

- they should be available to everyone who is capable of reaching the required standards
- they should be free from any barriers that restrict access and progression
- there should be equal opportunities for all those wishing to access the qualifications.

Centres are required to recruit learners to BTEC Specialist qualifications with integrity.

Applicants will need relevant information and advice about the qualification to make sure it meets their needs.

Centres should review the applicant's prior qualifications and/or experience, considering whether this profile shows that they have the potential to achieve the qualification.

For learners with disabilities and specific needs, this review will need to take account of the support available to the learner during teaching and assessment of the qualification. The review must take account of the information and guidance in Section 11 Access to qualifications for learners with disabilities or specific needs.

Learners may be aged between 14 and 16 and therefore potentially vulnerable. Where learners are required to spend time and be assessed in work settings, it is the centre's responsibility to ensure that the work environment they go into is safe.

11 Access to qualifications for learners with disabilities or specific needs

Equality and fairness are central to our work. Pearson's Equality Policy requires all learners to have equal opportunity to access our qualifications and assessments. It also requires our qualifications to be awarded in a way that is fair to every learner.

We are committed to making sure that:

- learners with a protected characteristic (as defined by the Equality Act 2010) are not, when they are undertaking one of our qualifications, disadvantaged in comparison to learners who do not share that characteristic
- all learners achieve the recognition they deserve from undertaking a qualification and that this achievement can be compared fairly to the achievement of their peers.

Learners taking a qualification may be assessed in British sign language or Irish sign language where it is permitted for the purpose of reasonable adjustments.

Further information on access arrangements can be found in the Joint Council for Qualifications (JCQ) document Access Arrangements, Reasonable Adjustments and Special Consideration for General and Vocational qualifications.

Details on how to make adjustments for learners with protected characteristics are given in the document Pearson Supplementary Guidance for Reasonable Adjustment and Special Consideration in Vocational Internally Assessed Units.

Both documents are on our website at: www.edexcel.com/policies

12 Units

Units have the following sections.

Unit title

The unit title is on the QCF and this form of words will appear on the learner's Notification of Performance (NOP).

Unit reference number

Each unit is assigned a unit reference number that appears with the unit title on the Register of Regulated Qualifications.

QCF level

All units and qualifications within the QCF have a level assigned to them. There are nine levels of achievement, from Entry to Level 8. The QCF Level Descriptors inform the allocation of the level.

Credit value

When a learner achieves a unit, they gain the specified number of credits.

Guided learning hours

Guided learning hours are the times when a tutor, trainer or facilitator is present to give specific guidance towards the learning aim for a programme. This definition covers lectures, tutorials and supervised study in, for example, open learning centres and learning workshops. It also includes assessment by staff where learners are present. It does not include time spent by staff marking assignments or homework where the learner is not present.

Unit aim

This gives a summary of what the unit aims to do.

Essential resources

This section lists any specialist resources needed to deliver the unit. The centre will be asked to make sure that these resources are in place when it seeks approval from Pearson to offer the qualification.

Learning outcomes

The learning outcomes of a unit set out what a learner knows, understands or is able to do as the result of a process of learning.

Assessment criteria

Assessment criteria specify the standard required by the learner to achieve each learning outcome.

Unit amplification

This section clarifies what a learner needs to know to achieve a learning outcome.

Information for tutors

This section gives tutors information on delivery and assessment. It contains the following subsections.

- Delivery – explains the content’s relationship to the learning outcomes and offers guidance on possible approaches to delivery.
- Assessment – gives information about the evidence that learners must produce, together with any additional guidance if appropriate. This section should be read in conjunction with the assessment criteria.
- Suggested resources – lists resource materials that can be used to support the teaching of the unit, for example books, journals and websites.

Information for tutors

Delivery

This unit should be delivered and assessed in the workplace. This unit can be delivered individually or in groups as is suggested in the title. The learning outcomes can be covered in different sections and do not have to be in set order as certain learning outcomes can be delivered as stand-alone, e.g. learning outcome 7.

Learners should be encouraged to use their company policies and procedures and they need to be able to show a clear understanding of these and the importance of adhering to them in their workplace.

It would be good practice for learners to have an open discussion in relation to learning outcomes 1 and 2 as certain learners might work in larger funeral businesses which would obviously have more people working in different roles.

