Studying an Edexcel qualification is good because it is accepted in many countries or places. Taking an Edexcel qualification is one of the best indicators of the level of our knowledge.

Globally recognised qualifications

The General Certificate of Secondary Education (GCSE) is one of the most recognised and respected secondary qualifications in the world.

They equip students, generally aged 14-16, with the knowledge and skills required to progress seamlessly on to level 3 education, including Edexcel GCE A level, Edexcel International Advanced Level, BTEC or national qualifications.

At Pearson we offer a choice of GCSE solutions to suit the needs of the student.

The world renowned Edexcel GCSE follows the UK syllabus and provides a solid foundation for educational success.

Meanwhile Edexcel International GCSE has been developed to the same world-class standards, but with the global learner in mind. Where possible, our specialists have developed subject content to allow teachers to base work on their own country, making it more relevant to students.

Whatever your GCSE requirements, we have a solution for you.

*Proposed reforms by the UK government would see changes to GCSE qualifications for some subjects from September 2015. This would mean a linear structure with 100% external assessment by exam in June, and assessment using a new 1-9 grading scale to identify levels of performance, with 9 being the top level. We are also making some updates to our Edexcel International GCSEs for first teaching in September 2016 and 2017. To find out more please visit: qualifications.pearson.com/edexcel-internationalgcse-update
