Update on optional practical tests for IALs in Chemistry and Physics

We previously told you about our intention to introduce optional practical tests in IAL Chemistry and Physics qualifications for first teaching in September 2015. However, as a direct result of further customer consultation and feedback, we've decided to extend our research to develop a more holistic approach to integrating practical work into these qualifications. As a result, IAL Chemistry and Physics will continue as they are and will not include optional practical tests while we conduct this research.

GCSE and GCE A Level reform

Update on GCSE and GCE A levels from 2017

Based on the outcome of Ofqual's (the regulator of qualifications, assessments and examinations in England) most recent reform consultation, we have made a decision around which GCSE and GCE A level qualifications we will offer from 2017 onwards.

We will be developing new GCSE and GCE AS and A level qualifications for first teaching from September 2017, in the following subjects:

GCSEs

- Arabic
- Astronomy
- Business
- Chinese
- Design and Technology*
- ICT
- Japanese
- Italian
- Modern Greek
- Psychology
- Russian
- Statistics
- Urdu

*excluding Food Technology

GCE A levels

- Chinese
- Design and Technology
- Government and Politics
- Italian
- Mathematics
- Russian

Draft specifications and sample assessment materials for these subjects will be available from September 2016.

After careful consideration, we are not planning to develop new GCE AS and A level qualifications for first teaching from September 2017, in the following subjects:

GCE A levels

- Arabic
- General Studies
- Global Development
- Modern Greek
- Japanese
- Urdu

The final teaching date for these qualifications is September 2016, with the final assessment window likely to be in May / June 2018, subject to outcomes of a forthcoming Ofqual consultation around resits. Please be assured that we will continue to support you as you deliver the current qualifications in these subjects and keep you updated.

Whilst we are not developing Ofqual regulated GCE AS and A levels in these subjects we are currently exploring the possibility of developing new International Advanced Levels (IAL) as an alternative. This is to ensure we are meeting the needs of international learners. We will be consulting with you to obtain feedback, which will inform future IAL qualification developments.

Update on the future of Applied GCSE and GCE A levels from 2017

As part of Ofqual's consultation, all UK awarding bodies have been asked to withdraw the option of Applied GCSE and GCE A levels for learners from September 2015. We are therefore withdrawing our suite of Edexcel GCSE and GCE Applied A levels in:

Applied GCSEs

- Applied Business
- Engineering
- Health and Social Care
- Leisure and Tourism
- Manufacturing

The final start date for the 2 year programme for these Applied GCSE qualifications is September 2016, with the final assessment window in May / June 2018.

Applied GCE A levels

- Applied Business
- Applied Art and Design
- Leisure Studies
- Travel and Tourism
- Applied ICT
- Engineering
- Health and Social Care
- Media
- Performing Arts

The final teaching date for these qualifications will be September 2015, with final certification for two-year courses in June 2017.

For many of these subjects, there are alternative qualifications that may be appropriate for your learners. To explore your options, please contact your Regional Development Manager.If you have any questions related to Applied GCSEs and GCE A levels, please do contact our team of subject experts who will be able to provide further support and guidance.