Carrying out role-play exercises in relation to communication, where scenarios and activities were set up to demonstrate barriers, would help learners to understand what effective communication is. It would also help them to understand how to communicate important information accurately to ensure that the recipient fully understands what is being communicated. This would include all aspects of active listening, which is a key component of effective communication. Also, tasks with different electronic systems such as instant and text messaging could be used to highlight inappropriate use of abbreviations and jargon. These exercises would help learning outcome 3.

For learning outcome 4, learners should be encouraged to use their workplace documentation, e.g. communication registers and books to show how they communicate and check that confidential information is correct and stored appropriately. Where these registers are in multiple-copy format, the learners would be able to demonstrate how confidential data is passed between internal departments and external agencies when needed.

For learning outcome 5, it would be beneficial to look at the Code of Practice and also behaviour management. Again, role-play may be used for this but special attention needs to be paid to organising this professionally to safeguard learners. The use of "real-life" experiences may be sought from the learners so that they can talk through their experiences of how they have dealt with situations where they have had to manage their behaviour. These could be openly discussed to encourage looking at other options which could have been used. This would help learners to look at the impact of inappropriate behaviour on them as well as on their company.

Learning outcome 6 is a very personal outcome and learners should be encouraged to carry out an individual SWOT analysis. A blank document could be prepared and provided for each learner to encourage them to think of their strengths, weaknesses, etc. Some learners will have other methods which are being used to assess their personal development needs and these can be shared if appropriate. Tutors need to be aware that not all learners will have access to formal staff appraisals or regular supervision but this process should still be discussed as it helps to promote best practice in the funeral service.

For learning outcome 7, scenarios could be devised as some learners might not have the life-experiences to draw upon and being given this scenario to work through would help their understanding of situations which could trigger emotional distress so that the learner can understand how to identify such triggers.

Assessment

LO3 and LO4, "working environment" and LO7 – AC7.1 – AC7.5 "funeral service environment" refer to a funeral business premises and other environments outside of the business' premises where the employee may be working, such as the deceased's home, crematoria and hospitals.

Please refer to the overall Skillsmart Retail UK Limited (People 1st) assessment requirements/strategy in Annexe A.

The centre will devise and mark the assessment for this unit.

Learners must meet all assessment criteria to pass the unit.

Workbooks and assignments can be used for learners to record evidence which can be assessed to the criteria and professional discussion should be used to ensure that the evidence collected is valid, authentic, etc.

Because this is a knowledge-based unit, professional discussion can be an excellent stand-alone method of collecting evidence, especially when this has been planned for by the assessor and the candidate is well – prepared.

Information for tutors

Delivery

This unit should be delivered and assessed in the workplace. This unit can be delivered to individuals but it might be better if delivered in groups where learners can share experiences which will help their understanding.

It would be ideal if the learning outcomes were dealt with in order for this unit.

Learners should be encouraged to use their company's policies and procedures and they need to show a clear understanding and knowledge of these and the importance of adhering to them in their workplace.

For learning outcome 1, a summary of the relevant legislation should be used to spur discussions. Tutors could look at the comparisons between the two pieces of legislation and the impact they have on employers. The tutors could also provide Control of Substances Hazardous to Health (COSHH) Regulations as well as demonstrate Reporting of Injuries, Diseases and Dangerous Occurrences Regulations (RIDDOR). It could also be beneficial if the tutor could provide a range of Personal Protective Equipment (PPE) that is available within funeral businesses. Demonstrations could take place on the correct use of PPE including the correct procedure for removing gloves, aprons, etc.

For learning outcome 2, learners could be asked to bring in copies of their company's fire procedures and policies as well as their accident books/forms. These could be compared, in groups, to ensure that learners fully understand procedures to follow. These policies and procedures could be compared to the relevant policies and procedures within the learning environment.

Learning outcomes 3 and 4 naturally follow on from learning outcome 2 in identifying accidents and risks. It would be good practice to carry out "mock" risk assessments where learners are encouraged to identify hazards and risks. By physically carrying out these assessments, it would help to reduce the fear of risk assessment and would promote the understanding that it is everyone's responsibility within the work environment to identify risk.

Learning outcome 5 is looking at identifying hazardous substances and materials and, again, it would be beneficial if this was discussed between learners so that they could benefit from each other's experiences. Tutors need to be aware that some learners, especially those from private funeral businesses, may not have access to such robust policies and procedures and their storage of hazardous materials might be more ad hoc so discussion with others may encourage better practice.

