Guidance for BTEC Nationals, Tech Awards

Support

Last updated 15th May 2020
Formal assessment requirements

We have confirmed for BTEC Level 3 Nationals, BTEC Level 1 and 2 Firsts and Tech Awards, where we expect to be able to provide calculated results, we do not require or expect any formal assessment for BTEC to take place while learners are studying at home. We expect to collect centre assessment grades from teachers and tutors for any incomplete work for all learners and these judgements will be used in the calculation of a final result where relevant.

Supporting teaching and learning

Whilst not a requirement we are encouraging and supporting continued learning at home during this time, so when learners return to school or college, progress to HE, an apprenticeship, or work, they have the knowledge and skills they need to continue with confidence. We also recognise the benefits that learning and a structured day have on general health and wellbeing and we want to make sure that we are doing everything we can to best support you and your learners at this time.

Teaching and Learning to support transition to second year of a two-year programme

We are continuing to support schools and colleges to enable learners to continue with their studies from home. We are encouraging continued learning so when learners return to school or college they have the knowledge and skills they need to continue with their course.

The information below are examples of the type of content that would have been covered in a typical year 1 that is needed to support units/ components typically covered in the second year of a study programme

A list of key skills that are covered in year 1 that are important to support continued learning, and progression to work or further education.

Hints and Tips for continued learning

Performing Arts

- Underpinning theory / research into performance forms, styles, anatomy, text analysis, etc
- Primary/secondary research through online questionnaires, social media, apps and comms software
- Watching streamed performances (RNT, Shakespeare’s Globe, etc - please see digital resources listed above) to inform performance analysis
- Individual practical work:
  - Professional development activity
  - Goal, target and review driven skills development
  - Singing / Voice & Speech – warm ups, application of techniques, performance (not ensemble)
  - Programmes of skills development techniques (self-directed, critiqued by self and others)
  - Audition material / portfolio / showreel
- Choreographing, devising (for self and/or to communicate to others)
Performing Arts

- Solo performances where appropriate (taking into consideration constraints of environment, H&S, etc) but these are likely to be of limited use (eg where requiring interpreting director’s feedback, etc); monologue performances
- Business planning and project pitches/proposals

Online Collaborative Work
- Group scripting/devising
- Group project planning, researching, logistics, etc
- Responding to stimuli/commissions
- Online performance initiatives – eg Company Three as example
- Radio play
- Business planning and project pitches/proposals

Production Arts

Remote teaching of units is likely to be impractical where equipment and team collaboration is required (eg LX and Sound Ops, Stage Management) or where access to venues is needed (eg acoustic property analysis)

Possible remote learning activity could include:
- Underpinning theory / research / investigation – roles, technologies, processes
- Text analysis and interpretation for design, construction, production demands, etc
- Production planning to a given brief
- Designs, LX plans, etc – can be realised using CAD or other software?
- Make ups, costumes, hair – produced to a ‘brief’ using own equipment and resources (if available) on self/family as models
- Mask / Puppet / Model making using own equipment and resources (if available)
Approaches for remote learning

Our expectation is that centres will continue to provide teaching and learning of as much of the BTEC specification unit content as is possible and carry out teacher based assessments (e.g. worksheets, questions, activities etc) to help prepare learners for the next stage of their journey.

We do not expect learners to complete any formal BTEC Assignment Briefs for BTEC Level 3 Nationals, BTEC Level 1 and 2 Firsts and Tech Awards between mid-March and July.

The table provides some examples of adapted approaches to providing learners with activities that allow for feedback and support continued teaching and learning.

How to approach research

Students working on research activities requiring primary research may find it challenging in the current climate. However, when used correctly the internet can be a good source for scholarly journals, current news, books, credible magazines, general information and other relevant content to help with research-based activities.

Primary Data Collection

Typically, activities such as interviews, focus groups, observations, etc. would be conducted in a face-to-face environment. Alternative methods to conduct primary research could include:

- Utilising video conferencing software to host focus groups, observations and interviews
- Arranging a phone conversation for direct interviews
- Utilising Live Messaging systems or software such as MS Teams to conduct research amongst peers
- Engaging in email correspondence
- Using social media networks to gauge feedback or interest i.e. consumer voice.

Using online surveys is another approach which is relatively simple to set up. Several free online survey tools are readily available to design and send out to wide range of participants. Common survey platforms include:

- Google Forms – http://forms.google.com
- SurveyMonkey - http://surveymonkey.com
- SmartSurvey - https://www.smartsurvey.co.uk
Secondary Data Collection

Where primary data collection may not be possible, or necessary, students may be directed to use secondary research; which can support the original hypothesis being examined. Many online journals offer free access to scholarly articles and peer reviewed journals. To ensure reliability look for reputable sources online. Many reliable statistics, articles and other information can be found on government and educational websites.

In addition, an Internet search for only scholarly information will reveal further sources. Some open access journals which feature topics across several areas are:

- DOAJ - https://doaj.org/
  DOAJ features more than 8,500 open access journals, many of which are sourced from government, commercial, non-profit, and for-profit sources.

- Oxford Open - https://academic.oup.com/journals/pages/open_access
  Oxford Open's database is comprised of archived content from more than 300 publications. The majority of these journals are fully open access, and the site also provides an array of optional open access entries (articles with publication costs paid by the author) that users may also access free-of-charge.

- Omnics Group - https://www.omicsonline.org/open-access-journals-list.php
  More than 300 open-access scientific journals on life sciences, pharmacology, environmental science, management, computer science and engineering.

For a full list of open access journals by subject go to https://www.onlineschools.org/open-access-journals/

Many professional bodies and professional membership organisations also publish research studies, case studies and information that students may use to support their research. Typically, these sources will be reliable and relevant. Centres are encouraged to ensure that students are aware of the professional bodies and membership organisations that are relevant to their field of study.