Learning outcome 6 is more of a summing up outcome which reinforces learners' own responsibilities and duties.

Assessment

LO3, LO4, AC5.1 and LO6 "working environment" refers to a funeral business premises and other environments outside of the business' premises where the employee may be working, such as the deceased's home, crematoria and hospitals.

Please refer to the overall Skillsmart Retail UK Limited (People 1st) assessment requirements/strategy in Annexe A.

The centre must devise and mark the assessment for this unit.

Learners must meet all assessment criteria to pass the unit.

Workbooks and assignments can be used for learners to record evidence which can be assessed to the criteria and professional discussions should be used to ensure that the evidence collected is valid, authentic, etc.

Delivery

This unit should be delivered and assessed in the workplace. This unit can be delivered individually or in groups. The learning outcomes can be covered in different sections and do not have to be in set order as certain learning outcomes can be delivered as stand-alone outcomes.

Learners should be encouraged to use their company's policies and procedures as they need to be able to show clear understanding of these and the importance of adhering to them in the workplace.

Planning for this unit is crucial as it is important that learners are prepared and that they bring relevant documentation such as payslips and copies of their contracts of employment so that these can be used to form discussions to show their understanding.

Learning outcomes 1 and 2 are very much based on Employment Law and the suggested resources should be used to aid discussion. Candidates would benefit from discussing their individual contracts as these will vary from small businesses to national corporations. Although payslips are confidential, it would be helpful to have an example of different payslips so that candidates can see that there are generic things that should appear on a payslip. Company policies and procedures would help discussions and understanding of "ways of working".

For learning outcome 3 it would be beneficial to look at the learners' roles and get them to share their experiences wherever possible. Tutors should use the suggested resources and facilitate viewing of relevant TV documentaries and media articles. These will help to identify different viewpoints and the impact that these have on the public in relation to working in the Funeral Care business. Learners should be encouraged to discuss these issues but the tutor needs to be mindful that these can be very personal issues and some of the media coverage might have involved their individual companies in the past. Suggestions of topics for discussion could include:

- Alternatives to burial and cremation
- Cost of funerals
- Environmental impact of burial and cremation
- Inappropriate storage of bodies

Learning outcome 4 looks at job opportunities and progression. Some learners may not have thought through the process of progressing in their career so it would be good to have examples of job opportunities within the funeral business as well as providing examples of related sectors. It might be beneficial to touch upon relevant qualifications which would help learners to develop further.

Assessment

Please refer to the overall Skillsmart Retail UK Limited (People 1st) assessment requirements/strategy in Annexe A.

The centre will devise and mark the assessment for this unit.

Learners must meet all assessment criteria to pass the unit.

Workbooks and assignments can be used for learners to record evidence which can be assessed to the criteria and professional discussions should be used to ensure that the evidence collected is valid, authentic, etc.

Because this is a knowledge-based unit, professional discussion can be an excellent stand-alone method of collecting evidence, especially when this has been planned for by the assessor and the candidate is well prepared.

Delivery

This unit should be delivered and assessed in the workplace. This unit can be delivered to individuals but it might be better if delivered in groups where learners can share experiences which will help their understanding.

It would be ideal if the learning outcomes were dealt with in order for this unit.

Learners should be encouraged to use their company's policies and procedures and they need to show a clear understanding of these and the importance of adhering to them in their workplace.

Learners should be encouraged to take their organisation's documentation on what is available in relation to funeral plans. This should be discussed openly so that learners can benefit from what is available across funeral care services. By discussing this, learners will be able to answer the criteria for learning outcomes 1, 2 and 3.

For learning outcome 4, learners should be encouraged to reflect on their own organisation's procedures and how these ensure that the Code of Practice for Funeral Directors is adhered to. A range of forms for compiling funeral plans should be used so that learners get a broad understanding of what information should be collected and also the importance of checking that the information is accurate so that they can maximise clients' wishes and expectations. Tutors could look at the role that learners play in marketing their organisation in relation to funeral plans and ensuring that these are kept up to date with clients' wishes. Learners also need to look at the legal requirements and constraints in relation to funeral plans and how the law protects clients.

For learning outcome 5, learners need to look at appropriate storage of information which complies with legal requirements and data protection.

Delivery

This unit should be delivered and assessed in the workplace. This unit can be delivered individually or in groups. The learning outcomes can be covered individually but, ideally, learning outcomes 1, 2, 4 and 5 should be delivered in order and learning outcome 3 can be a stand-alone outcome.

Learners should be encouraged to use their company policies and procedures and they need to be able to show a clear understanding of these and the importance of adhering to them in their workplace. Learners should also be encouraged to bring copies of the relevant documentation in relation to memorials. It would be good for learners to share experiences when looking at this.

To assist with learning outcome 3, the suggested resources such as the Norfolk Stonemasons site, have good examples of different materials that can be used and also has examples of different styles of lettering. Learners could be encouraged to devise different layouts for memorials and could suggest appropriate inscriptions that they could share to increase the range that they can offer their clients when they return to their workplace.

For learning outcomes 1, 2, 4 and 5, learners should look at the Parliament Briefing paper suggested below and they should be encouraged to look up the regulations of the Local Authority where they are based. The tutor should encourage them to make comparisons to see how the Local Authority's policies and procedure comply with the Government guidelines. It would be important here to compare different Local Authorities so that learners can gain a range of knowledge of the differences so that they can understand the importance of complying with these.

Assessment

LO2 – AC2.1 "regulations" refers to the regulations of church yards and cemeteries.

Please refer to the overall Skillsmart Retail UK Limited (People 1st) assessment requirements/strategy in Annexe A.

The centre will devise and mark the assessment for this unit.

Learners must meet all assessment criteria to pass the unit.

Workbooks and assignments can be used for learners to record evidence which can be assessed to the criteria and professional discussion should be used to ensure that the evidence collected is valid, authentic, etc.

Because this is a knowledge-based unit, professional discussion can be an excellent stand-alone method of collecting evidence, especially when this has been planned for by the assessor and the candidate is well prepared.

Delivery

This unit should be delivered and assessed in the workplace. This unit can be delivered individually or in groups. The learning outcomes can be covered in different sections and do not have to be in set order as certain learning outcomes can be delivered as stand-alone outcomes.

Learners should be encouraged to use their company's policies and procedures as they need to be able to show clear understanding of these and the importance of adhering to them in the workplace.

In learning outcome 1, learners should be encouraged to look at what makes a professional relationship and how the learners need to provide a good first impression to their clients. It is important to look at what a first impression consists of and the impact this has on the client, the learner and the funeral business in general. The suggested resource materials would be good for this and perhaps learners could take part in role play activities where they can gain experience of using different tones of voice and the impact this has on communicating effectively.

For learning outcome 2, tutors should use the "Grief Cycle" to look at the different stages of grief and discuss how learners can play a part in this. It would be beneficial for learners to look at the difference between sympathy and empathy as this may also relate to other units.

In learning outcome 3, learners should use their own policies and procedures to discuss how they interact with clients either by face-to-face contact or by telephone. Tutors should encourage learners to look at the terminology used so that learners understand the impact that inappropriate terminology can have on clients. Examples of this could be "body", "van", "box" and "limo". Tutors need to suggest and agree appropriate alternatives. Again, role-play could be used in relation to using "open" and "closed" questions so that learners understand and have first-hand experience of using both types.

Role-play could play a big part in learning outcome 4 as this would help learners identify with some of their clients' feelings and how they should respond in a given situation.

Learning outcomes 5 and 6 relate to feedback and complaints and, again, learners should be encouraged to use their organisation's policies and procedures to discuss these and, where possible, without breaching confidentiality, discuss real life examples.

Assessment

Please refer to the overall Skillsmart Retail UK Limited (People 1st) assessment requirements/strategy in Annexe A.

The centre will devise and mark the assessment for this unit.

Learners must meet all assessment criteria to pass the unit.

Workbooks and assignments can be used for learners to record evidence which can be assessed to the criteria and professional discussions should be used to ensure that the evidence collected is valid, authentic, etc.

Because this is a knowledge-based unit, professional discussion can be an excellent stand-alone method of collecting evidence, especially when this has been planned for by the assessor and the candidate is well prepared.

Delivery

This unit should be delivered and assessed in the workplace. This unit can be delivered individually or in groups. The learning outcomes should be delivered as a full unit as they naturally flow.

Learners should be encouraged to use their company policies and procedures and they need to be able to show a clear understanding of these and the importance of adhering to them in their workplace. Tutors should be aware that not all learners will have experiences of providing services for the deceased in relation to different religions and cultures.

The suggested resources should be used to encourage understanding of some of the learning outcomes and this will help to stimulate discussion with the learners. Learners should be encouraged to use their own experiences but also to consider how they would deal with other religions and cultures. If this unit is discussed in a group situation, tutors and other learners need to remember to respect the differing views of the others.

Assessment

LO1 – AC1.1 and AC3.1 "types" can refer to different types of ceremonies that may be common to a geographical area and reflect the demographic of the funeral business

Please refer to the overall Skillsmart Retail UK Limited (People 1st) assessment requirements/strategy in Annexe A.

Delivery

This unit should be delivered and assessed in the workplace. It can be delivered individually or in groups. The learning outcomes can be covered in different sections and do not have to be in set order as certain learning outcomes can be delivered as stand-alone.

Learners should be encouraged to use their company policies and procedures and they need to be able to show a clear understanding of these and the importance of adhering to them in their workplace.

It would be good practice for learners to have open discussions in relation to these learning outcomes as certain learners may have worked in different sized funeral businesses or different Local Authorities.

The suggested resources should be used to check the learner's understanding of the legal requirements and the roles of the different agencies.

In learning outcome 1, learners will have to research who else, apart from GPs and medical professionals, can issue a certificate of cause of death and, by researching this, they will be able to address the criteria fully. The tutor will need to be aware, for learning outcomes 2 and 3, that there are slight differences between England, Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland and these differences should be discussed openly so that there is a clear understanding.

Product evidence such as copies of the register of deaths, as well as learners' company documentation, could be used and shared so that learners can see, at first hand, what is required for learning outcomes 3, 5 and 6. The suggested resource materials will also help to cover these outcomes.

Copies of the recognised legal forms for cremation and burial should be downloaded and provided to the learners so that they can actually see what information is required and by whom.

Role-play could be used in that they should have to provide and complete the individual documentation as if they were a Funeral Director, a relative or a Local Authority employee. Tutors need to be mindful that doing this may be problematic and cause distress to learners, based on their previous personal experiences.

Assessment

Please refer to the overall Skillsmart Retail UK Limited (People 1st) assessment requirements/strategy in Annexe A.

The centre will devise and mark the assessment for this unit.

Learners must meet all assessment criteria to pass the unit.

Workbooks and assignments can be used for learners to record evidence which can be assessed to the criteria and professional discussion should be used to ensure that the evidence collected is valid, authentic, etc.

Because this is a knowledge-based unit, professional discussion can be an excellent stand-alone method of collecting evidence, especially when this has been planned for by the assessor and the candidate is well prepared.

Assessment requirements/strategy

1 Key principles

Assessment methodologies and guidance for qualifications in the funeral sector are developed and interpreted in accordance with the four key principles set out below.

Principles 1-3 apply to both knowledge-based and competence-based qualifications.

Principle 4 applies to competence-based qualifications only.

Principle 1:

Assessment should contribute to developing a skilled workforce

Assessment practice in the funeral sector should contribute to the development of a skilled workforce. The choice and application of assessment methods must be consistent with this principle.

Principle 2:

Systems for capturing evidence of competence should be integrated

Assessment systems should, where possible, be integrated with employers' training and career development programmes.

Principle 3:

Assessment methods should be appropriate for the level and nature of the qualification units to be assessed

Methods of assessing achievement against learning outcomes and assessment criteria must be appropriate for the level being assessed and sector expectations of candidates at that level.

Principle 4:

Evidence of competence should come from workplace activity

The sector's competence-based qualifications recognise competence in the workplace. Evidence of competence should therefore come from workplace activity and aim to reflect attainment within an organisational context. Observation should be the principle method of assessment where practicable. However, it is in the nature of the sector to ensure that the feelings of clients and other mourners are respected at all times, and so other assessment methods such as professional discussion and assignments may be more appropriate where the client relationship would otherwise be jeopardised.

2 Definition of 'workplace'

For the purposes of this document, 'workplace' or 'real working environment' means any location where the learner carries out his or her duties as an employee of the funeral sector. This may include for example the employer's business premises, clients' premises, funeral and burial venues and the public highway.

3 Competence-based qualifications (Funeral Skills)

3.1 The use and application of simulation

In broad terms, the funeral sector holds the view that simulation is a practical and effective tool for establishing skill and understanding where naturally occurring evidence of competence is rarely available.

Skillsmart Retail requires that Awarding Organisations:

- a Discourage the inappropriate use of competence-based qualifications by organisations that do not assess candidates in a working environment. Competence-based qualifications are suitable only for learners who are in some form of employment in the sector.
- b Establish criteria to ensure that simulation is not used as the sole form of evidence for any unit of a competence-based qualification. This should be expressed in guidance for qualifications operating in the sector.
- c Provide clear guidance to centres to indicate that evidence towards a competence-based qualification should come from the workplace except where simulation is expressly allowed in the evidence requirements for a particular unit. Workplace evidence may be gathered in the context of full, part-time, casual or voluntary employment. Assessment may be undertaken in a 'work placement' (i.e. full-time students placed into a working environment as part of their course) although supporting evidence from a supervisor or manager, associated with some form of work activity, must supplement the assessment process.

3.1.1 Use of simulation as an assessment method

Assessment for competence-based units must always be carried out in the workplace except where a Realistic Working Environment (as defined in 3.1.2) is permitted for simulation. Simulation is allowed only where:

- the assessment criteria require the learner to respond to an event that rarely occurs
- or
- a unit originates from another sector and the originator expressly allows simulation to be used for that unit.

A list of those units for which simulation is allowed is appended to this document.

Evidence generated from simulated activities will not be acceptable for any other unit.

3.1.2 Definition of a Realistic Working Environment (RWE)

A Realistic Working Environment, for the purpose of simulated work activities, is a created situation that doesn't involve the client. For example in terms of assessment criteria 2.4 of the unit "Drive Funeral Vehicles in corteges" the assessor can take the driver out in the vehicle and provide the driver with mock scenarios that simulate unforeseen circumstance such as a road closures.

Where simulation is used the sector requires that:

- a Simulation must be undertaken in a Realistic Working Environment
- b Awarding Organisations provide guidance for centres that requires that Realistic Working Environments provide an environment that replicates the key characteristics of the workplace in which the skill to be assessed is normally employed.

4 Assessors and Verifiers

4.1 The roles of assessors and verifiers

The roles and competence of assessors, expert witnesses and verifiers are central to the way assessment is managed.

Skillsmart Retail requires that the following conditions be fulfilled:

4.1.1 The role of supervisors and managers in the assessment process

Wherever possible, assessment should be conducted by the learner's supervisor and/or manager in a workplace environment. Where the skill or capability of these individuals is inadequate to deliver the requirements of the organisation or the quality infrastructure, services external to the work unit or organisation may be introduced (peripatetic assessors). In no circumstances may a competence-based qualification for the funeral sector be delivered without the involvement of the learner's line manager or the business owner/manager to confirm the learner's competence.

Where the learner's supervisor or manager carries out the assessment or internal verification roles, employers with the agreement of their Awarding Organisation may choose between:

- a achieving the appropriate regulatory authority approved qualifications for assessment and internal verification
- or
- b demonstrating that training and development activity undertaken by the employer to prepare, validate and review these assessment/verification roles, maps 100% to the National Occupational Standards on which these qualifications are based. The mapping process must be agreed by the Awarding Organisation as providing the equivalent level of rigour and robustness as the achievement of the qualification.

The alternative option described in (b) above, which waives the need for the regulatory approved units in the funeral sector, must be applied on an 'organisation by organisation' and 'qualification by qualification' basis.

Prospective organisations must be able to confirm that their in-house practices conform to the requirements of the NOS in association with the prospective Awarding Organisation who will be offering the qualification.

4.1.2 The role of peripatetic assessors and internal verifiers in the assessment process

Peripatetic assessors and internal verifiers must hold or be working towards the appropriate regulatory authority approved qualifications for assessment and internal verification.

The services offered by the peripatetic assessor must complement the activity of a line manager or owner/manager and the competence of a candidate employed in the funeral sector may not be confirmed without the participation of a line manager or owner/manager in the process. It is also requested that specific reference be made to auditing this provision, within external verification processes.

4.2 Occupational competence of assessors and verifiers

4.2.1 Occupational competence of assessors

Assessors in the funeral sector should have an in-depth knowledge of, and be competent in performing, the occupational requirements of any competence-based units for which they do not use expert witness testimony.

This competence will have been acquired either in direct employment in the occupational role to which the unit relates, or in employment as a manager, supervisor or in-house trainer of employees carrying out the role.

It is unlikely that occupational competence will have been achieved in less than twelve months of employment as a funeral professional, or less than six months in a managerial position, but individuals with less experience could be considered as assessors if sufficiently occupationally competent.

4.2.2 Occupational competence of verifiers

Internal Verifiers (or equivalent quality assurance experts) in the funeral sector must have a current understanding of the structure, content and occupational requirements of the units that they are internally verifying. This understanding will have been acquired while working directly within the relevant occupational area in either an operational or a support function.

The level of understanding should be sufficient to allow the Internal Verifier to judge whether the assessor has fully assessed learners against all the assessment criteria in the unit.

It is unlikely that a person could have gained this level of understanding in less than six months of being employed in the funeral sector, but individuals with less experience could be considered as Internal Verifiers if they have the required level of understanding.

External Verifiers (or equivalent quality assurance experts) in the funeral sector must have a current understanding of the occupational requirements of the units they are verifying. This understanding will have been acquired while working within the relevant occupational area in either an operational or a support function.

The External Verifier must understand the requirements of the units sufficiently well to be able to determine whether sufficient evidence of the learner's competence has been collected.

4.2.3 Continuing professional development of assessors and verifiers

All assessors and verifiers, if not currently employed within a funeral business, will need to prove they have a current working knowledge of the sector they are assessing or verifying. This can be demonstrated by maintaining records of evidence from occupational updating activities such as:

Internal or external work experience

Internal or external work shadowing opportunities

Other relevant CPD activities with the prior approval of the Awarding Organisations

Note: Funeral businesses who have chosen not to use the regulatory authority approved qualifications for assessment and internal verification should be encouraged to offer the qualifications as CPD where the willingness by the employer to support this additional activity becomes known to the Awarding Organisation.

4.3 External quality control of assessment

The application and implementation of external quality control (i.e. independent assessment, external moderation, tests and projects) has been thoroughly researched and employers felt it was neither feasible nor practical. The rationale supported by employers was that a robust quality system is based upon processes associated with risk assessment and management.

The Awarding Organisation's risk rating system must be auditable by the regulatory authority.

4.3.1 Risk identification

In order to achieve the required level of external quality control, the Awarding Organisation must undertake a risk assessment of each prospective centre at the point of application for approval to offer any Skillsmart Retail qualification. The Awarding Organisation must obtain information on a number of specified 'risk factors' for each prospective centre at the point of approval. Skillsmart Retail would recommend the following, but Awarding Organisations should feel free to recommend alternative risk factors if more appropriate:

- Prospective centres' experience of operating competence-based qualifications
- The appropriateness of existing systems, or systems developed to meet the requirements of other quality assurance regimes, for the delivery of competence-based qualifications
- Whether the prospective centre has had a previous application for centre approval refused or their approval status withdrawn
- The proposed ratio of candidates to assessors and Internal Verifiers, taking account of whether the assessors and Internal Verifiers are full-time or part-time in their roles
- Whether candidates are going to be in employment (paid or voluntary), on work placements or learning in a Realistic Working Environment (see section 4.1.2 for definition)
- The Awarding Organisation must have a method of rating the prospective centre against each of the risk factors noted above, including an overall rating that identifies the level of risk associated with the prospective centre. The rating should then be used by the Awarding Organisation in determining the degree of support during the first year of approval.

4.3.2 Risk management

In order to identify and manage risk during ongoing centre operation, the Awarding Organisation must undertake a yearly risk assessment of each active centre for the funeral sector competence-based qualifications. The Awarding Organisation must obtain information on a number of specified 'risk factors' for each centre. Skillsmart Retail would recommend the following, but Awarding Organisations should feel free to recommend alternative risk factors, which would be more appropriate.

- The turnover of assessors and internal verifiers
- The throughput of candidates
- The ratio of candidates to assessors and internal verifiers, taking account of whether the assessors and internal verifiers are full-time or part-time in their roles
- Whether public funding is being accessed for the training of candidates towards/assessment of candidates for the competence-based qualifications
- Whether candidates are in employment (paid or voluntary), on work placements or learning in a realistic working environment (see section 4.1.2 for definition)

The Awarding Organisation must have a method of rating each centre against each of the risk factors noted above and, also, producing an overall rating which identifies the level of risk associated with the centre. The rating should then be used by the Awarding Organisation to assist in determining the level of ongoing support for the centre, including the level of external verification activity.
